HISTORIC MILL IN FLAMES

Old Plant on Somerset Street is Partially Destroyed.

MYSTERIOUS BLAZE

Loss is Estimated at $4,000—Much Grain Stored in the Building Totally Lost.

Fire, which broke out probably about midnight on Saturday and was first detected by Albert V. Trotter, of Chatham street, at 1:10 Sunday morning, partially destroyed French's mill on Somerset street and caused the total loss of a large stock of grain, flour, feed and hay owned by Percy S. Dayton, the lessee. Trotter, who is an employe of the N. Y. and N. J. Telephone Co., was passing the mill when he saw smoke and flames at the rear. A second glance sent him to fire alarm box number twelve at the corner of Front and Somerset streets, from which he sent in the alarm.

Chief Doane, on his arrival, found the front of the structure, which is framed of oak and brick filled, filled with a dense smoke, the fire being all in the rear where it was so hot as to make the small space surrounding almost untenable.

Stored in the second floor of the rear portion of the mill was a large quantity of sawdust and some baled shavings. In the Chief's opinion the fire was probably an hour at least in making the headway it had attained when he first saw it.

At the end of ten minutes fierce fighting, the Chief sent a call for the steamer and Hose Company No. 3, thus throwing his whole fighting strength into the task.

The six powerful streams of water slowly but surely made head against the flames and at the end of the first two hours, the firemen began to feel that they were practically in control of the situation, although the flames were not nearly out. For the first half-hour they appear to gain in fact, spreading from the rear extension where they originated, to the main structure, setting the upper stories in flames. In combating this fresh outbreak, Assistant Chief Murray, with Edward Gaston and other firemen took a line of hose into the upper floors by way of the stairs. They met a backdraught which drove them out and they reported the place so hot that the water which dripped down on them fairly scalded their hands.

Finally the floor beams and rafters of the rear part where the fire was hottest gave way and the greater part of the rear fell in on itself and burned merrily for a time despite the firemen's best efforts.

Recovering from this temporary check, the firemen made steady progress, soaking the heap of shattered timbers until the last spark was out. The recall signal was given at 9:10 Sunday morning.

Perhaps the most welcome of the spectators, was Erwin Neighbor, of the borough, who appeared at the fire with a pail of steaming coffee, from Timbo's all-night restaurant. He found the refreshing drink so popular that he made several trips in order that none might be slighted.

While the rear section of the mill is a complete wreck, the front is intact with the exception of damage by smoke and water. The stock of grain and kindred products, however, will be a total loss. The loss on the building is estimated at about $4,000. Strange to say, the machinery of the entire plant escaped injury.

At 2:30 Sunday afternoon the firemen returned and thoroughly "wet down" the debris, turning the smouldering stuff over time after time until there was not a dry particle left. This performance was watched by several hundred sightseers who gathered from all over the city and from near-by towns, the reports of the conflagration having been exaggerated in some quarters.

The plant, a part of which dates back over one hundred years, when it was erected as a saw mill, was operated continuously as a flour mill by P. M. French until his death about four years ago.

In the early days the old mill was the central figure and it is conceded that it was largely instrumental in the building up of Plainfield. It was first built in 1755 and first stood near Tier's dam; but was moved to the present site in 1782. It was owned successively by Samuel Webster, Taylor Webster, David F. Randolph, the three brothers, John, Samuel and William Manning, jointly; Randolph Stelle and Micurius L. Shepard, jointly; then by Miles Swanney and P. M. French, jointly, and in 1842 Mr. French purchased the half interest

LIQUOR CLAIMS A VICTIM

As He Raises Glass to Lips, Dorgan Falls Dead.

WELL-KNOWN IN TOWN

Chatter of Crowd in Hotel Rosell Barroom Stilled When Young Man Drops to the Floor.

While a large New Year's crowd was making merry in the bar-room of the Hotel Rosell, last night about 7 o'clock, John Dorgan, a well-known young man about town, stepped up to the bar and ordered a glass of whiskey. The bartender complied with the request and just as Dorgan was about to lift the glass to his lips, he gave a groan, reeled and fell to the floor dead. The boisterous chatter of the crowd instantly ceased, while several friends of the man attempted to put him on his feet. In the meantime Drs. C. B. Lufburrow and N. W. Currie were summoned and they soon found that the man was beyond medical assistance. It is believed by the physicians that he died instantly, the cause of death being acute alcoholism.

Dorgan had no regular employment, but he was best known as a peddler of vegetables, fruit and fish about town. Some of his friends stated last night that during the past week or two he had been drinking heavily. Dorgan has on several occasions been in the police court, having given the authorities considerable trouble by his abusive habits when intoxicated.

The body was removed to George Cole's undertaking parlors on West Second street, and arrangements for the funeral services will be made today.

SANITARY IMPROVEMENTS

President of Health Board Favors Garbage Collection.

IMPORTANT PROBLEMS

Former Mayor Fisk's Annual Report to Common Council As Head of Health Bureau.

In his annual report to the Common Council, last night, President Charles J. Fisk advocated the inauguration of a municipal system of garbage collection and disposal and also a house-to-house sanitary inspection system. In his report he stated:

"There are two matters referred to in the report of the health officer that should receive particular attention by the authorities of the city. First, the question of collecting and disposing of the garbage of our city. The Council has already secured the building and land necessary for the erection of a crematory and should take up immediately the equipment of this building with the required apparatus, and make arrangements for a system of collection under the superintendence of the proper city officials.

"Our city is growing rapidly and each year this problem becomes of more and more importance. As stated in the report of the health officer 'the present system is not only most unhealthful and unsanitary but is also expensive' and the work could be done by the city in a systematic way at a much less cost to the various householders.

"The other matter is house-to-house inspection. A glance at the report of the health officer cannot help but convince the most casual reader of the importance of this work. If the nuisances referred to in this report are allowed to remain and the plumbing systems are not properly looked after, the health of the inhabitants of the city is very sure to suffer. While those owning their own houses as a usual thing are particular about the sanitary arrangements, landlords and others renting houses, particularly in the poorer part of the city, seem to think all such precautions are absolutely unnecessary and try to do as little as possible. It is the duty of the Board of Health and city authorities not only to see that the health of the tenants is protected but also that all these places are properly cleaned and that every house is put in a sanitary condition in order to protect the general health of the city.

"As in the past few years, especial attention has been given to the milk supply of the city with very good results, and we can safely say that Plainfield is now being supplied with a good, wholesome product, produced under as sanitary conditions as possible. However, this is a matter that needs constant care and must be given most careful attention."

FOX ENLIVENS CHASE OF WATCHUNG HUNTERS

MISS LEILA CRUIKSHANK WAS FIRST IN AT REYNARD'S DEATH YESTERDAY.

The Watchung Hunt Club held a chase on Saturday. On the ride yesterday morning a fox showed himself in the vicinity of Oak Tree, which was an unfortunate thing for reynard. An exciting chase ensued which came to a climax a little south of Metuchen where the kill took place. Miss Leila Cruikshank was the first in at the death, and received the brush. Miss Noe, of Westfield, who was second, was given the mask.

The riders started yesterday at 10 o'clock from Seventh street and Crescent avenue in front of the Crescent Avenue church, and rode out Park avenue in the direction of Oak Tree. The return was made via Mt. Pleasant. Those who took part in the run yesterday were Miss Cruikshank, Miss Noe, Miss Holly, C. D. Freeman, George C. White, Mr. Chapman, of Glen Ridge, C. J. Fisk, S. A. Cruikshank, C. E. A. Bellows, R. A. Cheabeare, Dr. M. O'M. Knott.

Watch Night Meetings.

A watch night meeting was held Saturday at the Mt. Olive Baptist church, at which time the pastor, Rev. E. E. Jackson, preached, and the financial reports were received. The treasurer's announcement showed the finances of the church to be good, and Rev. Mr. Jackson referred particularly to this in his sermon. Commencing at 10 o'clock Saturday night, the congregation of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church held a watch night service and listened to an address by the pastor, Rev. H. C. Ashley.

NEW YEAR'S ASSEMBLY A CHARMING AFFAIR

PLAINFIELD'S SOCIETY LEADERS ENJOY DANCE AT CASINO.

The first of three assemblies, which will be given this season at the Casino by Plainfield society folk, took place Saturday night. The dance included a gathering of about 200 people, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was the result. The Casino, under the direction of Mane Edwards, presented a charming appearance, beautifully decorated in red and green. On and near the stage, masses of potted plants, palms and greens made an attractive background for the glittering ball room, while festoons and clusters of holly were everywhere in evidence.

The music was furnished by Austin, of Brooklyn. Davis, of Newark, was the caterer, an elaborate supper being served during the evening. These were the patronesses: Mrs. J. Edgar Corlies, Mrs. John B. Dumont, Mrs. Chapman Fisk, Mrs. C. J. Fisk, Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Mrs. Frederick T. Mead, Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen and Mrs. H. G. Runkle. The second of the assemblies will be given on Washington's birthday, while the last one of the season will take place on Easter Monday.

Among the out of town guests were Miss Louise Drew, daughter of the celebrated actor, John Drew, and Colonel Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, recently appointed personal aide to Governor-elect E. C. Stokes.

PETITIONS PRESENTED TO THE COMMON COUNCIL

ROUTINE WORK OF CITY FATHERS AT LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

In addition to the petitions referred by the 1904 Common Council to that of 1905, last night, there was one from the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital offering to care for the city's indigent poor in case of illness for one year for $1,500, which was referred to the finance committee. Residents of Spooner avenue, between Seventh and Eighth street, requested the city not to macadamize that thoroughfare just present, giving as a reason that the street is little used.

Brooks Carson, through his counsel, W. S. Angleman, Esq., asked for the return of $70.70, which he paid in a real estate transaction under the Martin Act. He claimed that Frank Huntington is in possession of the property and that the assessor refused to assess the property to the petitioner, after he had paid the amount stated. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Blanche Huntington, of Raymond street, presented a grievance against the Public Service Corporation, alleging that the conductors on the trolley cars refused to stop the cars at that street, claiming that the city had not improved the same. Mrs. Hewist, of West Front street, protested against paying a poll and dog tax, claiming that her husband was dead when the bill was sent and that she does not own a dog. J. D. Loiseaux and others petitioned the Common Council for more fire protection in the vicinity of Rock avenue, West Second street and Third streets, and there were petitions for electric lights on Dunellen and Hunter avenues.

All petitions were referred to the proper committees.

City Physician Dr. C. B. Lufburrow presented his annual report, showing that he had made 483 visits.

GERMANS CELEBRATE.

Gesang and Turn Verein Observes New Year's in Saengerbund Hall As Usual.

The New Year's celebration at Saengerbund Hall in the borough Sunday night, was attended by a crowd which expressed great pleasure in the musical numbers rendered under the direction of Herr Hermann Eichhorn. Solos by Charles Dresselt, baritone; recitations by A. Wolff; selections by the singing section and a couple of one-act sketches, made up the programme.

At midnight Eugene O'Reilly's orchestra struck up a waltz, and dancing commenced.

Joint Installation.

It is quite likely that the officers-elect of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and the Woman's Relief Corps will be installed jointly on Tuesday night, January 17, at G. A. R. headquarters.

CITY COUNCIL SHAKEUP

Mr. Tyler Supplants Mr. Randolph as Head of Police Com.

WHERE PLUMS FELL

W. S. Bullock Chairman of Fire and Buildings Committee—Gloak Relegated to Alms Committee.

As was expected and predicted there was a general shakeup in the appointment of committees by President Leslie M. Daniel at the first meeting of the new Common Council, held last night. On a motion offered by Mr. Tyler the rules were amended so as to do away with the license committee, whose work will be looked after by the police committee, and providing for a new committee to be known as committee on public affairs.

The "machine" was not recognized to any great extent, although Mr. Tolles was made chairman of the most important committee, that of finance. Mr. Gloak was returned to the chairmanship of the alms committee, while Frank DeWitt Randolph was made chairman of the auditing.

Mr. Gloak as chairman of the streets and sewer committee, is succeeded by Theodore D. Wilson. Mr. Murphy retains the chairmanship of the committee on lights and trees, while Mr. Bullock is made the head of the committee on fire and buildings. Mr. Higham is made chairman of the new committee on public affairs. Mr. Hibbard, while made a member of several important committees, was not honored with a chairmanship.

One of the most important changes is that in reference to the police and license committees. These committees have been combined and W. S. Tyler is the chairman, with W. S. Bullock and W. L. Gloak as the other members. Mayor J. F. Buckle and the president of the Common Council are also members of this committee ex-officio, and it is considered a strong combination.

This is the makeup of the various committees:

Finance—Ralph I. Tolles, Clarence L. Murphy, Henry D. Hibbard, Theodore D. Wilson, William Starr Bullock.

Streets and sewers—Theodore D. Wilson, William L. Gloak, Ralph I. Tolles, William S. Tyler, J. Stephen Higham.

Fire and buildings—William Starr Bullock, Henry D. Hibbard, Ralph I. Tolles, Frank DeWitt Randolph, J. Stephen Higham.

Alms—William L. Gloak, Frank De Witt Randolph, Charles C. Randolph.

Public affairs—J. Stephen Higham, Henry D. Hibbard, William S. Tyler, Theodore D. Wilson, Clarence L. Murphy.

ELKS TO PURCHASE A HALL FOR $16,500

FINAL DECISION TO BE MADE AT MEETING TOMORROW NIGHT.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., being desirous of having a suitable home of its own, has practically closed the deal to purchase Washington Hall building on West Second street. Final decision will be made in the matter at a meeting of the lodge to be held tomorrow night.

An option on the building is secured by the Elks until January 10 and there does not seem to be the slightest doubt but that the purchase will be made. The cost is $16,500 and the lodge will hold the mortgage.

A Probable Heir.

According to the provisions of the will of Mrs. Mary B. Hentz, who died recently at her home, No. 769 St. Mark's avenue, Brooklyn, her estate, which is estimated at nearly $1,000,000, is to go to Henry Hentz, her husband, and four children. There was a provision in the will that in case Mrs. Hentz survived her husband, one quarter of the estate was to go to Leonard Spangenberg, of this city.

The annual New Year's boys' service at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon, at which Harry G. Thompson presided, was largely attended. The speakers were Harold Robins and William Flanders, both members of the boys' department. There was special music.

HEALTH BOARD'S REVIEW

Death Rate in 1904 Larger Than Usual and the Reason.

BIRTHS AND MARRIAGES

Work Done by Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow During the Year Just Closed.

Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow presented a voluminous report to the Common Council, last night, in connection with that of the Board of Health's annual statement.

The report presents two important problems—a sanitary survey of the city and a municipal collection and disposal of the garbage of the city. It is noted that a sanitary survey was started in 1904, but owing to lack of funds was not completed. It is strongly urged that a sufficient sum to complete the survey be appropriated. It is also recommended that some system of garbage collection and disposal be adopted before the coing summer.

There have been 286 deaths recorded, which represents a death rate of 17.07 per thousand population. This is a much higher death rate than usual and is due in a great measure to the large number of deaths of elderly people.

There were 398 births during the year, representing a rate of 20.18 per thousand. There were sixteen still-births and 125 marriages.

During the year 1904, 387 cases of communicable diseases were reported, 58 of which resulted in death.

Disease.	Cases.	Deaths.
Scarlet fever	37	1
Diphtheria	53	4
Chicken pox	26	0
Measles	171	0
Typhoid fever	38	9
Tuberculosis	39	44

Free vaccination was offered to the public in view of the widespread exposures from small-pox, but twenty-three persons availed themselves of this privilege. During the past few years there has been a constantly increasing demand for disinfection, due to the fact that the householder is realizing more than ever the necessity for this. During the past year 201 rooms were disinfected.

During the year ice sold in the city came from four different sources, two artificial and two natural, and is of exceptionally good quality.

The list of violations of the city ordinances is as follows:

Defective plumbing systems, 38; ashes mixed with garbage, 27; heaps of garbage, 25; heaps of manure, 10; privy vaults which required cleaning, 19; cesspools which required cleaning, 823; abandoned privy vaults not properly filled, 1; abandoned cesspools not properly filled, 1; abandoned wells not properly filled, 1.

Considerable space is devoted to the question of garbage collection and disposal. It is estimated that over $1,200 is spent yearly for the removal at irregular intervals of the refuse from less than one-third of the houses. The cost as estimated by the joint committee of the collection and disposal of the entire garbage of the city is $6,000 a year. A thorough system would necessitate three single-horse metal carts with six men—two men to each cart.

The report mentions the extensive work performed by the joint committee, including the resolutions that the plant formerly owned by the Plainfield Sanitary Company, be purchased by the city, which was done, and that a municipal system be adopted.

There were filed during the year 143 plumbing plans. There was one prosecution for violation of the plumbing ordinances. Their total number of nuisances investigated during the year was ninety-eight.

Several pages of the report are devoted to the milk supply, giving the names of all dealers doing business in the city and the quality of the milk sold. Mr. Thurlow states that the milk sold in Plainfield today is cleaner and of better quality than ever before and it comes from cleaner and better dairies.

Methodists Unite in Services.

This week the local Methodist churches will join in week of prayer services. Tomorrow night the First M. E., Monroe Avenue and Grace M. E. churches will meet in Vincent chapel. Thursday night they will meet at Monroe Avenue church and on Friday night at Grace M. E. church.

POLICE WORK FOR 1904

Chief Kiely's Annual Report Presents Interesting Data.

THE RECOMMENDATIONS

Asks for Additions to the Force and Gives His Reasons for Request.

Chief of Police P. S. Kiely submitted the following as his annual report for 1904 to the Common Council:—

"To the Honorable Common Council of the City of Plainfield:

"I have the honor to submit herewith the following as my fifth annual report, for the year 1905: Number of arrests during the year, 569; composed of: Males, 520; females, 49; composed as to color: White, 481; Mongolian, 2; colored, 86.

RESULT OF ARRESTS.

"Number arrested, 569; fined, 114; sentence suspended, 330; dismissed, 26; committed, 55; held for Grand Jury, 17; turned over to other departments, 15; placed in custody of probation officer, 4; committed to State Asylum for Insane, 2; held for Juvenile Court, 5; cases pending, 1; fines collected, $730.

"Number of days off duty by officers of the department, 55; number of days off sick, 565; number of days off on vacation, 178; total days off by members of department, 798.

"Arrested for the following offenses: Disorderly conduct, 180; drunkenness, 110; drunk and disorderly, 109; peddling, 17; trespassing on C. R. R. of N. J., 27; bicycle ordinance, 16; larceny, 16; vagrancy, 13; liquor, 7; assault and battery, 4; automobile law, 4; dog ordinance, 4; gambling, 4; junk ordinance, 4; non-support, 5; school law, 5; health ordinance, 3; burglary, 3; receiving stolen goods, 3; embezzlement, 2; false pretense, 2; forgery, 1; highway robbery, 1; swindling, 1; hack, truck and cart ordinance, 11; assault with intent to kill, 1; miscellaneous, 16.

"The total amount of appropriation for the year for this department has been $18,040, ($40 being received for injury to a bicycle), the total running expenses of the department have been $18,088.10, leaving a balance of $6.90.

"The total number of arrests during the year was 569, as against 683 during 1903. The total amount of fines collected $730, as against $710 for the year 1903.

"The year now closing has in no sense been an eventful one. The discipline in the force has at all times been excellent, and, while no extraordinary happenings has demanded extreme exertion, or the calling forth of all our resources, I yet feel that under our present system, which has grown better and better with time, your police force could acquit itself with entire credit, should the emergency arise.

"The Gamewell police alarm system in numberless ways has proven the wisdom of those who undertook its installation, and large as the undertaking seemed when broached, its practical workings must by this time have converted the most skeptical. Patrolmen are no longer compelled to leave their beats for any reason whatever, except to help a brother officer in his duty, and in this one respect alone the efficiency of the force is immeasurably increased.

"The sleeping apartments for the force above police headquarters, and the patrol wagon, have both in their respective lines continued to be of great assistance in the maintenance of discipline and efficiency, having passed altogether beyond the experimental stage, and become among the chief of our necessities.

"I do feel, however, that the number of patrolmen might well be increased, and would respectfully make such recommendation to the Council of next year. For two reasons do I petition for this increase: In the first place, with our limited number of patrolmen, 17 only in number, and with the many, many miles of streets to be safe-guarded, each patrolman is required to protect more territory than can with safety be assigned to any one man. To cover his beat the required number of times each night, the patrolman must perforce leave without investigation much which might properly claim his attention had the extra time which a smaller beat would afford him. In the second place, public safety would seem to demand at least one patrolman in each ward during the day time, as well as two in the center of the city—six in all. This number under present conditions is an impossibility. With the exception of three men, the entire force is engaged in night duty, and, consequently, by far the greater per-

This firm carries one of the largest stocks of groceries in the State and can always sell a little cheaper than other firms. The quality of the meat sold here cannot be excelled and a share of your patronage is solicited. The firm still gives a generous supply of trading stamps with every purchase.

AMUSEMENTS.

What all players seek—a season in New York—has been found by the members of Henry W. Savage's "College Widow" company, which continues on its uninterrupted way at the Garden Theatre. As an exmaple of true American comedy, George Ade's satirical play stands by itself and its run in New York will be indefinite. Dorothy Tennant continues her girlish coquetry in the title role, while Amy Biard, Gertrude Quinlan, Lida McMillan, Frederick Truesdell, Frederick Burton, George E. Bryant, Edgar L. Davenport, Edwin Holt, Stephen Maley, Morgan Coman, Thomas Delmar and the other members of the cast contribute to the success of the play.

The Klaw & Erlanger Comedy Company made an immense hit at the Liberty Theatre last Monday evening in John J. McNally's new musical play, "In Newport." Marked individual successes were scored by Peter F. Dailey, Fay Templeton, Joe Coyne, Virginia Earle and Lee Harrison. The remainder of the organization made a splendid impression. The big chorus of strikingly pretty girls, unquestionably the most attractive now appearing in New York, were enthusiastically applauded in all their specialties and concerted numbers. "In Newport" is not only a success, but it is also a great novelty. The second act, showing the stage of the Casino at Newport, is a travesty on society entertainments and incidentialy presents many of the very funny incidents noticed during the rehearsal of a musical production. The curtain rises on a bare stage with all the scenery stacked against the back wall. Choruses and dances are rehearsed as they are for a new piece and a very novel inside view of stage life is presented. In the last act there is another novelty in the form of an actual football game on the stage between two teams of girls, in the costume of the gridiron, who kick and tackle with all the vim of college boys. From the standpoint of scenery and costumes, "In Newport" is superb and is quite the most brilliant musical comedy production now running in New York.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

WILL PEACE RESULT?

Washington Diplomats Hope to End War.

DOVE OF PEACE FROM ROOSEVELT.

Fall of Port Arthur Offers Opportunity For Intervention In Far East—Peace or War Depends on Russia.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3. — In diplomatic circles, where there is every reason to believe there is the best information regarding the plans of the Japanese, it was openly stated last night that the fall of Port Arthur will be promptly followed by an offer of peace from Japan. It is understood that a strong effort will be made to have the offer come through President Roosevelt.

It is even suggested that the terms might include an arrangement which would give Russia an outlet to the Indian ocean through the Persian gulf. There is, however, some doubt as to whether an effort to induce President Roosevelt to move in the matter would be likely to succeed.

It certainly is regarded as unlikely that such a suggestion should come through the United States unless the president has the strongest previous intimation that it would be favorably considered by the Russian government. It may be added that while it is known that Emperor Nicholas from the beginning regarded the war with great abhorrence there is nothing yet to indicate that his government intends to recede from the programme of fighting to a finish, which has repeatedly been announced.

Peace or war will entirely depend upon Russia and not upon the Japanese. The fall of Port Arthur may strengthen the determination of Russia to continue the war at all costs. Its effect on Japan, however, cannot be doubted. Her fleet is free, and the release of the besieging army gives her increased forces available for service elsewhere, but she has a strong desire for peace.

ACCIDENT AT SQUAW ISLAND.

BUFFALO, Jan. 3.—Six persons were injured, three probably fatally, in a collision on the International bridge near here.

The most seriously injured are: Mrs. Maria Spencer of Bridgeburg, Ont., internally injured, will die; Mrs. Alfreda Forsee of Bridgeburg, ribs broken, internally injured, condition serious; Ray Forsee, her sixteen-year-old son, unconscious, condition serious.

A combination "pony" engine and passenger car used to carry passengers between Bridgeburg, Ont., and Buffalo collided with a freight train. The accident occurred near the American end of the bridge above a strip of land known as Squaw Island. Traffic was delayed for several hours.

Woman Escapes Chain Gang.

MACON, Ga., Jan. 3.—In the United States court in the habeas corpus case of Annie Wheeler against the superintendent of the Bibb county chain gang Judge Speer ordered the marshal to take the petitioner into custody and release her on an appearance bond of $100. The judge said that heretofore the court had declared the Bibb county chain gang system to constitute infamous punishment and be in violation of the law. The idea that a woman shall be sent to that chain gang for six months for loitering, he declared, on its face is contrary to every teaching of civilization and humanity.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 3.—The Danish steamer Gallia, from Hamburg Dec. 8 for Savannah, has arrived here with the survivors of the crew of the Norwegian bark Marpesia, Captain Jensen, from New York Dec. 9 for Catte. The Marpesia carried out of the port of New York 475,000 gallons of naphtha, valued at $44,650. Her agents in New York were Benham & Boyesen.

Frank W. Higgins Inaugurated Governor of New York.

LARGE DELEGATION FROM OLEAN.

Military Largely Represented at Celebration—Governor's Salute Fired For First Time—Public Reception and Dance Last Night.

ALBANY, Jan. 3.—The ceremonies and festivities in connection with the inauguration of Frank W. Higgins as governor of the state of New York came to a close at a late hour last night with the final number of the large assembly dance given by some of the society people in honor of the day in the Ten Eyck hotel ballroom.

In spite of the drizzling rain and leaden skies, which prevailed throughout the day and evening, the spirit of the occasion was undiminished, and the normal observance of the New Year festival mingled with the special manifestations of interest in the installation of the new state administration.

The events of the day began at an early hour with the assembling of the military and civic organizations which were to take part in the parade of escort to the new governor and the old. Military organizations were present from Olean, Governor Higgins' home city; Whitehall, Utica, Glens Falls, Saratoga, Gloversville, Amsterdam, Cohoes, Schenectady, Hoosic Falls, Troy and including a detachment of the Second battery light artillery from New York city, which fired the governor's salute of nineteen guns from the State street pier on the river front. This is said to be the first time this salute has ever been fired here in honor of the inauguration of a new governor.

In addition to the Forty-third Separate company of Olean there were present 230 business men and leading citizens of that city, who arrived on a special train of fourteen cars, filled the rear gallery of the assembly chamber during the inauguration ceremony and in a body visited Governor Higgins at the executive mansion. N. V. V. Franchot, whom Governor Higgins has selected to be the new superintendent of public works, headed the Olean delegation.

For the first time in many years the incoming and outgoing governors rode together in the inaugural parade in a carriage drawn by four white horses and accompanied by their secretaries, Frank E. Perley and James G. Graham.

The inaugural ceremonies took place soon after noon in the assembly chamber, which had been lavishly decorated for the occasion, and in the presence of an audience which packed every corner of the chamber. The Episcopal bishop of Albany, Right Rev. William Croswell Doane, opened the ceremonies, and the Catholic bishop, Right Rev. Thomas M. A. Burke, closed them with prayer.

The new governor took the oath of office, heard the retiring governor's speech of surrender and accepted the responsibilities of the governorship in a brief inaugural address.

After the ceremonies Governor Higgins held a public reception in the executive chamber.

Governor Odell escorted his successor to the door of the executive chamber, and with a word of congratulation and farewell left the building and soon afterward departed for his home at Newburg. Of the great number of people composing the long line of citizens passing through the executive chamber to greet the new governor the first was the new lieutenant governor, M. Linn Bruce, who subscribed to the oath of office.

In addition to the usual New Year's reception held at the executive mansion by Governor and Mrs. Higgins, Senator Chauncey M. Depew held an informal reception at the Hotel Ten Eyck, in the course of which he made an impromptu speech expressing gratification upon the settlement of the United States senatorship. Former Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff also spoke briefly at this reception.

Mrs. Higgins headed the list of patronesses at the assembly dance, which she attended with Miss Higgins and several of the ladies of the executive party.

His Foot Was Baked.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Jan. 3.—Joseph H. Monroe of this city has undergone an operation in a local hospital for the removal of his right foot, which recently was literally cooked without his knowledge. Monroe's lower limbs are paralyzed. While working at his trade of shoemaker he placed his right foot on a redhot stove and before he knew it the foot was burned as far up as the ankle.

NEW YEAR'S IN CHURCHES

Elaborate Programmes of Music As a Feature.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS

Celebrations at Trinity Reformed, First Baptist, First Presbyterian and Other Churches.

The entire Christmas musical programme both morning and evening was repeated at the Trinity Reformed church on Sunday, on account of the fact that the bad weather interferred with a large attendance the week before. The carols and recitations were given by the pupils of the primary and junior departments in the evening, while in the morning the choir repeated the anthems which marked the Christmas celebration.

In the afternoon the annual graduation exercises took place at the session of the Sunday-school, and a programme appropriate to the occasion, in which the various departments, primary, junior and senior, took part, was arranged. The different grades recited familiar passages of scripture, and a programme of recitations and Biblical quotations were given by each graduating class.

The service was an instructive as well as an entertaining one, the passages from the Bible being all memorised. In the primary department the exercises were in charge of Mrs. J. M. Tier.

From the juniors into the main department — Jeanette Neal, Edna Debele, Florence Wilson, Cora Gano, Laura Kirch, Ella Case, Olive VanNest, Gertrude Enander, Bertha Hoagland, Helen Smith, William Bush, Arthur Horne, George Lee, Charles VanArsdale, Everett Marsh and Earl Huff; from the primary into the junior department—Margaret E. VanDeventer, Grace May Anstett, Blanche A. Derry, Adelaide B. Fritz, Marion Louise Haffner, Katie M. Layton, Edna M. Oliver, Hazel R. Patrick, Helen C. Roberts, Rosmond G. Rogers, Edith A. Richards, Emma H. Ryno, Ethel M. Strader, May Stansbury, Helen L. Wooley, Elsie M. Tier, Harold Storr, Charles Keiderling, Newton D. Mowen, Clifford E. Cole, Russell Hoagland, Ernest L. Stevens, Ralph O. Martin, Roy Wood, Thomas Lindeary, Arthur Backer, Harold Leach, Percy Diehl and Russell Downs; graduates from the beginners into the primary department—Helen McAfee, Letha Hoagland, Grace DeNise, Marjorie Storr, Ethel Armstrong, Madeline Layton, Marion Emmons, Adele Freeman, Mary Roth, Marion Blair, Grace Vail, Louise Seader, Marion Wooley, Theodorsia Vail, Harriet Higgins, Mildred Oliver, Elizabeth Chickering, Roy Haffner, Charles Gould, Grace Bowers, Edward Smith, Russell Kinney, Seymour Day, Walter Debele, Harold Kirch, Reynolds Schenck, Harold Gayle, Joseph Whoray, Rolland Wyckoff, Willard Bach, Harold Bach, Charles Todd, Leslie Compton, George Gould, Harold Dowers, Alfred Willett, Jean Wood, Charles Wood, Harold Gulick and Jay Gould.

The choir of the First Baptist church repeated the Christmas music Sunday evening under the direction of Howard Case, organist, and with the assistance of Miss Florence C. Wohlfert, violinist. The anthems were well rendered and enjoyed by a large congregation. Features were the solo work by Miss Louella C. Harris, soprano; Mrs. F. M. Ward, contralto; William Holmes, baritone, and George W. Smith, tenor, and the selections on the violin by Miss Wohlfert. The pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, preached a short sermon appropriate to the occasion.

New Year's day at the First Presbyterian church was marked by a repetition of the Christmas music in the evening and a partial repetition of the morning's service. A number of Christmas anthems were sung and at night the programme was the same as the one which was rendered last week. The regular quartette, Miss Etta Ravbert, soprano; Mrs. S. H. Tagwell, contralto; Elmer Cutting, tenor, and R. Wilson Darby, bass, comprised the choir, under the direction of the organist and choirmaster, Clifford A. Braider.

The congregation of the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran church prefaced their New Year's watch-night service Saturday night with a programme which included the burning of papers representing a liquidated indebtedness of over $600, including a mortgage for $250. The church still owes $900 in the form of a mortgage which will be paid off in annual installments of $100 each. The total income for the past year was $1,500, remarkably large for a congregation numbering no more than thirty souls. As a result of subscriptions, which were secured for the purpose, the church has new carpets for the aisles also.

Sunday night's children's entertainment was taken part in by the Misses Hannah and Esther Brandt Axel Brandt, Henry Brandt and Mrs. Lindholm, wife of the pastor. At the close of the programme, candy was distributed to the children from a large Christmas tree in front of the organ. The decorations were done in evergreens and illuminated with candles.

owned by Mr. Swanney and continued to operate the mill about up to the time of his death in April, 1901, being the sole owner of what is now the French estate.

In 1853 the mill was rebuilt and in 1870 the raceway was covered with a brick arch. The mill property at one time comprised a flour and grist mill, a saw mill, a cider mill and a distillery and in connection there was a large hog yard occupying the space opposite the mill from the driveway to where the bridge now is, in which several hundred hogs were kept. The original old mill still serves as a barn, its timbers being in good condition, although 140 years old.

W. V. Snyder, of Ohio, operated the mill for a time and he was succeeded by Percy Dayton, who now conducts the business. Mr. Dayton carried $3,000 insurance on the contents, while the French estate carried $5,000 insurance on the mill property. The structure will undoubtedly be rebuilt and Mr. Dayton will continue the business.

"I cannot close my report without expressing my heartiest thanks to your Honorable Body for its unfailing attitude of kindly co-operation; to the Police Board for its uniform interest and help in the workings of the force; to the Mayor and City Judge who have at all times given every assistance in their power to further the interests of the force and its individual members, and last, but by no means least, to the members of the force themselves, who have labored faithfully, in season and out, to do the duties assigned them. I could ask for no better helpers than they have proven to be, and I wish to acknowledge publicly my indebtedness to each and every one of them.

The annual Junior dance at the Park Club on Saturday night was one of the most successful ever held and was largely attended by young people from both the city and borough, while there were a few out-of-town guests. Those sixteen years of age and under were given the use of the floor until 9 o'clock, when refreshments were served to them. After that those between sixteen and twenty-one years of age were given the privileges of the floor for dancing until 12 o'clock. The usual Christmas decorations were used on this occasion. THE JANUARY
FURNITURE SALE

Each year this sale grows in importance. People realize the advantage of buying Furniture at a time when we're anxious for business. It will more than pay you to provide for your spring wants now. The goods need not be delivered 'till later on. All that's necessary is to pay a small deposit on your purchases and we will hold them and deliver them when you say, and if it's a convenience to you why come in and make the payments whenever you choose, and by the time you are ready for your goods they will be paid for.

The Sale of Bed Outfits.

As usual, the sale of Bed Outfits will be a prominent feature of this Sale. Beds and Bedding are staple lines, and when you can buy a complete outfit—Bed, Spring and Mattress—for the price of the Bed alone, you will see the wisdom of making your selections now. Please remember that our Beds are all malleable iron construction, and in case of breakage will be replaced free of charge. If you buy a cast iron bed and it breaks you have no redress. You simply sell it to the junk man for old iron.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The New Year was ushered in Saturday night at midnight with the usual din and noise, it being Sunday morning made no difference. Someone, with a poor attemp at a joke, rang Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company's fire bell about 1 o'clock. The residents who were just beginning to enjoy their slumbers were awakened and it would have gone hard with the joker could he have been found.

The week of prayer service at the Baptist church began Sunday night, with a union service. Rev. Warren P. Coon, of the Methodist church, and his father, Rev. George W. Coon, of Boston, who recently closed a successful series of revival meetings at the Methodist church, assisted in the service. Meetings are to be held every night this week in the parlors of the church at the usual hour, 7:45.

Funeral services of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frazee Ryno, who died Saturday morning after an illness of several days with pneumonia, were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 from the parents' home. Rev. G. M. Shotts had charge of the services. Interment was made in the Baptist cemetery.

Mikado Grants Defenders All Honors of War.

JAPANESE TO MARCH IN TODAY

Heroic Garrison of Port Arthur, Exhausted by Months of Constant Fight, Wasted by Disease and Short of Ammunition, Has at Last Surrendered to the All Conquering Japanese.

LONDON, Jan. 3.— Exhausted by months of almost constant fighting, decimated by disease and casualties and hopelessly sealed in its rocky fortress, the gallant garrison of Port Arthur has yielded to the victorious Japs, and the end is now written of the most dramatic war incident of modern times.

The immediate cause of the surrender, which apparently must have come soon in any event, was the fall of the fort at Sungshu mountain on Saturday, the destruction of Panlung mountain fort on Sunday and the taking of H fort and the fort at Wantai. These losses laid bare the entire defenses of the fortress.

General Stoessel, most stubborn in carrying out the will of his sovereign, has seen the advance of the besieging army gain in momentum and energy until to hold out longer would have been a crime against humanity. The conditions of the surrender are not yet known, but in all quarters it is anticipated that they will be such as an honorable soldier may accept from a brave and victorious enemy.

Advices from Tokyo say that the representatives of Generals Nogi and Stoessel, who met at Shushiying at noon to arrange terms for the capitulation of Port Arthur, have reached an agreement.

General Nogi has announced to the emperor the capitulation of the Russian forces at Port Arthur, as follows:

"The plenipotentiaries of both parties have concluded their negotiations. The Russian commissioners accepted on the whole the conditions stipulated by us and consented to capitulate. Simultaneously with the conclusion of negotiations both armies suspended hostilities. It is expected that the Japanese army will enter the city of Port Arthur this morning."

Major General Ijichi, chief of staff of Nogi's army, who conducted the negotiations for the Japanese, went to the conference with instructions from the Japanese emperor to make the most magnanimous terms with the representatives of the gallant Stoessel.

The terms of the agreement covered but a few points, and the Russian garrison will be permitted to march out with the honors of war, taking its flags and arms, and will be sent back to Russia. There is some question as to whether paroles will be required of the garrison.

The joy at Tokyo over the triumph of the Japanese arms at Port Arthur has been leavened somewhat by the report that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's Russian Baltic squadron is at St. Marie, island of Madagascar, in good shape and ready to take an active part in the fighting at any time.

In some circles fear is expressed that the Russian vice admiral is ready to move to Port Arthur and engage Togo's fleet while the Japanese admiral is away. A curious situation would result from such a move, as long before the Russians could get to Port Arthur the Japanese would be in the harbor, and a precisely opposite situation would prevail to that which existed at the time of the last naval engagement. In many circles the idea that the Baltic fleet will go to Port Arthur, now that the fortress is practically lost, is ridiculed.

Rojestvensky's squadron consists of five battleships, three cruisers, the transports Kamschatka and Anadyr and the hospital ship Orel. The Russian dispatch boat Libau visited Tamatave shortly after the arrival of the fleet and filed dispatches. She reported that the fleet had had heavy weather, but that the vessels were in splendid condition and ready to go into action at a moment's notice.

Before General Stoessel's letter asking for terms for the garrison was sent the Russian commander withdrew a large part of his forces from the last few forts they were holding and also gave orders for the blowing up of the ships in the harbor. Every vessel that might be of the least use to the Japanese was destroyed. A dispatch from Chefu makes Captain Kartow of the destroyer Vlastni authority for the statement that the destruction of the cruiser Bayan was completed. He states that the Russians blew up two of their forts near the railway.

It is understood that all hostilities have ceased pending the Shushiying conference. General Stoessel is reported very ill. From sources which are believed to be reliable word has been received that there are 15,000 sick and wounded in Port Arthur and that but 5,000 men, most of these convalescents, remain to man the forts.

This report is confirmed by dispatches from Chefu, where the Russian torpedo boats Skory, Strashni, Vlastni, Serdity, Smirli and Boiki and a merchantman with 800 soldiers have arrived. All of these vessels left Port Arthur under orders of General Stoessel.

Commander Kartzow of the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Vlastni, in an interview at Chefu last night, said:

"Port Arthur falls of exhaustion—exhaustion not only of ammunition, but of men.

"The remnant of the garrison left had been doing the work of heroes for five days and five nights, but they had reached the limit of human endurance.

"In the casemates of the forts one saw everywhere faces black with starvation, exhaustion and nerve strain. You spoke to them, but they did not give answer, only staring dumbly.

"The lack of ammunition alone would not have suggested the seeking of terms. Scant ammunition had long been common in the fortress, and during the past month many of the forts had nothing with which to return the fire of the enemy.

"The Russians sat in the casemates firing not more than once to the 200 shots sent by the Japanese. When the assault came they repulsed the enemy with bayonets. But the men themselves, having existed for three months on reduced rations, were so worn that it is marvelous they stood the final strain so long.

"General Stoessel would still fight. His wound, which was received early in the siege, had been bothering him, but his determination to fight while one man stood had not been diminished.

"'But we cannot fight,' said his generals. 'Our men cannot move. They sleep standing. They cannot see the bayonets at their breasts. We can order, but they cannot obey.'

"'Then you generals fight,' said Stoessel, clinching his fists.

"He seemed fanatical on the subject, but finally he was brought to see reason by the insistence of his subordinates, Admirals Lochinsky and Wiren, Generals Smyrnoff and Fock and many others, sometimes with broken voices, urged the step which all dreaded so long.

"I am sure Port Arthur would have sought terms a month ago had it not been for General Stoessel, who, with bulldog tenacity, steadily refused to permit such action to be taken. He had told his emperor that he would never surrender, and he meant to keep his word.

"The greatest loss suffered by Port Arthur occurred a fortnight ago when Major Kondrachenko, chief of engineers, was killed. Officers and men alike regarded him as the brightest star in Port Arthur's firmament. When his death became known the fall in the spirits of the soldiers was plainly visible.

"General Kondrachenko was seated in the casemate of a certain fort discussing with seven other officers the best way of countermining against the Japanese when an eleven inch shell burst, killing everybody in the casemate.

"General Nogi has taken Port Arthur with his artillery and his tunnels. His rifle bullets were seldom found to be of any use.

"We constantly endured a bombardment fiercer than any in history. The Japanese periodically assaulted, and then if repulsed they calmly resumed their bombardments.

"We who came here today do not know the terms of surrender suggested by General Stoessel to General Nogi nor the answer to them, having left Port Arthur even before the messenger had been dispatched. The general impression, however, is that Stoessel has proposed that the army shall go free and that he alone be made a prisoner. Even that concession seemed to wrench out the sturdy old man's heart."

Speaking of General Stoessel, Minister Hayashi, the Japanese minister here, said, "The surrender will in no way affect the glory belonging to him and his men nor our admiration for their splendid defense."

Baron Suyematsu, son-in-law of Marquis Ito and former Japanese minister of the interior, said: "Now that we have again got Port Arthur, we will not allow any other power to hold it after we have beaten Russia, and I am now more than ever confident that Japan will be victorious. I do not expect the fall of Port Arthur will make much difference with the progress toward peace."

A dispatch from Chefu, dated today at 9 a. m., says that this morning two Russian torpedo launches from Port Arthur arrived there. Seven Japanese torpedo boat destroyers are now in the harbor.

That Japan may not be permitted to retain possession of Port Arthur without dispute is shown in the fact that Paris newspapers are already reviving the claim made in 1901 that the holding of that position commanding the eastern seas by the Japanese would be a menace to European powers.

Surrender of Port Arthur Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The Japanese legation last night received a cablegram from Tokyo saying that the negotiations for the surrender of Port Arthur had been concluded and that details of the terms of surrender would be cabled later. Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, has reiterated what he has repeatedly announced that the loss of Port Arthur will not have the slightest effect on Russia's determination to fight. "Russia will pursue the war to the end, and the temporary loss of Port Arthur after such a valiant defense can only spur Russia on to an ultimate victory."

TOLSTOI TO THE CZAR.

Letter From Famous Russian Asks Freedom For the Common People.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Count Leo Tolstoi wrote a letter to the Emperor Nicholas some three years ago, when he believed himself to be dying, which has just been made public. The letter, which deals with the internal conditions of Russia, commences "Dear Brother," and refers to the universal dissatisfaction at that time manifested toward the government. It suggests a number of reforms, some of which have been recently granted, while others are expected as the outcome of the more liberal policy of Russia. Count Tolstoi blames the emperor's advisors, whose "strenuous and cruel activity is arresting the eternal progress of mankind." He says the entire country joins with him in condemning the autocratic government, which "may answer the demands of a people somewhere in central Africa, but not the demands of the Russian people, who are becoming more enlightened by the enlightenment common to the whole world." Count Tolstoi sets forth the desires of the Russian people as:

"First.—The working people desire to be delivered from special laws which place them in the position of a pariah, deprived of all the rights of other citizens.

"Second.—They desire freedom of removal from place to place, freedom of education, freedom of conscience and, above all, freedom in the use of land."

In conclusion Count Tolstoi urges the emperor to consider his duty to God, whose will is that good and not evil should be done unto men.

A series of beautiful and triumphal arches embellished the principal business thoroughfares, through which a great parade passed.

By Irving Bacheller

Author of "Eben Holden," "Darrel of the Blessed Isles," Etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by Lothrop Publishing Co.)

D'ri and I left the chateau that afternoon, putting up in the red tavern at Morristown about dusk.

My companion rode away proudly, the medal dangling at his waistcoat lapel.

"Jerushy Jane!" said he, presently, as he pulled rein. "Ain't a-goin' t' hev thet floppin' there so—meks me feel luk a bird. Don't seem nohow nat'ral. Wha' d' ye s'pose he gin me thet air thing fer?"

He was putting it away carefully in his wallet.

"As a token of respect for your bravery," said I.

His laughter roared in the still woods, making my horse lift and snort a little. It was never an easy job to break any horse to D'ri's laughter.

"It's reedic'lous," said he, thoughtfully, in a moment.

"Why?"

"'Cause fer the reason why they don't no man deserve nuthin' fer doin' what he 'd orter," he answered, with a serious and determined look.

"You did well," said I, "and deserve anything you can get."

"Done my dāmdest!" said he. "But I did n't do nuthin' but git licked. Got shot an' tore an' slammed all over thet air deck, an' could n't do no harm t' nobody. Jes luk a hoss tied 'n the stall, an' a lot o' men whalin' 'im, an' a lot more tryin' t' scare 'im t' death."

"Wha' d' ye s'pose thet air thing's made uv?" he inquired, after a little silence.

"Silver," said I.

"Pure silver?"

"Undoubtedly," was my answer.

"Judas Priest!" said he, taking out his wallet again, to look at the trophy. "Thet air mus' be wuth suthin."

"More than a year's salary," said I.

He looked up at me with a sharp whistle of surprise.

"Ain' no great hand fer sech flummydiddles," said he, as he put the medal away.

"It's a badge of honor," said I. "It shows you 're a brave man."

"Got 'nough on 'em," said D'ri. "This 'ere rip 'n the forehead's 'bout all the badge I need."

"It's from the emperor—the great Napoleon," I said. "It 's a mark of his pleasure."

"Wall, by Judas Priest!" said D'ri, "I would n't jump over a stump or a stun wall t' please no emp'ror, an' I would n't cut off my leetle finger fer a bull bushel basket o' them air. I hain't a-fightin' fer no honor."

"What then?" said I.

His face turned very sober. He pursed his lips, and spat across the ditch; then gave his mouth a wipe, and glanced thoughtfully at the sky.

"Fer liberty," said he, with decision. "Same thing my father died fer."

Not to this day have I forgotten it, the answer of old D'ri, or the look of him as he spoke. I was only a reckless youth fighting for the love of peril and adventure, and with too little thought of the high purposes of my country. The causes of the war were familiar to me; that proclamation of Mr. Madison had been discussed freely in our home, and I had felt some share in the indignation of D'ri and my father. This feeling had not been allayed by the bloody scenes in which I had had a part. Now I began to feel the great passion of the people, and was put to shame for a moment.

"Liberty—that is a grand thing to fight for," said I, after a brief pause.

"Swap my blood any time fer thet air," said D'ri. "I can fight sassy, but not fer no king but God A'mighty. Don't pay t' git all tore up less it 's fer suthin' purty middlin' vallyble. My life ain't wuth much, but, ye see, I hain't nuthin' else."

We rode awhile in sober thought, hearing only a sough of the wind above and the rustling hoof-beat of our horses in the rich harvest of the autumn woods. We were walking slowly over a stretch of bare moss when, at a sharp turn, we came suddenly in sight of a huge bear that sat facing us. I drew my pistol as we pulled rein, firing quickly. The bear ran away into the brush as I fired another shot.

"He 's hit," said D'ri, leaping off and bidding me hold the bit. Then, with a long stride, he ran after the fleeing bear. I had been waiting near half an hour when D'ri came back slowly, with a downhearted look.

"'T ain' no use," said he. "Can't never git thet bear. He 's got a flesh-wound high up in his hin' quarters, an' he 's travellin' fast."

He took a fresh chew of tobacco and mounted his horse.

"Terrible pity!" he exclaimed, shaking his head with some trace of lingering sorrow. "Ray," said he, soberly, after a little silence, "when ye see a bear lookin' your way, ef ye want 'im, always shute at the end thet's toward ye."

There was no better bear-hunter in the north woods than D'ri, and to lose a bear was, for him, no light affliction.

"Can't never break a bear's neck by shutin' 'im in the hin' quarters," he remarked.

I made no answer.

"Might jest es well spit 'n 'is face," he added presently; "jest eggzac'ly."

This apt and forceful advice calmed a lingering sense of duty, and he rode on awhile in silence. The woods were glooming in the early dusk when he spoke again. Something revived his contempt of my education. He had been trailing after me, and suddenly I felt his knee.

"Tell ye this, Ray," said he, in a kindly tone. "Ef ye wan' t' git a bear, got t' mux 'im up a leetle for'ard—right up n' the neighborhood uv 'is fo'c's'le. Don't dew no good t' shute 'is hama. Might as well try t' choke 'im t' death by pinchin' 'is tail."

We were out in the open. Roofs and smoking chimneys were silhouetted on the sky, and, halfway up a hill, we could see the candle-lights of the red tavern. There, in the bar, before blazing logs in a great fireplace, for the evening had come chilly, a table was laid for us, and we sat down with hearty happiness to tankards of old ale and a smoking haunch. I have never drunk or eaten with a better relish. There were half a dozen or so sitting about the bar, and all ears were for news of the army and all hands for our help. If we asked for more potatoes or ale, half of them rose to proclaim it. Between pipes of Virginia tobacco, and old siedge, and songs of love and daring, we had a memorable night. When we went to our room, near 12 o'clock, I told D'ri of our dear friends, who, all day, had been much in my thought.

"Wus the letter writ by her?" he inquired.

"Not a doubt of it."

"Then it 's all right," said he. "A likely pair o' gals them air—no mistake."

"But I think they made me miss the bear," I answered.

"Ray," said D'ri, soberly, "when yer shutin' a bear, ef ye want 'im, don't never think o' nuthin' but the bear." Then, after a moment's pause, he added: "Won't never hev no luck killin' a bear ef ye don' quit dwellin' so on them air gals."

I thanked him, with a smile, and asked if he knew Eagle island.

"Be'n all over it half a dozen times," said he. "'T ain' no more 'n 20 rod from the Yankee shore, thet air island ain't. We c'u'd paddle there in a day from our cove."

And that was the way we planned to go—by canoe from our landing—and wait for the hour at Paleyville, a Yankee village opposite the island. We would hire a team there, and convey the party by wagon to Leraysville.

We were off at daybreak, and going over the hills at a lively gallop. Crossing to Caraway pike, in the Cedar meadows, an hour later, we stampeded a lot of moose. One of them, a great bull, ran ahead of us, roaring with fright, his antlers rattling upon bush and bough, his black bell hanging to the fern-tops.

"Don' never wan' t' hev no argyment with one o' them air chaps 'less ye know purty nigh how 't 's comin' out," said D'ri. "Alwus want a gun es well es a purty middlin' ca-a-areful aim on your side. Then ye 're apt t' need a tree, tew, 'fore ye git through with it." After a moment's pause he added: "Got t' be a joemightyful stout tree, er he 'll shake ye out uv it luk a ripe apple."

"They always have the negative side of the question," I said. "Don't believe they 'd ever chase a man if he 'd let 'em alone."

"Yis, siree, they would," was D'ri's answer. "I 've hed 'em come right efter me 'fore ever I c'u'd lift a gun. Ye see, they 're jest es cur'us 'bout a man es a man is 'bout them. Ef they can't smell 'im they 're terrible cur'us. Jes' wan' t' see what 's inside uv 'im an' what kind uv a smellin' critter he is. Dunno es they wan' t' dew 'im any pertic'lar harm. Jes' wan' t' mux 'im over a leetle; but they dew it awful careless, an' he ain't never fit t' be seen no more."

He snickered faintly as he spoke.

"An' they don't nobody see much uv 'im efter thet, nuther," he added, with a smile.

"I 'member once a big bull tried t' find out the kind o' works I hed in me. 'T wa'n' no moose—jest a common ord'nary three-year-ol' bull."

"Hurt you?" I queried.

An Ideal Location Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL, IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

A REPUTATION.

How It Was Made and Retained in Plainfield.

A good reputation is not easily earned and it was only by hard consistent work among our citizens that Doan's Kidney Pills won their way to the proud distinction attained in this locality. The public endorsement of scores of Plainfield residents has rendered invaluable service to the community. Read what this citizen says:

Charles Giese, cigar manufacturer, of 25 Elm place, says: "I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint for two or three years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such good medicines for kidney troubles so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after two or three days I felt better. I continued their use until the trouble disappeared."

TRAPPER WON HANDICAP.

Janeta Beaten by Narrow Margin by Eastern Colt.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 3.—The first of the special handicaps for three-year-olds at six furlongs and with $1,000 added was the feature of the card. The eastern colt Trapper, a decided favorite in the betting at 5 to 2, won out by a very narrow margin from Janeta, who was coming very fast at the end. King's Trophy, second choice at fours, was outrun in the first half and was in the worst of the going for the latter part of the journey. Van Ness and St Sever were the other winning favorites.

First Race.—Captain Hugh Bradley, first; Barca, second; Royal Arms, third.

Second Race.—St. Sever, first; Arachne, second; Rabunta, third.

Third Race.—Van Ness, first; Coruscate, second; Josie, third.

Fourth Race.—Trapper, first; Janeta, second; King's Trophy, third.

Fifth Race.—Midge, first; Rankin, second; High Wind, third.

Sixth Race.—Rachel Ward, first; Reveille, second; Gravina, third.

Galanthus Broke His Neck.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 3.—The New Year's card was the most attractive that has been offered during the Ascot racing season, and 8,000 persons were present. A steeplechase, the Rose Selling stakes, with $1,800 in cash and a $500 cup, given by George Rose, and the first "baby" race of the year 1905, were features of the day. In the steeplechase Galanthus fell at the first jump and broke his neck.

Claude at Oakland.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—The New Year's handicap was the attractive feature at Oakland, $2,210 going to the winner. Claude, the favorite, was nearly put out of the running by being fouled by Bombardier on the far turn, but came up fast at the finish and won by a head.

Fought to a Draw.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 3.—Larry Temple of New York and "Dixie Kid" of San Francisco, colored middleweights, fought fifteen rounds to a draw before the Eureka club.

SEVEN SUSPECTS HELD.

Body of Leonard M. Mandeville Found at Newark, N. J.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 3.—With a deep gash on the right side of his head, evidently inflicted with a blunt weapon, the body of Leonard M. Mandeville, a young man living in Woodside, a fashionable section of this city and employed as a clerk in the main office of the Western Union Telegraph company in New York, has been found half submerged in a ditch of muddy water near the Jackson street crossing of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Seven men and a woman, all Polaks, who are suspected of having some knowledge of how young Mandeville came by his death have been arrested and are detained at police headquarters pending an investigation.

The police found that Mandeville left home to visit a friend in Kearney, but, finding his friend away, left there, and his movements since leaving Kearney have not been traced.

County Physician William M. McKenzie, who examined the body, declared that the wound was not an accidental one, but had been inflicted by some blunt instrument, and that the man was probably murdered. The police cannot account for the man being found in the neighborhood, which is largely populated by Polaks and Italians.

Will Leave Her Guns at Guam.

HONOLULU, Jan. 3.—The cruiser New Orleans, now on her way from the Philippines, will leave most of her guns at Guam and Midway island to protect those places in some measure. The New Orleans was, with her sister ship, the Albany, purchased in England at the time of the Spanish war. She is a serviceable vessel, but her guns are not of the American type and will therefore be replaced when she arrives at Bremerton to go out of commission and refit.

Will Support Roosevelt.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Jan. 3.—Wholesalers of Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota have instituted an organized movement to support President Roosevelt in his agitation for more railroad legislation. Congressmen will be asked to oppose the plan of legalizing pooling on the ground that it will destroy the last vestige of competition, not only denying shippers a chance of good service and reasonable courtesy, but the right to choose the route.

Tucker Murder Trial.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 3.—At the Tucker murder trial here District Attorney Sanderson opened the case for the prosecution. He addressed the jury briefly, saying that today the jury, accompanied by himself and one of the counsel for the defense, would visit the scene of the murder and the Tucker home at Auburndale. James H. Vaney, for the prisoner, also addressed the jury concerning the proposed visit to Weston.

Long Branch Store Destroyed.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Jan. 3.—Fire destroyed the department store of Jacob Steinback, on Broadway, last night, causing a loss of $200,000. Adjoining buildings were damaged by fire and water, and several firemen were overcome by smoke.

Mammoth Car Shops Opened.

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 3.—The mammoth new car shops of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company in Keyser valley have been opened here. They cost $1,250,000 and will eventually employ 2,500 hands.

LESLIE M. DANIEL, COUNCILMANIC HEAD

MEMBER FROM THIRD WARD TAKES HIS PLACE AS PRESIDENT.

City Clerk J. T. MacMurray called the new Common Council to order last night and Mr. Tyler nominated Leslie M. Daniel for president. He was chosen by a unanimous vote. Upon his taking his seat he found a handsome basket of roses on the table, from Ernest R. Ackerman.

In taking the chair Mr. Daniel thanked the members for their courtesy. Mr. Tyler moved that the rules for 1904, with the amendments providing for the committee on public affairs and the doing away with the committee on licenses, be adopted.

George B. Wean was reappointed city stenographer and copyist at a salary of $400, and The Daily Press and The Courier-News were named as the official newspapers of the city.

A resolution offered by Mr. Wilson providing for the transfer of $2,000 to the street department fund until the annual appropriations are made for the year was carried. Jacob Dunham was elected janitor of the Common Council rooms at a salary of $300.

After Mr. Tolles moved that when Common Council adjourn it be to meet on Monday, January 9, an adjournment was taken.

Gun Club's Shoot.

In addition to the regular New Year's trap contest in which Dr. Luckey, Dr. B. F. Leonard and Dennis Gavin made highest scores, the Independent Gun Club ran off four ten-bird sweeps yesterday with twelve entries in each. The first went to Seebach, the second and third to William Pierson, Jr., and the last to Dr. O. M. Luckey.

Christmas and New Year's Festival.

A Christmas and New Year's festival combined formed an attractive feature to the Sunday-school of All Souls' Unitarian church yesterday afternoon. A Christmas tree added to the enjoyment of the occasion. The affair was in charge of Miss Laura Osgood.

Society Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, gave a dinner party New Year's night, in honor of some out-of-town friends. Covers were laid for twelve.

New Year's Reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., held a New Year's reception at their home in Grant avenue last night. There were thirty present.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

There were four baptisms at the First Baptist church on Sunday morning by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss.

Week of prayer services will be held at Trinity Reformed church commencing tonight and continuing every night but Saturday.

At the Christmas entertainment for the Sunday-school at Maroonnier chapel held Friday evening, a musical programme under the direction of Horace J. Martin, of the Trinity church choir, was interspersed with recitations and Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, in a short but graceful speech, presented a purse to Miss May Morrison, the Sunday-school's pianist, on behalf of the school.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Gilbert S. Martin, senior past councilor of Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, was given a birthday surprise party at his home in Somerset place, last night. Mr. Martin was presented with a handsome past councilor's emblem.

PERSONAL.

Miss Esther Jones and Miss Cornelia McKee, of Brooklyn, were the guests Sunday and Monday of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Leader, of Duer street. Miss McKee and Mrs. Leader are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Harwood Frost, of London, Eng., who have been spending some time with Mr. Frost's parents on Watchung avenue, are now visiting Mrs. Frost's parents in Chicago. They will return to Plainfield before sailing home.

Somerset Court Opens.

The first case to come before Judge Garretson at Somerville this morning was that of John H. Sharp, of Bernardsville, against Dr. Fred C. Jones, of Basking Ridge. Sharp, represented by Craig A. Marsh, of this city, sues to recover $8,000 damages for the loss of his eleven-months-old child last January, claiming the defendant made a mistake in the treatment he prescribed. The Grand Jury findings in regard to the negroes who assaulted police officers in the borough on Christmas eve were presented to the Court together with a report recommending a new court house building.

Mattress Set Afire.

In some unexplained manner a mattress was set on fire at the home of Henry Kingslow, the colored restaurant man, 655 West Third street, shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The fire apparatus was not required. Apparently someone had been enjoying a smoke while in bed, but this was denied by the tenants.

T. Timbo in Crayon.

The Timbo Social Club, at its meeting last night, was presented with a handsome crayon of the proprietor of the restaurant. The presentation speech was made by City Judge William N. Runyon, and the picture was accepted on behalf of the club by H. P. Greenwod.

UNION COUNTY COURT OPENED THIS MORNING

Judge J. Franklin Fort was on the bench at the opening session of the January term of the Union County Court, today. In his address to the Grand Jury he dwelt particularly on the shooting of young John Darling by Harold M. Wilcox at Westfield, several weeks ago, and stated that the evidence now before the court in this case was such that the members should not construe the shooting as a misadventure. He declared that Mr. Wilcox was not excusable.

The court adjourned to Monday, January 9. The Plainfield members of the Grand Jury are: First ward, Dr. A. W. Anderson; Second ward, James R. Martine; Third ward, William T. Kirk; Fourth ward, Abram Angleman.

Snatched Her Pocketbook.

Miss Mary McMann, of West Seventh street, had a small purse containing some money snatched from her hand on Friday night, by a young man, of whom she can give but a scanty description, as she was passing along Central avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

John Jason McGowan, formerly a reporter for The Daily Press, and since occupying a similar position on The Elizabeth Journal, has been promoted. He succeeds John Kent as city editor on the county seat's leading paper.

Two Small Fires.

A blaze in the kitchen of Charles Herman's home on Johnston Drive, near Somerset street, called out the borough firemen at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. Owing to an overheated stove a partition had caught fire, but was quickly extinguished. The loss was slight. Warned by the frantic whistling of a Central freight engineer, Patrolman O'Keefe discovered flames in Michael Armstrong's stable on East Fourth street and pulled box 13 at 9:10 last night. The firemen extinguished the blaze which had started unaccountably in the hay loft, while O'Keefe and several passers-by had already removed the horse and harness. The damage to the building was about $30.

Herbert L. Pierce, of Dunellen, spent New Year's at Montrow Falls, N. Y.

Mrs. John Groendyke, of West Front street, is quite ill at her home with the grip.

MR. RANDOLPH OPTIMISTIC

Former Mayor's View of the Country's Outlook for 1905.

PEACE, PROSPERITY

New York Commercial Pays Tribute to Stock Exchange President and Prints Interview.

In its annual review of the financial condition, the New York Commercial yesterday devoted much space to the Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange, incidently making this reference to one of Plainfield's leading citizens:

"L. V. F. Randolph, formerly treasurer of the Illinois Central Railroad and later president of the Atlantic Trust Co., has been president of the exchange for about two years, and under his regime the institution has made excellent progress."

In the same issue is published this statement of former Mayor Randolph:

"Human activity was never in evidence as it is today. At Port Arthur the activity is destructive. Almost everywhere else it is constructive. The world's assets are greater than ever before, not only in its present population of 1,600,000,000 of souls, but in farms and factories, in developed mines of silver and gold and copper, in towns and cities, in railroads, in scientific advance and in literary, ethical and aesthetic culture; in short, in everything that can contribute to the enrichment of a race.

"Of this wealth America has a hugely generous share; and America is at peace, and is producing wealth daily, and is advancing by great strides along all lines of progress.

"The year 1905 opens for our country most auspiciously. We are enjoying our splendid crops and our magnificent industrial production, and these we share with other nations for various valuable considerations. The argosies of the world sail into our ports and their cargoes are distributed among our thrifty citizens. Our banking is done by trained and competent men. Our merchants are in the van of all commercial progress.

"Among our statesmen are some at least worthy to be called great in the administration of important affairs. Our mechanics are the best educated and happiest of any on earth. Even our servants are by their savings and thrift independent capitalists. Perhaps on some counts it might be said that we are progressing too rapidly. But surely at the beginning of the new year 1905 the people of America have no cause to complain of lack of any of the blessings or favors of Providence."

The New York Herald on Sunday contained the following interview from Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, of this city: "The year 1905 will open for America under excellent auspices. We are happier than other nations in being not only at peace, but relieved of the necessity of supporting a great military establishment. The building up of the American navy has been wise and necessary. Farmers everywhere are prosperous. When the nation's farmers prosper all industries do well. Money is in abundant supply. Our trade with all the world is rapidly increasing. Our government is in strong hands and has the popular confidence, and at present there is no menace of any sort to the good cheer and progress of the American people."

A NIGHT OFF.

To be Given at the Casino Tonight night by University Sophomores.

The Columbia University "Soph. Show," "A Night Off," has just finished its week's run at Carnegie Lyceum in New York, and is to come out to the Casino tonight. The play made a great hit in New York and was conceded to be the best "Soph. Show" in several years. The play is the same one that was given five years ago by local talent at the old Music Hall.

It is full of very funny situations throughout and the fellows take the parts unusually well and especially those impersonating girls. It is hoped that the play will receive as good support in Plainfield as it did in New York. A dance will be held after the play.

Borough Street Work.

A stone culvert, three feet wide, will be constructed across Park place on the north side of Duer street, as soon as the weather permits. The small iron pipe now doing duty there will be removed to Park place and Vine street. Mr. Arnold, chairman of the street committee, hopes thus to relieve the flood conditions formerly existing at the two points indicated.

MRS. PERCY H. STEWART HOLDS A RECEPTION

SOCIETY ATTEND IN LARGE NUMBERS DESPITE STORM.

Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, of 563 West Eighth street, gave a charming "at home," yesterday afternoon from 4 to 7, and despite the severe storm there was a large gathering of society women, making it one of the events of the winter season. The decorations were appropriate to the holiday season. A feature of the affair was the singing of Edward Strong, tenor at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York.

Assisting Mrs. Stewart in receiving were Mrs. Francis deLacey Hyde, Mrs. Edward H. Ladd, Jr., Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, Mrs. Julius Erickson, Mrs. Alfred H. Strenli, Mrs. Benjamin Arrowsmith Hegeman, Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna, Mrs. Robert Rushmore, Mrs. Ernest R. Ackerman, Miss Virginia Hegeman, Miss Fisk, Mrs. Walter Stewart, Miss Stewart, Miss Ida Stewart, of this city; Mrs. William F. Cochran, mother of Mrs. Stewart, and Miss Cochran, of Yonkers, N. Y., Mrs. Erickson Perkins, of Rochester, N. Y., and Mrs. Eugene Moore, of Los Angeles, Cal.

MISS EDITH MELLICK'S DANCE A CHARMING ONE

FORMER COUNCILMAN GIVES DELIGHTFUL FUNCTION IN DAUGHTER'S HONOR.

Plainfield's young society set was treated to a rare pleasure last night at the occasion of the dance given by Mr. and Mrs. George P. Mellick, of East Seventh street, in honor of their daughter, Edith Mellick, and their niece, Elizabeth Tweedy, to about seventy-five of their young friends.

Mr. Mellick's handsome residence on East Seventh street presented an alluring appearance at the cotillion, the parlor and drawing room being beautifully decorated in honor of the occasion. The Christmas season was appropriately observed in the decorative scheme, red and green being the predominating colors. Cut flowers, combined with evergreens and potted plants, made the rooms attractive beyond description. It was one of the smartest affairs of the kind given in this city in some time and the young people thoroughly enjoyed themselves from 8 to 12, the hours of the dance.

There were many out-of-town friends of the young women, who were guests at the Mellick house for the night, and in addition over fifty of Miss Mellick's Plainfield associates were included among those invited. The music was furnished by Pound, who formerly played for the assemblies in the city. Refreshments were served in the latter part of the evening, Marist, of New York, being the caterer.

UNION COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION MEETS

PLAN TO HOLD A DINNER AT MARTIN'S THIS MONTH.

Immediately following the adjournment of court yesterday a meeting of the Union County Bar Association was held. Saturday, January 28, was chosen as the date for the annual dinner of the association. It will be held at Martin's, New York.

In past years the expense of the dinner has sometimes exceeded the amounts of the subscriptions. There was quite a discussion over a motion to take $150 from the treasury to pay for the next dinner. It was finally carried by a majority of one.

All the old officers of the association were re-elected without opposition.

The officers are: President, Craig A. Marsh; vice president, N. O. J. English; treasurer, Nathan R. Leavitt; secretary, Fred C. Hyer; trustees, Frank Bergen; N. O. J. English, Edward S. Atwater, P. H. Gilhooly, James C. Connolly, George T. Parrot, Craig A. Marsh.

Installed Post's Officers.

Past Department Commander William C. Smith, of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., accompanied by several members of Winfield Scott Post, went to Elizabeth last night, where he installed the officers-elect of Ulric Dahlgren Post, G. A. R. After the installation the visitors were entertained at a banquet.

HIGH LICENSE AGITATION

North Plainfield, New Brunswick and Elizabeth in Line.

ARGUMENTS ADVANCED

Newark Evening News Editorially Reviews the Liquor Situation in Several Communities.

In reference to the agitation for higher license fees in various municipalities, since Plainfield took the initiative, the Newark Evening News said last night:

"In his first annual message to the City Council of the city of Elizabeth, Mayor Berry last night urged that body to take such steps as would increase the license fee from $250 to $500. The manifest purpose is not only to reduce the number of saloons in the city, but to increase the revenues to meet the expenses caused by the liquor traffic. In Elizabeth, as in all other cities, the most prolific cause of crimes of all kinds is liquor, and liquor should be made to pay for its work of devastation.

"In the city of New Brunswick last night a mass meeting was held in the First Methodist church. The edifice was packed to the doors. The Mayor, the members of the City Council and the sheriff of the county were invited and were present, and were given a fair idea of what the people of New Brunswick desired of them. Ringing speeches were made and resolutions were adopted petitioning the council to reduce the number of saloons by at least one-third, there being now over a hundred places in which intoxicating liquors are sold, in a city of about 22,000 inhabitants. This is one saloon for each 200 people; or one for every fifty voters. Little wonder that the speakers declared there were 'more than the citizens demanded, wanted or asked for.'

"A higher license fee was not definitely advised at the New Brunswick mass meeting, but that will doubtless be incorporated in any plan to reduce the number of saloons, for the reason that higher license has been advocated in that city for some time past. One of the suggestions was that the names of all applicants with the signers thereto be published in the papers at least a month prior to final action thereon by the Excise Board. This is a severe recommendation, yet there is nothing unjust in such a regulation. A property owner who is willing to sign for a saloon ought not to be unwilling to have his name published in such connection.

"In the borough of North Plainfield the question of higher license will undoubtedly come up in the near future. It came up last year in a bitter factional fight. The outgoing council voted to ask the county court to raise the fee from $350 to $600. The incoming council did the same, but the court refused. On Christmas eve a gang of half-drunken negroes left Plainfield when the saloons were closed at 11 p. m., went over to North Plainfield to finish their drinking orgies, and there murderously attacked the borough police, injuring three men and nearly killing one. They were arrested, the grand jury indicted them, and with the indictment recommended to the court that the license fee in North Plainfield be made $10,00, the same as in Plainfield.

"Here are three noteworthy attempts to raise the license fees in three different places, with a view to holding the saloons in check and decreasing the crime of which they are the most fruitful source. High license under an excise system is not a perfect regulation of the liquor traffic, but high license is better than low license in that it reduces the number of drinking places, makes the proprietors of saloons more careful lest their license may be taken from them, and turns into the city treasury some of the money necessary to be expended each year in the care of the paupers, habitual drunkards and criminals that become such through the liquor traffic. If the new Mayor of Elizabeth, the citizens of New Brunswick and the grand jury of Somerset County accomplish their purposes they will begin the new year well."

Board of Health Met.

Owing to the voluminous annual report of the Board of Health, there was but little business to consider at the January meeting of the Board yesterday afternoon. The monthly reports were filed and a petition from residents of the West End received, asking that some action be taken to abate the smoke nuisance caused by the various factories. The matter was referred to President C. J. Fisk, who will confer with the heads of the different manufacturing concerns.

TO PUSH POSTOFFICE BILL

Senator Kean Anxious to Get Federal Bldg. for Plainfield.

CHANCES OF SUCCESS

Congressman Fowler, However, is Not so Optimistic—Interviews on the Subject.

Notwithstanding the advices given out from Washington that a policy of retrenchment would be pursued by Congress during the present session and that therefore all appropriations would be cut down, including those for postal affairs, there is a chance of the bill for a new postoffice building here being shoved through the Senate before adjournment. This bill was introduced at the last session by Senator Kean and was an agreeable surprise to Plainfield, which had long needed such a structure.

When asked by a representative of The Daily Press what the prospects were, the senior senator said without hesitation that he hopes to have the measure passed by the upper house of Congress during the present session. "There's no buncome about me," declared the sage of Ursino, "and when I introduced that measure I meant to work for its passage. It may be that I will be unable to get it through this time, but I hope to and surely will sooner or later."

Congressman Fowler is not so optimistic. To The Daily Press representative he spoke of the struggle he had in getting a postoffice appropriation for Elizabeth and cited the fact that the close proximity of Plainfield to Elizabeth might be used as an argument against erecting a Federal building here.

HOWARD TURRILL WEDS MARYLAND GIRL

MISS IDA R. SIMPSON BRIDE OF PLAINFIELDER.

Howard Turrill, of Grove street, was married today at 12 o'clock noon to Miss Ida R. Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, of Frederick, Maryland, the ceremony being performed in the Episcopal church in that city in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the couple from Frederick, Baltimore, New York and this city.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Simpson, as maid-of-honor, while Robert Turrill, brother of the groom, was best man. Charles L. Turrill, another brother, was head usher.

A reception followed the wedding, at the home of the bride's parents. Later the couple left on a wedding trip. Mr. Turrill holds a position with the Vacuum Oil Company in New York. They will live at the Grove street home.

BAD CHECK MAN CROOK IS CAUGHT IN NEWARK

MAN WHO POSED AS AN ELK AND GOT MONEY HERE IS CAPTURED.

J. F. Brewer, who, as F. E. Wade, jolly good fellow, Elk and handler of checks not quite as good as they look, wore out his welcome in Plainfield a few weeks ago, fell into the hands of the Newark police last night as a result of trying his game once too often.

Chief Hopper, of the Newark department, sent word to Chief Kiely notifying him of the capture and he, accompanied by George O. Stevens, went to Newark this afternoon to look the prisoner over.

While in this city a short time ago, Brewer fleeced George O. Stevens, A. D. Findlay and Thomas Timbo by means of worthless checks.

Got Damages for Injury.

The case of Alexander Kuzzie, a minor, against the Somerville Woolen Mills, in tort, was tried yesterday in the Somerset County Court, before Judge W. S. Gummere and a jury. The plaintiff recovered a verdict of $550. Isaac P. Runyon, Esq., represented the plaintiff and Lindabury, Depue and Faulks, the defendants.

Borough Health Board Meets.

TO FACE MURDER CHARGE

Legal Aspect of Willcox's Act Explained to Grand Jury.

KILLED A LITTLE BOY

Justice Fort Declared That There Are No Facts Before Court to Justify or Excuse Shooting.

The shooting of John Darling, fifteen years old, by Harold L. Willcox, at Westfield, last Hallowe'en, was the subject yesterday of an elaborate charge by Justice J. Franklin Fort to the Grand Jury at Elizabeth. He said:

"On Monday night last, Oct. 31, John Darling came to his death at Westfield, in this county, as the result of a shotgun wound, caused by the discharge of a revolver in the hand of one Harold L. Willcox. Darling was about fifteen years old and was playing with other children upon the premises of Willcox. It was Hallowe'en, and the young folk had been amusing themselves in the innocent amusements usually incident to that night.

"Some thirty minutes before the shooting the children had been at the Willcox house and had gone away, and had returned just before the shooting. John Darling appears by the proof before the Coroner's Court to have gone to a shutter on the house of the defendant, and opened it, or attempted to do so. Willcox suddenly appeared from behind a bush. Upon this Darling either ran or started to run, where upon Willcox is said to have said, 'Stand still or I will shoot!' and almost immediately fired.

"The ball entered the body at the hinder edge of the armpit, penetrated the chest at the lower edge of the sixth rib, passed through the lower lobe of the lung, wounding the larger vessels at the root of the lung, and opening the bronchial tubes. The ball was not found, and death resulted shortly after the shooting. Willcox surrendered himself to the authorities and is now upon bail awaiting action of the Grand Jury.

"The proof before the Coroner would seem to make it clear that Willcox had taken his loaded revolver and gone out into his yard, and was standing there behind a bush, when the children came up, or had come out with the revolver unseen after the children came up; that he threatened that in case Darling did not stand still he would shoot; that he did shoot and the result of that shot was the death of Darling.

"Persons who use deadly weapons are presumed to intend the consequences which naturally result from their use. One will not be permitted to excuse his act of shooting at another with a deadly weapon by saying 'I did not intend to kill,' the law presumes from the use of the weapon that he did.

"The shooting in this case was not done, under provocation or in a transport of passion; it was clearly willful.

"Did Willcox go out of his house intending to shoot some one, and did he say before shooting, 'Stand still or I will shoot?' And did he then fire deliberately at Darling? If so, that is murder, and he should be indicted for that offense.

"The testimony taken before the Coroner of at least two of the girls who were near him when he fired would seem to indicate that he shot straight at the deceased, and the course of the ball as it entered the body would seem to confirm their statements.

"If you find these facts under the proof to be such as I have indicated, your duty to return an indictment for murder would seem to be plain. The offense can only be reduced to manslaughter in case you conclude that the shooting was the result of carelessness, practically an involuntary killing. Unless the proof is different before you from what it was at the inquest this theory has no support in the testimony.

"If there shall be proof before you showing that the killing was involuntary, and resulted solely from the careless use of the revolver, your indictment may be for manslaughter.

"But there are no facts before the court which upon any phase of the testimony will justify or excuse the shooting as a case of manslaughter."

Fell in Raceway.

Among the sight seers at the rear of French's Mill Sunday morning after the fire was little Julia Leahy, of New York, eight-year-old niece of Joseph Harrigan, of East Fourth street, whom she is visiting. While trying to cross the raceway she broke through the ice, and after getting a thorough ducking was hauled out and taken home.

COMPANY K MAY ATTEND STOKES' INAUGURATION

THOUGH AS YET NO ORDERS HAVE BEED ISSUED TO NATIONAL GUARD.

It is not yet known positively whether the local company of the National Guards will attend the inauguration of Governor-elect Stokes at Trenton, on January 21. As yet the members of Company K have received no orders commanding them to attend, and it has not yet been announced whether or not the entire National Guard will attend the inauguration. This was done at the inauguration of Governor Murphy, and the local company was represented.

The local soldier boys are expecting to hear in the new future whether they are to attend, and it will probably be definitely known before the next drill, which will be on January 9. As the head of the State Guards after this inauguration, it has been considered appropriate in past years that the Guards be present in parade. This was attempted in 1901, and the success was somewhat marred by the fact that a pouring rain greeted the soldiers at Trenton.

Y. M. C. A. TEAM MAY WIN GYMNASTIC CONTEST

M'NAUGHTON'S PHENOMINAL HIGH DIVE POINTS TO SUCCESS.

The Physical Directors' Society, of the Y. M. C. A. of Northern New Jersey, has decided to hold the annual inter-association gymnastic championship contest in this city sometime in February, and as the appearances at the present time would indicate, the local gymnasts will be by no means out of the contest.

With the record breaking high dive which Walter McNaughton made at the Y. M. C. A. recently, the Plainfield team has renewed confidence in its ability to overcome the other teams in the State. McNaughton is sure to win this feature of the contest, and has more than a passing chance in the high jump and other events. Six feet and one inch is the highest which the champion high diver has gone over, and it is several inches beyond the nearest competitor in the State. McNaughton first distinguished himself in his specialty in high diving last year, when, in an inter-association contest, he captured first place for the Plainfield team with a height of five feet, eight inches. This won for him the State championship, and shortly afterward in another contest, McNaughton took the National championship with five feet, eleven inches. His high dive of six feet, one inch, which was made in an exhibition, cannot count as a record but it is pretty sure sign that the present holder of the high diving record will not be easily beaten for some time.

Among those who will compete for representation on the team from this city are Cahoone, Smith, Neal, Long, McNaughton, Bentliff and Hand. There will be others who may be included in the squad from the local gym.

AIM TO STOP SPREAD OF VARIOUS DISEASES

BOARD OF HEALTH PLANS TO MAKE DISINFECTION COMPULSORY.

An important announcement is made by the Board of Health in its annual report to the effect that during the present year it hopes to make disinfection compulsory after deaths from tuberculosis. This will mean an increased amount of disinfection, but it is believed that it will help to check any spread of that dreaded disease.

The Board of Health states that it is with gratification that it finds so many householders seeking disinfectants for their homes, the practice now being quite general where before it was a rare thing. At present it is not compulsory to disinfect after tuberculosis, typhoid fever, chickenpox and measles, but as a rule householders prefer to have their homes purified after the presence of these diseases.

Last Christmas Celebration.

The members of the Loyal Temperance Legion met yesterday in the W. C. T. U. rooms to complete the arrangements for the Christmas tree celebration to be held in the rooms Saturday night.

Gymnastics at Y. M. C. A.

New Year's at the Y. M. C. A. was appropriately observed by "open house" throughout the entire day, and an exhibition in the gymnasium. The boys' classes were on the floor in the morning, and did much credit to the instruction of the physical director by their drills and individual work. An entertaining programme of gymnastics was arranged for both the morning and the afternoon exhibitions. In the afternoon the evening class had the floor. The programme of the men's class consisted of apparatus work, several drills and special features by Herbert Hanson, tumbling, and Walter McNaughton, high dive champion. The work of Walter Cahoone on the high bar and of Ray Smith in the potato race was commendable.

Angleman, Esq.

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS.

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

SWIFTWING WON.

Feature of Charity Day at New Orleans Was Second Race.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 4.—This was charity day at New Orleans. It was one day when the talent did not begrudge giving up a dollar to enter the grounds, knowing that the dollar at least would be diverted to a good purpose.

The course was crowded and the boxes well filled for the first time during the meeting. The receipts for the day will be split up among various institutions in this city.

Monaco Maid was the choice in the opening event, with Jake Sanders and Pawtucket the best played of the others. Monaco Maid gladdened the hearts of the smart players by going to the front at the start and staying there to the end, winning in a drive by a half length from Pawtucket, who finished out strong and beat Flight a length and a half for the place. Summary:

First Race. — Monaco Maid, first; Pawtucket, second; Flight, third.

Second Race.—Swiftwing, first; Cataline, second; Handspinner, third.

ASSEMBLY OPENED.

Governor Higgins Delivers His First Message.

RAINES AND NIXON ELECTED PRO TEM.

George M. Palmer For Fifth Time Nominated as Speaker, Thus by Implication Made Democratic Leader In the Assembly.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 4.—Senator John Raines of Ontario and Assemblyman S. Fred Nixon of Chautauqua were re-elected respectively as president pro tempore of the senate and speaker of the assembly at the opening session of the legislature here.

The legislature of 1905 heard the first message of Governor Higgins and then took a recess for one week until noon of Wednesday, Jan. 11. During the interval the committees in both houses will be selected by the respective presiding officers, Lieutenant Governor M. Linn Bruce of the senate and Speaker Nixon of the assembly.

Assemblyman George M. Palmer of Schoharie for the fifth time is the Democratic nominee for speaker and thus by implication Democratic leader in the assembly. The Democratic senators postponed their caucus until today owing to the nonarrival of several of their most prominent men, due to delay of trains by the storm.

Only one new name appears in the list of senate attaches. Everett Brown of Yates succeeds William W. Adams of Steuben as assistant sergeant at arms. The Republican senate caucused and, with this exception, renominated the employees who served at last session. Mr. Brown was named by William J. Tully, the newly elected senator from the Forty-first district. The absentees were Senators Goodsell, Hill and Elsberg. Senator Davis of Buffalo presided.

In nominating Senator John Raines of Canandaigua to succeed himself as president pro tem. Senator Malby made a brief complimentary speech, during which he said that the result in this state at the last general election was due in large measure to Senator Raines' activity.

The other nominees, each of whom was named by the senator from his home district, were as follows:

Clerk, James S. Whipple of Cattaraugus; sergeant at arms, Charles R. Hotaling of Albany; stenographer, A. B. Sackett of Ontario; doorkeeper, Christopher Warren of Erie; assistant doorkeeper, Howard Beeclier of Sullivan.

The Democratic senate caucus was held at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

The Republican assembly caucus lasted but thirty-five minutes and resulted in the following nominations:

Speaker, S. Fred Nixon of Chautauqua; clerk, Colonel Archie E. Baxter of Chemung; sergeant at arms, Frank W. Johnson of Buffalo; chief doorkeeper, Frank Siberer, Jr., of New York; assistants, Andrew Kehn of Albany and William Bayless of Washington; stenographer, Henry C. Lammert of Kings.

Assemblyman Bedell of Orange presided. Speaker Nixon's name was placed in nomination by Mr. Wade of Chautauqua, who spoke at length upon the victory of the Republican party and the service of Speaker Nixon to his party. He said that the Odell administration, just closed, was of the highest credit to the party and that the Higgins administration would be as prosperous as that of his predecessor.

"The Fiftieth senatorial district has just reason to be proud of two of their citizens," he said, referring to Governor Higgins and Mr. Nixon.

The nomination was seconded by Mr. Merritt of St. Lawrence.

Mr. Burnett of Ontario nominated Colonel Baxter as clerk.

Speaker Nixon was not present, being confined to the house by illness.

The Democratic assembly caucus nominated Assemblyman George M. Palmer of Schoharie for speaker.

The attack of the anticanal forces, led by the grangers of the state, will begin immediately with the introduction today in the senate by Senator Ambler of Columbia of a bill repealing absolutely the thousand ton barge canal act of 1903.

If such a bill should pass the legislature and receive the governor's signature before any contracts are awarded for work on the canal it would entirely nullify all that has been done save the preliminary engineering work.

STOESSEL TO CZAR.

Japan's Terms of Surrender Bitter For Russia.

TWENTY THOUSAND WAR PRISONERS

Veteran Defender of Port Arthur Relates Why He Hoisted White Flag—No Help From Baltic Fleet or Kuropatkin.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—A Tokyo special dispatch says that by permission of the Japanese General Stoessel has sent a table message to the emperor of Russia. The message recites the fact that the Port Arthur commander was forced to surrender, announces the terms granting the officers parole and asks the emperor to send his commands.

General Stoessel relates how the position of the fortress of Port Arthur gradually became less safe and more critical, the ravages of scurvy increasing enormously the casualty lists, already so considerable from the Japanese assaults and bombardments.

Toward the end of the year the supplies of ammunition completely gave out, there were 14,000 sick and wounded in the hospitals and 300 fresh casualties coming in daily; that at the end of the siege he had only 10,000 men under arms, the remainder of the original garrison having been either killed or disabled.

The garrison when hostilities commenced was estimated at 60,000 men, independent of the marines and sailors of the fleet.

The report continues:

"Yesterday morning the Japanese blew up part of the parapet of fort No. 3. They afterward opened a severe bombardment along the whole front, but especially on fort No. 3 and finally captured it.

"By the occupation of this fort the Japanese became masters of the whole north front, and the fortress could hold out no longer. We had almost no ammunition. I will take measures to prevent carnage in the streets.

"Scurvy is sensibly weakening the garrison. I have now under arms only 10,000 men, all sick."

Admiration at St. Petersburg for the heroic defense is mingled with wonder how General Stoessel continued to hide the true condition of the fortress so long from the world.

Emperor Nicholas has granted General Stoessel's request that his officers be allowed to give their parole.

In Russia for the moment the people seem to have forgotten all their differences in the common grief.

The emperor arrived here today, and a council of his advisers was held immediately. Much as the situation is complicated by agitation at home, the war party seems still completely in the ascent, and the indications are the emperor's advisers are practically unanimous that Russia's prestige abroad and the security of the dynasty at home make it impossible for Russia to accept a humiliating peace dictated by Japan as the conqueror.

While the general impression is that peace at this stage is impossible, there always is the possibility in autocratic government that the unexpected may happen. The suggestion that President Roosevelt would be willing to tender the good offices of the American government in case Russia intimated that it will be acceptable has aroused a most friendly feeling in St. Petersburg toward the United States, but from official sources it is learned that Russia can give no such intimation and will continue to refuse anything except direct proposals from Japan.

General Nogi has reported to Tokyo the terms of capitulation of the Russian force under General Stoessel, as follows:

All Russian soldiers, marines, volunteers, also government officials at the garrison and harbor of Port Arthur are to be held prisoners of war for future disposal.

All forts, batteries, warships, other ships and boats, arms, ammunition, horses, all materials for hostile use, government buildings and all objects belonging to the Russian government shall be transferred to the Japanese army in their existing condition.

The men garrisoning the forts and the batteries on Etse mountain, Sungshu mountain, Antse mountain and the line of eminences southeast therefrom shall be removed by noon of Jan. 3, and the same shall be transferred to the Japanese army.

The Russian military and naval authorities shall prepare and transfer to the Japanese army a table showing the fortifications of Port Arthur and their respective positions and maps showing the location of mines, underground and submarine, and all other dangerous objects; also a table showing the composition and system of the army and naval services at Port Arthur, a list of army and navy officers, with names, rank and duties of said officers; a list of army steamers, warships and other ships, with the numbers of their respective crews, and a list of civilians.

Arms, including those carried on the person; ammunition, war materials, government buildings, objects owned by the government, horses, warships and other ships, including their contents, excepting private property, shall be left in their present positions, and the commissioners of the Russian and Japanese armies shall decide upon the method of their transference.

The Japanese army, considering the gallant resistance offered by the Russian army as being honorable, will permit the officers of the Russian army and navy, as well as officers belonging thereto, to carry swords and to take with them private property directly necessary for the maintenance of life. The previously mentioned officers, officials and volunteers who will sign a written parole pledging that they will not take up arms and in nowise take action contrary to the interests of the Japanese army until the close of the war will receive the consent of the Japanese army to return to their country.

Noncommissioned officers and privates of both army and navy and volunteers shall wear their uniforms and, taking portable tents and necessary private property and commanded by their respective officers, shall assemble at such places as may be indicated by the Japanese army.

Privates and noncommissioned officers of the garrison to the number of 20,000 will be taken to Japan as prisoners of war.

A dispatch from headquarters of the Japanese third army says that at the conference held between the commissioners of General Stoessel and General Nogi the terms of surrender were agreed upon under which the Russian officers, both civil and military, will march out, the military with arms.

The officers are granted full liberty after giving promises not to take further part in the war.

The surrendered fortress was formally handed over to the Japanese yesterday. The prisoners marched out this morning. The opposing troops are fraternizing.

A Mukden report says that a general engagement between the forces of General Kuropatkin and Marshal Oyama has begun south of the Russian lines near that place.

A Chefu report says that General Stoessel, despite his determination not to surrender Port Arthur long ago, realized the gravity of the situation following the capture of Two Hundred and Three Meter hill.

He asked St. Petersburg some weeks ago what was the prospects of the arrival of the Russian second Pacific squadron and also General Kuropatkin when he might expect relief from the Manchurian army. Both messages stated that after another month Port Arthur's last defender would have fallen.

St. Petersburg gave the required information and stated to General Stoessel that he had won the confidence of the government and that whatever he did would be accepted as being for the best.

General Kuropatkin answered to the effect that he had his hands full and was not able to promise early relief.

It is highly probable that these tidings brought to General Stoessel weighed materially with him when he acquiesced in the wishes of his generals and surrendered the fortress.

At Tokyo last night the surrender of Port Arthur was celebrated by a lantern procession and a general illumination. The Japanese diet will formally express the thanks of the nation to General Nogi for his conduct of the siege.

Among Russian officials here there is a feeling that any proposals of peace that may be made must be with the fact in view that in order that peace must be lasting Japan must recognize Russia's right to free transit of its ships through waters of the far east. High Japanese officials declare that there is no probability of advances coming from their government looking toward peace negotiations, and the tone of Russian statesmen is not such as to justify any nation in making tender of good offices.

It is learned that when General Stoessel wrote to General Nogi regarding the surrender of the fortress he said:

"I have 8,000 men in the forts, and 6,000 of these are able to fight. If you do not accept my proposal these men will die fighting, but it will cost you three times their number to kill them."

During the siege 265 per cent of the garrison was put out of action. This remarkable fact was due to wounded men returning to the front. Cases have been recorded where men have gone to hospitals four times, returning convalescent to the forts.

The number of officers killed was proportionately greater than in any battle known in history. This was due to the frequent lethargic condition of the men, who, without food and without sleep, moved only when ordered by their officers.

The Russians estimate that the taking of the fortress has cost Japan $100,000,000.

FEAR LYNCHERS.

Hutchings to Be Moved Secretly to Avoid Mob Violence.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 4.—Chief Donovan of the Port Chester police has arranged details for the transfer of John Hutchings, accused of having attacked seven-year-old Julia Schofield, from the county jail in White Plains to the jail in Port Chester, where later he will be arranged before Police Justice Wilcox.

Just what route was planned to take none of the officials directly interested would divulge, as they all declared that an attempt would be made to evade the angry crowd waiting to greet Hutchings on his arrival. The crowd showed signs of considerable ill suppressed feeling, as many of its members discussed the possibility of the prisoner's falling into the hands of lynchers at some point in the lonely road between here and the place where he will be arraigned.

Two routes were considered possible in getting from here to Port Chester. One is by trolley and railroad, making the distance about twelve miles, and the other by carriage. Before the policemen started with their charge they declared that if the young man was taken to Port Chester by rail he would be taken from the train at the edge of the village to avoid the possibility of the crowd at the station doing him any harm.

Word has been received from the Ladies' hospital in Port Chester, where the little girl lies ill, that peritonitis had developed and that the operation that was contemplated in the hope of saving her life could not be made. The girl is in a dying condition.

PRESIDENT BALDWIN DEAD.

Head of Long Island Railroad Succumbed to Operation.

LOCUST VALLEY, N. Y., Jan. 4.—William H. Baldwin, Jr., president of the Long Island road, is dead at his country home in Locust Valley. For many weeks he had been a sufferer from intestinal trouble.

At one time it was thought that he was out of immediate danger and would live for several years more, but a change for the worse came a few days ago. At his bedside when he died were the members of his family, who had been summoned several days ago and had come prepared for the worst.

The end came at about half past 4 o'clock.

Mr. Baldwin was operated on by Dr. Frederick Kammerer at the German hospital in New York on July 29, 1904, and on Sept. 9 he was removed to Locust Valley in his private car. Later it was reported that he was in no immediate danger.

Lately, however, there have been reports that Mr. Baldwin was not doing so well, and his death, although a shock to his friends, was not a surprise.

Mr. Baldwin was only forty-two years old. In ten years he rose up from a clerkship in the offices of the Union Pacific Railroad company to become the successor of the late Austin Corbin.

Born in Boston, Mr. Baldwin received his early education there in the public schools, afterward being graduated from Harvard.

DECISION REVERSED

Victory In Legal Battle For Northern Securities.

ATTACK ON BARGE CANAL ACT.

Plan Agreed on by Directors For Distributing the Company's Assets on Pro Rata Basis May Now Be Carried Out.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—The United States circuit court of appeals has reversed the decision of the United States district court, which granted an injunction to E. H. Harriman preventing the carrying out of the Northern Securities company's plan of distributing its assets.

The decision is a victory for the Hill interests. The plan agreed upon by the Northern Securities directors and provisionally ratified by the stockholders for distributing the company's assets on a pro rata basis may now be carried out.

By a decree of the New Jersey court the Northern Securities company was restrained from disposing of 370,230 shares of the common stock of the Northern Pacific Railway company alleged to have been received from E. H. Harriman and Winslow S. Pierce and of 347,000 shares of the common stock of the Northern Pacific Railway company received by the Northern Securities company from the Northern Pacific company. This latest decision, however, gives the Northern Securities company the right to dispose of the stock.

Harriman and Pierce, when the Northern Securities company had been declared by the United States supreme court to be an illegal combination, demanded the return of the original stock they had contributed at the time of the organization of the combination. The Northern Securities company, it was claimed, intended to make a pro rata distribution of the stock of the contributing company.

PUTER'S STATEMENT.

Says He Gave Senator Mitchell $2,000 as a Bribe.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 4.—S. A. D. Puter, recently convicted in this city with Horace G. McKinley, Daniel T. Tarpley and Mrs. Emma Watson of conspiracy to defraud the United States government of lands, has made a statement in contradiction of statements issued by United States Senator Mitchell, indicted on Saturday last by a federal grand jury on evidence similar to that presented at the criminal trial of the persons recently convicted.

"When I said that I gave Senator Mitchell $2,000 to use his influence with Binger Hermann to expedite those claims in 11-7," said Puter, "I told the truth, and Senator Mitchell knows it."

Berth Will Go to R. W. Taylor.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—While no official announcement concerning the president's intention in regard to filling the vacancy on the federal bench caused by the resignation of Judge Francis J. Wing of the northern district of Ohio is obtainable, it seems reasonably certain that Robert W. Taylor will be appointed. Mr. Taylor is the principal attorney for the protestants in the inquiry into the status of Senator Smoot of Utah, now being conducted by the senate. He formerly represented the old McKinley district in the house of representatives and is recognized as a lawyer of fine attainments.

Nine Burned to Death.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Jan. 4.—During the early morning hours fire destroyed the home of Frank Noweski, a miner in Morris Run, Pa., and all the members of the family of ten except the eldest son, aged eighteen, were either burned to death or smothered. The bodies of Noweski, his wife and seven children, one of them a baby in arms, are in the ruins of their home. Noweski was employed by the Morris Run Coal Mining company and, with his fellow miners, had been on a strike since last April.

Military Prisoners Escape.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—During an evidently designed stampede of the officers' horses at Fort Hamilton four prisoners escaped from the guardhouse at the post. One of them was recaptured, but the other three are believed to have perished in the icy waters of the harbor. The recaptured prisoner is Paul Berg, who was taken in custody last night in Manhattan by a detail sent out from the fort.

Sandford to Have Third Trial.

BANGOR, Me., Jan. 4.—Rev. Frank W. Sandford, leader of the Holy Ghost and Us society at Shiloh, will be given a third trial on the charge of manslaughter in causing the death by alleged neglect of Leander Bartlett, aged fourteen, a member of the Shiloh colony. The court has sustained exceptions of the defendant, who was found guilty by jury after a second trial at Farmington.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell's Bad Fall.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.—Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the English actress, fractured a knee cap last night, the result of a fall while entering a carriage to go to the Broad Street theater. She was removed to the University of Pennsylvania hospital, and it will be two months, the doctors say, before she will be able to walk. The remainder of her American tour will be abandoned.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 4, 1905.

In another column is reproduced an editorial from the Newark Evening News on the agitation for increased license fees, reference being made particularly to North Plainfield, New Brunswick and Elizabeth. It's food for thought for those in North Plainfield who have not given the subject much consideration.

The unanimous action of the Common Council in electing Leslie M. Daniel as president of that body is a fitting tribute to the member from the Third ward. During the time he has served as a councilman Mr. Daniel has been indefatigable in his purpose to guard the interests not only of the residents of his own ward but of the entire city. As chairman of the finance committee he was a worthy successor to John B. Dumont and others who received the thanks of the community for the way they discharged the arduous task. No one is better qualified to perform the duties of president of the body, and we are sure that Mr. Daniel will hold the position satisfactorily alike to his colleagues and to the people in general.

MANY CESSPOOLS FOUND BY INSPECTOR

HALF THE PROPERTIES EXAMINED HAD PRIVY VAULTS.

Although the work of connecting residences in the city with the sanitary sewer system continues steadily, it is quite remarkable that there are today so many cesspools to be found in various parts of the town. Leon R. Thurlow, health officer, states that from a sanitary standpoint a good result of the recent house-to-house inspection was the large number of privy vaults and cesspools found. The majority of houses were connected with the sewer, but in many cases a privy vault was maintained. On four hundred and eighty-one of the eight hundred properties inspected, such vaults were found. These were, in every case, where the property was on the line with the sewer, ordered cleaned and abolished.

This work of inspection was carried on for two and a half months and in this time nearly eight hundred houses were inspected, covering those sections of the city bounded by Park avenue, East Second street, Richmond and East Sixth streets; Park avenue, West Second street, Grant avenue and West Third street. Mr. Thurlow says that the work thus far continued shows the necessity for its completion and of having every house in the city inspected.

HEALTH BOARD SPENT $5,902.92 DURING 1904

DETAILED REPORT OF THE TREASURER, F. W. DUNN, AS SUBMITTED.

The annual report of F. W. Dunn, as treasurer for the Board of Health, submitted this week in connection with the Board's yearly statement, it is considered, shows a wise distribution of money received. The balance on hand January 1, 1904, was $132.92 and including the appropriation from the Common Council for general expenses for the year, made a total of $5,882.92. The Board received during the year from fees and fines $770, including the amount paid to the city treasurer and that deducted for annual report to State Board of Health.

Summarized, the amounts are as follows:

Receipts—Balance January 1, 1904, $132.92; appropriation from Common Council for general expenses, $3,750; appropriation from Common Council for small-pox expenses, $1,250; fees and fines collected, $770; total, $5,902.92. Disbursements—General expenses, $3,773.29; small-pox expenses, $1,277.26; fees and fines paid to city treasurer, $768; annual report to State Board of Health, $2; balance January 1, 1905, $82.01; total, $5,902.92

Some of the larger items of expense mentioned in the tabulated report include $2,726.37 for salaries, $150 for rent of office, $123.34 for office supplies, printing, stationery, typewriter supplies, $87.46 for printing and distributing annual report, $95 for nurses' services and board, $116.25 for carriage hire. The other amounts average smaller amounts, the largest of these being $74.10 for the laws of New Jersey and $80.85 for groceries for quarantined families.

WEALTH AND POVERTY

BOTH CLASSES WELL REPRESENTED IN NEW YORK.

THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD

Are the Austrian Noblemen Seeking American Wives? — Bill Smith Gone Broke on Automobiles— Other Gotham Gossip.

NEW YORK.—The presence of two grandsons of the greatest Rothschild, and their announcement that they propose to stay all winter, has somewhat flustered society circles. Right or wrong, the impression will not down that they have come to seek American wives.

Barons Alphonse and Louis are sons of the head of the Austrian branch of their great house, and grandsons of the Parisian Rothschild. They are quite sincere in their protestations to reporters that they know nothing of "fee-marnce." It is quite true. They do not. There is no such thing as hereditary leadership in the world of money, and these young men are merely Austrian noblemen and gentlemen, members of a crack military corps, and by the favor of the emperor ennobled to 16 quarterings, which would carry them far past that not so remote Nathan of the Red Shield sign, who buried a prince's treasures in time of war, and restored them enhanced when peace came.

Sixteen quarterings would carry the Rothschild nobility back to the sixteenth century; as a matter of fact, the Rothschild fortunes in the old world are of newer growth than the Astor fortunes in the new world. The original Rothschild was a poor banker, meaning practically a pawnbroker and goldsmith in a crowded ghetto, when the original John Jacob Astor was already a prosperous man in New York. The great Rothschild fortune, as we of to-day know it, was founded during the Napoleonic wars from 1807 to 1815, less than a century ago, when all the nations of Europe were floating bonds at rates that would be to-day ruinous and impossible, and when advance information of Waterloo in the absence of telegraphs meant a great fortune.

The Rothschilds are one of the three families of Jewish blood who rank with the bluest-blooded aristocrats at all the courts of Europe. Everyone knows the pretty story about Lord Rosebery planning when still a schoolboy to wed the richest heiress in England, to be prime minister, and to win the Derby. He did all three; the heiress was the daughter of the London Rothschild.

So society does not look unfavorably upon the two young Austrian noblemen who have sought New York's hospitality.

Money and Society.

SINCE the rise of the "Standard Oil crowd" in this country, the old talk about Rothschilds has subsided. No single member of the Jewish family has anything like the wealth of Rockefeller; the entire family has nothing like the wealth that Rockefeller and a few associates command and control. Indeed, in these days the Rothschild wealth does no more than keep pace with the necessary subdivision to meet the increase of the prolific family. The estate, which is most conservatively managed, does well if it nets four per cent. a year upon its vast capital; in the Spanish war the Rothschilds lost heavily upon Spanish bonds, the head of the house, Baron Alphonse, having taken from association the common Parisian view that Spain must be victorious.

The social gentilization of a Rothschild is no new idea in this country. Old New Yorkers remember well that August Belmont, who came over to represent the Rothschilds in what was then unimportant America, came of a family whose original name was "Schonberg," which had been gallicized into "Belmont." The family he founded is one of the highest placed in New York society. Similar rank may be claimed by the head of the great international banking house of the Speyers, who married one of New York's fashionable matrons, and whose munificent benefactions for New York are a pattern for others.

Meanwhile, the latest "international romance" to agitate society is the recent marriage of Miss Edith Devereux Clapp to Count Rene du Temple de Rougemont, of Memellon, France. De Rougemont is a good-looking young fellow, who has considerable family estates. His bride was not in the inner circle of New York's wealthy society, but had lived very quietly before the marriage, which came after a brief wooing, and is called a love match.

The Breaking of Bill Smith.

BILL SMITH is "broke." Not greatly to the surprise of his associates and friends in New Market, N. J.

By automobiles Smith became rich; by the same rapid-transit contrivances his riches took wings. He is Charles Fair, who, with her husband, was the brother of the unfortunate Mrs. afflicted by "speed madness" in France, and under its spell was fatally hurt upon a road near Paris. Fair was the pleasure-loving son of the great California millionaire, the brother of Mrs. Hermann Oelrich and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr. The question of the settlement of his estate depended somewhat upon a decision of the nice legal point whether Fair or his wife died first, upon which queer French testimony was offered. Other things being equal, the man is supposed to be stronger and to live longer. At any rate, the case was compromised by the payment of a considerable sum to Bill Smith's mother, a simple old soul, who hadn't the least use for it. Smith hadn't any lack of uses; most of all he was entranced by automobiles. His first important purchase, after New Market's thirst was assuaged as never before, was a big red automobile in which he tried hard to imitate his sister's fate. But apparently he who is fated to be bankrupted by automobiles is not to be killed by them. Trading as the Plainfield Auto Carriage company, Smith has failed for a tidy sum. The odds and ends and leavings of the Fair money are still sufficient to keep all the Smiths in comfort, if they will consent in comfort to remain. But—

Decadence of the Doll.

I DON'T suppose that old people in general know that the doll is no longer so popular as it was with young people in general. But that's the fact. Of course, more and finer dolls are sold than ever before, but that is in part because people of the buying age have long been accustomed to buying dolls, and are slow to notice that little girls care less for them than they did. Of course, too, almost any girl is fond of her doll while it is a novelty to her; but she plays with it less than her grandmother did with one not one-tenth part so fine.

Philosophers like H. B. Marriott Watson, who says that "American women have slain love," and who has got into a mess by saying it, may explain this tendency along race suicidal lines, and preach about the decay of the maternal instincts—a line of argument which would be nonsense.

The real reason why little girls tire sooner of dolls is that so many of them at least lead more active lives than their mothers did. They skate and swim and ride ponies, if they are so fortunate as to have them, or bicycles, if they are not, and they are altogether too active to sit for hours crooning over a doll.

That again is why the most popular doll of the season is really a mechanical toy masquerading as a doll. The little figure that can talk by a concealed phonograph or bow by a concealed spring, has taken the place of the doll that can only open and shut its eyes, just as that improvement spoiled the plain old-line doll for half the little girls that used to love them. The shrewdest toy makers in the country are allowing for this change of sentiment, and have provided a tremendous stock of mechanical toys upon the sound theory that girls are just as much interested in them as boys. Both sexes alike in early youth demand more "strenuous" occupation when they play. And perhaps the little women gain as much in health as they lose in sentiment. But, after all, a doll is a doll, and she who has never played with one has missed much.

Talk of Gambling Syndicates.

TALK is revived of an American Monte Carlo, in which Mr. Canfield is said to be interested. This time gossip places it in Havana; I have known Yucatan, Nicaragua, Panama, and other out-of-the-way points suggested. The field for such an enterprise has been carefully studied and the great difficulty is that any project for a gambling outfit will lack tremendously in patronage, if it is too far from New York. If a man must take a sea voyage, anyhow, he might as well go to the original Monte Carlo, and be done with it. Hence the beautiful plan that was once suggested of building a big floating island and towing it outside of the three-mile limit to sea, where, under the flag of some cheap power, it could be immune to the law of the metropolis only 30 miles away. To such an island business men could go for an evening's sport at bucking the tiger, without losing the next day's business. It would be a very pretty problem in international law, would it not, such an island?

Practically unlimited capital could be found for a good gambling investment. The district attorney in New York is too vigilant, the politicians who insist upon sharing the "kitty" are too rapacious. The necessity of making "double-OO" boards, throwing six per cent., instead of three per cent., odds against the player, has often been accounted for in New York by the fact that the political ring insists upon "addition, division and silence." With the "single-O" game, that is to say, with such odds as the Monaco tables establish in their own favor, a million a year could easily be taken in as profits by a syndicate that could guarantee no police interference. That would be over thirty millions of money passing over the boards. In Monte Carlo $150,000,000 a year pass across the green cloth. The company's little three per cent. upon the total "business" is the sole income of the province, whose expenditures are upon a lavish scale, besides providing bribe money for hundreds of functionaries and a magnificent private income for the prince. No wonder the Canfields are looking for an American Monte Carlo!

CHIC CONCEITS.

Lace Blouses Are Fashionable—Catseye Buttons a Novelty.

A white cloth model recently imported is made with a plain skirt eased slightly at the waist and full at the feet, after the umbrella shape, trimmed with seven rows of graduated suede strappings. The skirt just touches the ground all round, which shows that the smart tailor made will not be short, although there will be no trained effect. The coat bodice is quite plain and tight fitting, fastening with two buttons over a suede waistcoat. A neat suede collar finishes the neck. Strappings appear on the close fitting sleeve, which ends in a broad suede cuff trimmed with old blue enameled buttons.

A novel hat for morning wear is carried out in white hairy felt brought to a point in front and cut up on one side of the brim, where it is lifted off the face. The scalloped edge is outlined with silver braid, each scallop being adorned with a small green velvet button. Through one of these apertures at the side are thrust two shaded green quills, the ends appearing through the hat almost at the point in front.

Among the many stones used in the construction of buttons the catseye is decidedly to the fore. The center of the button is formed of a large catseye set in silver and surrounded with a ring of paste.

The blouse illustrated is one of the novelties of the season. It is of almond green liberty silk made over a fitted boned lining. The silk is arranged about the figure in folds having the appearance of deep tucks. From the empiecement around the shoulders the tucks run downward, and on the yoke up toward the neck. Deep "val" lace makes the choker and furnishes the fall about the bust. As far as the bust line the blouse fastens with handsome large buttons. Above this are small bows of black velvet ribbon. The sleeves have a short puff and a cuff formed of fitted folds finished with lace and buttons.

FACTS AND FANCIES.

New Winter Dress Materials—Trimmings For Gowns.

Two attractive new materials have made their appearance in the dress world, moire poplin and pompadour moire. The first named fabric transforms the stiff poplin of old into a gloriously soft and shimmery, silky material. It is delightful made up into dinner and afternoon calling costumes.

WHITE WALKING HAT.

Pompadour moire is a watered silk having dainty bunches of flowers scattered over its surface.

As a trimming for evening gowns nothing is prettier than white jet, an adornment just out. In some instances the jet is mingled with metallic designs, but when intended as a trimming for tulle and light fabrics it is traced in patterns on lace, with threadings of gold and silver.

Clusters of pink roses with white frosted foliage are very much used as a supplementary trimming to the evening gowns of today.

For the evening headdress there is a distinct novelty, a cockade of silk or satin, to which is attached a cluster of white or shaded ospreys.

Combs of tinted horn represent a popular fad in Paris which is attracting a great deal of attention.

The hat illustrated is a Paquin production. It is of white felt lined with ivory white velvet. The crown is completely hidden by masses of natural marabou feathers, which droop gracefully over the back of the brim and fall lightly on the hair. Two sprays of darker tinted osprey give the requisite finish.

By Irving Bacheller

Author of "Eben Holden," "Darrel of the Blessed Isles," Etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by Lothrop Publishing Co.)

"No; 't hurt 'im," said he, soberly. "Sp'ilt 'im, es ye might say. Could n't never bear the sight uv a man efter thet. Seem so he did n't think he wus fit t' be seen. Nobody c'u'd ever git 'n a mild o' th' poor cuss. Hed t' be shot."

"What happened?"

"Hed a stout club 'n my hand," said he. "Got holt uv 'is tail, an' begun a-whalin' uv 'im. Run 'im down a steep hill, an' passin' a tree, I tuk one side an' he t' other. We parted there fer the las' time."

He looked off at the sky a moment. Then came his inevitable addendum, which was: "I hed a dam sight more tail 'an he did, thet 's sartin."

About ten o'clock we came in sight of our old home. Then we hurried our horses, and came up to the door with a rush. A stranger met us there.

"Are you Capt. Bell?" said he, as I got off my horse.

I nodded.

"I am one of your father's tenants," he went on. "Ride over the ridge yonder about half a mile, and you will see his house." I looked at D'ri and he at me. He had grown pale suddenly, and I felt my own surprise turning into alarm.

"Are they well?" I queried.

"Very well, and looking for you," said he, smiling.

We were up in our saddle, dashing out of the yard in a jiffy. Beyond the ridge a wide mile of smooth country sloped to the river margin. Just off the road a great house lay long and low in fair acres. Its gables were red-roofed, its walls of graystone half hidden by lofty hedges of cedar. We stopped our horses, looking off to the distant woods on each side of us.

"Can't be," said D'ri, soberly, his eyes squinting in the sunlight.

"Wonder where they live?" I remarked.

"All looks mighty cur'us," said he. "'T ain' no way nat'ral."

"Let's go in there and ask," I suggested.

We turned in at the big gate and rode silently over a driveway of smooth gravel to the door. In a moment I heard my father's hearty hello, and then my mother came out in a better gown than ever I had seen her wear. I was out of the saddle and she in my arms before a word was spoken. My father, hardy old Yankee, scolded the stamping horse, while I knew well he was only upbraiding his own weakness.

"Come, Ray; come, Darius," said my mother, as she wiped her eyes; "I will show you the new house."

A man took the horses, and we all followed her into the splendid hall, while I was filled with wonder and a mighty longing for the old home.

CHAPTER XX.

It was a fine house—that in which I spent many happy years back in my young manhood. Not, indeed, so elegant and so large as this where I am now writing, but comfortable. To me, then, it had an atmosphere of romance and some look of grandeur. Well, in those days I had neither a sated eye, nor gout, nor judgment of good wine. It was I who gave it the name of Fairacres that day when, coming out of the war, we felt its peace and comfort for the first time, and, dumfounded with surprise, heard my mother tell the story of it.

"My grandfather," said she, "was the Chevalier Ramon Ducet de Trouville, a brave and gallant man who, for no good reason, disinherited my father. The property went to my uncle, the only other child of the chevalier, and he, as I have told you, wrote many kind letters to me, and sent each year a small gift of money. Well, he died before the war—it was in March—and, having no children, left half his fortune to me. You, Ramon, will remember that long before you went away to the war a stranger came to see me one day—a stout man, with white hair and dark eyes. Do you not remember? Well, I did not tell you then, because I was unable to believe, that he came to bring the good news. But he came again after you left us, and brought me money—a draft on account. For us it was a very large sum, indeed. You know we have always been so poor, and we knew that when the war was over there would be more and a-plenty coming. So, what were we to do? 'We will build a home,' said I; 'We will enjoy life as much as possible. We will surprise Ramon. When he returns from the war he shall see it, and be very happy.' The architect came with the builders, and, voila! the house is ready, and you are here, and after so long it is better than a fortune to see you. I thought you would never come."

She covered her face a moment, while my father rose abruptly and left the room. I kissed the dear hands that long since had given to heavy toil their beauty and shapeliness.

But enough of this, for, after all, it is neither here nor there. Quick and unexpected fortune came to many a pioneer, as it came to my mother, by inheritance, as one may see if he look only at the records of one court of claims—that of the British.

"Before long you may wish to marry," said my mother, as she looked up at me proudly, "and you will not be ashamed to bring your wife here."

I vowed, then and there, I should make my own fortune—I had Yankee enough in me for that—but, as will be seen, the wealth of heart and purse my mother had, helped in the shaping of my destiny. In spite of my feeling, I know it began quickly to hasten the life-currents that bore me on. And I say, in tender remembrance of those very dear to me, I had never a more delightful time than when I sat by the new fireside with all my clan—its number as yet undiminished—or went roistering in wood or field with the younger children.

The day came when D'ri and I were to meet the ladies. We started early that morning of the 12th. Long before daylight we were moving rapidly down-river in our canoes.

I remember seeing a light flash up and die away in the moonlit mist of the river soon after starting.

"The boogy light!" D'ri whispered. "There 't goes ag'in!"

I had heard the river folk tell often of this weird thing—one of the odd phenomena of the St. Lawrence.

"Comes alwus where folks hev been drownded," said D'ri. "Thet air 's what I 've hearn tell."

It was, indeed, the accepted theory of the fishermen, albeit many saw in the boogy light a warning to mark the place of forgotten murder, and bore away.

The sun came up in a clear sky, and soon, far and wide, its light was tossing in the ripple-tops. We could see them glowing miles away. We were both armed with saber and pistols, for that river was the very highway of adventure in those days of the war.

"Don' jes' like this kind uv a hoss," said D'ri. "Got t' keep whalin' 'im all the while, an' he 's apt t' slobber 'n rough goin'."

He looked thoughtfully at the sun a breath, and then trimmed his remark with these words: "Ain't eggzac'ly sure-footed, nuther."

"Don't require much feed, though," I suggested.

"No; ye hev t' dew all the eatin', but ye can alwus eat 'nough fer both."

It was a fine day, and a ride to remember. We had a warm sun, a clear sky, and now and then we could feel the soft feet of the south wind romping over us in the river way. Here and there a swallow came coasting to the ripples, sprinkling the holy water of delight upon us, or a crow's shadow plowed silently across our bows. It thrilled me to go cantering beside the noisy Rapides du Plats or the wild-footed Galloup, two troops of water hurrying to the mighty battles of the sea. We mounted reeling knolls, and coasted over whirling dips, and rushed to boiling levels, and jumped foamy ridges, and went galloping in the rush and tumble of long slopes.

"Let 'er rip!" I could hear D'ri shouting, once in a while, as he flashed up ahead of me. "Let 'er rip! Consarn 'er pictur'!"

He gave a great yell of triumph as we slowed in a long stretch of still, broad water. "Judas Priest!" said he, as I came alongside, "thet air 's rougher 'n the bog trail."

We came to Paleyville with time only for a bite of luncheon before dark. We could see no sign of life on the island or the "Canuck shore" as we turned our bows to the south channel. That evening the innkeeper sat with us under a creaking sign, our chairs tilted to the tavern-side.

D'ri was making a moose-horn of birch-bark as he smoked thoughtfully. When he had finished, he raised it to his lips and moved the flaring end in a wide circle as he blew a blast that rang miles away in the far forest.

"Ef we heppen t' git separated in any way, shape er manner 'cept one," said he, as he slung it over his shoulder with a string, "ye 'll know purty nigh where I be when ye hear thet air thing."

"You said, 'in any way, shape er manner 'cept one,'" I quoted. "What do you mean by that?"

My friend expectorated, looking off into the night soberly a moment.

"Guess I did n't mean nuthin'," said he, presently. "When I set out t' say suthin', don't never know where I 'm goin' t' land. Good deal luk settin' sail without a compass. Thet 's one reason I don't never say much 'fore women."

Our good host hurried the lagging hours with many a tale of the river and that island we were soon to visit, once the refuge of Tadusac, the old river pirate, so he told us, with a cave now haunted by some ghost. We started for the shore near ten o'clock, the innkeeper leading us with a lantern, its light flickering in a west wind. The sky was cloudy, the night dark. Our host lent us the lantern, kindly offering to build a bonfire on the beach at 11, to light us home.

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

WASHINGTON LETTER

MANY NEW MEMBERS OF CONGRESS VISITING CAPITAL.

VISIONS OF REAL GREATNESS

New and Curious Material for the Next Congress—When the Unexpected Happens—Other National Capital Gossip.

WASHINGTON. — Many members-elect of the house who will enter first time are visiting Washington during the present session to familiarize themselves with the field in which they expect to labor for at least two years. Despite a tremendous majority of 118 that the republicans elected in the next house, the percentage of new men is remarkably small. There are less than 100 out of the 386 members who have been elected for the first time. This proportion is rather unusual in a landslide year. There are a number of the new members who have had experiences in former congresses and to them congressional duties will be no new thing.

About the first thing a new congressman and his wife think of is the glories of Washington and as soon as possible they hasten to the capital city to look over their future residing place. Many of them never before visited the national capital and the sights are as new to them as to the casual tourist. They are not long in catching on to the privileges of a congressman, and they receive valuable pointers from older members. The congressman-elect has the privilege of the floor of the house and he makes use of it to accustom himself to being looked at by the occupants of the galleries. He can sit in a fine, revolving mahogany chair, assume a most statesmanlike air and gloat over the visions of real greatness soon to be his when he becomes an active participator in national legislation.

The wives of the new congressmen are proud to sit in the reserved galleries, look down on the assembled house and imagine the important figure their husbands will cut when the Fifty-ninth congress meets. They will be disillusioned before many months, as in the "bear garden," as the house is often termed, very few members become conspicuous and the newcomer is mighty lucky if he gets a chance to make one speech during the session.

Oddities in Statesmen.

LANDSLIDE years always bring some new and curious material into the house. In some districts nominations are handed to men merely as compliments without any idea of their being elected. Such has been the case this year and from several districts there will appear men who heretofore have had but a dim idea of what a seat in congress means. The political revolution in Missouri has this year, as a former one did in 1894, brought into the house men who had little idea of being elected when they were nominated. One of these is Frank D. Klepper, of the Third Missouri district, where a normal democratic plurality of 3,800 was overcome.

Mr. Klepper will contest with the giant Sulloway, of New Hampshire, the honor of being the biggest man in the house. He is six feet four inches in height and weighs 280 pounds. He is a great friend of President Roosevelt, whose acquaintance he made a few years ago while hunting mountain lions in the wilds of Colorado, where the president was also seeking big game. Mr. Klepper relates the incident of their meeting as follows:

"You are from Colorado?" inquired the president.

"No," was the answer. "I am from Missouri."

"Then of course you are a democrat," laughingly replied the president.

"Not in a thousand years. I am one of those fellows who are going to redeem Missouri and throw her vote into the republican column."

Another Missouri member, W. P. Tindall, from the Fourteenth district, is a schoolteacher and has enjoyed the munificent salary of some $40 a month. After the 4th of March he will draw as much in one month as he heretofore received in a whole year by his teaching. Frank L. Dickson, of the Twenty-third Illinois district, will probably be the lightest weight, physically, in the house, as he only weighs 110 pounds.

In the Senate.

IN the senate there will be an access of "little big" men. Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania, who has just taken his seat as successor to the late Matthew Stanley Quay, is of boyish stature and cherubic countenance. The big brain that operates in that boylike head, however, is bound to make him one of the most brilliant members of the senate. There are other men in that body who are not much taller than the new Pennsylvania senator. When he and Senator Martin of Virginia stand together there is no appreciable difference in their height. Senator Allee, of Delaware, is glad to see some small men come into the senate, as he has felt a little lonesome with his short stature and light weight.

Knox, Allee and Martin, it is said, will all be able to look down upon the man who is expected to be elected from Nevada. This is George S. Nixon, who will probably be the shortest in stature of all the members of the senate. He is described as being nearly a head shorter than Senator Knox, but, like many small men, is possessed of much ability. The ablest parliamentary gladiator in the senate is a regular St. Paul in stature, and that is the doughty Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin. He can drive the biggest man in the senate to cover in a 15-minute debate.

There are in the public service a number of little giants, and diminutive stature in no way detracts from a man's fame. In the cabinet Secretary of State John Hay and Attorney General Moody are both a little below the average height of men. In the house John Dalzell, of Pensylvania, recognized as one of the most brilliant lawyers in that body and one of the keenest debaters, is a small man and even President Roosevelt himself, although broad and carrying good weight, does not tower in height among men.

Busts of Vice Presidents.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS RANSDELL, of the senate, has performed a good work in labeling the marble busts of past vice presidents that occupy niches in the senate walls. Mr. Ransdell is able to name all the vice presidents of the United States from the first down to Vice President-elect Fairbanks. He can name them in rotation and is familiar with their features either in life or in portrait. Many years ago congress authorized the execution in marble of busts of all the vice presidents who, by virtue of their office, were also presiding officers of the senate. Old records and picture galleries were ransacked until the list was completed and the counterfeit presentments of the vice presidential lineaments were transferred to marble by more or less distinguished sculptors.

These busts were placed wherever a convenient niche offered. In the walls surrounding the galleries of the senate are indentations in each of which was placed a bust of a vice president. In out-of-the-way corners in the corridors of the senate wing of the capitol others were perched. It was a puzzle for even the capitol guides, who are resourceful men and can fix a name to a picture or a statue whether it is a right one or not, to supply names for all of these busts. During the past summer Mr. Ransdell, who is somewhat of an antiquarian, began the labor of identifying the vice presidents, and as a result each bust now bears the name of the man whom it represents.

Another improvement that the sergeant-at-arms has placed in the senate chamber is a large gilt clock placed above the chair of the presiding officer where all the senators can see it. It is a duplication of the clock which has hung for nearly a century on the opposite wall above the main entrance into the chamber. The latter clock has told more lies than any other timepiece in the country. By pushing back its hand the doorkeeper of the senate has time and time again made the sun to stand still and delayed the arrival of the hour of adjournment in order that the senate might finish some important business. As it was the official timepiece of the senate its record was accepted as correct and adjournment not taken until the hands pointed to the proper hour.

A Quaint Philosopher.

AMONG the many visitors at the opening of the present session of congress was that quaint philosopher, newspaper correspondent and writer, Col. William G. Sterrett, of Texas. Col. Sterrett was stationed in Washington for a number of years as correspondent for his paper, but latterly he has been doing editorial work and traveling throughout the length and breadth of the land giving his readers his unique views on public men and affairs. Col. Sterrett always has on tap an abundance of philosophical advice to his fellow newspaper workers.

"Now look here, son," he will say to a young man in the profession, "if you want to write interestin' stuff, don't confine yourself too strictly to news and facts. What the people of this country want to read are theories. I know, for I have tried both. When I wrote news nobody paid attention to my column, but when I begun to write theories the people talked about them. Write theories, write theories, my son."

Col. Sterrett was very much afraid that he had lost caste in Texas by his performance while in Washington last winter. He was invited to a dinner at a French restaurant at which the piece d' resistance was a dish of broiled snails. The colonel was never known to refuse a dare; so he tackled the snails, but with much misgiving as to the effect his participation in such a feast would have among his simple-minded constituents in the Lone Star state. "If they learn that I have been a eatin' of snails, I won't dare go back to Texas," was his mournful comment. He has survived the test, however, and to make himself solid is now extolling the delights of a 'possum roast a la Texas.

SPORTING NEWS.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Y. M. C. A. bowlers squared matters with the Elizabeth Edward Clark Club bowling team Monday by defeating them in two well rolled games. The highest score was made by M. Sutphen, of the local team, with a 170. The line up of the two teams was the following: Plainfield Y. M. C. A.—Aiken, Neal, B. Sutphen, M. Sutphen and Koons. Edward Clark Club—Whitney, Shaw, Stegmier, Sylvester and Raba. This was the result of the three games: Plainfield, 673, 775, 730. Edward Clark Club, 624, 713, 733.

BASKET BALL.

A movement is on foot to bring about a basketball game between the team representing the Plainfield High School at the present time, and the alumni of the school. Several of those who represented the High School basketball team in former years are interested in the proposed game. If this game is carried through, those who will be representatives of the former team will be Luther Shepherd, who played in the season of 1902, Francis K. Anderson, who was also a member of that team, Monroe H. Long, who substituted last season, Harry Scull, a Y. M. C. A. man, and one of the players on the team in 1901, and Vincent B. Miner, a guard on the team in 1903, and member of the Y. M. C. A. Business Men's squad. This team will be captained by Harry Scull, who is the crack of the troupe, and as all of the players have kept up more or less with the game since leaving school an interesting contest is promised.

Judge As a Peacemaker.

Judge Runyon, after untangling a rather knotty skein of conflicting testimony this morning in the case of Patrick Mottley, charged by his wife and sister-in-law with being drunk and disorderly on New Year's eve, prevailed upon all parties to make up and try to live amicably, advising as a means to that end, that Mottley quit his habit of consuming enough whiskey each Saturday night to scare away the dove of peace from the house for the ensuing twenty-four hours.

There will be a business meeting of the W. C. T. U. in the rooms on Madison avenue tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

AUTO GARAGE TROUBLES ARE AIRED IN COURT

JOSEPH LOUGHEAD NON-SUITED IN CASE AGAINST A. WILSON.

A non-suit was the decision given by Justice Smalley in the case of Joseph Loughead against Andrew Wilson yesterday afternoon. The evidence brought out by the lawyer for the defense from Loughead himself, showing that the case was one which concerned the Plainfield Auto Garage, was what lost the case for the plaintiff, who was suing for the recovering of money advanced in payment of the Garage's debts.

When the Garage closed up, there was the sum of $56 55 owing to the employes, all of which was paid by Loughead on the verbal agreement with Andrew Wilson that the latter would pay half of the amount. Wilson retained Codington & Swackhamer in the case, and Loughead was represented by Fred J. Huff. The evidence was brought out in cross examination showing that the debt was one in which the company was concerned and the result was a non-suit.

A WEEK OF PRAYER IN LOCAL CHURCHES

CUSTOMARY ANNUAL SERVICES OF PLAINFIELD CONGREGATIONS.

The week of prayer is generally being observed in the local churches this week, some of the services commencing Monday night and others on Tuesday night. In all but one church, the Swedish Pilgrim church, the services will be concluded Friday night and in the one exception there will be a meeting Saturday night as well. The pastors of the various churches are in charge of the services, although in some cases, others are assisting. The church observing the week include the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian, the First Presbyterian, Trinity Reformed, First M. E., Monroe Avenue, Grace M. E., Congregational, Warren chapel, Hope chapel and Park Avenue Baptist church. Special subjects are provided. Thus far the attendance at the service has been gratifying to pastors and people.

There will be special interest in the service at the Crescent Avenue church tonight when Robert E. Speer, so well-known here, will speak, and tomorrow night the members of the church and congregation will have an opportunity to greet their former pastor, Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, now of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, who will be present and speak.

The topics for the remainder of the week at the Congregational church will be as follows: Tonight, "Mothers;" Thursday, "Daughters;" Friday, "Sons," with a short address by Kenneth Robbie on boys.

Hurt Leg Again.

A. I. Littell, who fell from the roof of the Pollion house at Putnam and Kensington avenues early last summer and sustained a compound fracture of the leg, slipped and fell several nights ago. As a result he is laid up with a fracture of the thigh bone near the spot at which one of the original breaks has knitted together. He anticipates no serious results and is at present making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

Grand Jury's Report Filed.

The Somerset Grand Jury's presentments in the matter of the North Plainfield licenses and the antiquated court house at Somerville were formally presented in court yesterday and are now under consideration. It may be expected that some action will soon be taken in the matters. The finding in the North Plainfield case was published in The Daily Press on Friday.

Went Through the Ice.

George Ralph, ten years old, of Fritz place, in the borough, "belly-whopped" his sled so hard on the frozen surface of Stony brook, near his home Saturday afternoon, that he broke through into six feet of water. Mrs. Myers Compton, living nearby, told her husband who fished him out with a pole.

SUING THE DOCTOR BECAUSE CHILD DIED

PLAINFIELDER DECLARES THAT PHYSICIAN PRESCRIBED WRONG MEDICINE.

The case of John H. Sharp against Dr. Frederick O. Jones, before Justice Garretson and a struck jury in the Somerset County Circuit Court, which opened yesterday, is attracting considerable attention from the medical fraternity generally. The suit is to recover $8,000 damages for the loss of the life of the plaintiff's son, George O. Sharp, eleven months old, whom the plaintiff alleges took medicine wrongfully prescribed by the defendant, a physician at Basking Ridge, and died from the effects. Craig A. Marsh and James L. Griggs represent the plaintiff and Alvah A. Clarx and Clarence E. Case are for the defendant.

Owing to the illness of Justice Garretson court was adjourned this morning to Wednesday, January 18, when the case will be continued.

Chief Woolston's Vision.

Fire Chief Howard Woolston, of the borough, thought he detected the glare of an incipient conflagration in the new school building on Somerset street last night and hurried into the fire house and gave the alarm. While some of the men got the hose wagon in readiness the Chief headed a party of about a dozen and with lanterns and hand extinguishers made a quick descent upon the spot where he had seen the "fire." It was only the reflection of a street light from some bright tin.

Spilled the Milk.

—As the result of a mis-step on a piece of ice, G. W. Saums, of West Front street, has been confined to his home for several days and was out today for the first time since the accident. He stepped on the ice in such a way that his foot was bent up, and a blood vessel under a toe was broken. The blood collected in the end of his foot, and has given him a great deal of trouble.

Leal's School Football Team.

Although the record of the football team this year was not as clean a one as last year it was on the whole successful. We won four games and lost three. As to individual playing every man on the team did his best. Captain Wilcox put up the same strong game he played last year and his hard playing was an encouragement, as well as a brace to the team. Glenney and Daniel, halfbacks, played a fast and snappy game, Glenney being especially strong on the defensive. Manning and Suffern, the ends, played well and in most instances could be counted on. Suffern was hurt in the Pingry game and unable to play after that. He was substituted by Underhill and Howard. The latter played in the game with Montclair and played well enough to warrant his keeping the position if he had come out to practice. Tackles were Gutierres and Curtis, who played a steady game, especially Gutierres, who made a number of openings in the opposing lines. Guards Strong and Lawrence added strength to the line. The position of center was occupied by Smith, Manning and Jewett. Smith, who became the regular center, was an excellent anchor for the team. Dallas, who played fullback, put up a steady game and made a number of good gains through the line. Reese, who played quarterback during the first half of the season, kept his head and conducted the team very creditably. Suffern, the manager of the team, ran it with less expense and more satisfactorily than any other team that the school has put out has been managed. The school extends him its hearty thanks.

These are the results of the games played:

October 1—Leal's, 26; Westfield High School, 0.

October 8—Leal's, 13; Plainfield High School, 0.

October 15—Leal's, 12; Carteret School, 11.

October 22—Leal's, 0; Newark Academy, 12.

October 29—Leal's, 0; Pingry School, 17.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS

Dr. J. B. Probasco Chosen President for Twelfth Time.

NO CHANGES MADE

In the Reorganization All of the Old Committees Are Reappointed for Another Year.

Outside of the annual election of officers and appointment of the committees for the new year, last night's meeting of the Board of Education, was taken up with purely routine business.

Coming to order with all members present except Charles F. Abbott, the election of officers for 1905 was taken up. This resulted in re-elections all along the line. President Dr. J. B. Probasco then announced that it was his wish that the committees continue as constituted at present.

This makes the twelfth consecutive term of Dr. Probasco's service in the presidency. The other officers are vice president, L. N. Lovell; secretary, F. T. Woodhull, and clerk, Frank B. Clark.

The committees are as follows: Teachers and text-books, J. B. Probasco, L. N. Lovell and C. F. Abbott; books, stationery and supplies, F. T. Woodhull, C. F. Abbott and J. B. Probasco; buildings and repairs, C. F. Abbott, J. B. Probasco and L. N. Lovell; fuel, E. M. Cave, L. N. Lovell and F. T. Woodhull; finance, L. N. Lovell, C. F. Abbott and E. M. Cave.

Three more applications for the post of janitor of the new High School building were received and filed. Benjamin W. Evans, E. P. Kellogg and Alexander G. Martin all want the job. Thomas Clarkson, the present janitor of the Stillman High School, had previously made application for the place.

When called upon for his report, Superintendent H. M. Maxson stated that he had not prepared a formal one, but mentioned one or two things of general interest. Prof. Marrs, he said, an instructor of penmanship, who desires to teach in the local schools, had deposited with him a $300 guarantee, securing the performance of his duties should the board accept his proposition. Dr. Maxson also stated that in his estimation the two new typewriters needed by the commercial department could be bought more economically than they could be rented. He was empowered to act on his judgment in the matter.

The bond furnished by the American Surety Company for George Tobin in connection with his contract on the new High School, was presented and accepted subject to approval as to form.

W. F. Arnold, custodian of school moneys, presented his report which showed among other things an uncollected balance of city school taxes amounting to $11,000. The school tax collected in the city during the past year amounted to over $43,000.

Expenditures on the new High School have reached the sum of $9,800, leaving a balance of about $20,000 to carry the work along until the next series of bonds are issued.

On inquiry from Mr. Woodhull, the clerk reported the coal supply to be holding out satisfactorily in spite of the severe weather.

In the City Court.

Judge Runyon fined John E. Olson $5 this morning for assault on Joseph Kolcshie. The only other case before the court was a charge of disorderly conduct made by Patrolman O'Keefe against William Kennedy, "Frank Drake, otherwise known as "Squint," and a blase looking woman who described herself as Susie Barber. The latter was found to have been at one time in a reform institution, which fact cast a shadow on her story. Sentence was suspended on all three and a lecture on the evils of familiarity on too short acquaintance was administered for good measure.

Reason for Fowler's Absence.

"The rebuke that Elizabeth and Plainfield gave him at the polls for his absenteeism does not seem to have had much effect on Representative Charles N. Fowler," says the Plainfield Press. Don't judge the Congressman too hastily. It's whispered that he has been spending his time to such good advantage that Elizabeth may secure that public library after all.—Newark News.

Taking Account of Stock.

All of the local merchants are busily engaged this week in taking account of stock. This time is chosen for the work as there is always a natural falling off in business immediately after the holidays and the clerks have more time than usual.

ELKS DECIDE TO BUY HALL

B. P. O. E. Members Unanimously Approve Scheme.

CLOSING THE DEAL

Price to be Paid is $16,500—Option on Building Until Tuesday.

Plainfield Lodge, B. P. O. E., at its meeting last night, expressed unanimous approval of the scheme to purchase the Washington Hall property on West Second street, as a home for the Elks.

The proposition submitted by George F. Brown, agent for the property, to sell it to the Elks for $16,500 was favorably received. The Elks have an option on the building until Tuesday, January 10.

There are two heirs yet to hear from before the property can be sold. One is a relative of the late Mr. Rice, former owner, and Captain Baker, both living in the South. They have been written to and as soon as their consent is received the deal will undoubtedly be closed.

FINE HUNTING IN PROSPECT FOR SPORTSMEN

GAME WARDEN HAWKINS WILL STOCK LOCAL WOODS WITH QUAIL.

In response to requests from sportsmen in Plainfield and vicinity, Game Warden C. M. Hawkins, of Elizabeth, will, within a few days, ship here a supply of quail with which to stock the woods. Mr. Hawkins began the work yesterday of stocking the woods in Union county. He started out in the afternoon with a dozen quail, six male and six female, the finest looking birds of the species seen in this locality. These birds, of which Mr. Hawkins has just received 200, were shipped from Indian Territory, a section of the country where they are plentiful.

The quail multiplies rapidly and the several hundred birds that are to be turned loose throughout the county, will, if the game laws are strictly enforced and the birds given a chance, be sufficient in several years to render hunting them fine sport.

Besides sending a supply here, birds will also be shipped to Dunellen, Westfield and other nearby towns. The local sportsmen will make a determined effort to protect the game and insure better shooting for those who wish to observe the game laws.

No Truth in Report.

The report in the Courier-News yesterday to the effect that Marshals Klein and Flack, who are laid up with injuries received at the hands of a gang of drunken negroes on Christmas eve, are to enjoy the bounty of their fellow citizens of the borough in the form of money contributions, is without a particle of truth according to Chief Weiss, of the North Plainfield police department. Not only do the injured men draw their full pay while recovering, he says, but their expenses for medical attendance are also borne by the borough government. They are not even called upon to make good the damaged uniforms.

McAll Auxiliary Active.

The McAll Auxiliary met yesterday at the Public Library and in addition to receiving a letter from the wife of the evangelist who is supported in mission work in Limoges, France, telling of the Christmas fete at the mission and of the excellent progress of the work there, arranged for a birthday tea which Mrs. William B. Wadsworth will give at her home in West Eighth street, on Tuesday afternoon, January 17.

GEORGE JOHNSTON MAY MANAGE THE TEAM

WOULD GIVE THE LOCAL FANS A FAST ARTICLE OF BASEBALL.

Definite plans for local baseball the coming season have not yet been announced, but it is learned that George Johnston, who managed the Plainfield A. C. team last year, is willing to assume the management of a first-class aggregation here again, provided he secures the proper support. Friends of Mr. Johnston claim that he was greatly handicapped last year by being asked to take charge of the team after many of the best players had been engaged, and besides there was a club indebtedness that did not work toward the success of the organization. Now that the debts have been paid, it would give Mr. Johnston an excellent opportunity to put a successful team in the field.

Mr. Johnston is one of the best informed men on ball matters in the State. He knows the players, just where to get them and whether they are capable of putting up a first-class game. It has been suggested that if Charles Woolston does not manage the proposed Plainfield A. C. team it would be a good plan to secure Mr. Johnston's services, before he makes other plans. It has been hinted that in case he does not run a team here next season he will be persuaded to put a nine in the field at Scotch Plains, where for several years he was so successful. If Mr. Johnston is secured for the local nine, it will have a tendency to bring the Scotch Plains patronage here, otherwise it may go elsewhere. Providing Mr. Johnston is secured early enough he will be able to pick a fast company of players before they are signed by other organizations. Barring last year's indebtedness, some of which was incurred before Mr. Johnston took charge, the club made money.

COLUMBIA SOPHOMORES PLAY IN "A NIGHT OFF"

HUMOROUS PRODUCTION AT CASINO LAST NIGHT WAS CLEVER.

"A Night Off," a four-act comedy abounding in humor, produced by the Columbia sophomores, was deserving of a far larger audience than the one at the Casino last night. Good acting, combined with humorous situations and complications at every turn served to make the production one of the best which has been given in this city by an amateur cast.

The parts were well chosen and the play was well staged. While all the characters in the play were well portrayed, those who deserve especial mention, are Professor Babbitt, which was taken by Walter R. Kelley; Marcus Brutus Snap, a theatrical manager, which was admirably played by Charles E. Miller, and Nesbe, the professor's daughter, a part which was exceedingly well played by Huntington Atwater.

The plot of the comedy which has been produced on the local stage by amateur talent, is a decidedly funny one, and one in which there are opportunities galore for humorous acting. In the part of the professor, Mr. Kelley succeeded in making a great hit, while the dramatic thatrical manager, Mr. Miller, kept the audience in roar of laughter. While these were the leading parts in the comedy, all the players displayed an ease of manner, an exactness of detail, and a degree of natural talent, which has characterized the play throughout its successful production in New York and other cities.

The patronesses were: Mrs. William A. Pinto, Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, Mrs. David H. Rowland, Mrs. Charles J. Fisk, Mrs. Chapman Fisk, Mrs. Harry G. Runkle, Mrs. William T. King, Mrs. James R. Blake, Mrs. Charles F. Abbott, Mrr. John F. Harman.

Injured Police Recovering.

J. William Klein, the borough marshal, who was badly cut and slashed Christmas eve while trying to arrest some negroes on Somerset street, is improving. He will be detained at the hospital some time. Marshal Joseph Flack, another one of the injured officers, is also improving, although he will probably be off duty a longer time than Klein. He is at his home in the borough.

RAISE LICENSE FEE, SAYS C. W. M'CUTCHEN

Hopes That Judge Schenck Will Adopt Somerset Grand Jury's Recommendation.

THE SALOON AN EVIL

ACTION OF PLAINFIELD COUNCIL A HOPEFUL SIGN.

Liquor is An Enemy of Mankind He Declares and He Looks for the Time When Public Conscience is Aroused.

From no source could an opinion come carrying greater weight than that which is attached to the following letter from Charles W. McCutchen, the largest property-owner, heaviest taxpayer and by all odds the most popular citizen in North Plainfield, who gives his views relative to the proposition to increase the liquor license fee in the borough. This is what he says:

Editor, The Daily Press:

There can be little doubt at this day in the minds of thinking people that the modern drinking saloon is an enemy of mankind, and a menace to the safety of society. I refer to the saloon as a unit in any given community, and to the saloon as an organized System throughout the land. It serves no good purpose; it is distinctly an evil, and should be so regarded, especially by those in authority who have the responsibility of deciding whether or not it shall be tolerated as a business.

In view of the dangers involved, it is a matter of profound wonder that so small concern is manifested in the face of the development of this corrupting influence in the land. The attitude of the "powers that be" is apparently one of indifference; they have capitulated to, or at best compromised with the System instead of treating the base heretically and utterly abolishing it. Perhaps this will be feasible when the conscience, if not the fear, of the nation is once aroused on the subject.

In this connection, the action of the Plainfield Common Council in raising the license fee to $1,000 is a healthy and hopeful sign. Equally so is the recommendation of the Grand Jury at Somerville in its recent presentment to the Somerset County Court, urging that the fee in the borough of North Plainfield be fixed also at $1,000, and that the saloons in the borough be required to close at the same hour as those of the city. These are wise measures, both of them, and necessary for the maintenance of order and good conditions in both the city and borough. I only hope that Judge Schenck will be moved to adopt the timely suggestions of his Grand Jury.

We cannot expect by enactment of laws, or by police regulations to prevent the drunkard from drinking. We can, however, make it difficult and hazardous for him to do so. Wendell Phillips in his great lecture on this subject told of a poor victim of the appetite for drink in Joliet, Ill., who had tried to reform, had given up his cups again and again, only to fall, because there was a certain saloon which he had to pass every day, and he could not resist the temptation, and the invitation of its open door. Wendell Phillips, with that marvelous voice which thrilled every hearer, cried: "The State of Illinois could not prevent the man from entering that open door, but the State of Illinois could close that door."

Yours very truly,
C. W. McCutchen

Study of Japan.

NEW POLICE BOARD MAY ORDER DRILLS

SOME IMPOVEMENTS IN THE DEPARTMENT ARE EXPECTED SOON.

In abolishing the license committee and combining its work with that of the police, Councilman Tyler will probably devote his time to police matters, being chairman of the committee, while Mr. Gleak or Mr. Bullock, the other members will take charge of the licenses. It will be arranged to have one of the two do that work, while the committee as a whole will consider them.

The idea of combining the two committees was that of Mr. Tyler and his suggestion along this line met the approval of President Daniel. The work of the two committees is so nearly alike in some respects that in combining it better results will undoubtedly be obtained. It is the duty of the police to see that all holders of licenses live up to the city ordinances and there will be a community of interest on the part of the committee in charge of these branches of the city government.

Mr. Tyler is greatly interested in military matters and it will be his aim to have the police department attain a high standard in this respect. He will undoubtedly resume the regular drills that were a feature under the direction of M. T. Barrows, when he was chairman of the police board. It is also said that Mr. Tyler has in mind some other matters which will have a tendency to improve the efficiency of the department. He is said to be in accord with Chief Kiely's request for additional patrolmen so that each ward can have a patrolman in the day time and two or three patrolmen be on duty in the business section during the day, as well as at night. The new police board will meet within a few days to outline the work to be taken up during the year.

Joint installation ceremonies were held in G. A. R. Hall last night by Antietam Command, No. 2, Union Veterans' Union, and Women's Relief Union, No. 2. Mrs. Davis, of Jersey City, acted as installing officer for the Women's Relief Union, assisted by Mrs. Hancock as conductress.

The new officers of the Union are: President, Mrs. Ama Johnson; senior vice president, Mrs. Henry Angleman; junior vice president, Mrs. A. D. Perry; chaplain, Mrs. John Goodwin; treasurer, Mrs. J. R. BOGUS CHECK MAN HELD Man Who Worked Game Here to be Tried in Essex Co.

HE IS IDENTIFIED

Alexander Findlay and George Stevens Recognize Fellow Who Victimized Them.

Posing as a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, and wearing the organization's insignia on the lapel of his coat, "John F. Brewer," thirty-eight years old, who was arrested in a Newark saloon, Tuesday night, after making an ineffectual effort to cash an alleged worthless check for $25, was given a hearing at the First Precinct Police Station, today, and held for the Essex County grand jury. Seven or eight complaints will be made against him, it is said. He is the same man who worked a game here posing under the name of F. E. Wade.

Chief Kiely, accompanied by Alexander Findlay and George Stevens, both of whom cashed bogus checks for the man here, identified him at Newark yesterday. When arrested a pile of blank checks on banks in various parts of the country were found on his person.

When the man was in Plainfield he succeeded in making Messrs. Findlay and Stevens and Thomas Timbo believe he was an Elk. They cashed his checks and when they were returned "N. G." by the banks "Wade" had flown.

'PLAINS FIRE LADDIES SCRAP OVER OFFICES

GOOD NATURED RIVALRY AND RESULT WILL SOON BE KNOWN.

The old-time rivalry existing between Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company and Bucket and Engine Company, of Scotch Plains, was shown Tuesday night, when the fire laddies met to elect officers. The two companies were put under the supervision of the Township Committee ten years ago and since then there has always been a fight at each election for supremacy.

Last year the Bucket and Engine Company elected its own officers, and it is believed that it was again successful Tuesday night. Neither side will announce the result, although it must be known tomorrow night when the returns are filed with Clerk Edward L. Hand. Charles Myers was the choice for chief of the Bucket and Engine Company, while his opponent was Former Chief William B. Noble.

AN EPISCOPAL MISSION

Grace Church Men's Club Formed to Help on the Work.

Vicars Stevenson, rector, acted as temporary chairman. One of the objects of the club is to establish an Episcopal mission in the West End. The proposed mission is not intended to conflict in any way with the work at the Church of the Heavenly Rest. There are now three Episcopal churches and one mission here. Another object of the club will be to promote fellowship among the men of the parish and to assist the rector.

During the business session these officers were chosen: Chairman, Hugh F. Fox; vice chairman, William T. Pelletier; secretary, E. F. Feickert; treasurer, George S. Clay; executive committee, Lewis G. ASKS $10,000 DAMAGES FROM P. S. C. FOR INJURIES

SOUTH PLAINFIELD MAN BRINGS SUIT IN THE SUPREME COURT.

As the result of injuries sustained in a trolley accident the latter part of October, Anton Phillips, of South Plainfield, has brought suit against the Public Service Corporation for the amount of $10,000. Mr. Phillips is represented by William Newcorn, and the case will be brought up at the May term of the Supreme Court.

While driving home in a closed carriage with his wife on October 30, the rear wheel of the vehicle was struck by the fender of the trolley, and Mr. Phillips was thrown violently out. His wife saved herself by grasping the front set. As the result of his fall, Mr. Phillips' jaw was broken, and the chin so torn that it was necessary to take thirteen stitches in the wound. Several ribs were broken and a number of teeth knocked out. He was driven home after the accident, when Dr. A. F. VanHorne was summoned. Thomas Terrell was the driver of the cab.

Phillips has been confined to his home ever since the accident.

AMUSEMENTS.

The firm of Hamlin, Mitchell & Fields have received a communication from Captain Cooney, of the Princeton football eleven, season 1905, asking permission to use Victor Herbert's Indian dance number from "It Happened in Nordland," now running at the Lew Fields Theatre, New York, as an exclusive Princeton football song for next season. Mr. Fields, on behalf of the partners, says he is willing to have the Princeton men go as far as they like with the song. It is a rather interesting fact that three of Hamlin, Mitchell & Fields' musical attractions will thus be honored by three big universities on the football gridiron. Harvard is singing "Love, Love, Love" from "The Wizard of Oz;" Yale used "Put Down Six and Carry Two" from "Babes in Toyland," and now Princeton yearns for "The Indian Dance" from "It Happened in Nordland."

Messrs. Liebler & Co., under whose management Arnold Daly now is, have secured indefinite time at the Garrick Theatre, New York, and will, on Monday, produce there the George Bernard Shaw play "You Never Can Tell"—a play which it is confidently believed will have even a still greater vogue than either "Candida" or any of the Shaw plays which Mr. Daly has recently, and so successfully, put on. It is broader, and more appealing in its scope, and in it the Bernard Shaw wit and sarcasm is dealt out in such allopathic doses that very ill indeed must be that auditor who is not susceptible to their influence. The play is to have a Liebler & Co. production, and a cast to which George C. Tyler has given his personal attention—which means a cast that is supremely fitted, no matter what the expense involved.

Miss Lulu Glaser, in Charles B. Dillingham's gorgeous production of the Harry B. Smith and Ludwig Englander operatic version of Charles Major's remarkable story, "When Knighthood Was in Flower." "A Madcap Princess" is the alluring title of Miss Glaser's present vehicle, and the title seems well fitted to the buoyant personality of America's leading operatic soubrette. Miss Glaser is ever in good humor, and her cherry nature always seems to spur the company on to better efforts. "A Madcap Princess" recently scored an immense hit on Broadway, and returning to New York so shortly, Grand Opera House patrons are enabled to witness the big Dillingham attraction months before it reaches many important cities. Two matinees are given during Miss Glaser's engagement, yesterday and one on Saturday, January 7, omitting the regular Wednesday matinee.

LITERARY.

The American steel industry as developed and maintained in and around Pitsburg is the subject of a valuable article by William L. Scaife in the January Review of Reviews. The industry that has made Pittsburg one of the world's greatest workshops is described with technical accuracy and yet in popular language. Mr. Scaife's article is followed by a running account of Pittsburg's other manufacturing enterprises, from the pen of J. E. McKirdy, while the aesthetic and intellectual aspects of this new great city's life are outlined by Burd S. Patterson. The three articles are fully illustrated, and together form a most attractive presentation of Pittsburg's varied activities.

The mistletoe is generally accepted as particularly emblematic of Christmas. Virginia Belmont, showever, shows in her able article entitled "The Legend of the Mistletoe," published in Madame for January, that this mystic plant really belongs to the New Year celebration. In the days of the Druids, the festival of the cutting of the "mistetoe" took place in the month of March on the sixth day of the moon. The tenth of March in that period was New Year's day and as the festival required the full light of the moon, it was held as near New Year's day as the moon would allow. Madame is published by The Ford Publishing Company, Indianapolis.

The January number of The Popular Science Monthly includes in its contents the following articles: "Some Experiments of Luther Burbank," by President David Star Jodan; "The Present Problems of Paleontology," by Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn; "Social and Political Effects of Immigration," by Dr. Allan McLaughlin; "Galileo," by Dr. Edward S. Holden; "Radioactivity and Matter," by Clemens Winkler; "Educational Problems," by the Bishop of Lereford; "The United States Pharmacopoeia," by Dr. H. C. Wood; 'The Mosquito Investigation in New Jersey," by Professor John B. Smith.

PEACE TALK FUTILE

Japanese Diplomats Say Situation Purely Military.

RUSSIA TO PUSH BACK OYAMA.

Rojestvensky's Fleet May Make Dash For Vladivostok if It Is Not Ice-locked—Czar, at Minsk, Says Farewell to Troops.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—A St. Petersburg special this morning says that it is not definitely decided that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron will attempt to reach Vladivostok, but he may await the third Pacific squadron, on which work is proceeding night and day and several ships of which are expected to be ready for service by the end of January.

A Tokyo dispatch says that the weight of opinion in Japanese official circles seems to be against a belief in the early conclusion of peace, and doubt is expressed that the fall of Port Arthur will materially affect the situation.

One of several officials who has discussed the question freely voiced the sentiment of the majority when he said: "We are confronting a situation which continues to be purely military. The present problem is created by General Kuropatkin's army and the Russian second Pacific squadron. We are devoting all attention to them.

"We anticipate that the Russians will renew more determinedly than ever their efforts to drive Field Marshal Oyama back and that they will strive to gain supremacy at sea. We are preparing to defeat both these objects.

"The situation makes talk of peace futile."

The Japanese captured 25,000 prisoners at Port Arthur. The total number of inhabitants is 35,000, of whom 20,000 are sick.

A Weihaiwei report says that the British steamship Andromeda, which sailed for Port Arthur with medical supplies, etc., had on board two surgeons, nearly the entire staff of the government hospital and 800 tons of stores, including 350 beds and 100,000 pounds of provisions.

She sailed on receipt of official permission to enter Port Arthur on the errand of mercy.

Advices from the headquarters of the third Japanese army say that the request of the Russians for food, medicines and physicians for their sick and wounded has been granted.

The Itse, Wantse and Tayangko forts were taken over by the Japanese at noon yesterday.

The Russian prisoners of war will be marched out of the fortress today.

A remarkable episode occurred between the intrenchments of the two armies on New Year's day showing a lack of animosity among the combatants. Russian and Japanese officers met under a red flag and spent the afternoon in friendly conversation. All brought provisions for an impromptu meal. The affair was entirely unofficial and was the result of an exchange of notes between the two junior officers whose organizations occupied the same ground alternately.

They had conducted a friendly joking correspondence by leaving letters in the Chinese houses during the siege.

A Minsk dispatch says that Emperor Nicholas arrived there at 10 o'clock in the morning and reviewed the troops which have been ordered to the far east. At the station a deputation of the nobility handed the emperor $18,000 for the defenders of Port Arthur. His majesty resumed his journey at noon.

DECORATED BY MIKADO.

Canadian Captain Interviewed on the War in the Far East.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 5.—Captain H. C. Thacker, who was Canadian military attache with Oku's army and witnessed the actions at Anshan, Liaoyang and Shakhe, has arrived here by the steamer Empress of Japan. Captain Thacker was invalided after the battle of the Shakhe. When he left the two armies, each being re-enforced steadily, were intrenching and strengthening their position near Mukden and preparing for battle which the Japanese proposed to give when the Port Arthur army was released, augmenting the Japanese forces so that they will be much larger than the Russian and capable of giving a crushing blow.

Captain Thacker says the Russian field gun is superior to that of the Japanese, though the lack of common shell handicaps its service. The Japanese gun is better served. The Shimose explosive is very effective, but not more so than lyddite. The cavalry arm has been notably absent in all engagements.

Captain Thacker was decorated by the mikado with the Order of the Sacred Treasure.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

The more Magazines there are, the more Indispensable is The Review of Reviews

"Indispensable," "The one magazine I feel I must take," "The world under a field-glass," "An education in public affairs and current literature,"—these are some of the phrases one hears from noted people who read the Review of Reviews. The more magazines there are, the more necessary is the Review of Reviews, because it brings together the best that is in all the most important monthlies of the world. Such is the flood of periodical literature that nowadays people say that the only way to keep up with it is to read the Review of Reviews. Entirely over and above this reviewing section, it has more original matter and illustrations than most magazines, and the most timely and important articles printed in any monthly.

Probably the most useful section of all is Dr. Albert Shaw's illustrated "Progress of the World," where public events and issues are authoritatively and lucidly explained in every issue. Many a subscriber writes, "This department alone is worth more than the price of the magazine." The unique cartoon department, depicting current history in caricature, is another favorite. The Review of Reviews covers five continents, and yet is American, first and foremost.

Men in public life, the members of Congress, professional men, and the great captains of industry who must keep "up with the times," intelligent men and women all over America, have decided that it is "indispensable."

NOTICE Fire Sale NOTICE

The recent big fire at Elizabethport partly destroyed a building known as the Alcyone Club, used by the McManus Bros. as a storage house for their duplicate and surplus stocks of Furniture.

The fire damaged the upper portion of the building, but the lower part in which the McManus Bros. had their goods was only touched by water, and a great deal of the stock even escaped the water.

The Insurance Companies having adjusted their losses with the McManus Bros. the firm is enabled to offer the public the whole of this immense stock at which means a saving of 75c on every dollar. The goods being but slightly injured, offer such tempting bargains that no one who needs or may need Furniture, can afford to overlook this remarkable chance.

Notice of sale will appear at an early date in this and other papers.

GREAT LEADER DEAD

Theodore Thomas, of World-wide Fame, No More.

LAST APPEARANCE CHRISTMAS EVE

Aged Musical Director Lived to Establish His Orchestra In Magnificent Home In Chicago—Pneumonia Caused Death.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Theodore Thomas, the noted orchestra leader, is dead of pneumonia at his residence here. He was seventy years old.

Death came to the world famous director almost at the hour of achieving his ambition of years, the establishment of the Chicago orchestra in a magnificent permanent home. Mr. Thomas lived to lead his orchestra in but four concerts in the great new hall built by popular subscription. His last appearance was at the concert on the day before Christmas. There were present at the end his wife, his two sons, Hector W. and Herman Thomas, both of New York, and Charles N. Fay, his brother-in-law. The two daughters, Mrs. D. N. B. Sturgis and Mrs. G. H. Carter, residents of New York, were not here.

It was a week ago Saturday that Mr. Thomas first felt the ailment which culminated in his death. Apparently the trouble was only a slight touch of the grip. Last Thursday, however, pneumonia developed. Saturday his condition was grave, Sunday he improved, and on Monday the physicians felt hopeful of a recovery. Last evening, while Mr. Thomas was sanguine as usual, there suddenly occurred a change for the worse, ending in his death.

Woman Suspect Shot Herself.

BRADFORD, Pa., Jan. 5.—Mrs. J. C. Dennison of Smithport has committed suicide here by shooting herself through the head with a 22 caliber revolver. Last September the husband of the dead woman died under circumstances indicating that he had been poisoned, and suspicion was directed toward the wife as being responsible for his death. Believing that she would soon have to answer before a jury on a murder charge, Mrs. Dennison killed herself. She left several notes, one of which practically admitted her guilt.

Susquehanna Flood Feared.

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., Jan. 5.—A feeling of anxiety pervaded this entire town last night, as the Susquehanna river was gradually rising, having already entered the premises of a number of families. It is now twenty inches deep in the Port Deposit Store company's building at Brook Run and in some cases is flooding the first floor of dwelling houses. It is feared that the streets at the north end of the town will be flooded today.

Had Rich Creole Widow Ready.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 5.—F. C. Farrington, operator of a matrimonial agency, has been indicted by the United States grand jury here. It is charged that Farrington used the mails to defraud a great number of people throughout the country by attracting their attention to his matrimonial agency and promising to engage them to a rich Creole widow who was looking for a man to marry her and manage her sugar estate.

End of Denver Girl's Romance.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Married after a romantic courtship in a cottage at Atlantic City at the height of the summer season five years ago, Mrs. Gertrude McCauley, a former society girl of Denver and Colorado Springs, has been granted a divorce from Thomas B. McCauley by Judge Honore. McCauley, who is said to be in Texas, made no defense to the charge of cruelty, upon which the suit was based.

Children Ate Strychnine Tablets.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—Chocolate coated strychnine and nux vomica tablets prescribed by a physician for their mother caused the death of Laura and Joseph Barsuglia, three and six years old respectively, at their home here last night. The children were playing in the house and during the brief absence of the mother found the tablets in a closet and ate them.

Collision In Boston Tunnel.

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—In a rear end collision between two cars in the new East Boston tunnel one male passenger was cut with glass and several women fainted from the shock. The motorman of one car had stopped to brush the frost off his window when another car struck the first car with great force. Both electrics were damaged.

Funeral Services of W. H. Baldwin, Jr.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Brief services were held over the body of the late William H. Baldwin, Jr., president of the Long Island railroad, at the family home in Locust Valley, N. Y. Last night the body was transferred to Boston, where public services were held this morning.

Hanged Himself In Prison.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 5.—Theophile Martchek of Derby, a Russian, committed suicide by hanging himself to the door of his cell in the New Haven county jail. His body was found by a tierman. Martchek was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for wife beating.

Mechanic Killed by Train.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 5, 1905.

Every taxpayer should read the annual report of City Treasurer William F. Arnold. It shows the excellent condition of the finances and is the best report yet submitted to the Common Council. Mr. Arnold deserves the thanks of the taxpayer.

There is meat in every word of the excellent communication from Charles W. McCutchen on the saloon question. His letter is timely and we are greatly obliged for his expressions of opinion on a subject of the utmost importance to both Plainfield and North Plainfield. Mr. McCutchen is the heaviest taxpayer and one of the ablest men in North Plainfield. He has been the borough's benefactor in several instances. The C. W. McCutchen Manual Training School building is a monument of his generosity and his private gifts are numerous. His support of the proposition to increase the liquor license fee in the borough is valued by those who have been working for that end.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will install its officers-elect tomorrow night. The officers-elect of Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., will be installed tonight by the district deputy.

District Grand Chief Kinney was present at the regular meeting of Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, Tuesday night, and supervised the installation of the officers who were elected last week. Accompanying Mr. Kinney was his staff of State officers. There were nine in all. The usual celebration took place, these officers being installed at the head of the lodge: Noble chief, A. H. Lewis; vice chief, J. G. Bicknell; sir herald, P. C. Banghart; venerable hermit, Thomas Harner; high priest, Edward Young; master of records, W. J. Trembath; clerk of exchequer, R. V. Kinney; keeper of exchequer, W. W. F. Randolph; trustee, E. Ryno. Following the installation, there was a short period devoted to degree work, and a pleasant social hour was spent.

LITERARY.

The highest priced note-taking on record is that of "The Reporter Who Became President," of whom Frederic Irland writes in the January McClure's. The "reporter" was James Madison, and his MS., for which the United States, after his death, paid the sum of $30,000, contains the only account of the speeches of the makers of our Constitution, at the Philadelphia convention of 1787. These speeches (not meant for publication,) are the most important ever made upon our soil. Many interesting facts, never before printed, are told concerning the MS. in Mr. Ireland's article.

There is an ancient mendicant, long known to those who go through Vesey street to the North River ferries, New York city, who has lately laid away his "Pity the Blind" sign and his wheezy little organ, and now helps pick up waste paper and fruit skins in the Pennsylvania Railroad Station Jersey City. His excuse is convincing, "You see," he says, "times get so hard I just had to keep my eyes open to do any business at all."—Success.

Jan. 8: "The Making of a Christian; His Birth"—John iii, 1-8.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, Ph. D.

No one his ever become human except by birth since the creation of the first pair. No one knows the things of a man except the spirit of man. There are creatures of different orders from man who may know much that men will never know, but they will never know the things that men know, because these can be realized only by one who has the human faculties.

Men have capacity for moral things which are of the nature of the divine. To know and feel and do these is to have fellowship and sonship with God. Man is made with this end in view. This is his real or normal position in the ranks of creaturehood. Having a physical nature with a spiritual capacity within it, there is the possibility of developing in earthly surroundings the characteristics of holiness and righteousness and being godlike in nature. This would be the kingdom of God in man, the kingdom of heaven in the world.

But, though all men have spiritual capacity, not all have had this power of holy life aroused to activity. As the physical life has no power of individual activity until by birth it is started on a career for itself, so there is no personal spiritual life until these soul powers come to birth in personal exercise of moral choosing, feeling and thinking. "Ye must be born again" is as true of the soul as that one must be born physically to have individual life in the world of material things.

Serious mistake has been made very frequently in supposing that all that was needed in the Christian life was to think rightly about spiritual truth. If one only believed rightly all would be well has been too much taught. Right thinking can hardly be too strongly insisted upon as essential to all development in the things of the soul, but it is only one of the necessary lines of effort. Wrong ideas of God, man and the world and of their relations must inevitably result in false religion, but the most correct ideas are not sufficient alone to shape the soul life rightly. The true must be also the right for action, and he who knows the true must do it and make it turn from the intellectual apprehension of a fact into the practical realization of a deed of righteousness. He must do the truth. But these two are not sufficient to constitute one fully a Christian and a real son of God. There must be the glad consent of the affections to this course of action as the desirable one above all other possible ways of doing. Mind, heart and will must all concur in the work or it is not the action of the whole man, and in so far as it fails to enlist all the moral powers it falls short of the mark.

If one wills to do as God directs he finds his knowledge not only increasing of the things that he ought to do, but he comes to a consciousness that is conviction firm and unmistakable that certain things are right and others are wrong. He comes to a power of discrimination he never before had and which no one ever acquires in any other manner. He also comes to love the truth as never before and in a manner impossible to explain to one who has not gone the same way. New birth is the best term in any language by which to express this awakening of the capabilities of the human soul in the acquisition of the divine characteristics.

No one can neglect this awakening of soul powers without losing all that is most valuable in his nature and missing that which life here is intended to yield to him.

It is the duty of every one to use his faculties in such a way as to bring to birth and then to full growth all these spiritual capacities. They will not cripple the exercise of any other powers, but will aid in their better development.

Divine Love.

Divine love's nature is the nature of God. God is love, we are told. It is His nature, the divine nature. We are not told simply that He loves or has loved as an incidental or accidental act of feeling, but that love is inseparable as a quality from a proper conception of what He is. And so consequently Christ is love and has not merely loved us, but will be and must be forever love, divine love. Now, in the God-man, love, this divine love, has become a quality of humanity also, and he who "puts on Christ" must attain to the same quality of divine love. He must be conscious of it. It must be a sensible and potent factor in his life, one that he cannot fail to distinguish as such upon any intelligent reflective self examination. It is the very breath, the activity of the new life, the spiritual being he has in Christ Jesus.—Lutheran.

Looking Backward.

Looking backward is one of our most dangerous and debilitating sins. Men sometimes say: "Oh, for the days of Whitefield! Oh, for the days of Wesley! Oh, for the days of Luther! Oh, for the days of the apostles!" What we ought to say is, "Oh, for the belief that the same Jesus who ascended into the heavens has come back again and that He is here in His invisible representative, the Holy Spirit, as truly as He was in the city of Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost!"—Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, D. D.

He Leadeth Me.

I cannot always see the way that leads
To heights above;
I sometimes quite forget He leads me on
With hand of love,
But yet I know the path must lead me to Immanuel's land,
And when I reach life's summit I shall know
And understand.
—Grace Benedict Curtis.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 8.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—The making of a Christian; his birth.—John iii, 1-8.

"The making of a Christian" is a most important subject. In the making of a tradesman, a business man, a journalist or a statesman much time, money and care are spent. Men are systematically and skillfully prepared for the great professions and positions in life. Much more should all things needed be used in the making of a Christian. Man is the noblest work of God, and the highest type of true manhood is that developed by Christianity. In view of its importance, this subject is to be our topical serial for six months, in which we shall study the various steps in the making of a Christian—(1) his birth; (2) his speech; (3) his food; (4) his exercise; (5) helping one another; (6) his destiny. Such a subject is worthy of our most earnest and careful study, and as we take each step in study we should advance in it experimentally at the same time. Let us grow in grace as we grow in knowledge.

The first step in the making of a Christian is his birth. He cannot be made in a workshop or in an educational institution. He must first of all be born. Naturally a man is not a Christian. "The natural heart is enmity against God." The Christian man possesses the spirit of God and delights to do the will of God. Christianity is first of all an internal life, and then it manifests itself in the outward life. And that we may possess this life the human heart must be changed, and this change is called the new birth, and no one can become a Christian without this new birth. It is a necessity. "Ye must be born again," said Jesus to Nicodemus. A new heart, a changed heart, is essential to Christianity. We do not keep God's commands that we may become Christians, but because we are Christians. A new heart makes a new man. Put a new living principle in a man, and he becomes changed throughout. The sinful man turns from sin, and the neglectful man from his neglectfulness. From sin they turn to God "with new purpose of and endeavor after new obedience."

But how is a Christian born? Evidently not by his own power. No man can make himself a Christian. Nor can any other human power do it for him. God has given man boundless powers, and yet from him has been kept the tremendously responsible power of creating life, either physical or spiritual. The power of God alone can recreate the human soul and make a sinful man a new man in Jesus Christ and a member of the kingdom of God. And this work is the special function of the Holy Ghost, the third person of the Trinity. The work of the Spirit is mysterious.

How these things can be we do not know, but with God all things are possible. The Spirit enlightens our minds in the knowledge of Christ, renews our wills, convinces us of our sin and misery and thereby persuades and enables us to accept Jesus Christ, freely offered to us in the gospel. This is the process, but how it is done we cannot explain. "By their fruits ye shall know them." The new heart produces a new life. The child of the kingdom of Satan who is born into the kingdom of God must lead a different life. Are we doing so, Christian Endeavorers? Have we the virtues of the Spirit within and the testimony of a new life without that we are members of the kingdom of God? Let us examine ourselves and see how we stand on this subject. If not born again we may be. Christ's life and atoning death have made it possible for all to enter the kingdom of God. Do you wish it, pray for it. And let us all pray that God's Spirit may move on all unregenerated hearts to the end that they may be born again and thereby become heirs to God's kingdom.

Conventions Help.

Conventions help to get and keep us out of ruts. For that one work alone they are desirable, so prone are we all to slip into hundrum formality and self satisfied mediocrity. But life is real and earnest. Business must be conducted with ever fresh energy and methods. And, chief of all, "the King's business requireth haste" and adaptation and everything that consecrated genius can suggest to watch for and win souls.—Roll Call, Australia.

With Foreign Flavor.

El Esforzador Mexicano is the name of the official Endeavor publication of Mexico. It is in its fifth volume.

"The summer is past, the typhoon is over, and now is the time for work," is the characteristic opening sentence of the "September Notes" in the Endeavor, the official Japanese paper. One half of this publication each month is in English, the other half in Japanese.

Do not forget to pray every morning when you first wake up for the soldiers. This, you remember, is what Endeavorers have promised to do as a national society.—Endeavor, Kobe, Japan.

A Chinese Endeavorer, forced by his relatives to approach the idol shrine and take incense in his hand, turned his back upon the idol and there preached Christ.

A 10 per cent increase in one month is the cheering report of the Portadown, Lurgan and District union.—Irish Endeavorer.

UP TO DATE MODES.

Fine Lace the Fad—The Bayadere Skirt Very New.

The new bayadere skirts promise to be very smart. They fit snugly about the hips either plain or with five plaits and have two or three wide bands of contrasting material around the skirt. The bands are usually of velvet ribbon or shirred silk, or on light materials they are often of closely corded shirred silk net.

The bands are four inches wide and are placed six inches apart. Each has a quilling to outline the edges.

Handsome net laces and exquisite valenciennes are seen on all the smart gowns.

The blues of last year seem to be entirely out of the running this winter. Indeed, the only blue considered at all swagger is the kaiser. It is an intense blue of the bluet order and is exceedingly trying to most complexions. The successful wearer must have eyes of blue or bordering on this charming color.

Brown is not as smart as it promised to be. Certain shades of gray are very popular, and in velvet purple is the royal color approved of fashion. Nothing is more elegant or expensive than purple chiffon velvet.

An all black net gown is the most serviceable evening dress a girl on a limited allowance can invest in. This winter a black brussels net or malines may be very up to date and smart with a full skirt tucked up to the knees with wide tucks. The bodice is horizontally tucked and fashioned into a bebe effect, with the round decollete neck finished with a ruching of net.

Of mushroom broadcloth is the Parisian gown shown in the picture. The skirt is slightly full and absolutely devoid of trimming. The waist is bolero in effect and edged with a corded puffing of the silk exactly matching the cloth. A tiny vest of white cloth is edged with a line of gold and fastens with dull gold buttons. A high girdle of brown panne encircles the waist. The sleeves are formed of high puffs of cloth and white chiffon.

the calf. It is of a beautiful creamy white, with delicate tints and markings of fawn. This yetta will make stunning trimmings.

The modernized kimono pictured is carried out in lilac Japanese silk, figured with golden yellow. It is made in two pieces and afterward joined at the waist. The skirt is shirred on the side seams and back and is plain in front. The bodice is gathered on the shoulders and at the top of the sleeves. Trimmings and belt are of lilac velvet.

By Irving Bacheller

Author of "Eben Holden," "Darrel of the Blessed Isles," Etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by Lothrop Publishing Co.)

"Careful, boys," said the innkeeper, as we got aboard. "Aim straight fer th' head o' th' island. Can't ye see it—right over yer heads there? 'Member, they 's awful rough water below."

We pushed off, D'ri leading. I could see nothing of the island, but D'ri had better eyes, and kept calling me as he went ahead. After a few strokes of the paddle I could see on the dark sky the darker mass of tree-tops.

"Better light up," I suggested. We were now close in.

"Hush!" he hissed. Then, as I came up to him, he went on, whispering: "'T ain't bes' t' mek no noise here. Don' know none tew much 'bout this here business. Dog' cal'late we 're goin' t' hev any trouble, but if we dew—Hark!"

We had both heard a stir in the bushes, and stuck our paddles in the sand, listening. After a little silence I heard D'ri get up and step stealthily into the water and buckle on his sword. Then I could hear him sinking the canoe and shoving her anchor deep into the sand. He did it with no noise that, 50 feet away, could have been distinguished from that of the ever-murmuring waters. In a moment he came and held my canoe, while I also took up my trusty blade, stepping out of the canoe into the shallow water. Then he shoved her off a little, and sank her beside the other. I knew not his purpose, and made no question of it, following him as he strode the shore with measured paces, the lantern upon his arm. Then presently he stuck his paddle into the bushes, and mine beside it. We were near the head of the island, walking on a reedy strip of soft earth at the river margin. After a few paces we halted to listen, but heard only the voice of the water and the murmur of pines. Then we pushed through a thicket of small fir trees to where we groped along in utter darkness among the big tree trunks on a muffle-footing. After a moment or so we got a spray of light. We halted, peering at the glow that now sprinkled out through many a pinhole aperture in a fairy lattice of pine needles.

My heart was beating loudly, for there was the promised lantern. Was I not soon to see the brighter light of those dear faces? It was all the kind of thing I enjoyed then—the atmosphere of peril and romance—wild youth that I was. It is a pity, God knows, I had so little consideration for old D'ri; but he loved me, and—well, he himself had some pleasure in excitement.

We halted for only a moment, pushing boldly through a thicket of young pines into the light. A lantern hung on the bough of a tall tree, and beneath it was a wide opening well carpeted with moss and needles. We peered off into the gloom, but saw nothing.

D'ri blew out a thoughtful breath, looking up into the air coolly, as he filled his pipe.

"Consarned if ever I wanted t' have a smoke s' bad 'n all my born days," he remarked.

Then he moved his holster, turned his scabbard, and sat down quietly, puffing his pipe with some look of weariness and reflection. We were sitting there less than five minutes when we heard a footfall near by; then suddenly two men strode up to us in the dim light. I recognized at once the easy step, the long, lithe figure, of his lordship in the dress of a citizen, saving sword and pistols.

"Ah, good evening, gentlemen," said he, quietly. "How are you?"

"Better than—than when we saw you last," I answered.

D'ri had not moved; he looked at me with a sympathetic smile.

"I presume," said his lordship, in that familiar, lazy tone, as he lighted a cigar, "there was—ah—good room for improvement, was there not?"

"Abundant," said I, thoughtfully. "You were not in the best of health yourself that evening."

"True," said he; "I—I was in bad fettle and worse luck."

"How are the ladies?"

"Quite well," said he, blowing a long puff.

"Ready to deliver them?" I inquired.

"Presently," said he. "There are—some formalities."

"Which are—?" I added quickly.

"A trifle of expenses and a condition," said he, lazily.

"How much, and what?" I inquired, as D'ri turned his ear.

"One thousand pounds," said his lordship, quickly. "Not a penny more than this matter has cost me and his majesty."

"What else?" said I.

"This man," he answered calmly, with a little gesture aimed at D'ri.

My friend rose, struck his palm with the pipe-bowl, and put up his knife.

"Ef ye 're goin' t' tek me," said he, "better begin right off, er ye won't hev time 'fore breakfust."

Then he clapped the moose-horn to his lips and blew a mighty blast. It made the two men jump and set the near thicket reeling. The weird baritone went off moaning in the far wastes of timber. Its rush of echoes had begun. I put my hand to my sabre, for there in the edge of the gloom I saw a thing that stirred me to the marrow. The low firs were moving toward us, root and branch, their twigs falling. Gods of war! it made my hair stand for a jiffy to see the very brush take feet and legs. On sea or land I never saw a thing that gave me so odd a feeling. We stood for a breath or two, then started back, our sabres flashing; for, as the twigs fell, we saw they had been decorating a squad of the British. They came on. I struck at the lantern, but too late, for his lordship had swung it away. He stumbled, going to his knees; the lantern hit the earth and went out. I had seen the squad break, running each way, to surround us. D'ri grabbed my hand as the dark fell, and we went plunging through the little pines, hitting a man heavily, who fell grunting. We had begun to hear the rattle of boats, a shouting, and quick steps on the shore. We crouched a moment. D'ri blew the moose-horn, pulling me aside with him quickly after the blast. Lights were now flashing near. I could see little hope for us, and D'ri, I thought, had gone crazy. He ran at the oncomers, yelling, "Hey Rube!" at the top of his lungs. I lay low in the brush a moment. They rushed by me, D'ri in the fore with fending sabre. A tawny hound was running in the lead, his nose down, baying loudly. Then I saw the truth, and made after them with all the speed of my legs. They hustled over the ridge, their lights flashing under. For a jiffy I could see only, here and there, a leaping glow in the tree-tops. I rushed on, passing one who had tumbled headlong. The lights below me scattered quickly and stopped. I heard a great yelling, a roar of muskets, and a clash of swords. A hush fell on them as I came near. Then I heard a voice that thrilled me.

"Your sword, sir!" it commanded.

"Stop," said I, sharply, coming near.

There stood my father in the lantern-light, his sword drawn, his gray hair stirring in the breeze. Before him was my old adversary, his lordship, sword in hand. Near by the squad of British, now surrounded, were giving up their arms. They had backed to the river's edge; I could hear it lapping their heels. His lordship sneered, looking at the veteran who stood in a gray frock of homespun, for all the world, I fancy, like one of those old yeomen who fought with Cromwell.

"Your sword, sir," my father repeated.

"Pardon me," said the young man, with a fascinating coolness of manner, "but I shall have to trouble you—"

He hesitated, feeling his blade.

"How?" said my father.

"To fight for it," said his lordship, quietly.

"Surrender—fool!" my father answered. "You cannot escape."

"Tut, tut!" said his lordship. "I never heard so poor a compliment. Come in reach, and I shall make you think better of me."

"Give up your sword."

"After my life, then my sword," said he, with a quick thrust.

Before I could take a step, their swords were clashing in deadly combat. I rushed up to break in upon them, but the air was full of steel, and then my father needed no help. He was driving his man with fiery vigor. I had never seen him fight; all I had seen of his power had been mere play.

It was grand to see the old man fighting as if, for a moment, his youth had come back to him. I knew it could not go far. His fire would burn out quickly; then the blade of the young Britisher, tireless and quick as I knew it to be, would let his blood before my very eyes. What to do I knew not. Again I came up to them; but my father warned me off hotly. He was fighting with terrific energy. I swear to you that in half a minute he had broken the sword of his lordship, who took to the water, swimming for his life. I leaped in, catching him half over the eddy, where we fought like madmen, striking in the air and bumping on the bottom. We were both near drowned when D'ri swam out and gave me his belt-end, hauling us in.

I got to my feet soon. My father came up to me, and wiped a cut on my forehead.

"Damn you, my boy!" said he. "Don't ever interfere with me in a matter of that kind. You might have been hurt."

We searched the island, high and low, for the ladies, but with no success. Then we marched our prisoners to the south channel, where a bateau—the same that brought us help—had been waiting. One of our men had been shot in the shoulder, another gored in the hip with a bayonet and we left a young Briton dying on the shore. We took our prisoners to Paleyville, and locked them overnight in the blockhouse.

THERE STOOD MY FATHER IN THE LANTERN LIGHT, HIS SWORD DRAWN.

The channel was lighted by a big bonfire on the south bank, as we came over. Its flames went high, and made a great sloping volcano of light in the darkness.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark.
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

A REPUTATION.

How It Was Made and Retained in Plainfield.

A good reputation is not easily earned and it was only by hard consistent work among our citizens that Doan's Kidney Pills won their way to the proud distinction attained in this locality. The public endorsement of scores of Plainfield residents has rendered invaluable service to the community. Read what this citizen says:

Charles Giese, cigar manufacturer, of 25 Elm place, says: "I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint for two or three years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such good medicines for kidney troubles so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after two or three days I felt better. I continued their use until the trouble disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

In Chancery of New Jersey.

To Martin Galbraith, and Mary Ann Galbraith, his wife.

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein The Home Building and Loan Association, of Plainfield, N. J., is complainant, and Mary Galbraith and others (including yourselves) are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, demur or answer to the complainants bill on or before the fourteenth day of February next, or in default thereof, such decree will be made against you as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by Mary Galbraith and John Galbraith, her husband, to the complainant, said mortgage dated June 29, 1900, and recorded in Union County Clerk's office in Book 120, of Mortgages for said county on page 237, etc. On lands in the city of Plainfield, Union county, New Jersey.

And you Martin Galbraith are made a defendant because you claim to own an interest in said mortgaged lands.

And you Mary Ann Galbraith are made a defendant because you are the wife of Martin Galbraith, above named, and because you claim, or may claim an inchoate right of dower in and to your husband's share or interest in said mortgaged lands.

Dated December 13, 1904.

VERDANT WON EASILY.

Hot Choices Brought Money Home at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 5.—A field of twelve youngsters went to the post for the first two-year-old race of the season. The Walden colt Verdant, by Filigrane-Veronia, was made a decided favorite in the betting and, outbreaking his field, led all the way and won easily from Ethel Hayman, the second choice, who, after a rough journey, closed up gamely under punishment at the end. Six favorites won, and Florentine, in the fifth race, clipped a fifth of a second off the track record. Weather clear; track good. Summary:

First Race.—Red Ruler, first; Frank Bill, second; Yorkshire, third.

Second Race.—Verdant, first; Ethel Hayman, second; Thicimingo, third.

Third Race.—Janeta, first; Poseur, second; Lady Draper, third.

Fourth Race.—Au Revoir, first; Brooklyn, second; St. Sever, third.

Fifth Race.—Florentine, first; Edith May, second; Savoir Faire, third.

Racing at Ascot.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 5.—The gray horse Dutiful furnished the excitement at Ascot, winning the mile race at 15 to 1 from Tim Payne and Blissful in the order named. McGrathiana Prince was favorite in this race, but was never in the running. On the whole, favorites had a bad day of it, Ben Lear being the only one to come home ahead of his field. Jockey Lawrence was indefinitely suspended for his ride on Ben Lear on Jan. 2.

Hard Jolt For Talent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—The top heavy favorite, Del Carina, gave the talent a hard jolt at Oakland. She finished second. A clever field of handicap horses lined up for the fourth race, and Honiton was played as if the race was already won, but she could not go the route with the weight. She was an easy second to Schoolmate.

Elmira Soldiers Won.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Jan. 5.—In a rough game of basket ball the Thirtieth Separate company's team of Elmira defeated the team from the Sixth battery of this city last night at the Binghamton armory. The score was 25 to 14. The game was fast.

German Athletes For America.

BERLIN, Jan. 5.—The German Turner association will send a squad of eight representative gymnasts to participate in the American turnfest at Indianapolis in June.

Yale Defeated at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 5.—The Yale basket ball team was defeated last night by the Detroit Athletic club by the score of 23 to 24.

Heiress Found Dead.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Miss Muriel Byram, an heiress and known as one of the most beautiful women in Chicago society, was found dead in her boudoir with a bullet hole through her neck. It is denied that she committed suicide, the wound being attributed to the accidental explosion of a weapon that she was cleaning preparatory to a hunting trip in California. Miss Byram was a sister-in-law of I. N. Perry, the former president of the Bank of North America, who was recently indicted for arson.

Three Deaths From Storm.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—New York awakened in the grip of the worst blizzard since the great storm of 1888. All night long the wind, blowing forty-eight miles an hour, piled up waist high drifts along the streets. Nearly nine inches of snow has fallen. Three deaths, one in Manhattan and two in Brooklyn, directly due to the storm are reported. Seven men and two women were found overcome by the cold in Manhattan and cared for.

Staten Islander Mortally Wounded.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Stabbed six times and with a note threatening the lives of others pinned to his coat, Samuel Sullivan, a young resident of Arlington, N. Y., was found unconscious in the road near his home last night. He is probably mortally wounded. A blood stained note pinned on his coat read: "You will not tell anything more again. Others will get the same as you if they tell anything." His watch and money had not been taken.

A Judge Indicted.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 5.—George H. Williams, once chief justice of Oregon Territory, formerly United States senator from Oregon, attorney general in President Grant's second cabinet and now mayor of Portland, with the snow of eighty-three winters on his head, has been indicted by a grand jury of Multnomah county on a charge of malfeasance in office.

Cassatt on New Haven Road Board.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 5.—"President A. J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad has been elected a director of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad," said President Charles S. Mellen of the latter road last night. Mr. Cassatt will take a seat with the board of directors of the New Haven road at its regular meeting to be held Jan. 14.

Dinner to Higgins and Company.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 5.—Senator Frederick C. Stevens gave a dinner at the Hotel Ten Eyck last night to Governor Higgins, Lieutenant Governor Bruce, Senator Depew, President Pro Tem. of the Senate Raines and the Republican senators. Many of the legislators left for their homes imdiately after the dinner.

Weather Probabilities.

Increasing cloudiness and warmer; east winds.

IN THE SENATE.

Bill For Admission of Two New States Considered.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Upon reconvening after the holiday recess the senate plunged directly into the consideration of the bill for the admission of two states to be composed of Arizona and New Mexico and Oklahoma and Indian Territory. A motion by Mr. Beveridge to take up the bill prevailed by a two-thirds majority.

Mr. Heyburn, who renewed his effort to get up the pure food bill, voted with the Democrats on one roll call, but with this exception the Republicans voted solidly to proceed with the consideration of the statehood bill and the Democrats solidly against that course.

A motion by Mr. Bate to recommit was voted down. Mr. Nelson spoke at length in advocacy of the bill.

Hoosick Falls Snowbound.

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 5.—This section of the state is practically snowbound from the effects of the blizzard. The gale has slackened, but the temperature still remains near zero. The storm began Tuesday morning and gradually assumed blizzard proportions. Communication by trolley between this place and Bennington is completely cut off. No cars have run since Tuesday noon on the Bennington and Hoosick Valley Railway company's tracks.

Fushimi Hears of Japan's Victory.

HONOLULU, Jan. 5. — Lieutenant General Prince Fushimi of Japan, who arrived on the Pacific Mail Steamship company's steamer Mongolia late last night, was advised of the surrender of Port Arthur and congratulations were extended to him by the Japanese and other residents of Honolulu. The prince came ashore and was received with great enthusiasm by the Japanese, who tendered him a reception before he sailed for Japan.

Trusts Will Be Barred.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 5.—Senator Brackett has introduced a bill prohibiting corporations from contributing money or any valuable thing for use at an election. The penalty prescribed is forfeiture of charter. It is made the duty of the attorney general to begin proceedings to annul the charter of any corporation upon presentation of proof that it has violated the law.

A Slav Shot Dead.

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 5.—A Slav, whose name is unknown, was murdered at Colemanville by H. A. Klensing. Both men were employed by contractors on the new Pennsylvania railroad freight line, and during a quarrel between them Klensing drew a revolver and shot the Slav through the head. He died several hours later. Klensing escaped.

Oldest Postmaster Dead.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 5.—Herman H. Knippenberg, said to have been the oldest postmaster in point of continuous service in the United States, is dead at his home in Femme Osage, Mo., from the effects of a heavy cold. He was for about fifty-five years postmaster at Femme Osage. Mr. Knippenberg was born in Germany in 1824.

Canadian Carriage Plant Burned.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Jan. 5.—The Canadian Carriage company, the largest manufacturing establishment here, was destroyed by fire last night. Only a few outbuildings are left. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $300,000, with insurance, about $225,000. The fire started in the oil room, where a lantern was accidentally upset.

Officeholder Polygamists.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Four polygamists held appointments as postmasters in Idaho. This information was sent to the senate in response to a resolution presented by Senator Dubois asking that the postoffice department conduct an investigation of the extent of polygamy among postmasters in the state.

BASKET BALL.

The next game in the Y. M. C. A. schedule will be against the Plainfield High School team on Monday evening at the local gymnasium. It is expected that a large gallery of friends of both aggregations will be present at the contest.

The proposed game of basketball between a picked team of the Plainfield High School alumni, and the present team, meets with general favor, and it will undoubtedly be played sometime in January or the first of February.

CAPT. HUBBARD HONORED

Chosen Director of Freeholders for Seventeenth Time.

ANNUAL SESSION

Board Now Composed of Fifteen Republicans and Five Democrats—The Proceedings.

J. Frank Hubbard, of this city, was elected director of the Union County Board of Freeholders, yesterday, for the seventeenth time, although the Board will not re organize until the regular May meeting, which time is fixed by law. Owing to the fact that members are elected to the board in the spring as well as November, there is now some confusion, it being difficult for the director to maintain his committees throughout the year. It is quite likely that an effort will be made to have the Legislature fix a certain time in the year when all members shall be elected and thus obviate this trouble. Six new members were sworn in yesterday.

An important matter brought up and left undecided was that in reference to the bill of James J. Manning, formerly City Clerk of Elizabeth, for $840 as p rsonal services in the last election. The Board believes the bill exorbitant and has refused to pay it. Mr. Manning declines to accept any thing less than the amount stated. Yesterday the matter was put on the table for future action. It is said to be the purpose of the Board to ask the Legislature to fix the election fees to be paid the clerks throughout the county.

In the appointment of standing committees, Freeholder W. A. Westphal, of this city, was placed on the jail inspection and appropriation committees. The Board now stands fifteen Republicans and five Democrats.

Captain Hubbard, who has been a member of the Board of Freeholders for thirty-five years, is president of the City National Bank, a director of the Plainfield Water Company, a veteran of the Civil War, a member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and the New York Commandery, Military Order of the Loyal Legion.

REV. DR. RICHARD'S TALK

Noted Divine Addresses His Old Parishioners Here.

MISSIONS HIS SUBJECT

Pastor of Brick Church Says Progress Would be Made if Workers Emulated Christ's Example.

Taking for his thought, the vast progress which the cause would make, were those interested to adopt thoroughly the principles on which Christ carried forward his own missionary campaign, Rev. Dr. W. H. Richards, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church in New York, addressed his old congregation in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church last night, on the subject of "Missions—Home and Foreign."

One of the points made by Dr. Richards was that truly successful mission work must be carried forward by people by the same spirit that moved Christ when He said, "I must preach the Kingdom, for herefore was I sent," the spirit that will not allow the man to do or think successfully any thing not contributing to the general progress of his "mission."

Christ was a missionary, and the most successful of them all. Two faultless reasons for close adherence to His example, by all who would aid the missionary cause. Close adherence to this example means that those who practice it never undertake the most trival appearing things without a determination to make them count for something.

"There was," Dr. Richards said, "a sublime certainty about the acts of the Saviour, finality of purpose exhibited in all his moves, that marked the inspired worker and distinguished him from his equally conscientious, but more plodding fellows who reason out their course and are thus more liable to hesitate or vacilate.

"This spirit at first fills the heart of the new convert or worker, but it is easy to drop into the selfish attitude which says, 'My ideal church is not a place in which the well-dressed congregation, meets to listen to the platitudes of a preacher more anxious to smooth down the rough spots in the pathway, than to develope that fine energy which was the heritage of the apostles and enabled them to clear at one bound, obstacles that a less courageous heart would shrink from meeting.'"

In closing, the speaker expressed the hope that any of those among his old parishioners who felt called upon to "preach the Kingdom to other cities," would listen to the voice seriously and not dismiss the thought with scant consideration.

The latter portion of the meeting consisted of a prayer meeting for missions.

ARMY OFFCERS WILL INSPECT COMPANY K

MAJOR-GENERAL WANSER ISSUES ORDERS TO NATIONAL GUARD.

Orders have been issued by Major-General Wanser, of the New Jersey National Guard, for the annual inspections at times appointed by the State officers. A regular army officer will make the inspection.

The first two weeks in March include the dates for the Second Regiment companies, Company K, of this city, being ordered to prepare for an inspection on March 13. The drill, which will be subject to certain orders to be issued to the company in the near future, will be held at the armory.

The uniform for the inspections will be cap, blouse, blue shirt, trousers without leggings, black shoes and white gloves. Enlisted men on detached service may be inspected with any company most convenient, and credit given by the inspector to the company to which the enlisted man belongs. Surgeon's certificates will be presented for all reported as absent, sick, and a copy of the furlough for all absent with leave. Those absent without leave will be tried by court-martial as soon as possible after the inspection.

Annual Y. M. C. A. Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A., at which the officers and directors are elected, will be held at the association on January 19. An interesting programme will be arranged for the occasion which will be marked by the usual reports and routine business.

DEVOE'S 1905 FORECAST

Weather Prophet Predicts Blizzards and a Hot Summer.

PEACE AT HOME

Orange Famine and Cotton Panic Among His Prophesies—Bad Weather for Inauguration.

According to Andrew J. Devoe, the Hackensack weather prophet, 1905 will see an orange famine, a cotton panic, a bad day for the inauguration of President Roosevelt, a severly hot summer and a cyclonic storm which will sweep the Atlantic coast from Maine to Florida.

At his home yesterday Devoe said: "Let all prepare for a small blizzard about January 6. It will continue January 12, 13 and 15. Up to January 25 it will be severely cold On February 3 there will be a big snowstorm, but the severest storm of the month will occur between the 19th and 22d.

"Orange planters in the gulf States who are allowing the fruit to remain on the trees should pick them now, because a great storm and a killing frost is about to sweep that section. All oranges not picked before January 6 will be destroyed. Cotton planters who are preparing to burn their surplus should store it, because the crop this year will be slim. It will also be burned by the sun.

"The important event in March will be the inauguration. The weather on March 3 and 4 will be cloudy and threatening and a heavy storm is due on the fifth.

"For the United States 1905 will be a peaceful year. But the Russian Japanese War will have to terminate within the next six months, or the United States and Great Britain will interfere, without bloodshed. Both sides will lose, but Russia will have to evacuate Manchuria.

"A great storm is coming in the middle of May. The summer will be one of the hottest on record. December will be one of the coldest months ever known. Cattle and crops will suffer terribly from the summer heat.

"There is an important bill before the United States Senate to offer $150,000 in prizes: $50,000 to the man who most accurately forecasts the regular heavy rainfalls and $100,000 to the man who discovers the law which controls the weather. The prizes will both go to the same man. I have discovered that law."

The evening was passed chiefly in dancing, and a feature was the supper served after the dance.

The Midwinter Card Club was entertained Wednesday night by Miss Maude VanBoskerck, of West Seventh street, at the first of a series of five meetings to be held during the season. Christmas greens and holly comprised the decorations. There were about thirty members present. BOARD OF TRADE AWAKES Healthy Discussion at the Annual Meeting Last Night.

PLAN ENTERTAINMENTS

In the Future Attractions Will be Provided—Officers Are Chosen—Fees Remain the Same.

Ways and means for keeping alive the Board of Trade were discussed in lively fashion at the annual meeting held last night. At one time the organization threatened to disband and it even went so far that Joseph B. Coward offered a motion that the board be continued for one more year. Lack of interest, general complaint, the present amount of dues and other things relative thereto, all came in for comment. Some of the members wanted to cut the dues, now $4, in half, while others maintained that if the members could not pay twenty-five cents a month to belong to the board, they would not join for a less amount.

The discussion was led by President L. B. Woolston, S. S. Swackhamer, Mayor J. F. Buckle, Harry O. Runyon, E. M. Laing, B. Frank Coriell, F. H. Smith, while others who joined in included J. O. Hansen, F. A. Dunham, Herman Schwed, Charles W. Runyon, William Jeffrey and others. Opinions were freely discussed pro and con and it was finally agreed to continue and to have the president a committee of three appointed each month to provide some form of attractive entertainment, possibly an address by W. G. Besler and J. O. Osgood, of the New Jersey Central, and other prominent men. The motion to reduce the dues was lost.

It was decided to introduce questions along the line of municipal ownership and have experts discuss them. It is quite likely that in the near future William Jeffrey will talk on tax reform and S. S. Swackhamer on equal taxation, both offering their services in this direction.

These officers were elected for the coming year: President, L. B. Woolston; vice president, James O. Pope; treasurer, E. M. Laing. The office of secretary was left vacant for one month. F. H. Smith, owing to other duties, was obliged to resign and another secretary could not be found last night. President Woolston appointed M. O. VanArsdale, Herman Schwed and B. Frank Coriell a committee to provide entertainment for the next meeting, Thursday night, February 2.

In the regular order of business, G. Thorn and William Jeffrey were elected members. J. B. Chamberlain, an advertising agent of Philadelphia, asked the board for information regarding Plainfield and it will be furnished. The American Anti-Trust League asked for the endorsement of William R. Hearst's bill to regulate the trusts and it was filed. E. M. Laing, treasurer, reported a balance on hand of $178.02. There was a discussion regarding arc lights and it was decided to recommend that more be located in the business section. In this connection J. B. Coward moved that the committee on arc lights be continued, which was carried.

After the business the committee in charge, of which E. M. Laing was the chairman, served a buffet lunch, consisting of salads, sandwiches, fruits, cigars and coffee, and while these things were enjoyed the members continued the discussion of thoroughly reviving the organization and making it a power in the community.

George Wiltse Signs.

George Wiltse, of Somerville, brother of Louis Wiltse, of this city, who made such an enviable record last season pitching for the New York National League team, has signed a contract for this season with the same team. Last year Wiltse won twelve straight games and only lost three. He claims to be in better condition than ever and that he will exceed his '04 record by many more victories. As yet it is not announced whether Louis Wiltse has signed with Baltimore, but it is presumed that he will, although it is not known whether the players from that team will be in Brooklyn or not.

Compensation for Arrest.

Isaac P. Runyon, Esq., representing Henry Voehl, of Somerset street, in his recent trouble in which two of his bakers, as well as himself were arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, will communicate with the Borough Council tonight asking that proper recompense be made for the indignities caused by the arrest of his client and certain irregularities in the trial which followed. Mr. Runyon intimates that unless satisfactory settlement is made he may institute a suit against the borough.

QUICK TRIAL FOR NEGROES

Men Accused of Assaulting Marshals to Answer Jan. 23.

RETAIN COUNSEL

Flomerfelt, Accused of Killing Brother-in-Law Released on Bail—Hazzard's Bail $200.

Judge Schenck this morning fixed the date for trying the five negroes who created a small riot on Somerset street Christmas eve, in which several marshals were badly injured. The negroes will be tried Monday, January 23, and each will be called upon to present a defense against three indictments, the grand jury having returned true bills charging them separately with assault with intent to kill each of the three policemen.

Whit Tunstall, Thomas O. Henderson, Lee Wells, James Tems and Samuel Hunt, the prisoners, all entered pleas of not guilty. They are defended by Messrs. S. S. Swackhamer, W. S. Angleman and W. G. DeMeza, of this city.

Jacob Flomerfelt, indicted for assault and battery and manslaughter, was released on $2,500 bail, furnished by his brother, James A. Flomerfelt, a wealthy New York jeweler. His case is down on the calendar for trial Monday, January 23

S. S. Swackhamer, counsel for Russell F. Hazzard, indicted for assault and battery on E. Frank Vail, a local real estate man, asked the court to fix bail in his client's case. Judge Schenck placed the amount of security at $200, which was furnished by Dr. Richard Moldenke, of North Plainfield township.

January 20 was the date fixed for trying Sylvanus Carkhuff and William Ashton, the men who broke out of the Somerville jail and were recaptured. They are represented by Horace Coddington and James Meehan.

SUMMONED TO COURT WOMAN REFUSES TO GO

ARBITRATION FINALLY PERSUADED MARTHA HASKIN TO APPEAR.

Summoned to appear before Justice Hand on the charge of assault and battery, and for theft, Martha Haskin, colored, compelled the justice, constable and lawyer, all to resort to arbitration before she consented to be moved.

The charge was brought by Henry Johnston, in whose house Miss Haskin has rooms. His first claim was for the recovery of furniture belonging to him, which he alleged she had. When accompanied by his lawyer, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., he went to the house in quest of his property, Miss Haskin resented the action to the degree of assault, and the subsequent charge was made for that offense.

Constable Manley issued the summons, but the woman refused to go unless sent for by a cab or the patrol wagon. After various suggestions, Mr. Hetfield finally suggested that Dr. J. O. Anderson be employed as an arbitrator, and the latter succeeded in persuading the colored woman that it was to her advantage to obey the summons. She appeared late yesterday afternoon before Justice Hand and the trial was appointed for today at 4 o'clock.

Basket Ball Game.

The Plainfield High School basket ball aggregation was badly beaten by the East Orange High School boys at that place yesterday afternoon the score being 67 to 10 This was the line up of the local players: Bentley and O. Doane, forwards; Freeman, center; Stutsman and Gavett, guards. Doane threw four goals, scoring eight of the local team's points, while Freeman shot the other basket.

Whist Club Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, of Duer street, entertained the Fortnightly Whist Club, last night. The full membership was present. Fred C. Lounsbery, Jr., and Miss Smith were awarded prizes. Mr. and Mrs. Will F. Williams, of Westervelt avenue, will entertain the club Thursday night, January 19.

FIRST BAPTISTS ORGANIZE

Dr. N. H. Probasco President of the Men's Club.

OBJECTS OUTLINED

Alexander Gilbert, Chas. W. McCutchen and G. A. Chapman Members of the Board of Governors.

In perfecting a permanent organization the Men's Club, of the First Baptist church, adopted a constitution and bylaws, elected officers and made excellent progress along other lines toward the success of the club last night. Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the church, called the meeting to order and made a few remarks, outlining briefly the purpose of the organization. He compared the work of the men with that of the women, adding that many women are able to command their time and devote much of it to societies both in and out of the church, while the men may be just as willing to this but cannot owing to business matters. He expressed his belief in men and boy Christians as much as in women and girl Christians.

The pastor said that men's clubs are now the rule in churches and in many cases they are a power for good. He dwelt on the social side of the club, referring to pure, wholesome entertainment, an occasional ladies' night, fine music, prominent speakers and perhaps an annual banquet, as pleasant and possibly essential, but secondary to the great object, that of doing good and resolving to advance the interest of the Kingdom of God, which he said would mean a long, strong pull all together.

At the suggestion of the members, Dr. Chambliss was made temporary chairman and John G. MacLaughlin temporary secretary. J. Herbert Case, chairman of the committee on constitution and bylaws, submitted what the committee believed would be a suitable form of government for the club. It provides that the organization be known as the Men's Club, of the First Baptist church, to be an auxiliary of the church for the development of personal power and assistance to the pastor and that any man eighteen years of age and over is eligible to membership. It also provides for a president, two vice presidents, secretary, treasurer, a board of governors of ten, that board to select five additional members. Meetings are to be held on the second Monday in each month, except in June, July and August. There are to be membership, finance, reception, music, entertainment, religious work, printing and press committees, also an honorary list. The dues are to be $1 a year. Fifteen members will constitute a quorum of the club and six for the Board of Governors.

After the constitution and bylaws were adopted, George A. Chapman, chairman of the nominating committee, presented these nominations and the election of the ticket was unanimous.

The officers are as follows: President, Dr. Norman H. Probasco; first vice president, J. Herbert Case; second vice president, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan; treasurer, Alfred M. Day; secretary, John G. MacLaughlin; board of governors, Reuben Knox, James D. Macnab, N. Douglas Drake, Kenneth Robbie, J. Henry Crane, George F. White, Walter C. Dobbins, Stephen B. Joseph, Frank W. Jones and Edward T. Wilson. The board met after the meeting and elected these men as additional members: Charles W. McCutchen, Alex. Gilbert, George A. Chapman, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, and Gifford Cooley.

The new president then took the chair, thanking the members for the honor conferred. He first read an invitation from the Men's Club, of the Congregational church, inviting the new organization to attend its meeting to be held Tuesday night, January 10. The invitation was accepted and a large delegation will attend. President Probasco will appoint the committees within a short time. Arrangements will be made to have some form of entertainment for the first meeting of the club on Monday night, February 13.

Church Will be Demolished.

Within a few days the Filmore Baptist church property, recently purchased by Alex Kane, will be no more. Mr. Kane has decided to tear down the structure and he will use the property for the storage of lumber and mason's materials.

—George Gayle, of Vine street, who has charge of the wagon delivery at the H. E. Gayle Hardware Company store, froze two of his fingers and one of his feet while delivering goods during the recent cold snap.

AMUSEMENTS.

Many European novelties are announced to make their first appearance at Proctor's during the coming year. The most prominent among these being "Zutka," an act which has caused a great sensation at the London Hippodrome, where it has already been seen for several months. Another important European specialty is the Phono-Bioscope, a combination of the motion picture machine and the phonograph, invented by a German, Herr Noggrath, which promises to cause a great sensation, and which is said to be the best machine of its kind ever invented. Chassino, the renowned shadowgraphist, whose wonderful performances have aroused the curiosity even of the most skeptical, will also be seen at Proctor's shortly, offering many newly developed tricks in that line. The Moniere Sisters, Europe's greatest female bar performers; the six Peri Sisters, singers and dancers, who come direct from their European successes, and many other novelties which have taken Europe by storm, will in due time be seen in America, and, as usual, of course, for the first time, on Proctor programmes.

Tucker Listened to Victim's Father Without Emotion.

DR. MEAD TOLD OF CRUEL WOUNDS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 6.—In a voice that frequently trembled with emotion and unable to keep from his eyes the tears that persisted in welling, Edward Page, the aged father of Mabel Page, the Weston woman who was stabbed to death in her home, told to a jury the tragic story of the discovery of his daughter's death. Charles L. Tucker, the Auburndale youth, who is on trial for the murder of Miss Page, listened intently to the old man's narrative, but never betrayed the slightest sign of emotion.

The father's testimony had been awaited with interest, as it had been expected that the telling of his story would be one of the dramatic incidents of the trial. The aged witness was a pathetic figure on the stand, where in spite of his nearly eighty years he remained standing for two hours, stolidly refusing to be seated.

As the witness referred to the fact that when he left his home on the morning of the murder his daughter bade him farewell "in her usual affectionate manner" his voice broke, and it was a moment before he could proceed. The same thing happened when he described his return home and the finding of his daughter's body.

Under cross examination evidences of grief gave way to anger, and when asked whether his daughter was a modest woman the witness straightened, his bent form, threw his head back, gazed straight at his questioner and refused to answer. Not until convinced that no reflection upon the character of his daughter was intended would he reply, and then he said impressively, "Superlatively modest."

The rest of the session was devoted to the technical testimony of Dr. Julian A. Mead, the medical examiner, who performed the autopsy. He said that death was caused by three deep stab wounds and that in all probability Miss Page lived about two minutes after she had received the first of the four wounds on her body and that a superficial wound in the throat was undoubtedly inflicted during a struggle with her assailant. In witness' opinion criminal assault was not the motive.

Every seat in the courtroom was occupied, the spectators including many women.

Dr. Mead declared that a knife blade, broken in three pieces, shown him by the district attorney was the one found in Tucker's house and that it fitted the wounds in Mabel Page's body. The witness identified a blood stained waist as that worn by Miss Page.

Considerable time was devoted to questions concerning reasons for the small amount of blood appearing externally on Miss Page's body. This was accounted for by the fact that the bleeding was internal.

The witness testified that there were no signs of an indecent assault having been made on Miss Page.

On redirect examination the witness said that he did not consider that Mabel Page's wounds could have been self inflicted. The wounds indicated that the instrument used had only one cutting edge.

Dr. H. B. Frost, the physician who was summoned to the Page house on the afternoon that Miss Page's body was discovered, described the condition of the body and the nature of the wounds that were first noted. He covered practically the same ground as did Dr. Mead during the early part of the latter's examination.

Police Suspect Fake Story.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The police of Staten Island are skeptical of the story told by Samuel Sullivan, who was found unconscious in the street at Arlington and who said he had been assaulted by an Italian, who threw a cloth over his head and rendered him unconscious by the use of some anaesthetic. It was at first supposed that Sullivan had been stabbed, as he was bleeding, but the doctors at the hospital found that he bore six scratches, any of which might have been made by a large pin, and that none of them was deeper than an eighth of an inch.

Yellow Fever at Havana.

HAVANA, Jan. 6.—The steamer Dora, from Colon and Panama, has brought here 111 passengers, three of whom, ill with what may prove to be yellow fever, have been taken to the detention hospital. The other passengers have been sent to the Mariel lighters and quarantined. The ship's crew will be examined twice daily.

Rea to Succeed Baldwin.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—It was reported in New York last night that the presidency of the Long Island railroad, made vacant by the death of William H. Baldwin, Jr., will be offered to Samuel Rea, now fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. Rea, who is in Philadelphia, declined to discuss the report.

A Well Acted Poor Play.

FLAGSHIP IS LOST.

Rojestvensky's Battleship Reported Foundered.

SUNK OFF COAST OF MADAGASCAR.

Russian Admiral and Crew of 740 Men May Never Answer Recall to Russia Which Was About to Be Sent.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—A St. Petersburg special telegram this morning says that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's flagship, the battleship Kniaz Souvaroff, has struck a rock and foundered off the island of Madagascar.

The vice admiral's division of the Russian second Pacific squadron, consisting of five battleships, three cruisers, two transports and a hospital ship, was last reported to be anchored in the roadstead of Sainte Marie, an island on the east coast.

The Kniaz Souvaroff was built at St. Petersburg in 1902 and was of 13,516 tons displacement. Her armament was of the Russian Krupp pattern and consisted of four twelve-inch, twelve six-inch, twenty three-inch, twenty three-pounder and six one-pounder guns. She had six torpedo tubes. She carried a crew of 740 officers and men.

Advices from an official source at St. Petersburg say that orders will be sent to the Russian second Pacific squadron, now gathered at the island of Madagascar, to return to European waters.

A report received at Tokyo from General Nogi's headquarters largely increases the figures of the surrendered garrison and intimates that the force handed over to the Japanese at Port Arthur will be 32,000, exclusive of 15,000 or 16,000 sick and wounded, making a rough total of 48,000.

Reports received up to date are as follows: Eight generals, 4 admirals, 57 colonels and majors, 100 captains and commanders, 531 army captains and lieutenants, 200 naval lieutenants and naval officials, 99 army officials, 109 surgeons, 20 chaplains; of the rank and file of the army, 22,434; of the rank and file of the navy, 4,500; army noncombatants, 3,645; naval noncombatants, 500; total, 32,207. Besides these there are about 15,000 or 16,000 sick and wounded in the hospitals.

St. Petersburg dispatches say that Emperor Nicholas has returned to Tsarskoe Selo, fifteen miles south of St. Petersburg, from Minsk.

An extraordinary council will be held at Tsarskoe Selo immediately, and the whole situation will be reviewed. General Kuropatkin has been called upon to telegraph his opinion of the situation at the front, which cannot be disregarded in considering the future.

Emperor Nicholas has received the reports of M. Witte, Finance Minister Kokovsoff and Minister of Justice Muravieff, representing the committee of ministers, in regard to the progress of the work of drafting the reform measures. Subsequently M. Witte lunched with his majesty and had a long conference with him.

There is evidence that the revolutionary agitators have decided to take every advantage of the government's position to compel the summoning of a national assembly, and they are beginning to redouble their efforts. The newspapers, despite the punishments inflicted on them, are speaking out with great boldness.

Seemingly reckless of the consequences, they are using every pretext for savage criticism of bureaucracy. The zemstvos, in defiance of the government's note of warning, continue to memorialize the throne for the programme adopted at the meeting of the zemstvos' delegates here. Consequently, in spite of the loud protestations of the official world that peace is impossible, the opinion is held by exceedingly shrewd observers that the government may be forced to conclude peace with Japan in order to have free hands to deal with the internal situation. With increasing complications M. Witte, president of the ministerial council, looms up larger as the strong man to whom the emperor will turn in the present crisis.

Guns as Agricultural Implements.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 6.—Captain Orlan Cullen, an American, arrived on the steamer Kanagwa. He left Triest early in November by the Austrian Lloyd steamer Gisela with a number of heavy guns for Japan manifested as agricultural implements. Some of these guns arrived at the front in time to do service from Two Hundred and Three Meter hill.

A Six Year Presidential Term.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. — Senator Bailey has submitted to the senate a proposed amendment to the constitution fixing the term of the president at six years and making him ineligible for re-election. The text of the amendment follows: "The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States, who shall hold his office during a term of six years, and, together with the vice president, chosen for the same term."

Got More Pay and Shorter Hours.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 6.—The brewery workers of the upper part of Luzerne county last night got an increase of from 50 cents to $1 a day and a decrease in hours of from one to four per day. There would have been a strike today if the demands had not been granted. About 500 men are affected.

Biblical Reason the Only Grounds.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Jan. 6.—A bill was introduced in the state legislature repealing all divorce laws and re-enacting the law of twenty-one years ago which made the Biblical reason the only ground for absolute divorce.

LADY CHARLOT.

Winning Favorite In Fifth Race Outclassed the Field.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6.—Lady Charlot, who outclassed her company and won with the utmost ease, was the only winning favorite. The track was fast.

Though the weather was very cloudy and threatening, there was a splendid attendance at the course. There was a good card, which promised racing of an interesting sort and afforded chances to lucky players to gather up a bank roll. Summary:

First Race.—Mrs. Bob, first; Green Gown, second; Jade, third.

Second Race.—Lineal, first; Light Note, second; Harpoon, third.

Third Race.—Ascot Belle, first; Kittle Platt, second; Flight, third.

Fourth Race.—Monte, first; Pawtucket, second; No Trumper, third.

Fifth Race.—Lady Charlot, first; Mint Bed, second; Noveta, third.

Sixth Race.—Revelle, first; Formaster, second; Arachne, third.

New Records at Ascot.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—Three new records were made at Ascot as follows: Emperor of India, one mile and seventy yards in 1:44; Cruzador, six furlongs in 1:12¼, and Cerro Santa, six and one-half furlongs in 1:20. The track was lightning fast and favorites were generally successful. Patsy Brown was the only outsider to upset calculations.

Spring Racing Entries.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—The entries for the Brooklyn and Suburban handicaps were announced by the racing secretaries of the Brooklyn and Coney Island Jockey clubs. With one or two far distant points to be heard from, thirty-eight horses have been named for the Brooklyn and forty-nine for the Suburban.

Two Favorites Won.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—Only two favorites won at Oakland. Mocorito, at 4 to 1, beat the favorite, Mimo, by three-quarters of a length. Robert Mitchell almost lost his field, winning by nine lengths. Another upset was Sad Sam, who won from Mansard in a fierce drive.

Decks Cleared at Denver.

DENVER, Jan. 6.—The Colorado legislature commenced to do things today. When the legislature convened this morning the decks were cleared, the battle flags were up and in both house and senate ninety-nine gunners stood by an equal number of oratorical siege guns prepared for action. The first struggle was over the choice of a presiding officer for the joint session. The rules provide that the lieutenant governor, as presiding officer of the senate, shall take precedence over the speaker of the house when the two bodies sit together. The lieutenant governor holds the opinion that the courts are the proper place for the adjustment of political contests, and an effort may be made to induce or force him to give way to Speaker Dickson.

Train Buried in Snow.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Stalled in a deep drift in the Shinnecock hills for more than twenty hours, the passengers on a Long Island train were freed from their position, which from the lack of food had become almost perilous in nature, when the train was dug out of the snow and proceeded on its way west. Some of the passengers during the night had left the stalled train and, wading through drifted snow for five miles, made their way back here. But some of them feared this ordeal and preferred staying on the train. The crew had their lunches with them, and they divided the small portion of food with the passengers who remained.

Ripley Wants a Rehearing.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—President E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe road has wired the interstate commerce commission asking for a rehearing in the now famous Colorado Fuel and Iron company case. His purpose, as indicated in a statement made later, is to endeavor to clear his railway of charges of lawlessness and to give Secretary of the Navy Paul Morton an opportunity to answer his critics. At a late hour last night Mr. Ripley had not received a reply from the commission, but there is little doubt that the request will be granted and an early date set for the hearing.

Dealers Are Shoveling Coal.

LYNN, Mass., Jan. 6.—Two unsuccessful efforts were made to induce the striking coal team drivers to submit the differences with their employers to arbitration. The strikers successively refused to permit first the state board and then a local committee to interfere. Last night pickets were stationed near the coal sheds. A number of the local shoe factories shut down for a few hours owing to a lack of coal, but later were supplied. Clerks, checkers and even the dealers themselves shoveled coal.

"Norway Slim" the Robber.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 6.—Charles Nor, alias Charles Norway, alias "Norway Slim," one of the alleged yeggmen arrested here a few weeks ago, was before United States Commissioner Rogers and committed to the custody of United States Marshal Langhammer. Nor was identified as one of the men who robbed the Brookland (D. C.) postoffice. Stamps valued at $139 were stolen. The grand jury of the District of Columbia has indicted "Norway Slim."

Greenman Will Succeed Jayne.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—Dr. Horace Jayne, director of the Wistar institute of anatomy biology, University of Pennsylvania, will resign at a meeting of the institute next Wednesday. Dr. Milton J. Greenman, the assistant director, will succeed Dr. Jayne.

TARIFF REVISION.

Governor Douglas' Message to Massachusetts House.

COST OF LIVING UP 38 PER CENT.

Recommends Direct Vote of People For or Against Franchises, Kind Treatment For Poor, Leniency Toward Unemployed.

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—In his message to the Massachusetts legislature Governor William L. Douglas declared against the present tariff laws, urging immediate relief and stating that the present high prices of leather are weighing heavily upon Massachusetts' greatest industry. He recommended the removal of the duty on hides as necessary to relieve present conditions.

The principal needs as outlined in the message were revision of tariff laws, including removal of duties on hides.

Direct vote of the people to determine whether franchises shall be granted.

Kind treatment for beggars instead of severe punishment.

Leniency toward unemployed found loitering instead of arrest.

That those convicted of minor offenses should not stand committed to prison because of inability to pay fine.

His message was in part as follows:

"Since the passage of the present tariff law, in 1897, the cost of living has increased about 38 per cent. As prices have not risen half as much in England since 1897 it is fair to suppose that a large part of the increased cost of living in this country is due to the tariff law.

"Because of her isolated condition as to materials and food supplies Massachusetts feels the burden of tariff taxes more than most other states. Against these taxes she is now vigorously protesting.

"Whether relief from these tariff taxes be granted to us through legislation reducing tariff duties or through reciprocal trade treaties with Canada and other countries is less important than that it be immediate.

"To determine as accurately as possible the nature and extent of the great injury which, as I believe, is inflicted upon our commonwealth by excessive tariff taxes, to suggest a remedy or remedies and to put this knowledge before our citizens and our representatives in congress, I ask the general court authority to appoint a commission to inquire into and report upon the effect of the present tariff laws upon Massachusetts' industries.

"The present high and rapidly advancing prices of leather are weighing heavily upon Massachusetts' greatest industry, that of boots and shoes. So great has been the advance in the cost of making shoes that manufacturers must soon increase their prices or use cheaper and inferior materials and thus reduce the quality of their goods. The small margin for profits in many establishments and the difficulty of holding trade if the prices of goods are advanced or their quality cheapened causes great anxiety to many of our manufacturers. Confronted by these conditions, the prompt removal of the duty on hides is necessary to relieve our boot and shoe manufacturers from a most distressful condition.

"If the people are given the right by direct vote to determine whether franchises shall be granted and how within legal limitations they shall be exercised the seekers and holders of such franchises will be compelled to meet the popular requirement.

"There seems to be an unreasonable provision in the law for the unemployed which deserves correction. When without work they loiter on the highways they may be imprisoned therefor, while if they beg for food to keep them alive they are likewise subject to punishment. Such laws seem barbarous and inhuman, and different methods of treatment are demanded.

"I believe that unfortunates, the hungry, the unemployed and the intoxicated should not be taken to a cell when a door of charity is open to them and improvements may be hoped for without imprisonment. Some discretion may also be vested in the police to take offenders to their homes rather than to cells and even to release them under proper safeguards from appearance in court."

Gillespie Sentenced For Life.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 6, 1905.

The Czar of Russia has recalled the Baltic fleet and the English fishermen will act accordingly and keep out of the way.

Congratulations to Captain J. Frank Hubbard on his election for the seventeenth time as director of the Union County Board of Freeholders. He richly deserves the honor.

There is no reason why the Plainfield Board of Trade should not become an active body for the welfare of the city. The addresses made by representative men at the meeting last night showed that they are anxious to promote the interests of the city and borough. All that is needed is for them to attend the meetings more regularly than in the past.

HUGE IRON GIRDERS IN NEW HIGH SCHOOL

BIG BEAMS PLACED IN POSITION YESTERDAY.

The second of the two sixty-two-foot plate and lattice girders which are designed to support the roof of the new High School was placed in position yesterday afternoon under the supervision of Captain William Hand. The preparations took many hours; more than a half-mile of rope being used in guying the shear-leg to which the tackle was secured and in addition to this, both girders had to be skidded up a pair of timbers eight by fourteen inches in size and about thirty feet long. This was necessary to get them into the building.

The actual time for hoisting, after all was ready, was thirty minutes for the first and thirty-one minutes for the second. At each end, the girders have a bearing surface on the wall of one square foot. They weigh five tons apiece and required two cars to carry them from the works to this city. Each one is made up of over fifty separate pieces of steel and contains several hundred rivets.

With these giant beams in place, they are the largest ever placed in this city, the new school begins to take on a more definite form and material is being deliver to enter the construction of the ornamental cornice and pilasters which will set off the exterior of the structure. These ornamental pieces are of artificial stone and are carted here from Metuchen to save on the freight charges. A consignment of over thirty tons of this material is being hauled over at present and stacked on the lot.

WESTFIELD CLUB WINS THREE GAMES FROM PARKS

LOCAL TEAM AN EASY PREY IN CENTRAL BOWLING LEAGUE MATCH.

In three straight games the Park bowlers were defeated by the Westfield team in the Central Journal Bowling League last night at Westfield. Barlow, of the Park Club, was high man, his score being 235. He was the only one who reached the 200 mark on the Plainfield team. Condit, of the Westfield Club, had a good average, making over 200 in the last two games.

This was the score of the match:

PARK CLUB.
Barlow	154	235	166
Townsend	185	171	182
Willis	156	155	117
Hegeman	145	130	131

WESTFIELD CLUB.
Smith	191	146	175

PARK CLUB FOURTH IN BOWLING TOURNAMENT

LOCAL TEAM IS ROOLING MUCH BETTER THAN LAST SEASON.

The Journal Bowling League tournament, of which the Park Club, of North Plainfield, is a member, is now well underway and a sufficient number of games have been rolled to give those interested a fair idea of the relative strength of the seven teams.

Roselle Casino leads the league with ten games won and two lost. Cranford is second with eight wins and four defeats, while Westfield is third with five wins and four defeats. The Park Club aggregation holds fourth position with four victories and five defeats. Then follows Elizabeth, Jersey City and Newark Bay in the order named.

Mooney, of Elizabeth, holds the individual record of 237, and the Westfield team leads with the team score of 946. The averages show some good work; Mulford and Howe, of the Roselle team, leading, the latter with twice the number of games, being less than a point behind. Both have good leads over the next man, F. O. Ball, of the Park Club, and Mooney, of Elizabeth, is fourth.

The individual records of the Park bowlers, showing the number of games rolled with the average is as follows: Ball, 9, 177; William McCutchen, 9, 164.8; Townsend, 9, 163; Barlow, 9, 162.6; Willis, 9, 155.4. The local team is rolling a much better game than last season in The Daily Press Bowling League tournament and while the present tournament is still young they hope to get close to the top before long. However, Roselle is a strong favorite, its team devoting considerable time to practice and besides some of its members are numbered among the best bowlers in this part of the State.

FORCING YOUNG WOMAN TO PAY OBLIGATION

SCHOOL TEACHER IS SUED FOR ANOTHER'S RENT.

Before Supreme Court Commissioner Isaac P. Runyon yesterday, there was a hearing in the case of Miss Anna C. Sisty, of Dunellen, against Miss Emma Perrine, a Jersey City school teacher, to enforce the payment of rent for a house at Dunellen occupied by G. Sumner Smith, brother-in-law of Miss Perrine. The latter went security for the payment of the rent, but she afterward claimed that she was unable to do this as her salary would not allow it, in addition to keeping her mother and herself.

Justice vonMinden, who represents the plaintiff, secured a judgment against G. Sumner Smith last July, but he could collect nothing so he instituted a suit against Miss Perrine. She refused to recognize letters alleged to have been written by her in which she guaranteed that Smith would pay the rent. Then Mr. vonMinden secured a writ from Justice Gummere bringing Miss Perrine into supplimentary proceedings before Commissioner Runyon. Yesterday afternoon Mr. vonMinden appeared before Justice Gummere for the purpose of securing an order to set apart a portion of the defendant's salary to pay the judgment.

"MAYOR BILL" SMITH A CHICKEN FANCIER

FAIR HEIR IN A NEW VENTURE TO MAKE A FORTUNE.

"Mayor" Bill Smith, of New Market, commonly known as one of the Fair heirs, having given up the automobile business, has now launched forth in a new enterprise, that of raising chickens. He has purchased two hundred prize incubator chickens which took a gold medal award at the Poultry Show in Madison Square Garden, this week, and he intends to breed chickens for exhibition purposes next year.

Mr. Smith is having a large hennery constructed at his home in New Market and it will be equipped in modern style. Hot water heat will be used to keep the place at an even temperature and the chicken fancier hopes to be able to do a large business in selling eggs from his high-priced fowls.

COLLEGE SONGS.

Oshkosh Men to Make Them a Feature.

"There is always a fascination about college songs, especially those particular songs which speak for the college, and which mean so much to the college man," says an Oshkosh man. "Such songs," he declares, "when heard, are a gathering call to both the alumni and undergraduates, and brings out the best that is in a man, for after all in a way a mans alma mata is like his country, for it is there his real patriotism is first aroused. It is therefore not surprising that even as a nation has a national anthem, so does a university have its representative song which appeals to collegemen in only a lesser degree than his country's anthem."

"It is certainly inspiring," says he, "to hear a gathering of male voices singing their college songs—it should be more inspiring to hear such a gathering singing a medley of songs representing different colleges, particularly when among them could be found graduates of each college."

On January 20 and 21, at the Casino, Plainfielders will have an opportunity of judging for themselves the effect of such an unusual medley, for among the many good songs "Oshkosh" will offer, will be found one particularly arranged, combining songs of the well known universities, to which Plainfield has sent so many representatives. Tickets may be had at Armstrong's drug store, and it would be well to secure seats at once as there are only a few left. Owing to the seating arrangement, however, the seats are all good and no one need fear the sides of the house, as the stage is in full view.

Brothers Die on Same Day.

Harry and Raymond Higgins, cousins of Miss Alice Higgins, of West Front street, died at their home in Barleysheaf, N. J., on Thursday from spinal meningitis, believed to have been contracted while caring for a horse sick with that disease. One young man died within a few hours of the other. The circumstance has caused an unusual interest among the medical fraternity. The young men were sons of Joseph Higgins, a well-known blacksmith at Barleysheaf, a brother of J. B. Higgins, of West Front street, and they worked about their father's shop. The funeral services will be held from the late home tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

—Within a short time Greer & Greenwood, the men's furnishers of East Front street, will put a laundry wagon into service.

—Frank L. Jones, of 305 West Fifth street, has taken a position with the Courier-News and will operate one of the two typesetting machines to be installed in that office.

—The following local representatives of the International Correspondence Schools have resigned their positions for more renumerative ones: George W. Wieda, A. L. Wadsworth, A. Smith, George Dean and W. L. Heibert.

A SAILOR WHIPS BIG DEVIL FISH

ALL ALONE A KANAKA TACKLES A DEMON OF THE DEEP.

ENWRAPPED BY SIX OF THE TENTACLES

Sandwich Islander Puts All of Them Out by Biting the Monster's Eyes—Was Exhausted When the Fight Was Over.

New York.—D. J. Taber, an ordinary seaman on the Bath ship Benjamin Bowall, who has arrived here, described a unique and terrific fight between a Sandwich Islander and a devil fish, of which he was a witness at Waha, on Punalun island, where the ship was in the Hawaiian group. So far as known it is the only recorded conflict between an octopus and a man armed with no weapon except such as nature has given him.

"The steamer Mauna Loa having touched at Waha in her round of the islands, one of the Kanaka sailors saw the octopus alongside," said Taber to a New York World reporter.

"He jumped overboard and grabbed the devil fish, which was of great size. It didn't take the octopus long to wake up, and in a second two of the long arms had the nearly naked Kanaka in a tight hold around his legs.

"The sailor gripped the two tentacles near the beak of the cuttlefish. The only weapons the man had left were his teeth. He bit at the big eyes of the beast, which quivered, swelled and heaved with rage.

"Drawing himself up as much as he could, the sailor tried to grip the horrible, staring, glassy eyes of the creature in his teeth. He made his attacks first at the right eye so as not to waste effort in changing from one to the other, and if he should wound one eye he could follow up his advantage and finish the job before gripping the other eye.

"Suddenly a fifth long and winding arm with two rows of suckers shot around the man's waist, placing him in a viselike grip. Had the Kanaka not seized the tentacles next the head of the demon at the beginning of the duel it would have been all day with the sailor at this stage of the battle.

"The human enemy of the cuttlefish had not only to fight with all his strength and nerve, but also to hold his breath at such times as the enraged jelly monster, with its powerful muscles and vibrating, wart covered membranes drew him beneath the surface. It was a submarine battle, in which no human being could have engaged but one who had been brought up in the water from the age of three years.

"The tentacles of the devil fish still at liberty and which had been drawn up beneath the body, were swinging and wriggling as if awaiting an opening to fasten upon some other portion of the Kanaka's body, held in the embrace of the sea devil.

"The clasp of the octopus around the man afforded him a purchase with his neck and teeth, for he didn't have to bother about his footing.

"At last he succeeded in seizing the right eye of the octopus between his teeth, but could not retain his hold upon the wounded organ.

"The madder the devil-fish grew the bigger and more bulging its optics grew, giving a better mark for the teeth. The innumerable suckers on its tentacles were drawing upon the strength and vitality of the Kanaka, while its parrot beak was seeking to imbed itself in the man's breast.

"As the sixth arm, slimy and quivering, made to encircle the shoulders of its antagonist, the Kanaka fastened his jaws again on the right bulging and bleeding optic and completely disabled it.

"Quick to follow up this advantage, the man-fish summoned all his energy and tore at the left eye, repeatedly, missing and biting it. The nerve centers of the cuttlefish were so nearly paralyzed that the seventh and eighth tentacles could not be brought into action. By a last Herculean effort the Sandwich Islander seized the left eye and tore it out bodily, upon which the monster relaxed and its tentacles were disengaged and hung limp, the sailor, exhausted, having to be hauled aboard the steamer.

"The octopus measured 15 feet across."

A LARGE CONTRACT.

Pan-American Congress Favors Mosquito's Extermination.

PANAMA, Jan. 6.—The Pan-American medical congress opened here with a paper by Dr. Nicholas Senn of Illinois, at the conclusion of which Dr. Martinez, a Cuban delegate, read a paper by Dr. C. F. Finlay, chief of the department of health and sanitation at Havana, on yellow fever. The theory was advanced in this paper that the mosquito is the only source of yellow fever infection.

The paper was discussed by Drs. Purnell of Mississippi, Hughes of Missouri, Thomas of Louisiana and Cook and Stern of Panama, who took ground against the theory, and by Drs. Martinez, Gorgas and Balch, favoring it. On motion of Dr. Cassaignac of Louisiana the congress unanimously declared that, "considering the mosquito is the chief if not the only means of contagion of yellow fever, it is resolved to recommend to the countries represented at this congress to exterminate mosquitoes."

The discussion will be continued.

BODY WAS CREMATED.

Funeral Services of W. H. Baldwin, Jr., at Boston.

BOSTON, Jan. 6.—When a special train bearing the body of the late William H. Baldwin, Jr., the financier, who died Tuesday at Locust Grove, N. Y., arrived at the Forest Hills station of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad the funeral services were held. W. F. Potter, vice president and general manager of the Long Island Railroad company, of which Mr. Baldwin was president, accompanied the body.

The services were held in the cemetery chapel in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives of the deceased. Mr. Baldwin's body was cremated.

Former Boarder Suspected of Murder.

SOMERSVILLE, Conn., Jan. 6.—Mrs. Cooler, a Polish woman, who kept a boarding house here, was found murdered in her kitchen, her battered head being covered over by a cheesecloth bag. It is alleged that she was paid a sum of money by boarders and that a former boarder was seen to leave this place for Thompsonville an hour before the body of Mrs. Cooler was found.

Union Beer at Scranton.

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 6.—The employees of the breweries in the district from Scranton to Nanticoke declared last night a strike in behalf of a new scale. The strikers have declared all local stocked beer "unfair" and will themselves bring union beer from other places.

JEWELRY FANCIES.

Louis and Directoire Jewelry Designs in Vogue.

In the shops are to be found the daintiest kinds of letters and monograms worked by hand in elaborate fashion to apply on sheer lingerie. When the material is cut from under the letter in a deft way the appearance is that of the initial being worked upon the garment.

In jewelry almost everything is very simple. Hatpins are a reproduction of some flower in enamel or beautiful old paste to wear with the directoire hats or some conventional design in exquisite Italian enamels. There are beautiful specimens in buckles, clasps and pendants in these enamels set in dull platinum.

MUSHROOM FELT HAT.

Jewelers are copying designs of the Louis XV. and XVI. periods not only in diamonds, but in a judicious mixture of precious gems of different colors.

Really elegant women are wearing very little jewelry and never commit the error of appearing in a tailor made gown with anything but the severest type of gem workmanship as an ornament to their attire.

There is a revival of the narrow moire ribbon with a single diamond or pearl slide. The fine platinum chain with a single gem suspended is still in vogue.

The practical picture hat illustrated is of mushroom felt bound with brown velvet around the brim. The rather high crown has a deep plain band of brown velvet. A panache of small shaded brown tips decorates the side of the hat.

FASHIONS IN FUR.

Elegant Pelts of the Season—The Latest In Hand Bags.

The old fashioned tight cape reaching to the waist is with us again, with the addition of long, wide stole ends finished with tails or fringe.

The shawl cape of some elegant pelt is a favorite shape for older women. It is soft and comfortable and fits around the shoulders as snugly as a Paisley shawl.

Some of the large muffs have a kind of "collar" or flat frill at either end and are so soft that they could be crushed up and put in a pocket.

Black Persian lamb is often trimmed with chinchilla, mink or sable, and the mixing of furs is an important feature in the world of pelts. Krimmer and opossum are two old world pelts that have been revived this season, although these old furs are not always recognized in their new dressings.

Dainty little jackets, loose and graceful, coming a little below the waist, are made of soft white taffeta and elaborately braided. They are very smart for theater wear when accompanied by a skirt of a light shade.

The very smartest hand bags of leather match my lady's belt stock or jacket trimming and are without handles, two rather awkward pieces of leather at the top of the bag doing duty in this respect. The bags are carried slightly tucked under the arms.

Altogether charming is this dainty evening frock of silver tissue. The full, floppy skirt is trimmed at the knees with an odd design made of lace motifs set between upright bands of silver gauze.

The gauze and lace outline the decollete neck and form a bolero about the bodice. The sleeves are tiny apologies of lace and silver.

By Irving Bacheller

Author of "Eben Holden," "Darrel of the Blessed Isles," Etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by Lothrop Publishing Co.)

After the posting of the guard, some gathered about my father and began to cheer him. It nettled the veteran. He would take no honor for his defeat of the clever man, claiming the latter had no chance to fight.

"He had no foot-room with the boy one side and D'ri t' other," said he. "I had only to drive him back."

My father and the innkeeper and D'ri and I sat awhile, smoking, in the warm glow of the bonfire.

"You're a long-headed man," said I, turning to my comrade.

"Kind o' thought they 'd be trouble," said D'ri. "So I tuk 'n ast yer father t' come over hossback with hef a dozen good men. They got three more et the tavern here, an' lay off 'n thet air bateau, waitin' fer the moose call. I cal'lated I did n't want no more slidin' over there 'n Canady."

After a little snicker, he added: "Hed all t' wus good fer me the las' time. 'S a leetle tew swift."

"Gets rather scary when you see the bushes walk," I suggested.

"Seen whut wus up 'fore ever they med a move," said D'ri. "Them air bushes did n't look jest es nat'ral es they 'd orter. Bet ye they 're some o' them bushwhackers o' Fitzgibbon. Got loops all over their uniforms, so ye c'u'd stick 'em full o' boughs. Jerushy! never see nuthin' s' joemightful cur'us 'n all my born days—never." He stopped a breath, and then added: "Could n't be nuthin' cur'user 'n thet."

CHAPTER XXI.

We hired team and wagon of the innkeeper, and a man to paddle upriver and return with the horses.

I had a brief talk with our tall prisoner while they were making ready.

"A word of business, your lordship," I said as he came out, yawning, with the guard.

"Ah, well," said he, with a shiver, "I hope it is not so cold as the air."

"It is hopeful; it is cheering," was my answer.

"And the topic?"

"An exchange—for the ladies."

He thought a moment, slapping the dust off him with a glove.

"This kind of thing is hard on the trousers," he remarked carelessly. "I will consider; I think it could be arranged. Meanwhile, I give you my word of honor, you need have no worry."

We were off at daybreak with our prisoners; there were six of them in all. We put a fold of linen over the eyes of each, and roped them all together, so that they could sit or stand, as might please them, in the wagon-box.

"It's barbarity," said his lordship, as we put on the fold. "You Yankees never knew how to treat a prisoner."

"Till you learnt us," said D'ri, quickly. "Could n't never fergit thet lesson. Ef I hed my way 'bout you, I 'd haul ye up t' th' top o' thet air dead pine over yender, 'n' let ye slide down."

"Rather too steep, I should say," said his lordship, wearily.

"Ye would n't need no grease," said D'ri, with a chuckle.

We were four days going to the harbor. My father and his men came with us, and he told us many a tale, that journey, of his adventures in the old war. We kept our promise, turning over the prisoners a little before sundown of the 16th. Each was given a great room and every possible comfort. I arranged soon for the release of all on the safe return of the ladies.

In the evening of the 17th his lordship sent for me. He was a bit nervous, and desired a conference with the general and me. De Chaumont had been over to the headquarters that day in urgent counsel. He was weary of delay and planning an appeal to the French government. Gen. Brown was prepared to give the matter all furtherance in his power and sent quickly for the Englishman. They brought him over at nine o'clock. We uncovered his eyes and locked the door and "gave him a crack at the old Madeira," as they used to say, and made him as comfortable as might be at the cheery fireside of the general.

"I've been thinking," said his lordship, after a drink and a word of courtesy. I never saw a man of better breeding or more courage, I am free to say. "You may not agree it is possible, but anyhow, I have been trying to think. You have been decent to me. I don't believe you are such a bad lot, after all; and while I should be sorry to have you think me tired of your hospitality, I desire to hasten our plans a little. I propose an exchange of—of—"

He hesitated, whipping the ashes off his cigar.

"Well—first of confidence," he went on. "I will take your word if you will take mine."

"In what matter?" the general inquired.

"That of the ladies and their relief," said he. "A little confidence will—will—"

"Grease the wheels of progress?" the general suggested, smiling.

"Quite so," he answered lazily. "To begin with, they are not 30 miles away, if I am correct in my judgment of this locality."

There was a moment of silence.

"My dear sir," he went on presently, "this ground is quite familiar to me. I slept in this very chamber long ago. But that is not here nor there. Day after to-morrow, a little before midnight, the ladies will be riding on the shore pike. You could meet them and bring them out to a schooner, I suppose—if—"

He stopped again, puffing thoughtfully.

"If we could agree," he went on. "Now this would be my view of it: You let me send a messenger for the ladies. You would have to take them by force somehow; but, you know, I could make it easy—arrange the time and place, no house near, no soldiers, no resistance but that of the driver, who should not share our confidence—no danger. You take them to the boats and bring them over; but, first—"

He paused again, looking at the smoke-rings above his head in a dreamy manner.

"'First,'" my chief repeated.

"Well," said he, leaning toward him with a little gesture, "to me the word of a gentleman is sacred. I know you are both gentlemen. I ask for your word of honor."

"To what effect?" the general queried.

"That you will put us safely on British soil within a day after the ladies have arrived," said he.

"It is irregular and a matter of some difficulty," said the general. "Whom would you send with such a message?"

"Well, I should say some Frenchwoman could do it. There must be one here who is clever enough."

"I know the very one," said I, with enthusiasm. "She is as smart and cunning as they make them."

"Very well," said the general; "that is but one step. Who is to capture them and take the risk of their own heads?"

"D'ri and I could do it alone," was my confident answer.

"Ah, well," said his lordship, as he rose languidly and stood with his back to the fire. "I shall send them where the coast is clear—my word for that. Hang me if I fail to protect them."

"I do not wish to question your honor," said the general, "or violate in any way this atmosphere of fine courtesy; but, sir, I do not know you."

"Permit me to introduce myself," said the Englishman, as he ripped his coat-lining and drew out a folded sheet of purple parchment. "I am Lord Ronley, fifth earl of Pickford, and cousin of his most excellent majesty the king of England; there is the proof."

He tossed the parchment to the table carelessly, resuming his chair.

"Forgive me," said he, as the general took it. "I have little taste for such theatricals. Necessity is my only excuse."

"It is enough," said the other. "I am glad to know you. I hope sometime we shall stop fighting each other—we of the same race and blood. It is unnatural."

"Give me your hand," said the Englishman, with heartier feeling than I had seen him show, as he advanced. "Amen! I say to you."

"Will you write your message? Here are ink and paper," said the general.

His lordship sat down at the table and hurriedly wrote these letters:

"Prescott, Ontario, Nov. 17, 1813.

"To Sir Charles Gravleigh, The Weirs, above Landsmere, Wrentham, Frontenac County, Canada.

"My Dear Gravleigh: Will you see that the baroness and her two wards, the Misses de Lambert, are conveyed by my coach, on the evening of the 18th inst., to that certain point on the shore pike between Amsbury and Lakeside known as Burnt Ridge, there to wait back in the timber for my messenger? Tell them they are to be returned to their home, and give them my very best wishes. Lamson will drive, and let the bearer ride with the others. Very truly yours,

"RONLEY."

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

"Mme. St. Jovite, the bearer, is on her way to my house at Wrentham, Frontenac County, second concession, with a dispatch of urgent character. I shall be greatly favored by all who give her furtherance in this journey. Respectfully, etc.,

"RONLEY,

"Colonel of King's Guard."

For fear of a cipher, the general gave tantamount terms for each letter, and his lordship rewrote them.

"I thought the name St. Jovite would be as good as any," he remarked.

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS.

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the popular Unabridged thoroughly re-edited in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

HER TRUNKS OPENED.

Officials Clash Over Mrs. Chadwick at Cleveland Jail.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 6.—As the result of a clash between the federal and county authorities that has been on since Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick arrived in this city from New York as to who had jurisdiction over the prisoner's care while she is in the county jail the federal authorities last night definitely stated that they would assume such control under authority vested in them by a decision of the supreme court of the United States in a similar case in another state and which, they think, can be applied in this instance.

J. P. Dawley, her counsel, who is a very prominent lawyer, asserted the prerogative of his calling to see his client, but the powerful deputy marshal refused him entrance to the woman's corridor of the jail. Dawley was furious and said to the marshal that if he had half as much physical strength as he had determination he would throw the marshal out of the window.

The trunk belonging to Mrs. Chadwick was opened by Attorney Louis Grossman. The trunk contained only wearing apparel for Mrs. Chadwick, consisting of four dresses and an entire suit of moleskin, the whole being worth, Mr. Grossman thought, perhaps four or five thousand dollars.

Both a trunk and satchel which were carefully guarded while Mrs. Chadwick was in New York city have been opened and their contents examined by Mr. Grossman. The result shows nothing that will add materially to Mrs. Chadwick's assets.

COTTON IN CONGRESS.

Agricultural Department's Statistics Impugned by Georgia Members.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The government's cotton statistics as prepared by the agricultural department and census bureau formed the subject of an extended discussion in the house. Representative Livingston (Ga.) attacked the reliability of the government's estimates and charged that the inaccuracy of the figures had created a panic in the cotton market.

He called attention to the dissatisfaction which, he said, existed in the south over the government cotton statistics and said that the press of that section was ready to demand the abolition of the statistical bureau of the agricultural department.

The bill to improve currency conditions was further discussed, but an adjournment was taken without final action on it.

Talbot Presentment Withdrawn.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—J. Frederick Jenkinson of this city, one of the presenters of Bishop Talbot of the central Pennsylvania diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church, after a conference in New York with Herbert Noble and others, arrived here at 10:15 o'clock last night and handed to the Rev. Dr. W. B. Bodine, president of the board of inquiry, a paper withdrawing the presentment. The presenters reserve the right to draw up a new presentment based on charges contained in the one now withdrawn if Bishop Talbot does not himself ask for a trial. A copy of the withdrawal has been sent to Bishop Tuttle at St. Louis.

Trailing Negro With Bloodhounds.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 6. — Miss Alice Brightwell, a protege in the family of John T. Bate, a bank teller, was assaulted here by a negro in Mr. Bate's residence at Crescent Hill, a high class residence portion of Louisville. The young woman was badly injured. A detail of police was at once sent to the scene, and four officers with bloodhounds have taken up the trail of the negro. The Crescent Hill district is in a state of high excitement, and Captain Reilly of the Louisville police has given orders if the negro is found that he be brought to the county jail here instead of being taken to the police station.

General McLean Dead.

In 1861 he recruited the Seventy-fifth regiment, Ohio volunteers, and went to the war as its colonel. He served until peace was declared and after the second battle of Bull Run was made a brigadier general.

Senator Elsberg and Senator White of Syracuse are among those mentioned for the place.

BASKET BALL.

The Hope basketball team has no game scheduled for tonight.

In the Y. M. C. A.-P. H. S. game at the local gymnasium Monday evening, Paul Collier, the manager of the High School team, will play on the Y. M. C. A. aggregation against his own team.

At the present time the Plainfield High School seconds lead the Juvenile Basketball League, and the Leal's team is ahead in the Interscholastic matches. Those teams have not lost a game so far, and have defeated their opponents with comparative ease. The chances for the P. H. S. team to recover its former place as interscholastic champions of the city looks rather doubtful at present. Since the beginning of the year the team has lost its three best players. William Doane went first, on account of an accident, and Collier and Thompson have now joined the ranks of the has-beens.

Harry G. Thompson, for two years the captain of the Plainfield High School basketball team, will be obliged to keep out of the game for the present and perhaps for the rest of the season. In a game recently played, Thompson hurt his knee, and it has refused to heal. The temporary, as it is hoped, loss of the High School captain is a great handicap to the team, which is already at a disadvantage on account of Collier's inability to play. Of the varsity squad, these are the only players who are now left in the game: Theodore Gavett, Martin Stutsman and Stuart Freeman. Among the substitutes those most likely to have a show in the rest of the season are Vail, Bentley and Smith.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, and Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., will have a joint installation on Monday night.

Wm. Smith, as president; Wm. R. Morrison, as vice-president, and L. R. Niles as secretary and treasurer, are the new officers of Plainfield Typographical Union, elected Wednesday night.

District Deputy Supreme Archon John V. E. Vanderhoef, of the Improved Order Heptasophs, addressed a large public meeting of the Order at Morristown last night.

Crescent Company, No. 13, U. R. K. of P., will hold a special meeting this evening to prepare for its trip to Port Chester, N. Y., where on Saturday afternoon it will institute a new Company at that place.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., installed officers last night. Three candidates were initiated. Visitors from other lodges were present and a "spread" of crullers and coffee was followed by the distribution of cob pipes and pouches of tobacco, a genuine smoker filling up the latter part of the evening.

The Gesang and Turn Verein made these nominations last night: President, William Gartner; vice president, John Wirth; treasurer, Carl Felber and Louis Moralier; financial secretary, M. Menzenbach; corresponding secretary, A. Wolff and W. Keppler. Rudolph Spiegel was appointed janitor. Twenty-two members were added to the list and ten applications for membership received.

Iona Council, No. 14, D. of P., has installed the following officers at the meeting last night: Prophetess, Miss Mamie Clark; pocohontas, Mrs. Thomas Newton; wenonah, Miss Mamie Fitzsimmons; keeper of records, Mrs. Charles Holstein; collector of wampum, Mrs. Mattox; keeper of wampum, Mrs. Sadie Bowman; pohatan, John Ludgate; trustee, Miss Ella Sebring. The installation was in charge of Mrs. Charles Holstein, the keeper of records.

Noah Dove Encampment, No. 28, I. O. O. F., at its meeting last night, installed these officers: High priest, Henry Nischwitz; chief patriarch, John Becker; senior warden, John Kriney; junior warden, George Ludgate; recording scribe, S. H. Schlief; financial scribe, John Williams; treasurer, Arthur Case; trustees, J. F. Kettenring, Walter Smith and A. G. Barber.

The installation was in charge of District Deputy Grand Patriarch Schlief, who, in company with his staff of seven officers, attended the meeting and supervised the ceremony. Refreshments were served, and music and cigars helped to pass the time in a delightful manner.

Deputy Grand Chancellor Jeremiah VanWinkle and staff, installed these officers of Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., last night:

Chancellor commander, George Dean; vice chancellor, J. D. Anderson; prelate, T. C. Smith; keeper of records and seals, Frank Putnam; master of finance, H. J. Martin; master of exchequer, S. E. Humpston; inner guard, Harry Werner; outer guard, C. E. Harris.

Visitors were present from Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, and the meeting was further honored by the attendance of Past Chancelor Brown, of St. Chrysostom, No. 3, of Newark, who is a member of the State committee on law and supervision.

H. J. Martin in a neat speech, presented Harry Werner, the retiring past chancellor commander, with a handsome past chancellor's jewel. The evening was finished with a smoker.

Mrs. Stace Dead.

Mrs. Emily Stace, wife of James Stace, aged seventy-three years, died last night at her home, 218 Muhlenberg place. She was born in England and has lived in New Jersey about twenty-six years. She was an attendant at Hope chapel. Besides a husband, Mrs. Stace leaves a daughter living in Connecticut, a son, Charles Stace, of West Fifth street, and a son-in-law, George Leighs, of West Fourth street. The funeral services will be held from the home of her son, Charles Stace, 920 West Fifth street, on Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

The Scotch Plains bowling team took two games from Garwood on Lee's alleys at Scotch Plains, last night. The scores: Scotch Plains, 752, 771, 684. Garwood, 750, 637, 720.

DISRESPECT TO DEAD? ENRAGES COMMUTERS

HOAXED BY A WAX FIGURE IN BAGGAGE CAR.

Several Westfield commuters and a number of Plainfielders returning on the 7:30 train from New York last night became indignant at what to them seemed unwanton disrespect for a dead person. When the figure of a man apparently badly mangled and slung carelessly in a box, partially covered with burlap, was noticed in the baggage room, the report spread that there had been an accident in the Jersey City yards, and that the victim was being conveyed out of the county. This idea, spurred on by the baggage-master's jollying, in all probability still haunts the passengers who were terrified by the awful realization last night.

To the railroad men, however, the affair is a huge joke, for it is not often that they have the opportunity of conveying from New York to Philadelphia a well molded wax figure, and the enjoyment which the occasion had for them at the expense of enraged and sickened passengers will be the fruit for many an interesting yarn in the baggage room.

Two Westfield men were reported by the Westfield police to have rushed to the police station as soon as they reached home with the account of the matter, protesting that the authorities should interfere with such treatment of a mangled body. In this city the rumor that an accident had occurred on the road, and the tales of subsequent horror created more indignation.

The wax figure, according to the authorities, was shipped to Philadelphia, where it is intended for a museum.

LIBRARY FOR WESTFIELD.

Andrew Carnegie has offered $10,000 for a library for Westfield, on condition that the town provide a site and will agree to raise $1,000 a year for the support of the library. The offer was laid before the Town Council at its last meeting and a committee was appointed to consider it.

The Young Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist church, formerly taught by L. H. Biglow, Jr., is arranging to have a class-room for itself in the upper part of the church, away from the main Sunday-school room. Reuben Knox is now the teacher of the class and the membership is constantly increasing.

WHY ARE WINTER BIRDS GENERALLY BLUE?

CORRESPONDENT ASKS FOR INFORMATION FROM DAILY PRESS READERS.

Alexander Millar, of Madison avenue, secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad, in common with many other Plainfielders, is much interested in birds and he furnishes The Daily Press with the following communication relative to the color of winter birds:

Editor, The Daily Press:

I had no idea when planting the beautiful Japanese ivy (Ampelopsis Veitchii) a few years ago to cover the brick walls of our home that it would prove in winter an almost inexhaustible storehouse for our blue-bird neighbors, when the snow is on the ground and food supplies are scarce, but now hardly is the sun risen when bright flashes of blue converge on a convenient elm, and the dainty birds are ready for a berry—breakfast.

While sitting separately in the branches, as is their custom, the birds appear dejected and cold in spite of their handsome reddish brown furlike coats, worn open in front, to show the vest of silvery grey. Perhaps they are longing for the spring, or regretting that they did not accept the invitation of the catbird and the robin to make a winter trip to the sunny South! Hunger, however, stirs them up, and frequent visits are made to the vine with evident relish, some of our observers declaring they wash the berries down with snow! Can any of our lovers confirm this?

Why are so many of our winter birds blue? While watching the blue birds, here comes a blue-jay screeching and scolding over a crust he has secured, while down and up, and in and out among the branches a cheery nuthatch in garb of black, white and blue is gathering his morning meal. A downy woodpecker, brisk and business like, is eagerly at work, while the common sparrows are noisily gathering crumbs upon the snow. Here are five of our usual winter varieties, and out of these three are blue, or largely so.

Hoping to see some correspondence on this interesting question.

Alexander Millar.

On account of the Union watch-night service to be held at the Monroe Avenue church tonight, the Epworth House Library will not be open for the circulation of books.

BIG REALTY TRANSACTION

C. W. McCutchen, W. J. Buttfield and N. B. Smalley to Develope Property.

ROCKVIEW PARK

Fifty Acres in West End of North Plainfield Are Secured by the Syndicate—Means Much in the Improvement of the Borough.

William J. Buttfield, Charles W. McCutchen and Mayor Newton B. Smalley, all of the borough, have purchased the frontage of the property on West End avenue, extending from the three houses built by Norman C. Barnes, on the city side, to Stine's brook, beyond Mr. Buttfield's property.

The deal includes practically everything on West End avenue from the point mentioned in the city, except that owned by Mrs. Moore, lying between Henry Liefke's property and the brook.

The place will be known as Rockview Park. It is the intention of the new owners to make one of the finest parks and boulevards in the State, the details and plans for which are now being perfected.

The name is an appropriate one for that part of the borough and the great improvement to be made will interest the people of the West End of the city as well as the borough.

It will also mean the location of a new and substantial bridge across Green brook.

The tract includes fifty acres of valuable land in a desirable section.

MISS MAY SQUIRES TO WED M. D. SWEENEY

CEREMONY TO BE PERFORMED BY CITY JUDGE RUNYON THIS AFTERNOON.

Miss May Squires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren O. Squier, of Astor place, and Mathew D. Sweeney, son of Mrs. Margaret Sweeney, of Liberty street, will be quietly married this afternoon at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. City Judge William N. Runyon, a friend of the couple, will perform the ceremony in the presence of a small company of relatives and intimate friends.

The bride will be gowned in nuns veiling, trimmed with point lace and carry a shower bouquet of bride roses. She will be attended by Miss Edith Squier, her sister, who will wear a gown of silk mull and carry pink carnations. The best man will be B. Collins Firstbrook.

Following the ceremony an informal reception will be held. After a wedding journey the couple will reside in Brooklyn. Mr. Sweeney has just secured a position with Charles O. Miller, a New York auto supply house.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney are each twenty-two years of age. Mr. Sweeney has been an active member of Hope chapel. He is connected with Hope Y. M. A. and Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Knights of Pythias. On several occasions he has been a prominent figure in amateur minstrel performances given at Hope chapel and the Casino. He was formerly an employe at Potter Press Works, where he learned the trade of machinist and afterward he was engaged at the Plainfield Auto Garage Company's plant in West Second street. His wife has been active in the work at the Church of the Heavenly Rest. She has received many gifts of use and value from relatives and friends.

VOEHL ASKS DAMAGES FROM THE BOROUGH

LAWYER DECLARES TO COUNCIL THAT CLIENT WAS ILLEGALLY ARRESTED.

As a result of the arrest of Henry A. Voehl at the time of the scrap among some of his bakers, Isaac P. Runyon has been engaged to bring proceedings against North Plainfield and against Marshal Walter Smalley unless compensation for the alleged illegal arrest be made amicably. The following communication presented to the Council last night was referred to Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed:

January 6, 1905.

To the Honorable, the Mayor, and Common Council of the Borough of North Plainfield

I beg to inform your honorable body that Henry A. Voehl has consulted me respecting a claim for damages he has against the Borough and Officer Smalley and others for being twice illegally arrested on December thirty-first, last.

Both proceedings were not only unlawful, but unwarranted, and I have advised Mr. Voehl that before instituting any proceedings, I would give your honorable body an opportunity to confer with me through your legal representative with a view to some satisfactory adjustment of this matter. I would not take up the time of you gentlemen if I did not sincerely feel that a great wrong has been done Mr. Voehl and the time has come when the protection of the citizens of the borough demand a change in the machinery that deprives persons of the liberty guaranteed the most humble citizen by the Constitution of this State. Very respectfully,

Isaac P. Runyon.

"BOSEY" REITER WEDS MISS EDITH BURT TODAY

FOOTBALL STAR BECOMES HUSBAND OF POPULAR YOUNG WOMAN.

Miss Edith Burt, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Burt, and granddaughter of the late Chauncey Schaffer, of New York, and Howard Roland Reiter, of Philadelphia, will be married tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bride on West Seventh street. There will be about one hundred guests present. Rev. George Gillmore, pastor of the Congregational church at Rutland, Vermont, a classmate of the groom, will officiate.

"Bosey" Reiter as he is best known among his friends, is a graduate of Princeton and the Seminary. During the years of '96, '98 and '99 he was the half-back on the 'Varsity football team. In 1900 he received the degree of master of arts. Last season Mr. Reiter coached the football eleven at Wesleyan University.

Miss Burt is a graduate of the Plainfield High School, class '97, Wellesley College and the New York School of Expression. For three years she was a member of the faculty at the Seminary, being instructor in athletics. During the summer season both Miss Burt and Mr. Reiter were engaged as life savers near Asbury Park and at one time they made an heroic rescue of a drowning person.

Miss Dobbins Six Years Old.

In honor of the sixth anniversary of her birthday, Erma Gordon Dobbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Dobbins, of West End avenue, was given a little party yesterday afternoon by her grandmother, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, at her home in Elmwood place. The afternoon was spent in playing games and later supper was served. The table was prettily decorated for the occasion. Little Miss Dobbins received a number of gifts. The guests were Cora Gray, Theodosia Vail, Elizabeth Higgins, Ethel Vail, Anna Vail and Grace Vail.

Officers Installed.

Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., at its regular weekly meeting last night, installed the officers who were elected a week ago. Following the installation, the members of the lodge enjoyed a smoker and social hour.

Class Play Postponed.

The Junior class play at the Plainfield High School, which was fixed for this evening, has been postponed indefinitely. The production which the class was to have given tonight was "The Princess," dramatized by Miss Elizabeth Winters, a member of the class.

SUNDRY WORK OF COUNCIL

Miscellaneous Business Transacted by Borough Fathers.

P. S. C. PAYS UP

Corporation Counsel Reed Collects Debt From Trolley Company Without Any Difficulty.

After the opening routine had been gone through with at the meeting of the North Plainfield Council last night, a petition for a street light at Jefferson avenue and Greenbrook road, was presented and referred to the fire, water and lights committee.

Assistant District Telephone Manager C. W. Runyon's letter in reply to application for a fourth free telephone for the use of the borough government led the mayor to say that as the instrument was needed immediately it would be best to have a paid 'phone installed for use in communicating with the special marshal who sleeps at the police station house so as to be available for night duty. A motion by M. C. VanArsdale to have the 'phone put in, was carried.

Borough Counsel C. A. Reed reported the collection of the claim against the Public Service Corporation for street work on Somerset street along the line of the trolley. He said that the Public Service Corporation would have paid long ago but they were never apprised of the work for which the bill was rendered, until after it had been competed.

Claims against the borough, for salaries, supplies and outside service, aggregating about $2,500, were presented and ordered paid. On J. K. Arnold's recommendation, a note in a local bank given by the borough for $1,000 was also ordered paid.

Clerk Rowley read the report of the finance committee which showed total receipts of $48,255.27, expenditures of $44,844.75 and a balance on hand of $3,410.52.

Some little discussion was raised by the bill for the heating system. This bill, amounting to about $500, was finally ordered paid except a drawback of nearly $50, which will not be paid until certain leaks and other shortcomings of the system heating the engine house and Council chamber have been rectified.

Mr. Arnold reported an expenditure of $117.75 for removing snow from the walks in front of vacant properties and places where the owners neglect to observe the ordinance on that score.

Mr. VanArsdale reported a total of twenty-eight arrests, seven commitments and eighteen suspensions of sentence.

Charles L. Lee introduced a resolution asking for the regular annual appropriation of $100 for the expense of having the borough accounts audited by a public accountant. After slight discussion it was passed.

Mr. Lee laid particular stress on the desirability of having the residents of the borough more prompt about cleaning up after a snow. He advocated the strictest enforcement of the ordinance in this connection and prayed for even greater activity on the part of the police.

Just before the meeting adjourned, the Mayor mentioned several indications of civic prosperity given by the finance of the borough just at present, the most striking of which was that the health board, which a few years ago was continually short of funds, has at present a balance to their credit, tenfold greater than ever before. The board was reminded that it has the privilege of utilizing the Council chamber for its sessions and urged to avail itself of the right, and that a financial report of the Board should appear in the annual borough report.

Installation Plans.

In addition to the arrangements for the installation of officers, which will take place at its next meeting, Miantonomo Tribe, I. O. R. M., received three propositions last night, elected one and transacted other items of important minor business. All the plans for the installation are now laid, and the affair will be one of the important events of the year for the tribe. There was a large attendance at the meeting last night and a social hour followed the transaction of business.

Funeral of Mrs. Walter.

DUNDON ON HEALTH BOARD

A Physician is Appointed to Succeed Rev. Mr Honeyman.

FOR FULL TERM

John H. VanWinkle, Jr., Protests Against a Change—J. P. Humble Votes With Majority.

Though vigorously opposed by Councilman J. H. VanWinkle, who was elected as a member by the Citizens' Party, the North Plainfield Council last night confirmed Mayor Newton B. Smalley's appointment of Dr. A. H. Dundon as the successor of Rev. William E. Honeyman as a member of the Board of Health. Though the presentation of the name of the new appointee came as a general surprise it seemed to be cordially received by all the members except Mr. VanWinkle, it being confirmed by a vote of 4 to 1.

In protesting against the failure to reappoint Rev. Mr. Honeyman, Mr. VanWinkle paid a tribute to his "dignity, intelligence and efficiency," adding that he could devote his whole time, if necessary to the work of the board. In reply Mayor Smalley stated as a reason for his making a change that he preferred to appoint a man who is in closer touch with the present administration and more qualified to fill the position. He said that he regarded Dr. Dundon as particularly well fitted for the position and knew that his appointment would meet with the approval of the taxpayers. Dr. Dundon's appointment is for the full term of four years.

Ambrose Campbell was appointed a member of the paid fire department.

The decorations were quite elaborate. In the hall and dining room were Christmas greens and holly. The table was decorated in red and in the drawing-room there were pink roses and carnations, while in the billiard room there were garlands of little lights covered with asparagus ferns.

During the hours of the reception, 8:30 to 10:30, Mrs. Harry G. Runkle and Miss Talmadge, were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Henry P. Talmadge and Col. and Mrs. E. J. McClarnand, of St. Louis. After 10:30 dancing was the feature, music being furnished by Elliot, of New York. An out-of-town caterer served supper during the evening.

The engagement of Daniel Runkle and Miss Talmadge was announced some time ago, but as yet no date has been set for the wedding.

Carteret Gun Club License.

William Newcorn, Esq., counsel for Louis Coombs, formerly of this city, appeared today before the court at Elizabeth in behalf of the latter's application for a license at the Carteret Gun Club. It is understood that there has been some opposition, but it is quite likely that the court will grant the application.

NEW CEMENT BLOCK PLANT

Another Industry for Plainfield in the Near Future.

F. M. BACON'S SCHEME

To Locate Plant at Ivins' Lumber Yard—Expects Big Business.

Another important industry is soon to be added to Plainfield's already varied list. Frank M. Bacon, who is interested in the making of a patent cement block, is now perfecting plans for the manufacture of these blocks on a large scale. He expects to start with a daily output of nearly four hundred, equal to many thousand bricks. Mr. Bacon intends to locate his industry in the old DeWitt C. Ivins' lumber yard near Church street. There he will erect a plant of good proportions and will equip it with every modern appliance.

Mr. Bacon makes special claims of merit for his invention. The cement block he proposes to make will be about two feet long and twelve inches wide, with grooves at each end. In the center the shape will conform to a letter S. The grooves are intended to permit the hanging of window sash cords without cutting into the window sash. The blocks are considered to be as near fire-proof as it is possible to make them. While this kind of cement blocks have only been manufactured about a year, Mr. Bacon claims to have found a combination of material in their manufacture that makes his patent more valuable than others. Considerable encouragement has been received by him in his enterprise and he expects to furnish the blocks for several new business buildings that are to be erected within the next year.

The first building to be constructed of cement blocks similar to those which Mr. Bacon will manufacture, will be that of Voorhees & VanZandt on Park avenue. The blocks for this building will be made by the Lawrence Cement Company, of which Ernest R. Ackerman is the president. The manufacture of these blocks marks a new departure in building and it is claimed that within a short time the demand for the blocks will be enormous. They not only make a substantial and fire-proof structure, but an attractive one as well, while it is said that the cost is not much greater than that for other so-called fire-proof material.

At present Mr. Bacon is alone in his enterprise, but he will soon organize a company of local men and eventually he hopes to conduct the business on a large score, employing hundreds of men.

OBSTACLE TO CO. K'S PLAN TO ATTEND INAUGURATION

FREE TRANSPORTATION MAY BE REFUSED SOLDIER BOYS.

There is yet a doubt as to whether Co. K. will attend the National inauguration at Washington on March 4. Though Captains Martin and Libbey, of Companies K and L, are both inquiring into plans for accommodations for their companies, there is a possibility that they will fail in this respect, and if so the probability is that both the Plainfield and Princeton companies will remain at their own headquarters.

Major J. R. Bell, to whom the captains have written concerning accommodations, writes that as yet he has been unable to make satisfactory arrangements except upon the payment of a substantial rental. While there is the possibility that the New Jersey Legislature many order one or two regiments to attend, and may select the local company, the matter of accommodations at Washington has been referred to Gen. George H. Harris, who hopes to be able to provide for free quarters.

Wm. Mayhew's Birthday.

William Mayhew, of 535 West Fourth street, celebrated his forty-fourth birthday anniversary with a reception, last night. During the evening a course supper was served and the celebrant was heartily congratulated. There was also a musical programme, with short addresses and presentation of gifts. These persons were present: Revs. E. E. Jackson, H. O. Ashley and Edwin B. Maynard and Dr. J. C. Anderson. The presentations were made by Rev. Mr. Jackson and Rev. Mr. Ashley. Mrs. Maynard was in charge of the supper.

MAYOR SMALLEY CENSURES A LOCAL NEWSPAPER

CALLS BOROUGH COUNCIL'S ATTENTION TO SOME DEROGATORY STATEMENTS.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley, at the meeting of the North Plainfield Council last night, took occasion to criticise an editorial published in the Courier-News which reflected on the borough government, and which displayed gross ignorance. Following him, Councilman Charles L. Lee had a word or two to say regarding the subject. In referring to some irresponsible petition for the collection of a fund in aid of the borough marshals who were injured on Christmas eve, the Courier-News declared editorially that "in accordance with a borough rule, they are deprived of pay during the time they are disabled, the municipality not taking into account the causes of such disability." Continuing the article in question stated that "everyone must agree that the borough attitude is unjust," and a lot of other stuff just as erroneous.

After reading the editorial to the Council, Mayor Smalley declared that he could not see how a newspaper could get so far away from the truth when it was so easy to obtain the facts. He added that there is no rule whatever in the borough against paying the men who were injured and that there is no disposition among the officials to treat them other than fairly. In conclusion he said that the whole statement was "uncalled for and offensive."

Councilman Lee followed the mayor by stating that it had always been the rule to pay the marshals in such instances and that he saw no reason for such a statement on the part of a newspaper.

KENNETH ROBBIE TALKS ON THE TRAINING OF BOYS

IN HIS OPINION LADS SHOULD BE TRAINED BY CLOSE SUPERVISION.

Kenneth Robbie, boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was the speaker at the meeting of the Congregational church last evening. Carrying out the general topic of the week of prayer, "The Home," the subject of Mr. Robbie's address last night was "Boys," and the speaker showed the importance and the relation of the boy to home in an interesting and instructive manner.

Occupied with boys' work continually no more capable speaker on the subject of boys could be secured than Mr. Robbie. In his introduction, he spoke of the relation of the boy to the family, of the influences which are brought to bear upon a boy's life, and of the affection which a boy receives in the average home. He went on to speak of the period when a boy becomes a Christian, and quoted statistics showing the greatest number of conversions to take place between the ages of twelve and sixteen years.

In concluding his remarks, Mr. Robbie said that the chief desire of all those interested in boys is to see them become perfect men. "This," the speaker said, "cannot be done without the close and untiring supervision of the parents. It is not enough to send a boy to school, and put him through the usual stages which go to make up a boy's life, and trust the rest to Fate. The boy should receive the constant and watchful guidance in order to make the perfect man."

Wants Part of Teacher's Pay.

Justice vonMinden, who represents Miss Anna C. Sisty, of Dunellen, in her action against Miss Emma Perrine, a Jersey City school teacher, to recover $150 as rent, which it is alleged the defendant guaranteed her brother-in-law, G. Sumner Smith, the tenant, would pay, has not yet obtained an order from Chief Justice W. S. Gummere to have a portion of Miss Perrine's salary of $1,000 a year set apart for the liquidation of the debt. Thus far he has failed to see the chief justice. He hopes to get the order the first of next week. Miss Perrine claimed that her salary would not permit her to pay the amount.

Announce Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Vail, of Washington avenue, gave a reception last night in honor of their daughter, Miss Edith Vail, for the purpose of announcing her engagement to Frank Knight, of Richmond street. There were about thirty guests present. After congratulations were offered, games were played and later supper was served.

STILL FIGHT FOR HIGHER FEE

Borough Council Again Petitions Somerset Court to Grant Relief From Saloons.

THANK GRAND JURY

Vigorously Worded Message to Judge Schenck—Corporation Counsel's Opinion As to the Only Means of Solution.

North Plainfield's Council last night adopted a resolution, which will be sent to Judge Schenck, asking the Somerset County Court to carry out the recommendation of the Grand Jury that the license fee of the borough be increased to $1,000 and that the saloons be compelled to close at 11 o'clock, regulations the same as prevail in this city.

Although it was unanimously adopted, the resolution caused a discussion, during which Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed said: "It is my belief that the license fee would have been raised before now if there had not been some tacit understanding between certain leaders among the anti-annexationists and the liquor dealers that they would assist in keeping it down."

Senator Reed's statement was challenged by Councilman John H. VanWinkle, Jr., who plainly stated that he doubted the correctness of the assertion and openly hinted that it had been manufactured for the occasion. Mr. VanWinkle reminded the Council that as a member of that body he had voted in favor of the resolution sent to the court some time ago, asking for a change in the liquor regulations. Senator Reed replied that he made no reference to the member of the Council and that they were not looked upon as leaders.

Councilman VanArsdale incidently asked the Corporation Counsel what remedy there is for North Plainfield to escape the present deplorable conditions. Without any hesitation, Mr. Reed stated that the most simple and efficacious means would be consolidation with Plainfield. Somerville's argument, said he, that all places of approximately the same population in Somerset County should have the same license rate is unsound because of the fact that after 11 o'clock at night, the true population to which North Plainfield saloon keepers can furnish liquor is that of Plainfield and North Plainfield combined, in other words, a population of 25,000, instead of 6,000. Furthermore, he said, there is no legal restriction in the rate of license fees in Somerset County, except that which prescribes a minimum and that any municipality having the power to regulate its own excise affairs could fix its own rate of fee and time of closing.

The subject was brought up by the introduction of the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:

Whereas the murderous assault made on Christmas eve upon members of our police force was the logical and natural result of the low license and late closing hours permitted to borough liquor dealers, which makes our borough the Mecca of intoxicated roughs who are turned out of Plainfield saloons when the latter are compelled to close at 11 o'clock:

And whereas under the law the licensing of liquor dealers in the borough is controlled by the court at Somerville, to which we have repeatedly, though vainly, appealed for relief:

And whereas our situation in this respect has recently been plainly and graphically called again to the attention of said court by the intelligent and fearless Grand Jury which indicted the criminals who attempted to murder our policemen:

Therefore, be it resolved by The Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield, that we, as the representatives of the law abiding and peace loving citizens of this borough, do hereby express our warm appreciation of the said action of the Grand Jury, and do once more earnestly petition the aforesaid court to come to our relief in the manner already pointed out:

And be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent by the borough clerk to each Judge of said court.

Mayor Smalley congratulated the Council upon its stand on the liquor

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co. Report Active Business Outlook.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Aside from some hesitation at the south owing to the recent fall in price of cotton, business conditions are favorable and optimistic sentiments are evidenced by extensive preparations for active trade. As annual reports appear it is found that the closing months of 1904 made a much better exhibit than the first half, which starts the new year with smaller stocks of goods in the hands of dealers, assuring liberal contracts in the near future for replenishing supplies.

A few minor labor controversies have arisen, but the Fall River mills are more active, and in most branches of manufacture there is a steady decrease in the proportion of idle machinery.

Foreign trade at this port shows a gain of $742,190 in exports and a loss of $1,678,388 in imports as compared with the same week last year.

As inventories and repairs are completed the various departments of the iron and steel industry steadily extend operations, and the sentiment is in striking contrast to the conservatism that prevailed a year ago. New business is gradually coming forward, the needs of consumers being felt in all sections of the market, while production is no longer retarded by adverse weather.

Storms were also partially responsible for the reduction in receipts of wheat at primary markets, which amounted to only 2,876,869 bushels for the week against 4,590,703 last year.

Failures for the week numbered 290 in the United States against 400 last year and 25 in Canada compared with 37 a year ago. These figures make a remarkably good showing for the opening days of 1905.

PROBING BEEF TRUST.

Attorneys For Packers Attack Government Bill as Insufficient.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Argument in the case of Swift & Co. versus the United States, known as the beef trust conspiracy case, was begun before the supreme court of the United States by Attorney John S. Miller of Chicago in behalf of the packers. He attacked the bill of the government as insufficient in its failure to allege facts necessary to constitute a cause of action and said that the charges made are not facts, but conclusions of law; that the commerce charged is not interstate or foreign commerce, and that even if it be interstate commerce the facts given constitute no violation of law.

He contended that the case presents an interference in business such as never before has been undertaken. The charges, he said, are of the most general character and do not specify time and place. He did not believe therefore that the charges could stand at all.

Race Was Fatally Realistic.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—At the Coliseum, the largest music hall in London and which was opened a fortnight ago, a vivid realization of the Derby is produced by a revolving stage. Last night Jockey Dent, riding the outside horse, attempted to pull across, but his horse stumbled on the iron work surrounding the revolving platform and rolled over the proscenium into the orchestra beneath. Dent was thrown violently on his head and was taken to a hospital unconscious, where he died soon afterward.

"Counterpart of the Great War God."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The house passed the fortifications appropriation bill and adjourned until Monday. After Mr. Littauer (N. Y.) had drawn a lesson from the siege of Port Arthur to show that submarine mines had proved of the greatest importance in warfare, Mr. Baker enlivened the proceedings by attacking President Roosevelt, who, he said, wanted to hold himself up as the "counterpart of Wilhelm II., the great war god."

Peabody Wins First Round.

DENVER, Jan. 7.—The followers of Governor Peabody have gained a victory in the first fight over the canvass of the vote for governor. Amid the greatest confusion they passed a resolution creating a committee of fifteen members, twelve of whom are Republicans and three Democrats, to canvass the vote and make daily reports to the house and senate, with a final report not later than Monday morning.

Chicagoans Follow Douglas' Lead.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—At a meeting here of representatives of 100 shoe manufacturers, members of the Western Association of Shoe Wholesalers, a resolution was adopted in which the association places itself on record as opposed to the tariff on leather. In the resolution it is stated that congress will be asked to repeal the rates now existing on hides and leather.

LEADERS FOR PEACE

Philadelphia Mass Meeting to Promote Arbitration.

NEEDLESS WARS SHOULD CEASE

America In the Van of the World's Army of Amity to Establish International Feelings of Good Will Among All Mankind.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—A largely attended public meeting was held at the bourse here for the purpose of obtaining from Philadelphia an expression of opinion favorable to the international arbitration treaties negotiated by President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay with Great Britain, Germany, Denmark, Mexico and other countries and which have been submitted to the senate for ratification.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the international arbitration commission of Philadelphia. Mayor Weaver presided.

Among the speakers besides the mayor were William Potter, former minister to Italy; Colonel A. Louden Snowden, former minister to Spain, Greece and Servia; former Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, who was minister to Russia; Congressman George D. McCreary and Reuben O. Moon. John Wanamaker, chairman of the committee, was prevented by illness from attending.

The statement of the meeting was expressed in the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, The president and secretary of state have succeeded in negotiating arbitration treaties between the United States and a number of other nations and those treaties have been submitted for the necessary ratification of the senate; now, therefore,

"Resolved, That as citizens of Philadelphia in a public meeting called for this purpose and acting as we believe in full accord with the wishes of a very large majority of the people of this city and state we respectfully ask the senators from Pennsylvania to do all that they can properly do to secure an early ratification of the treaties referred, and the officers of this meeting are requested to send copies of this resolution to each of the senate committees on foreign relations and to the president and Secretary of State Hay."

The address of former Minister Potter was in part as follows:

"We believe that we represent the opinion of an overwhelming majority of our fellow countrymen; that an appeal to arbitration for most international controversies which may fail of diplomatic adjustment is the only humane and rational method of settlement for civilized nations.

"It is conceded that there are some differences between nations which as yet arbitration cannot reach, but it is very clear that there is now and ever has been a strong national sentiment in favor of arbitration, certainly to the extent covered by the proposed treaties.

"Harrison, Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt are all on record time and time again in favor of international arbitration, and the president in his annual message of 1903, speaking of The Hague tribunal, said, 'The triumph of the principle of international arbitration is a subject of warm congratulation and offers a happy augury for the peace of the world.'

"In 107 years the United States has been a party to forty-seven arbitration treaties, about one-half of all which have taken place in the modern world. It is therefore most important that our country should continue to hold its place in the front rank of the nations, which are so honorably endeavoring to promote universal peace."

Charles Emory Smith said in part:

"Never has such progress been made in the enlightened and civilizing spirit of peace as during the last few years, but we cannot cherish the illusion that war will be altogether banished.

"We are here to say that we favor arbitration treaties made by our government and submitted to the senate. We stand with our countrymen for these great measures of international friendship and peaceful adjudication.

"Our country, it is not too much to say, has been the leader of the world along the pathway of arbitration. True, it is the glory of France and England that among the great powers they made the first general treaty of arbitration—the France and England that have been the traditional foes for centuries; the France and England of Agincourt and Waterloo—and if these nations can put such centuries behind them and come together in an agreement to settle differences that may arise by the international judicial process instead of by war what other nations cannot come together in the same way."

Colonel Snowden said in part:

"It is appalling to contemplate the suffering, the wretchedness, that has followed in the wake of needless wars. We have at this time an example in the far east that makes the blood run cold to contemplate. Hundreds of thousands of human beings have perished and thousands are at this moment suffering untold misery in consequence of an international dispute that could have been honorably settled by arbitration without the sacrifice of a single life.

"Our country has been and is now leading the world in a splendid effort to establish the principle of arbitration as a means to secure justice among the nations and to eliminate the horrors of war.

"This is the one paramount question that confronts the world that demands, and that will have, consideration."

NOGI AND THE ARMY

Japanese Success Due to Mikado's Illustrious Virtue.

Tokyo Parliament Felicitates Emperor on Fall of Port Arthur and Thanks Victorious Troops For Their Great Achievement.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—A special dispatch from Tokyo this morning says that at the conclusion of the interview between Generals Nogi and Stoessel when Port Arthur was surrendered the latter begged to be allowed to present to General Nogi his favorite Arabian charger. General Nogi courteously declined personal acceptance, pointing out that it came under the category of war material to be surrendered, but he consented to accept the animal in the name of the Japanese army.

Tokyo dispatches say that the diet at a special session has adopted a resolution felicitating the emperor on the success of the year's campaigning, the climax of which is the fall of Port Arthur, attributed it to his majesty's illustrious virtue and thanked General Nogi and the third army for their glorious achievement.

Reports from the Japanese army at Port Arthur says that all the regular Russian troops have marched out of the city and are en route to Port Dalny. Japanese troops have entered the city to keep order. Noncombatants are allowed the option of remaining.

General Stoessel and other Russian officers on parole will return to their homes via the Japanese port of Nagasaki. Only eighty officers in all have accepted parole.

The Japanese navy is removing mines and the Japanese hulks at the harbor mouth. All the forts have been taken over by the Japanese.

The Japanese naval force at Port Arthur caused the sinking of the following war vessels in that harbor:

The torpedo boats Gaidamak and Fusatonik and the torpedo boat destroyers Jetirny, Sisik and Boevoi.

The armored cruiser Bayan is lying on the south coast of the harbor severely damaged, and the gunboat Bobr was entirely burned as the result of the Japanese shelling.

Dispatches from St. Petersburg say that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky's flagship, the battleship Kniaz Souvaroff, is safe, the report of her having struck a rock and sunk being unfounded.

A Mukden dispatch says that Field Marshal Oyama has sent a letter to General Kuropatkin communicating the news of the capitulation of Port Arthur and praising the bravery of its defenders. The effect of the news was especially confounding, last reports anticipating long resistance. It is believed it will immediately influence the situation on the Shakhe river.

Continued and intense cannonading is heard at Mukden from the railroad near Sinchinpu and Shakhe.

TOO BUSY FIGHTING.

Statement of Minister Takahira Does Not Foreshadow Peace.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Japan has made no overtures for peace to Russia directly or indirectly through the United States or any other power. She contemplates no such action and now that Port Arthur has fallen proposes to press the war in the north all the more vigorously by re-enforcing the Japanese armies at Liaoyang with the greater part of the troops which have been besieging Port Arthur.

This in brief represents the views of Mr. Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese minister, who has recently resumed charge of the legation at Washington after a long illness at New York.

"The fall of Port Arthur," said the minister, "is but a step in the war which Japan is waging for a principle. Certainly it is an important step, but nothing could be further from the truth than the assumption that because Japan has captured a stronghold, the fall of which has long been expected, the Japanese government will now make overtures for peace. Japan is too busy fighting."

Liverpool's Mayor Welcomed Sousa.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 7.—John P. Sousa and the members of his band arrived here on board the White Star line steamer and were the guests of the lord mayor at luncheon at the Town hall. The band opened its tour last night before a large audience, which showed much enthusiasm. The engagement in London will commence Jan. 9.

Train Buried in the Snow.

WINSTED, Conn., Jan. 7.—The train on the Central New England road from Goshen, N. Y., due here at 3:24, is buried in snow at Copake, N. Y., and up to a late hour last night the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad men had not succeeded in digging the train out. The snow has been falling steadily for many hours.

Hoesen to Succeed Judson.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 7.—State Engineer and Surveyor Van Alstyne has appointed Edmund F. Van Hoesen of Buffalo as deputy state engineer and surveyor to succeed William P. Judson, resigned. Mr. Van Hoesen has been an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad and the New York Central.

Brewery Strike Is Off.

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 7.—The brewery workers strike, which was instituted Thursday night, was declared off late last night after a conference between the representatives of the companies and the men. The disputing conferees got together and effected a compromise.

CITY HALL BURNED

Springfield Suffers Loss of Old Civic Structure.

ILL TRAINED MONKEY UPSET A LAMP

Draperies of Food Fair Afforded Ready Fuel For Flames — Sixty Inmates Had Narrow Escape. Loss, $200,000.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 7.—The city hall here, a brick structure, completed in 1855 at a cost of $75,000, has been destroyed by the fastest moving blaze ever fought in this city. The building, facing Court square, on Court street, was separated on the rear of large business blocks by only a narrow alleyway, and but for the absence of wind a great conflagration could hardly have been averted.

There is a general feeling of relief that no lives were sacrificed. A food fair was in progress in the building, and the flames originated in an anteroom at the rear of the second floor and are supposed to have been caused by the upsetting of a kerosene lamp by a trained monkey owned by an exhibitor. A score of booths constructed of soft wood and canvas and hundreds of yards of bunting, with which the hall was draped, afforded ready fuel for the flames, and City Messenger S. P. Burns, who was the last to leave the building, said that three minutes after the blaze was discovered the whole interior was in flames. Before the firemen from the Pyncheon street house, situated less than seventy-five feet from the rear of the city hall, could get to work on the fire the building was beyond the possibility of saving.

The sixty people in the building, forty of whom were on the second floor, barely escaped with their lives. Miss Helen Emery of the mayor's office and Miss Emma Fuller of the city clerk's office were partially overcome by smoke and required assistance in leaving the building. The exact loss to the city will not be known for some time, as it is believed that many valuable papers have been destroyed. A city official said last night that he feared the loss to the city would not be less than $200,000.

JOURNALISTIC OPINION.

Somerville Butts In.

As the granting of liquor licenses is exclusively within the jurisdiction of the court, the Unionist Gazette is of the opinion that the Grand Jury exceeded its prerogatives when it assumed to recommend that the Court increase the license fee in one municipality, only, in the county, to three times what it is in any other. If North Plainfield had an excise board to regulate its liquor licenses it would be nobody's business but its own how high the fee was made. But we believe Justice Garretson and Judge Schenck took the only just view of the question when it came up sometime ago. It would be unfair to the men holding licenses under the county court in North Plainfield to make them pay three times as much as similar licenses in Somerville and Bound Brook, unless it can be shown that they are receiving three times as much benefit from their license privileges. Unless the fee is increased proportionable in all places of equal size and equal facilities for business in the county, the present licensing power could not fairly, we believe, make such an increase in North Plainfield as is suggested by the Grand Jury and which the Counsel of the borough asked the court to do last spring.

Moreover we understand that the law under which licenses are granted does not permit of any such arbitrary increase in license fees. There must be some good cause such as increase of business or other added privilege to the license.

We are not prepared to say that the court would not be justified in making an increase in the four towns of Somerville, Bound Brook, Raritan and North Plainfield, but we believe it should be general, if at all, in justice to those who are granted this privilege. The Grand Jury seems to infer that the assault on the borough police was in some way due to the borough saloons being open later than those in Plainfield. But there seems to be no evidence that any of the liquor which made the assaulting party drunk was purchased in borough, but rather that they got drunk in Plainfield and went to the borough in that condition. It is seriously questioned by temperance advocates whether high license is a check to the evils in intemperance. The cities of New Brunswick, Plainfield and Elizabeth are trying the experiment with a view of lessening crime in this way.—Unionist Gazette.

question. He said incidently: "You should be congratulated that within six months after your petition was made to the court and was refused that an unanimous Grand Jury made up of men from all parts of Somerset County should find it their duty to renew that plea and go still further by asking that the license be $1,000 instead of $600 as suggested by you, which in my judgment coupled with an 11 o'clock closing clause would mean practically prohibition. I congratulate you on the result and hope that the Grand Jury's presentment will be effective."

Many are in favor of the new degree, and the council's meeting will be watched with interest throughout the State. James H. Tindall, of Trenton, is a candidate for representative to the great council of the United States. There are numerous other candidates for this position, and a lively contest will take place. A shortening of the ritual will probably be made and the character may be changed.

Adams, on behalf of the council, presented a handsome past councilor's emblem to the retiring past councilor, Samuel C. Terry, who acknowledged the gift with a few appropriate remarks. Speeches were also made by the newly-installed officers and other members.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

A horse belonging to James Eganey, died in the stable yesterday morning from starvation. Eganey, who has been away for over a month, had left no one to take care of the horse, and but for feed given it by neighbors it would have died before. Yesterday morning it was heard kicking in the stable and upon investigation it was found that the horse was terribly emaciated, not having had food or water for two weeks, and finding that it could not live, it was given something to kill it. Its death occurred a very short time after and the body was carted away by the dead animal wagon. When looked for Eganey had skipped the town, and the warrant for cruelty to animals, which had been sworn out was not served.

WOMAN ASSAILANT IS HELD IN $100 BAIL

MRS. HASKIN MUST AWAIT ACTION OF GRAND JURY ON ASSAULT CHARGE.

When arraigned before Justice of the Peace Hand yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Martha Haskin, the woman who refused to regard the summons of the law when arrested by Constable Manley on the charge of assault and battery Thursday afternoon, was held in $100 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. The charge was brought by Henry Johnston, an aged colored man, who the defendant, it is said, beat with a stick when attempting to recover his alleged property.

Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., represented Johnston, and S. S. Swackhamer appeared for Mrs. Haskin. The case was merely on the charge of assault and battery, and was entirely independent of the offense of resisting an officer.

The evidence brought out showed that Mr. Johnston and his daughter had gone to the room in which their furniture was kept, and after demanding the articles from Mrs. Haskin, had attempted to remove them from the room. Mrs. Haskin, the evidence showed, turned upon the old man with a stick and had beaten him up against a stone wall, where he finally managed to break away from her.

The bail of $100 was furnished by Dr. J. C. Anderson.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Children of Mary, of St. Mary's church, will hold their regular monthly meeting on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Union Bible class, taught by Rev. D. M. Stearns, will meet at the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Tuesday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

A Christian workers Bible training class, taught by H. S. Miller, will meet at the Y. M. C. A. building tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The Sacred Heart Society, of St. Mary's church, held its regular monthly business meeting last night. There was a full attendance in spite of the bad weather.

Hugh R. Munro, vice president of the Niagara Lithograph Co., of Buffalo, will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. There will be good vocal and instrumental music.

Rev. W. E. Davis, father of Mrs. Sanford Ramsey, of Dunellen, has tendered his resignation as pastor of the Reformed church at Lebanon, Hunterden county, but the consistory refuses to accept it.

The coming week will be spent at the Christian church in preparation for evangelistic meetings to begin Sunday night, January 15 and continuing for several weeks thereafter. Evangelist George T. Smith, of Chicago, will be in charge.

Rev. Dr. Charles Edward Nash, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, will speak at the First Baptist church tomorrow morning. Dr. Nash recently resigned his church in New York to take charge of the great work in New Jessey. He is a speaker of rare ability and will doubtless be heard with deep interest. Dr. Chambliss will occupy his pulpit in the evening.

AMUSEMENTS.

Maude Adams in "The Little Minister," is the attraction at the Empire Theatre and Francis Wilson in "Cousin Billy," is drawing big crowds at the Criterion. Charles Frohman's offering at the Garrick is Annie Russell in "Brother Jacques," and at the Knickerbocker is Viola Allen in "The Winter's Tale." Ethel Barrymore is still to be seen in "Sunday" at the Hudson and "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" still holds sway at the Savoy. Edna May is as popular as ever in "The School Girl" at Daly's again after having completed her run at the Herald Square. Charles Wyndham and Mary Moore are to be seen in "Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace" at the Lyceum and "Woodland" holds forth at the Herald Square. Annie Russell has scored a great success and she, like all other Frohman's stars, is playing to crowded houses.

The notable cast of the Arnold Daly production of the George Bernard Shaw play, "You Never Can Tell," to be given at the Garrick Theatre, January 9, includes: William H. Thompson, Arnold Daly, Harry Harwood, John Findlay, George Farren, Sumner Gard, Frank Hughes, L. M. Gallager, Miss Drina de Wolfe, Miss Mabel Taliaferro, Miss Jeffries Lewis, Miss Edn Bruna. The regular sale of seats opened Thursday, but applications for seats made now will be filed, and filled in the order in which they are received, when accompanied by cheque. A play that George C Tyler believes good enough to justify him in engaging so expensive an artist as "Billy" Thompson to take a character part, one which will undertake to couple with him a man of the standing of Harry Harwood; a play which would persuade Mr. Tyler to take Mabel Taliaferro out of the "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" cast, in order that she may create a part in the new play, and one which will associate with the sterling artists named such well known people as John Findlay, Sumner Gard, George Farren, Drina de Wolfe and Jeffreys Lewis, must certainly be one from which much is hoped and expected.

OUR CHICAGO LETTER

GOSSIP OF THE METROPOLIS OF THE CENTRAL STATES.

A NEW FAD FOR SOCIETY

Devoting Its Energies to Saving the Dogs and Cats of the Streets—War on Disease-Creating Evils.

CHICAGO. — This city is developing its class of notoriety seeking rich as New York has done. True the city is not yet the mecca of millionaires seeking a means of separating themselves from their money in exchange for a maximum amount of notoriety, but there is growing up in the city a sort of second and third generation class, whose ambition is to find a method of dispensing the fortunes left them by industrious ancestors, whose industry builded Chicago along with their personal fortunes.

Chicago society of the past has not been given greatly to fads. In fact, when Chicago society looked to such women as Mrs. P. D. Armour, or Mrs. George M. Pullman, as its leaders, it was a society in which ostentation figured not at all. Now a younger element is coming into control, and the frivolities of the east are being imported and copied. This new element has not yet been guilty of a "monkey dinner," but such things will come.

The latest social fad of the city is the befriending of homeless cats and dogs. It is a fad the Humane society will undoubtedly approve of, but that the patronesses of the new "charity" are more interested in what amount of space the newspapers will give to it than in the number of cats and dogs saved, goes without saying.

Mrs. William R. Linn is one of the younger lights in the city's "400," but one of its leaders, and it is to her initiative the friendless animals owe their good fortune. She started the fad, by endowing ten cages in a local veterinary hospital, and others, anxious to court favor with the popular society leader, have quickly followed her example. One society woman, in speaking of the "charity," referred feelingly to the large numbers of poor little dogs and cats that would be saved from starvation, and added that it was the finest thing society could do.

It is the practical middle classes who are working to save the friendless children of the streets, though they are aided in their efforts by the society leaders of the past—women with both brains and money.

A Health Crusade.

AND while one section of society is devoting its energies to saving the "poor little dogs and cats" another section is waging war on diseases that affect the human family. The women's clubs of Cook county are willing to let the pound-master solve the "vexed" problem of what to do for the homeless dogs, while they give their attention to existing evils that create diseases, and especially the evils existing in the tenement districts.

There is ample room in Chicago for such a crusade. The city is not so much in need of laws as it is in need of law enforcement. Dirt is the foundation of disease, and while the business interests of the city are making an effort to secure that cleanliness that is next to godliness in the business district, the tenement sections are entirely forgotten.

There is a law in the city that makes it a misdemeanor to throw dirt into the streets. It is not enforced. The streets of the tenement districts are the dumping grounds for all sorts of refuse, and the excuse given is that "it is a convenience for the poor people of those districts."

There is a law in the city against smoking chimneys. It is not enforced. Two-thirds of the factory chimneys of the city pour out a constant stream of black smoke and soot that must be breathed into the lungs of the people, and yet the people are called upon to pay salaries to a force of smoke inspectors.

Dust is a breeder of consumption, and every wind that blows in the city sends clouds of this germ-fruited scourge into the faces of the thousands of pedestrians on the city streets. The health crusade may be a fad, but it is a worthy one.

The Subway Plans.

AND not to be outdone by New York, Chicago is now planning a subway system that will make that of Gotham look small by comparison. The plans of organization are so far advanced that it is useless to longer doubt the possibility of the scheme's early maturity, but the first effects in this city will be far different from the first effects in New York, for the purpose of the originators of the Chicago scheme is first, not to take the people off the streets, but to make room on the streets for the people.

Eventually Chicago street cars will go under ground, but before they disappear the freight situation will be cared for, and, in fact, the system for handling the freight traffic of the city is practically complete now, and the new subway company recently organized in the east comes into possession of a tunnel system, longer than New York's subway, that is ready for operation.

The New York subway cost $35,000,000 to build. The company that is back of the Chicago subway has $50,000,000 to put into the project. It takes over a company that has already expended over $30,000,000 in building more than 40 miles of tunnels for freight traffic that are 40 feet below the city streets, leaving plenty of room between that and the surface for the street car tunnels that are to come later.

Entirely different construction methods are necessary in Chicago from those employed in New York. The subway of the latter city was cut through solid granite. Chicago, on the other hand, is builded upon a marsh, with bedrock from 50 to 60 feet below the street surface. The construction of a subway here means first a solution of the engineering problem of providing for the safety of the great buildings that line the streets under which it must pass. With that problem solved, the actual construction of the tunnels will be a much easier matter than it was in New York. But the first problem is not an easy one to solve.

A Stage Favorite.

THE theatrical world lost a general favorite when Mrs. G. H. Gilbert died, and in no place is she more greatly mourned than in Chicago. It was in stock company work that Mrs. Gilbert made her great success, and it was here that she began her stock company career, as far back as 1851.

Hundreds of the older residents of the city remember her as she was in those days of more than half a century ago, and for many of these she has been the only attraction that would take them to the theaters during the last 25 years. One of these, in commenting on the death of the aged actress, said that while he did not now approve of the theater as he did in former years, he always made an exception to his rule to remain away from them when Mrs. Gilbert was in the city. There were many of these older residents, some of whom had seen Mrs. Gilbert make her debut in stock company work in 1851, at Powers' theater on the night of the opening of her farewell engagement. When she appeared before the curtain at the close of the last act and recited that old-fashioned epilogue which began with the lines:

Dear friends in front, the curtain must not fall
Until a grateful woman says good-by to all.
Just think of all the kindness that I've got of you!
I'd like to be the granny of the lot of you.

there was not a dry eye among all these old friends.

To the stage people, old and young, Mrs. Gilbert was always "Granny," and they spoke of her with a reverence that showed their affection. She had no blood relatives, the last of the family, a son, having died several years ago, but she needed none to be truly mourned, for hers was a family that extended throughout all the broad field of stageland.

She was 83 years old the 21st of last October, and had been on the stage since 1846, when she appeared as a ballet girl in England. She came to America in 1849, and though of international fame as an actress, this was the first season that she played star parts.

A Freak Scientist.

PETER NISSEN, of Foolkiller fame, deserves a better fate than to be remembered as a dime museum freak, but he will not get it.

When Nissen met his death in the waves of Lake Michigan he was trying to find a solution for a problem that has taxed the ingenuity of man for three or more centuries—a means of reaching the north pole. Nissen believed that if his water balloon could be proven navigable he could utilize it in reaching the pole by being driven by the winds that blow across the top of the world. Men of ability have pronounced his plan not entirely unfeasable, and it was probably not more so than some of the others that have been tried and failed.

Nissen was a scientist in a way, and he might have been taken more seriously but for the fact that after he had successfully passed through the Niagara rapids he exhibited himself in a dime museum in this city at a good price per week. This fact prejudiced scientific men who might have believed somewhat in him but for that fact, and yet the inventor of the "Foolkillers" did that, not because he was seeking cheap notoriety, but as a means for securing money to continue his scientific investigations.

LINGERIE BLOUSES.

Suggestions For These Useful Garments—Dainty Silk Slips.

Lingerie blouses are considered very smart to wear for second dress occasions, such as the matinee and informal calling, in conjunction with the tailored coat and skirt. The most attractive are made of cotton batiste, which costs about 75 cents a yard. All sorts of hand work goes into their making.

A dainty batiste blouse of white has a vest and shallow rounded yoke of anglaise embroidery. The edges are scalloped and run around with narrow val lace. From this emplecement as far as the shoulders is another yoke formed of sunrayed tucks, which are the very latest conceit in tuckdom. The waist proper is fulled on to this and drawn down into the waist belt. The sleeves have a full puff from the elbow and a deep cuff of English embroidery and lace.

Slips of silk in dainty shades are made to wear under the lingerie waist and are really quite a protection. Chilly mortals resort to slips of French flannel, which are warmer and not at all bulky.

Very stunning is this afternoon bridge frock. It is carried out in checked voile in two shades of delft blue. The skirt is laid about the waist in a series of plaits turning toward the front width, which is plain. A double box plait gives the necessary fullness in the back. The bodice has tiny tucks three inches long at the shoulders and blouses a little over a fitted corselet of the cloth, which is scalloped at the lower edge. Under the corselet is another of light blue cloth strapped with gold braid. A charming collar over an inner vest of white lace is trimmed with the gold braid and small gold buttons. The sleeves have the full wired puff at the top and puffings of lace at the elbow, strapped with pale blue velvet ribbon. A cuff of blue cloth trimmed with gold braid joins the upper and lower sleeve.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHAT IS WORN.

The New Skirt and a Cerclette of Wire to Hold It Out.

To hold out the extremely bouffant skirt there is a cerclette of thin wire, which prevents it from flopping about in an aimless and ungraceful fashion.

WHITE CHIFFON TAFFETA WAIST.

This forerunner of the crinoline will not be found objectionable in its present mild form.

Gold trimming is to be seen on many model gowns.

When made up as a trimming for evening frocks, the tiniest button rose built of chiffon is placed in the middle of a lace wheel.

Sealskin is much used for stoles, and those opening over a pointed vest of ermine and worn with a large granny muff bordered with this royal fur are the newest ideas.

Yokes of white or cream cloth perforated like broderie anglaise are employed upon cloth gowns.

White chiffon taffeta silk makes the charming bodice shown in the cut. Guipure lace forms the yoke, collar and small vest. Outlining the yoke is a narrow piping of black velvet, over which is laid a guimpe of dull gold. Ornaments of gold close the bodice and band the plaited sleeves.

Feminine Philosophy

Too Clever Women—Education That Is a Waste

They were talking about hard luck in matrimony at the woman's club, and one little person was bewailing the fact that she was not more clever. "I would give anything in the world to be able to do things and compel John's admiration!" she sighed. "What he should have married was a brilliant woman. I am afraid he thinks me very stupid. I can't understand politics or business or any of the complicated things he talks about, and he does so admire women who do things. I'd give my soul to be a clever woman. She must have such an easy time through life!"

The veteran woman member of the club, renowned for her brilliant wit and versatility, smiled quietly. "My dear," she ventured, "have you ever followed out the careers, or, perhaps, to be more correct, the married lives, of clever women? Have you ever seen a clever woman married to a stupid man? Have you ever seen a clever woman married to an ordinary man? Well, if you want a good idea of unhappiness, study that situation. Your husband would like to have you understand his deepest thoughts, so you think. Don't you believe it! In his heart of hearts he is immensely flattered that he is so much your superior that your brain cannot compass them. Sorry the man whose wife not only can understand the most profound machinery of his thinking apparatus, but can go him one better, and perhaps two or three better, in spite of her most charitable efforts to hide the fact. We are told in the marriage service to love, honor and obey our lords and masters. Well, perhaps love is easy enough, but can a superior mind give obedience to a lesser one? And can one honor a fool?"

FORCING THE CHILD.

Worthless Education.

Do you remember, or have you forgotten already, how much your mind was overburdened and crammed when you were a child? Many of the things you were forced to learn you forgot as soon as possible, but the time you spent learning them you took from something which might have done you good and which you imperfectly learned as a result.

"All my days," sighed one woman, "I shall be sorry that the money that was spent in teaching me mathematics and Latin was not devoted to making my voice and my drawing what they should be. I could never put that algebra to any earthly use, the Latin I have long since forgotten, but the little drawing I took has meant many dollars in my pocket, because I made fashion illustrations, and I would give anything for a cultivated voice."

There is one duty which is the greatest a mother can have—namely, to help the child discover her one chief talent and concentrate on that to the exclusion of other branches which only tire her brain and waste her time.

The Tender Hearted Woman.

Bless the tender hearted woman!

She is the first to crowd in at a murder trial and comment on the clothes of the female murderer. You would think she was at a professional matinee.

Watch her when an accident takes place. She will be jostled and almost run over in her wild efforts to see the mangled one, whether it be horse, dog or man.

It isn't tender heartedness; it's morbidity. She loves to read about operations, the more grewsome the better. She delights in the "symptoms" in the family medicine book.

At the Slocum disaster even the police were shocked to see women prowling around peering into the faces of the dead—out of curiosity.

And who supports yellow journalism and the "penny dreadful" sort of news story? Ask the editor. Tender shrinking woman every time.

No wonder men say they can't understand us! MAUD ROBINSON.

By Irving Bacheller

(Copyright, 1901, by Lothrop Publishing Co.)

The rendezvous was [illegible] mapped. The guard came, and his lordship rose languidly.

"One thing more," said he. "Let the men go over without arms—if—if you will be so good."

"I shall consider that," said the general.

"And when shall the messenger start?"

"Within the hour, if possible," my chief answered.

As they went away, the general sat down with me for a moment, to discuss the matter.

CHAPTER XXII.

Herein is the story of the adventures of his lordship's courier, known as Mme. St. Jovite, on and after the night of November 17, 1813, in Upper Canada. This account may be accepted as quite trustworthy, its writer having been known to me these many years, in the which neither I nor any of my friends have had occasion to doubt her veracity. The writer gave more details than are desirable, but the document is nothing more than a letter to an intimate friend. I remember well she had an eye for color and a taste for description not easy to repress.

When I decided to go it was near midnight. The mission was not all to my taste, but the reward was handsome and the letter of Lord Ronley reassuring. I knew I could do it, and dressed as soon as possible and walked to the Lone Oak, a sergeant escorting. There, as I expected, the big soldier known as D'ri was waiting, his canoe in a wagon that stood near. We all mounted the seat, driving pell-mell on a rough road to Tibbals Point, on the southwest corner of Wolf island. A hard journey it was, and near two o'clock, I should say, before we put our canoe in the water. Then the man D'ri helped me to an easy seat in the bow and shoved off. A full moon, yellow as gold, hung low in the northwest. The water was calm, and we cut across "the moon way," that funnelled off to the shores of Canada.

"It is one ver' gran' night," I said in my dialect of the rude Canuck; for I did not wish him, or any one, to know me. War is war, but, surely, such adventures are not the thing for a woman.

"Yis, mahm," he answered, pushing hard with the paddle. "Yer a friend o' the cap'n, ain't ye—Ray Bell?"

"Ze captain? Ah, oui, m'sieu'," I said. "One ver' brave man, ain't it?"

"Yis mahm," said he, soberly and with emphasis. "He 's more 'n a dozen brave men, thet 's whut he is. He 's a joemightyful cuss. Ain't nuthin' he can't dew—spryer 'n a painter, stouter 'n a moose, an' treemenjous with a sword."

The moon sank low, peering through distant tree-columns, and went out of sight. Long stubs of dead pine loomed in the dim, golden afterglow, their stark limbs arching high in the heavens—like mullions in a great Gothic window.

"When we git nigh shore over yender," said my companion, "don't believe we better hev a grea' deal t' say. I ain't a-goin' t' be tuk—by a jugful—not ef I can help it. Got me 'n a tight place one night here 'n Canady."

"Ah, m'sieu', in Canada! How did you get out of it?" I queried.

"Slipped out," said he, shaking the canoe with suppressed laughter. "Jes' luk a streak o' greased lightnin'," he added presently.

"The captain he seems ver' anxious for me to mak' great hurry," I remarked.

"No wonder; it 's his lady-love he 's efter—faster 'n a weasel t' see 'er," said he, snickering.

"Good-looking?" I queried.

"Han'some es a pictur'," said he, soberly.

In a moment he dragged his paddle, listening.

"Thet air 's th' shore over yender," he whispered. "Don't say a word now. I 'll put ye right on the p'int o' rocks. Creep 'long careful till ye git t' th' road, then turn t' th' left, the cap'n tol' me."

When I stepped ashore my dress caught the gunwale and upset our canoe. The good man rolled noisily into the water, and rose dripping. I tried to help him.

"Don't bother me—none," he whispered testily, as if out of patience, while he righted the canoe.

When at last he was seated again, as I leaned to shove him off, he whispered in a compensating, kindly manner: "When ye 're goin' ashore, an' they 's somebody 'n the canoe, don't never try t' tek it with ye 'less ye tell 'im yer goin' tew."

There was a deep silence over wood and water, but he went away so stealthily I could not hear the stir of his paddle. I stood watching as he dimmed off in the darkness, going quickly out of sight. Then I crept over the rocks and through a thicket, shivering, for the night had grown chilly. I snagged my dress on a brier every step, and had to move by inches. After mincing along, half an hour or so, I came where I could feel a bit of clear earth, and stood there, dancing on my tiptoes, in the dark, to quicken my blood a little. Presently the damp light of dawn came leaking through the tree-tops. I heard a rattling stir in the bare limbs above me. Was it some monster of the woods? Although I have more courage than most women, it startled me, and I stood still. The light came clearer; there was a rush toward me that shook the boughs. I peered upward. It was only a squirrel, now scratching his ear, as he looked down at me. He braced himself, and seemed to curse me loudly for a spy, trembling with rage and rushing up and down the branch above me. Then all the curious, inhospitable folk of the timber-land came out upon their towers to denounce.

I made my way over the rustling, brittle leaves, and soon found a trail that led up over high land. I followed it for a matter of some minutes, and came to the road, taking my left-hand way, as they told me. There was no traveler in sight. I walked as fast as I could, passing a village at sunrise, where I asked my way in French at a smithy. Beyond there was a narrow clearing, stumpy and rank with briers, on the up-side of the way. Presently, looking over a level stretch, I could see trees arching the road again, from under which, as I was looking, a squad of cavalry came out in the open. It startled me. I began to think I was trapped. I thought of dodging into the brush. But, no; they had seen me, and I would be a fool now to turn fugitive. I looked about me. Cows were feeding near. I picked up a stick and went deliberately into the bushes, driving one of them to the pike and heading her toward them. They went by at a gallop, never pulling up while in sight of me. Then I passed the cow and went on, stopping an hour later at a lonely log house, where I found French people, and a welcome that included moose meat, a cup of coffee and fried potatoes. Leaving, I rode some miles with a traveling tinker, a voluble, well-meaning youth who took a liking for me, and went far out of his way to help me on. He blushed proudly when, stopping to mend a pot for the cook at a camp of militia, they inquired if I was his wife.

"No; but she may be yet," said he; "who knows?"

I knew it was no good place for me, and felt some relief when the young man did me this honor. From that moment they set me down for a sweetheart.

"She's too big for you, my boy," said the general, laughing.

"The more the better," said he; "can't have too much of a good wife."

I said little to him as we rode along. He asked for my address, when I left him, and gave me the comforting assurance that he would see me again. I made no answer, leaving him at a turn where, north of us, I could see the white houses of Wrentham. Kingston was hard by, its fort crowning a hill-top by the river.

It was past three by a tower clock at the gate of the Weirs when I got there. A driveway through tall oaks led to the mansion of dark stone. Many acres of park and field and garden were shut in with high walls. I rang a bell at the small gate, and some fellow in livery took my message.

"Wait 'ere, my lass," said he, with an English accent. "I 'll go at once to the secretary."

I sat in a rustic chair by the gateside, waiting for that functionary.

"Ah, come in, come in," said he, coolly, as he opened the gate a little.

He said nothing more, and I followed him—an oldish man with gray eyes and hair and side-whiskers, and neatly dressed, his head covered to the ears with a high hat, tilted backward. We took a stone path, and soon entered a rear door.

"She may sit in the servants' hall," said he to one of the maids.

They took my shawl, as he went away, and showed me to a room where, evidently, the servants did their eating. They were inquisitive, those kitchen maids, and now and then I was rather put to it for a wise reply. I said as little as might be, using the dialect, long familiar to me, of the French Canadian. My bonnet amused them. It was none too new or fashionable, and I did not remove it.

"Afraid we 'll steal it," I heard one of them whisper in the next room. Then there was a loud laugh.

Does It Cost You

TIME to read through the daily and weekly newspapers, the magazines and reviews, and the special journals that constantly clamor for attention? Can you find time to read enough of them to keep posted even on the important topics of human interest at home and abroad? Does the time demanded by so many periodicals leave you time enough for books?

DOES IT COST YOU—

MONEY to buy even a fairly representative list of papers and magazines? Can you afford to subscribe for as many as would be necessary to give you a complete survey of the world's politics, art, religion, industrial affairs, literature. etc.? Even if you had the time to read them, would you be able to buy several thousand periodicals, domestic and foreign?

DOES IT COST YOU—

WORRY to sift out the conflicting rumors concerning the Japan-Russia war, and to try to follow its progress? Or to get at the true state of the Presidential campaign, the chances of the several candidates, the tendencies in the various states, and the probabilities as to the platforms? Does it worry or weary you to "keep posted" in this busy, hustling age when there are so few moments for quiet reading and so many demands for your money.

Why Not Take This Tip—

"THE LITERARY DIGEST is a time-saver, a money-saver, and a worry-saver," says Edwin Markham, author of "The Man with the Hoe." It gives you in an hour or two, for ten cents a week, a complete survey of the world. All the leading dailies, weeklies, monthlies and quarterlies of America, Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia contribute their best to its pages. It gives all sides of all questions, and organized information on all topics. At all news stands every week, illustrated, 10 cents.

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

MABEL PAGE'S MURDER.

Prisoner Followed Testimony Closely and Suggested Questions.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 7.—Two points deemed important by them were developed by counsel at the sessions of the court which is trying Charles Louis Tucker on the charge of murdering Miss Mabel Page.

One of these was the statement by Harold Page, the brother of the murdered woman, that he had been acquainted with Tucker for more than six years and that the latter had called twice at the Page home, the first time at the invitation of the witness.

The other feature was the statement of M. D. Ewell, a handwriting expert, that the person who wrote the address "J. L. Morton, Charlestown, Mass.," on a piece of paper found on the floor of Miss Page's room after the murder, was the person who filled out and signed the sales slips alleged by the government to have been made out by Tucker while he was a salesman for a Boston firm of stationers.

On the day following Miss Page's funeral and Tucker's examination by the police Harold Page testified that the defendant and he rode together in a train from Boston to Auburndale. The witness testified that upon that occasion Tucker seated himself beside the witness and opened the conversation by saying, "Did you know that they've had me in it?"

When cross examined Page would not say positively that Tucker's first words to him did not contain an expression of sympathy.

While Page was on the stand Tucker followed the testimony closely and at times suggested questions to be asked by his counsel.

During the course of the trial all of the garments worn by Miss Page on the day she met death were entered as exhibits in the case. With the exception of the outer garments and the shoes and stockings, every article bore large crimson stains. A portion of a skeleton was employed again to illustrate the positions of the wounds.

Two Children Missing In Fire.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 7.—A fire last night in the little town of Broderick, about five miles from this city, during a heavy gale of wind, threatened the entire destruction of the town, together with a huge coal breaker. The fire was, however, confined to a double and single dwelling. These with their contents were destroyed. Two children of Peter Smith, occupying the house in which the fire broke out, are missing, and it is supposed that they were burned to death. The explosion of a lamp caused the fire.

Schooner Roosevelt Rescued Nine.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Jan. 7.—The Gloucester schooner Theodore Roosevelt arrived in port last night, bringing the captain, two mates, steward, four seamen and the captain's wife of the British brigantine Ohio, from Kingsport, N. S., for New York. The Ohio was abandoned yesterday, leaking and badly crippled by the terrific gale off Grand Manan. The Roosevelt put on board the brigantine a prize crew of eight men, who are trying to work the vessel into this harbor.

Fantan Player's Fate.

FOLSOM, Cal., Jan. 7.—Sing Yow, a Chinaman, was hanged here in the penitentiary for the murder of Jeong Him at Walnut Grove, Sacramento county, in October, 1902. The tragedy was the result of a fantan game.

KING'S TROPHY.

Handicap Won by Five Lengths at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 7.—Midge, which barely finished in the money in the last race, was the only beaten favorite. The weather was clear and cool and the track muddy.

There was some disappointment when Sam Hildreth withdrew Hands Across, the Hanover colt which made such a record for himself last season. Hands Across has been working well at the new Panama park and was in the six furlong handicap. He and Optional were the only ones withdrawn from it. Optional was ordered out by the stewards, as she cannot race here on other than a fast track. In the fourth race, the handicap, King's Trophy, won by five lengths. Summary:

First Race.—Agnes Virginia, first; Charlie Cella, second; Mr. Mack, third.

Second Race.—Maritana, first; Merry Acrobat, second; John Doyle, third.

Third Race.—Siss Lee, first; Lady Fonse, second; Jungle Imp, third.

Fourth Race.—King's Trophy, first; Sid Silver, second; Astarita, third.

Fifth Race.—Hymettus, first; Barkelmore, second; Lou Woods, third.

Sixth Race.—Red Ruler, first; Coruscate, second; Midge, third.

Flea's Jockey Fell Off.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 7.—The first race at Ascot proved the sensation of the day. It was a steeplechase, and as a result of the race two jockeys were indefinitely suspended for not returning and covering the course when told to do so. Flea appeared to be the winner at the last jump, when his jockey, Amos, fell off. The judges decided that Amos deliberately fell off and suspended him indefinitely. Cazador and Ed Lanigan both ran out of the course, but their riders turned around, came back, covered the course and eventually were given the first and second money. Valido fell, throwing his jockey, but a stable boy mounted him and rode him into third place. Favorites had a bad day of it.

Five Favorites In a Row.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—Five favorites in a row were knocked down at Oakland. The biggest upset was in the first race, when Distributor, at 15 to 1, won by a nose. Glendenning, the favorite in the second race, finished next to last. Follow Me, who was played to win the fifth, came in last.

Pennsylvania Downed Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Pennsylvania defeated Cornell in an exciting basket ball game in the armory here last night by a score of 29 to 25. The score at the end of the first half stood 12 to 17 in favor of Pennsylvania. At no time until the end was the result certain.

They were deposited with the failed Citizens' National bank of Oberlin, O., as collateral. When the bank failed the jewelry was taken possession of by the receiver, and it will be sold the same as the other assets of the bank. They were not deposited by Mrs. Chadwick, although it is said they once belonged to her.

BUFFALO, Jan. 7.—The jury in the case of Alderman Henry G. Schneider, accused of soliciting a bribe, last night returned a verdict of not guilty. RAGING TORRENT UNDER WESTERVELT AVE. BRIDGE

WATER ROSE WITHIN INCH OF BRIDGE DURING LAST NIGHT'S STORM.

As the result of the heavy rains, and melting snow last night, the bridge over Green brook at Westervelt avenue, was endangered, the water being within an inch of washing over it. The ice was washed up along the banks and the water overflowed for a distance of seventy feet on both sides of the stream. The brook is narrow and crooked at this point, and the result was that Brook avenue, Westervelt avenue and Elm place were practically impassable.

At about 4 o'clock this morning, the flood was at the height, and the residents in the vicinity say that it was the highest and the strongest torrent which has threatened the bridge for a ong time. The water reached within five feet of Mrs. E. B. Smith's residence on Westervelt avenue, while hugh cakes of ice blocked the road in front of the house.

TALKED OF JAPAN.

Miss Isabelle Whiteneck Was the Speaker at Meeting of Trinity Women's Mission Band.

Miss Isabelle Whiteneck, of Somerville, was the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Mission Band. of Trinity Reformed church, yesterday afternoon. The subject of the session was Japan, and at the conclusion of the routine business, Miss Whiteneck gave an enjoyable talk on that topic.

On account of the bad weather, the attendance was small, but the reports of the various committees were received, and the usual business transacted. The officers will be elected in February, to take charge in March, and these members were appointed as a nominating committee: Miss Mabel Wilson, Mrs. William Olmsted, Miss Mary VanFleet and Mrs. Frank Pearson. They will report at the next meeting.

In her address on the subject of "Japan," Miss Whiteneck spoke briefly on the work which is being conducted in the southern part of the island empire, describing interestingly incidents in the lives of the missionaries.

—Ohio Adams, of Junction, Hunterdon county, well known here and one of the best known and oldest railroad engineers of the Lackawanna road, died at his home Tuesday. He was seventy-two years old and his service on the Lackawanna covered a period of fifty years, forty-seven of which he was in the passenger service. He was a warm personal friend of "Uncle" Dan Roberts, of Prospect place.

—Chief Marshal George Weiss, of the borough, had a busy morning today warning a number of property owners who were still delinquent in the matter of cleaning the snow and ice from their sidewalks. The rain and higher temperature of last night cleaned off much of the stuff but where the snow had lain undisturbed, the rain simply reduced it to deep slush which will freeze into a solid sheet of ice if not removed before night.

The Sagamore Musical Club.

YOUNG MEN'S MUSICAL CLUB A POPULAR ONE

SAGAMORE INSTRUMENTALISTS BECOMING LOCAL FAVORITES.

The Sagamore Musical Club, an organization composed of young musicians of this city, has during the year of its existence become one of the most popular entertaining clubs of which the city boasts. Up to the present time the club has given several entertainments under the auspices of local churches, societies and other organizations, and has assisted at various other occasions.

Though entirely independent of that institution, the Sagamore Musical Club is an outgrowth of the Plainfield High School Mandolin Club. Nearly all of its players have been members of the school club, and several still play on both. Chester H. Briggs, of Albert street, is the leader of the club. In addition to Mr. Briggs, Monroe Long, Theodore Gavett and S. B. Howe, Jr., play mandolins. The banjo players are William Briggs and Garth Williams, while Charles Eoff, William Gaston and Herbert Smith play the violin. Irving Martin is the pianist.

In the performances given by the club it has had the assistance of Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, elocutionist; Miss Florence Bennett, soprano, and Miss Edith Hanaford, reciter. In addition to the professional services of Loraine, a Boston entertainer, the Sagamore Musical Club furnished the Christmas entertainment at Trinity Reformed church last week. It also played at the New Year's reception at Hope chapel.

BOYS' HIGH STANDARD IN GYMNASTIC WORK

Y. M. C. A. JUNIORS HAVE MADE DECIDED PHYSICAL ADVANCEMENT.

A decided change in the character of the gymnastic work of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. has made itself noticed in the last few months. In fact there has been a gradual improvement ever since the classes re-opened for the fall term. Though the class is the largest it has been in years, and the boys are equally as young as those who have formerly made up the department, the kind of work which the youngsters are accomplishing, and their degree of excellence in gymnastic events far exceeds any standard attained by former classes.

This advancement is almost entirely due to Physical Director Fred A. Henckel, who has charge of the gymnastic work in all the departments. His methods and the novelty which he has infused into the drills, apparatus work and games have brought the junior department to a level where they compare favorably with any boys' class in the State.

Among the boys there are several excellent gymnasts, and there is a lack of fear and a snap in all the work, which is decidedly creditable. Many of the juniors do moves on the apparatus which are considered hard in the senior department, and the standing of the classes, grade for grade, is higher than it is to be found in many gymnasiums.

Anchoring to Icebergs.

It has been found that the currents round the coast of Newfoundland make at times a wide difference in the direction of the drift of icebergs and that of the flat or pan ice, which, having no great depth, is governed in its motions by the surface currents and the winds. The icebergs, the larger part of which are submerged to a great depth, follow only the movement of the ocean water as a whole and are uninfluenced by the winds. Thus a huge iceberg may often be seen majestically maintaining its slow advance in opposition to the wind and across the general motion of the fields of flat ice surrounding it. The sealers often take advantage of this fact by mooring their vessels to an iceberg to prevent their ship drifting to leeward. The movement of these great mountains of ice is practically irresistible.

Dilution Extraordinary.

A member of the French Academy reported that 25 experiments on animals showed each time that poisoned blood is active even after dilution one trillion one million times. The strength of the average homeopathic dose is from about the third to the sixth decimal. This demonstrates that those who say that there is no medicine in a homoeopathic dose betray ignorance.

The Doukhobors Improving.

A Canadian government agent who has just returned to England says the Doukhobors in Canada are making progress. "They no longer work their women instead of their cattle in the fields."

Big Investment.

The capital invested in the mineral water industry in Great Britain is nearly $75,000,000.

MISS BURT'S WEDDING

Ceremony Performed by a Classmate of the Groom.

NOW MRS. H. R. REITER

College Friends Attend the Popular Couple—Costly Gifts Exchanged.

Miss Edith Burt, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William C. Burt, and granddaughter of the late Chauncey Schaffer, of New York, and Howard Roland Reiter, of Philadelphia, were married Saturday night at 6:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride in West Seventh street. Rev. George Gilmour, a classmate of the groom at Princeton University, and now pastor of the Congregational church at Rutland, Vt., officiated. There were one hundred guests from Philadelphia, Baltimore, the New England States and this city.

It was a green wedding, Christmas greens predominating, while in the dining room the prevailing color was red.

The bride gowned in white satin crepe de chine, trimmed with French lace, and wearing a veil fastened with a spray of orange blossoms and carrying bride roses, was attended by Miss Marion Douglass, of Minneapolis, a classmate at Wellesley College, as maid-of-honor, and Miss Edith Carpenter, of New York, as bridesmaid. They were gowned in white chiffon over pink chiffon, trimmed with lace. They carried pink roses.

Newkirk Reiter, of Princeton University, brother of the groom, was best man, and Frank Reiter, another brother, Charles Crawford Burt and Chauncey Burt, brothers of the bride, were ushers. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Warren S. Burt. The wedding march was played by Harry Vannesurdam, quarterback and member of the musical clubs at Wesleyan University.

After the ceremony congratulations were offered and supper served. Later the couple departed on a southern trip. Upon their return they will reside here temporarily.

In the exchange of gifts among those of the bridal party, the bride gave her attendants enameled pearl pins. The groom gave his bride a diamond pendant and to his best man and ushers he gave diamond stick pins. The bride received a large number of gifts of value and use, including a solid silver service from the faculty and pupils at The Seminary, where she was an instructor in athletics.

The bride is a graduate of the Plainfield High School, Class of '97, Wellesley College and the New York School of Expression. For three years she has been in charge of the athletics at The Seminary. She has also been prominent in the production of several plays given at the Park Club and the Casino by local society.

It was at Asbury Park that she met Mr. Reiter while he was a life-saver. Being an expert swimmer, she became interested in his work and two years ago the couple made a heroic rescue of a drowning person.

"Bossy" as his friends know him best, was the star half-back on the champion 'Varsity football eleven at Princeton during the years '96, '98 and '99. He was graduated from the university in the Class of '98, but returned for a three years' course in the theological seminary. In 1900 the degree of master of arts was conferred on him. Last season he coached the football eleven at Wesleyan University and he is now considering an offer to take charge of the athletics there. He has also devoted some time to evangelistic work, meeting with good success.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Colored Man Lost His Life in Westfield Fire.

Frank Deers, an aged colored man, was burned to death yesterday morning in a fire that destroyed an Italian shanty on Central avenue, Westfield. The fire was discovered at 3 o'clock by one of the tenants, a young Italian, and he gave the alarm calling out the fire department. When the firemen arrived the shanty was practically destroyed, together with the contents. All the tenants escaped but Deers, he being too old and feeble to make his way through the intense heat and dense smoke. He was seen trying to get out of the burning building, and then fall back from exhaustion into the ruins. After the fire was extinguished the remains were found. They were burned almost beyond recognition. Deers was a stranger in Westfield, having lived there but a short time. He had no family.

FRANK L. SCHOONMAKER GIVES A BACHELOR DINNER

MISS EATON, THE PROSPECTIVE BRIDE, ENTERTAINS HER ATTENDANTS.

Frank L. Schoonmaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvanus L. Schoonmaker, of Central avenue, who will be married to Miss Grace L. Eaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Llewellyn Eaton, of 40 West Seventy-third street, New York, on Wednesday, January 18, gave his bachelor dinner Saturday night at Delmonico's. His guests included Lewis E. Waring, Henry W. Lowe, Charles W. Fisk, Henry W. Bull, Frank T. Reamer, Hastings Arnold, William C. Clark, George S. Oliver and J. Frederic Byers, who will be his attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Schoonmaker recently entertained the entire bridal party at a dinner in the annex of the Metropolitan Club.

While Mr. Schoonmaker was giving his bachelor dinner, Miss Eaton gave a dinner to her bridesmaids, when her guests included Mrs. Lewis E. Waring, of this city; Mrs. Witherbee Black, of Pelham Manor, the Misses F. Louise Vanderhoef, Madeline Evans, Helen Judson, Betty Collamore, Mona House, of Texas; Evelyn Ellison, of Philadelphia; Margaret Luce and Gretchen Schoonmaker, who will be her attendants.

DATES AHEAD IN P. H. S. BASKET BALL SCHEDULE

ALL HOME GAMES CONFRONT TEAM FOR THIS SEASON.

The remainder of the dates in the Plainfield High School basketball schedule are all in this city. The management has cancelled all out of town dates, and with the exception of one or two, the remaining games are those in the Interscholastic Basketball League. Since the team has lost the services of its three best players, the spirit and interest in the game has lagged, and the boys will welcome the conclusion of the season.

They have met with rather hard knocks ever since their defeat by the Leal's School team in the first league game. Then came the deluge at Newark Academy, and the Waterloo at East Orange. The team will play a game with the East Orange High School here on January 21. In the league, the team has the N. P. H. S. aggregation to go up against on January 11, and the Leal's team to tackle on January 18. On February 1, the Montclair Military Academy will come to this city, while there will be a third game between Leal's and the High School on February 8. March 1 will see the championship scholastic team of New Jersey, the South Orange High School five here. The game will have very little interest for the P. H. S. players, but those who desire to see fast team work have an opportunity to witness it in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on that date.

JOHN H. DUNN DIES FOLLOWING OPERATION

PLAINFIELD MAN PASSES AWAY IN NEW YORK HOSPITAL.

John H. Dunn, of Jackson avenue, who recently underwent an operation at Flower Hospital, New York, for the removal of the right leg at the knee, died at that institution at 5 o'clock this morning. He had been troubled with an abscess of the knee bone since he was two years old and an operation was finally decided to be necessary. The operation was considered successful and for a time the patient appeared to be recovering. There was a change for the worst a few days ago and the patient sank rapidly.

Mr. Dunn was born at New Market, where he lived during his younger days. He learned the trade of harness making and worked for several years at that occupation here. Three years ago he took a position with the Plainfield Cab Company and worked there until he went to New York for the operation. He leaves three sisters, Mrs. Augusta Dodge, with whom he lived; Mrs. Joseph Randolph, of Elmwood place, and Miss Nettie Dunn, of Jersey City.

The remains will be brought to the home of Mrs. Dodge today by A. M. Runyon & Son, the undertakers.

TRINITY CHURCH HELPS THE COMANCHE TRIBE

FIELD SECRETARY'S APPEAL BRINGS QUICK RESPONSE.

Mrs. Alfred Page, field secretary of Indian Work of the Woman's Executive Board of Domestic Missions of the Reformed church, addressed the Sunday-school of Trinity Reformed church, yesterday afternoon. She presented the great need of the Gospel for the Comanche tribe, which recently expressed a great longing for a church and preacher through two of its prominent leaders, Nahwais and Peraconio. These two Indian chiefs have been devoted followers of the Jesus road for several years, and have been God's instrument in bringing many of their tribe to give up their old life of gambling and worship of sun and stars, and their crying need is for the Gospel and a place of worship.

Mrs. Page's address was interspersed with testimony of Nahwais and Peraconio given in sign language, which was very interesting. At the close of the service, which had been arranged for by the Missionary Society of the Sunday-school, a motion was made that one-half of the Twentieth Century Fund on hand, be given toward the work among the Comanches, also that a special collection be taken for the same cause the last Sunday in the month.

PLAINFIELD PYTHIANS INVADE PORT TER

SEVERAL HUNDRED KNIGHTS ATTEND INSTALLATION CEREMONY.

A large delegation of members from Crescent Company, No. 18, U. R., K. of P., journeyed to Port Chester, N. Y., Saturday evening, where they installed a new uniform company, connected with Port Chester Lodge, No. 33. The initiatory work was conducted by Crescent's own team, assisted by Colonel P. Frank Shanley, of Jersey City, and Captain Hale, of Brooklyn. Colonel Shanley made an excellent address which was responded to by Captain McCullough, of the new company.

At the conclusion of the exercises, the Plainfielders were made the guests of honor at a banquet which was attended by several hundred Knights. One of the members of the new company is Robert Patterson, formerly of West Dunellen, and father of Harvey L. Patterson, a Westfield wreck victim who was a leading member of Crescent Company at the time of his death and through which Plainfield and Port Chester were brought together.

TWO MILLIONS IN P. S. C. ARE OFFERED FOR SALE

FIDELITY TRUST COMPANY TO ISSUE THEM IN VARIOUS DENOMINATIONS.

These certificates will net the investor five and a half per cent. per annum.

By the terms of these certificates, the Public Service Corporation agrees to pay interest on a graduated scale—2½ per cent. per annum during the year 1905, and increasing at the rate of one-half per cent. per annum until May, 1912, when and thereafter the rate of interest is six per cent. Fidelity Trust Company endorses upon the interest bearing certificates hereby offered, its agreement to pay each year up to 1912, an additional amount of interest, thus immediately bringing the aggregate stipulated rate of interest up to six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually. These perpetual interest bearing certificates can be issued in any denomination, thus making available for investment any sum of money and in consequence are particularly desirable for small investors.

PROHIBITIONIST'S TALK

Anti-Saloon League Superintendent Praises Plainfield.

NON-SECTARIAN WORK

Rev. Dr. Charles E. Nash Addresses a Large Congregation at First Baptist Church.

Rev. Dr. Charles Edward Nash, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, spoke to a large congregation at the First Baptist church, yesterday morning, concerning the work this organization is doing in New Jersey. In a forcible way he gave a clear idea of the methods being used to limit the power of the saloon, stating that it was not the purpose or hope that the saloon could be abolished at once.

He praised Plainfield's method of dealing with the liquor problem, that of high license and paid tribute to a communication in The Daily Press, written by C. W. McCutchen on the question of licenses. Dr. Nash said that he hoped to secure a confederation of God's people in fighting the saloon influence and to agitate and educate the masses. He spoke favorably of local option and referred to Kentucky, Ohio, Texas, Georgia and other States where it is in operation with good results.

Perhaps, one of the most interesting statements made was that while the Prohibition party is doing a good work in some ways, it is being realized by the strongest members of that party that the desired object cannot be accomplished through this political body. Dr. Nash said that he expected that some radical changes would soon be made in the Prohibition party which would benefit the Anti-Saloon League.

Speaking of the organization he represents, Dr. Nash characterized it as being legal, benevolent and Catholic. It was proposed to do everything in a legal manner, and act in a benevolent spirit toward all and the platform is such that all persons interested in the movement can accept it, Protestants as well as Catholics. He said that some of the strongest supporters of the league are Catholic priests. The church in action against the saloon, Dr. Nash said, was one of the chief objects of the league.

The Anti-Saloon League is now preparing a local option bill which it hopes to present to the Legislature this winter. This bill will give any district or community the right to ask for local option privileges. Dr. Nash added that the league does not propose to ask for too much, but if the little that is asked for is not granted, it is planned to give opposing legislators a long vacation the same as is done in other States.

At the close of the address many persons subscribed various amounts toward the support of the league in its work.

A. W. Kenworthy Hurt.

Arthur W. Kenworthy, of 21 Willow avenue, while riding his bicycle to the North Avenue station, this morning about 8 o'clock, collided with a cab being driven by William Bird, of the borough. Mr. Kenworthy was thrown off his wheel, receiving a severe shock and a few bruises. He was assisted to Boice, Runyon & Co.'s office, and later was able to go to New York. Mr. Kenworthy preferred a charge of reckless driving against Bird and he was arraigned in the city court. He pleaded not guilty and the matter was adjourned indefinitely in order to allow the complainant to appear in person.

Criterions Active.

The recently re-organized Criterion Club will issue invitations this week for the first of a series of dances to be given in the Casino. The date has not yet been fixed upon but it will be the latter part of the month. The committee to have charge consists of Harry DeMeza, Bert Simpson and Harry Blimm.

G. A. R. Installation.

There will be a joint installation of officers of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and Woman's Relief Corps, No. 10, tomorrow night. The department commander and staff will be present and there will be visiting comrades from many Posts. A collation will be served.

FARMERS LEARN HOW TO MAKE A DAIRY PROFITABLE

SOMERSET COUNTY AGRICULTURISTS ELECT OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR.

"The Way to Make a Dairy Profitable," was the subject of an able address by Charles Howell Cook, of Trenton, Saturday afternoon, before the members of the Somerset County Agricultural Society in the court house at Somerville. Mr. Cook's advice to the farmers was to continually weed out the poor cows from the herd and not to keep cattle that are inclined to eat their heads off and give little milk in return. The question was also discussed with profit by Mr. Cortelyou, of Neshanic; Bernard Meyer, of Finderne, and Joseph Fitzgs, of Somerville.

The society elected these officers for the coming year: President, L. A. Schenck; vice president, Bernard Meyer; secretary and treasurer, J. P. Sutphen. W. H. Rogers, of this place, was among those present at the meeting.

Sheriff Edward E. Cooper, the retiring president of the society, in his annual address said the outlook for the New Jersey farmers was more encouraging than it had been in many years.

DATE SET FOR Y. M. C. A. INDOOR ATHLETIC MEET

INTER-ASSOCIATION EVENT TO TAKE PLACE AT NEWARK MARCH 1.

The Physical Directors' Association of Northern New Jersey has decided upon Wednesday evening, March 1, as the date for the indoor inter-association basketball championship contest. The event will take place at Newark and will be open to all the Y. M. C. A. physical departments who are represented in the society, which includes about fifteen.

The athletic committee has named the events for the meet which will be as follows: 15 yard dash, running high jump, fence vault, 12 pound shot put, running high dive, one mile relay race (four men team.) All these events will take place indoors, and points will be recorded for each event on the scale of five, three and one. There will be first and second prizes in each event, with the exception of the relay race, where four rewards will be offered.

According to the rules governing the athletic meet, each association may be represented in each event by two men, not necessarily the same in every one. The winning association will be given a handsome shield or loving cup, with the names of the team thereon.

For the purpose of selecting the representatives of the local association, several preliminary contests will be held where there is any chance of competition, and the relay team as well as the participants in the meet will be chosen by the physical director. As there is plenty of time before the event, the selection will not be made for some time.

OLD GLORY COUNCIL'S NINTH ANNIVERSARY

ORGANIZATION NOW HAS A MEMBERSHIP OF 148

Having recently completed the most prosperous year since its organization, the celebration of the ninth anniversary of Old Glory Council, Daughters of Liberty, took place Saturday evening. The local council won the prize offered by the State Councilor for the greatest increase in membership. On December 3, 49 members were added to the Council's roll. At the conclusion of the celebration, a supper was served, which was enjoyed by 150 persons.

Old Glory Council was started in 1896 with 33 charter members. As the result of the untiring efforts of the members of the council, the membership has increased to 148. Mrs. W. C. Walker, the secretary, read a letter from the State Councilor in which he complimented the council upon its work.

Pupils' Recital.

HE CHAMPIONS REVIVALS

Rev. Mr. Mooney Challenges Claim They're Unnecessary.

PRAISES METHODISTISM

Pastor of Monroe Avenue M. E. Church Holds First of Week's Special Services.

Inaugurating a season of evangelistic services which will be continued through the week, excepting tonight and Saturday, Rev. George Mooney, pastor of Monroe Avenue M. E. church, spoke briefly last night from the subject, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

Replying in advance to the criticisms of those who consider revivals obsolete or unnecessary, in opening, Mr. Mooney stated that he found the most pleasant portion of his ministerial work, the part which came the nearest to constituting its own reward, in preaching and prayer which had for its primary object the bringing of new converts into the fold.

He mentioned the fine tribute paid by Canon Farrar, of the Anglican church, to John Wesley, when he credited him with having originated evangelistic activity in England and said that recognition of the debt England owed Wesley on that score, was bound to come though tardily.

He mentioned also the numerical strength of the denomination in this county, saying that of the thousands of graves filled by victims of the great Civil War, one in every five was filled by a Methodist boy. The Methodist church, he said, was the most numerous Protestant evangelical denomination in the country. This strength in point of numbers together with the fact that it was recruited almost exclusively among the truly representative portion of our population, renders the denomination a vital factor in our national life.

In throwing the meeting open to those who wished to give testimony of their Christian experience, the pastor invited the congregation to throw restraint aside and feel free to express their emotions as though discussing any other important topic. He preferred hearing a man shout over religious benefits, to hearing him shout in the stock market, he said, and mentioned in this connection, the extension of the practice of holding experience meetings, into other denominations and into inter-denominational gatherings, such as the meeting at Northfield, where one can hear in rapid succession, willing, earnest testimony from representatives of every denomination.

At this point Mr. Mooney stated that the subject, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" was chosen more for presentation to those who participated in the service, than the theme for an extended discourse.

After a number of those present had offered prayer and spoken their few words of testimony, the pastor read from Genesis IV, the words of the subject and went on to say that every one of us is responsible to his or her fellows to a considerable extent. For one thing, selfish living robs others around us of the opportunities which example always offers those who are susceptible of conversion.

Again, the attitude taken by those who say, "I will accept the offer of salvation when I get ready," is one of extreme selfiness as can be testified to by thousands of preachers who have been called on to offer consolation to wives made widows or parents rendered childless, and bowed by the knowledge that their dear ones had often refused or put off the proffered crown of immortality. Universal recognition of our responsibility to others in this respect, would rob bereavements of half their bitterness by the assurance of a blessed reunion later on.

In bringing his talk to a close, Mr. Mooney said that this question of responsibility lent an intense human interest to the story of Cain's jealousy and sin even for those who professed to regard the story as only allegorical.

He closed the service with a prayer for guidance for those who had not yet decided this great question of life, and an invitation to the meetings which will be held tomorrow, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

Changes Among Carriers.

Frank Bailey, who was first on the list as sub-letter-carrier, has been made a regular and is now carrying the route formerly held by Carrier Phillip Giese. The route formerly carried by Patrick Reville, who was dismissed from the service, is now in charge of Mr. Giese and Robert Goldsack returns to his former position of substitute.

The taking of stock in January is very generally done everywhere and goods that have not moved fast enough, the live merchant puts aside and marks down at a price that will make them go. The McManus Bros., of Elizabeth, have put aside a lot of such goods and the deep cut made on the prices will soon clear them out. Just now the firm is having a fire sale so that there is abundant opportunity for alert buyers to get general house-furnishings much below the cost of manufacture.

STAGE BRIDGE FELL

Ten Opera Singers Injured at New York.

PINNED UNDER WRECKED STRUCTURE

Members of Metropolitan Chorus and Audience In Panic at Saturday Night Performance—A Woman's Brave Conduct.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—By the collapse of a bridge on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House on Saturday night during the first act of "Carmen" ten persons were badly injured and the entire company of more than a hundred and the audience were thrown into a state of panic. Through the prompt action of Mr. Conried and those in charge of the stage and exits order was quickly restored in the audience, and after a lapse of a quarter of an hour the curtain was lifted, and the opera went on.

The injured are: Mme. Aina Ackte, Wanda Adamsky, whose condition is critical; Nattalio Corneglio, Catherine Haha, Attelio Langagani, Giovanni Marino, Desidero Pezetti, Vincenzio Reggadoni, Ida Robenstein and Giovanni Rossi.

Within five minutes after the crash on the stage a report was spread along Broadway that the ceiling had fallen, and excited crowds rushed to the opera house. The sudden rush of ambulances from Bellevue and Roosevelt hospitals strengthened this rumor, and hundreds who had friends in the place frantically insisted upon being admitted.

The stage setting in the first act of "Carmen" represented a square in Seville. To the left is a high bridge with sloping approaches, over which the principals cross to their entry to the stage and over which also passes the guard and the chorus. Andreas Dippel, who sings Don Jose, and Mme. Ackta, who takes the part of Micaela, were standing near the front of the stage, about to begin a duet.

The guard had been relieved and was just returning to the wings over the stage. Mme. Ackte was standing only a few feet from it. She had just started to advance toward Mr. Dipple when there was a sudden splitting sound, a scream from half a dozen women in the wings, and then came a crash, the heavy bridge collapsing in the middle, carrying with it the fourteen men and women who were crossing at the instant. First the center collapsed, and then the buttresses caved in upon the debris.

Screams came from all parts of the stage. Those in the audience plainly saw the confused mass of timbers and bodies crashing to the floor, and many thought it was a novel incident that had been added to the scene. The singing continued, but it was sporadic and punctuated with hysterical outcries. A bolt had given away in the structure. The beams sagged, the bridge swayed and then fell with a crash, crushing to the floor the unfortunate ones who happened to be standing under it. Those on the bridge were not injured.

Scarcely had the bridge crashed down on the stage floor when a young woman in evening dress left the side of her escort in one of the boxes and darted through a door on the left side of the stage. Throwing aside her opera cloak, she quickly passed from one to another of the injured, giving instructions to those about her what to do. When it was learned that she was a nurse and a graduate of the New York Postgraduate hospital a shout went up from those who had witnessed her brave conduct.

To all who asked she declined to give her name, but from those who knew her it was learned that she was Miss Edith Brownwell of this city. Four physicians who chanced to be in the audience quickly ran to the stage, and before the surgeons arrived they had set the broken legs of two of the men, using for splints such pieces of wood as they could find on the stage and in the property room. Frank Palmer, stage manager, was arrested and taken to the Thirtieth street police station after the injured had been cared for.

Murderer Captured In a Barn.

BARRE, Mass., Jan. 9.—Joseph Milos was stabbed in the abdomen during a fight in a tenement house occupied by Polish families in South Barre. He died at noon. Joseph Tiscinski, with whom Milos was fighting, was captured in a barn two miles from the scene of the tragedy by Constable Fred Parmeter and is in the Barre lockup. Jagzaga Raztkefske is also under arrest as a witness.

Liquor Establishment Burned.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—Carl F. Laubers' wholesale and retail liquor establishment and restaurant, located in the center of the city, was last night damaged to the extent of $25,000 by a fire which originated in the kitchen on the second floor. A large quantity of wine and spirits stored in the basement was rendered useless by fire and water.

Owned African Diamond Mines.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—According to the son of George E. Kimberly, sixty-nine years old, of 98 Fifth avenue, who died on Saturday night in the New York hospital, the latter was the son of the fabulously rich George E. Kimberly, who at one time owned the diamond mines of that name in Africa.

WILL GO TO JAPAN

Russian Generals Will Share Fate of Their Men.

LONG BLOCKADE RAISED BY TOGO.

Fock and Smirnoff, Refusing Parole, With Half Their Officers Decide to Become Prisoners of War. Czar War Council.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Advices from the headquarters of the Japanese army at Port Arthur says that Lieutenant Generals Fock and Smirnoff have decided to go to Japan as prisoners of war. General Smirnoff was in command of the forts at Port Arthur, and General Fock commanded the fourth division of the army there. General Fock says he will drill his men in Japan.

Fifty per cent of the Russian officers will go to Japan and share with their men the fate of prisoners of war.

There are five Russian admirals at Port Arthur, one of whom will go to Japan. Among the admirals was Prince Ouktomsky, reported to have escaped.

Twelve foreign naval attaches have visited Port Arthur and inspected the remains of the Russian fleet.

Vice Admiral Shibeyama, commandant at Kure, has been appointed to the command of Port Arthur.

Lieutenant General Stoessel will leave Dalny on Wednesday on a Japanese transport for Nagasaki. He will be accompanied by the other paroled officers. The Russians probably will remain in Japan for a few days and then proceed on a French steamer to Europe, going by way of the Suez canal.

General Nogi reports that the officers paroled to date number 441 and orderlies 229.

The transfer of prisoners at Port Arthur was completed yesterday. The total number of officers transferred was 878; men, 23,491.

The Japanese intend to establish a naval station at Port Arthur.

The military administration at Port Arthur will retain only a small garrison as soon as the prisoners are withdrawn and order is restored.

General Kuropatkin from Mukden reports the frustration of a Japanese attempt to surprise his center front during the night and the bayoneting of twenty-one Japanese during a cavalry reconnoissance in the valley of the Taitse river, in the direction of Sianchan.

Advices from St. Petersburg this morning say that the conferences which Emperor Nicholas has been holding with members of the council of the empire, M. Witte and other ministers and advisors on the internal and external situation have not yet been concluded, but nothing has occurred which would indicate that the government is prepared to depart from its present programme of continuing the war to the bitter end. Nevertheless, talk of peace is heard in many quarters, the foundation for it being ascribed to Foreign Minister Lamsdorff's alleged position in favor of a treaty of peace on the ground that, aside from the humiliation to military prestige involved, it would only mean the relinquishment of Manchuria, to which Russia already is formally pledged.

The belief which existed in exceptionally well informed diplomatic circles that Japan would follow the fall of Port Arthur with moderate peace propositions has not been realized up to the present time.

A dispatch from Tokyo says that Admiral Togo has issued an order abolishing the blockade of the Liautong peninsula. For the present, however, no ships except those in the Japanese government service will be allowed to enter Port Arthur.

A celebration at Hibiya park, Tokyo, under the auspices of the Tokyo municipality, ended the week's jubilation begun upon the return of Vice Admiral Togo from the front. There were speechmaking and fireworks and the students and merchant guilds paraded the streets, which were gay with flags and lanterns.

It is reported that Rear Admiral Prince Ouktomsky and Rear Admiral Dochinsky have escaped from Port Arthur on a small steam launch disguised as sailors.

A report from Suda Bay says that Vice Admiral Botrovsky's division of the Russian second Pacific squadron, consisting of the cruisers Oleg, Izumrud, Dnieper and Rion and the torpedo boat destroyers Grozny, Gromski and Rezity, which have been delayed there, have left for Port Said.

Russians Prayed and Danced.

DALNY, Manchuria, Jan. 9. — The Russian prisoners while waiting at Changkingtsu, a railway station, celebrated the approach of the new year. Religious services were held in the morning, and the assemblage of prisoners was addressed by a Russian priest in full canonical dress. After the services there was music and dancing on the open ground in front of the station. The eight-year-old daughter of a Russian officer was among the prisoners. Fifty per cent of the officers are going to Japan.

Adams Claims to Be In Better Position Than Ever, as Investigation Now Includes the Whole State of Colorado.

DENVER, Jan. 9.—The legislature in joint session has canvassed the returns of the state election and declared Alva Adams elected governor. He will be duly inaugurated tomorrow, and Governor Peabody will at once enter a contest, which his friends declare will result in his favor. This decision was not reached until after a day of contention, which at times reached an acute stage. The conservative Republicans finally prevailed, the radicals securing one of their chief demands. This was that Adams will not appoint supreme court justices until the contest to be instituted by Peabody has been decided and that if Adams wins he will appoint the men named by the Republicans.

There was an exciting contest in the senate here when the nominations for judges of the supreme court made by Governor Peabody came up for consideration. The Democrats held a caucus last night and at its close declared that they would fight the nominations to the supreme bench of Bailey and Goddard with all their power. They claim, moreover, that with the Republican senators, Campbell and Delong, voting with them they will be able to prevent the confirmation.

The Republican leaders declare that they have received personal pledges from enough Republican senators to insure the confirmation of the two men. They are not overconfident of the issue, however, and admit that there will be something of a struggle before the confirmation is received.

It is Governor Peabody's present intention to contest the election of Governor Elect Adams. Under the law he cannot file notice of contest before today, the fifth day of the session. He has several days in which to file his notice of contest, however, and he may not do so until after the inauguration of Governor Elect Adams.

The latter said:

"I do not know whether Governor Peabody will make a contest or not, but I expect that he will. I am in a much better position for such a proceeding now then I was two days ago. At that time the investigation was confined by the court to the city and county of Denver. Now it includes the whole state, and I feel confident that the Democrats can show as many or more fraudulent Republican votes in the outlying counties than the Republicans claim were cast by the Democrats in Denver. I am certain of the result if the entire state is brought into the contest, as it must be if Governor Peabody decides on such a course."

Tidal Wave on English Coast.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—A tidal flood on the east coast has caused an enormous amount of damage at watering places from Scarborough as far south as Dover. Eight hundred feet of the pier at Scarborough, which cost $125,000, was swept away, and the promenades on the sea front were broken up. Nearly all parts of the town of Yarmouth were inundated, hundreds of houses were flooded, and the inhabitants were obliged to vacate their homes.

Was Preparing to Kill Roosevelt.

DERBY, Conn., Jan. 9.—On application of his father Raphael A. Salvatore of Shelton, an Italian, nineteen years old, who is alleged to have been making preparations to go to Washington to kill President Roosevelt, was committed in the probate court to the Connecticut Hospital For the Insane. It is said that the youth had become imbued with morbid ideas through reading anarchistic literature.

Two Starin Liners Ashore.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The Starin line steamboats Howard Carroll and Matteawan, which went ashore at Bergen point, Bayonne, N. J., Friday during the storm, are still fast. Several tugs have attempted to move them without success. They are surrounded by ice, and it is likely they cannot be floated until an unusually high tide.

Farmer Burned In His Barn.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Jan. 9.—At an early hour in the morning the outbuildings on the farm of George W. Decker, north of this city, with twenty-three cows, other stock and implements, were destroyed by fire. Decker went into the barn to save the cattle and was burned to death. The loss is $5,000.

A Wayne Speed Skater.

WAYNE, Pa., Jan. 9.—From a field of some of the best schoolboy speed skaters in New York Benjamin Gatins of the Wayne school won the half mile handicap race for boys under eighteen years of age. A generous handicap contributed considerably to the success of the Pennsylvanian.

New Jersey Floods Subsiding.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The floods in northern and eastern New Jersey, which caused much damage, particularly along the Raritan and Pequannock rivers, have subsided rapidly. A drop in temperature checked the melting of snow in the hills.

Princeton Hockeyites Defeated.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Princeton went down to defeat before Columbia in the opening championship game of the Intercollegiate Hockey league at the St. Nicholas rink on Saturday night. The score was 3 goals to 1.

The New York Times is comfortably housed in a building of its own in Times Square, the structure being as big as is the newspaper's reputation for publishing "all the news that's fit to print."

Mayor Buckle's first annual message is awaited with more than usual interest for the average taxpayer is anxious to learn what stand he will take on the question of municipal collection and disposal of garbage as well as the equally important subject of "spite-houses." By vigorously advocating the inauguration of the one and the suppression of the other, he will be serving the best interests of the city.

"DUTCH" IDES CAUGHT.

Outlaw, With Two Companions, Surrounded at a Toolhouse, Near Cranford.

After eluding the authorities for more than four months Frank, alias "Dutch," Ides, the young outlaw who escaped from the State Reformatory at Rahway on September 2, was captured shortly before midnight Saturday by detectives of the Elizabeth police in a Central Railroad toolhouse near Cranford. Chief Tenny, of Elizabeth, received information on Saturday that the outlaw, with two companions, James Smith, of Staten Island, and Harry Anderson, of Elizabeth, had been seen that morning in Cranford.

The Chief sent Detectives Murphy, Hess, O'Brien and Ward to Cranford that night, with intructions to capture the outlaw, as he had previously eluded, in Elizabeth, at his mother's house, a detail of six policemen after a running fight in which he emptied his reoviver at the officers, who sent a volley of bullets after him.

The officers, after searching Cranford for some hours, got on the track of the outlaw and went to the toolhouse. They surrounded it and then told him to surrender. Ides saw he was trapped and told the officers he would come out and give himself up if they would not shoot. Then the outlaw and his companions walked out of the place and were quickly handcuffed and taken to Elizabeth. There they were put in cells.

Ides is twenty-two years old. He is accused of committing numerous robberies since his escape from the reformatory.

SNAP SHOTS.

Last year the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital made an arrangement with the city to care for the indigent poor of the city who needed medical attention and nursing, for the sum of $1,500. Naturally, the hospital would receive persons of this class and the proposition that the city contribute some stated amount toward the expense was made to the Common Council by the Board of Governors. Corporation Counsel Marsh by investigating the matter learned that while the law does not permit the city to make a contribution to the city, it has the right to set aside some stated sum for the care of its poor. The Board of Governors renewed the offer this year and it will be accepted by the city.

GRAND JURY'S REPORT ON COURT HOUSE BLDG.

AND ON THE SOMERSET COUNTY JAIL AS WELL.

The text of the presentment made by the grand jury to the Somerset County Court relative to the need of a new court house is as follows:

"To the Honorable Judges of the Court of Oyer and Terminer, of Somerset County:

"Prompted by the condition in which we found the Court House building, we decided to make an investigation of all the county buildings, and make to this Court a report of their condition and such requirements that seem to us proper.

"We found everything about the jail as clean as it is possible, under existing circumstances to make them. We find the present system for flushing the closets inadequate. The construction of the jail is antiquated. The prisoners are reasonably secure when locked in cells, but when allowed to be at large in the corridor, as is usual and humane, during the day time, the jail is not at all secure, having only a plain brick wall without the steel lining which is usual in modern jails, the bricks being easily removed unless alost constant guard is kept over the prisoners.

"As to the county offices we would report that the County Clerk, Surrogate and Sheriff are all cramped for room to properly do the work pertaining to their respective offices, and that additional space is now needed for properly placing the record books and papers in the office of the County Clerk, and under present conditions there is danger of valuable records being lost. No private room is provided for any one of these officers, which on many occasions is very essential and important for them to have. We found much of the interior of the Court House in a very dilapidated condition, and lacking in proper facility for the work for which it is intended. The stairway leading to the Grand Jury and jury room is both dangerous and difficult. No retiring room is provided for either the Grand Jury or witnesses attendant upon the Grand Jury. No waiting room is provided in the Court House for the accommodation of women, nor is there room to accommodate all the county officers who should have their offices at the Court House.

"The construction of the main court room is such as to make proper ventilation absolutely impossible, so that at times, when it is filled, the air becomes exremely foul and unhealthy. The safety of the Court House in case a large number of people should be assembled in the Grand Jury room and rooms adjacent thereto, is at least questionable. We conclude, these buildings are all in such condition that money spent on their repair and enlargement to meet the present and future needs of this county, would not be a judicious expenditure.

"A new county court house and a jail seem to us to be a present necessity. This county is now growing in population and its taxable property is rapidly increasing. By proper financial management, the expenditure necessary to erect new, suitable and commodious county buildings can be made by the issuance of bonds, and the interest and principal of those bonds paid from the revenue derived by taxation in the increase on our ratables without adding to our present tax rate, and we consider that the time has arrived when this matter should be taken up by our Board of Chosen Freeholders and acted upon.

"We respectfully make this report to this Court, and request that it be referred to the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Somerset, for appropriate action."

Y. M. C. A. COMPETITION.

Group Contests to Start Tomorrow in the Junior Department.

Group contests, a new feature of the Y. M. C. A. physical work, introduced by Fred A. Henckel, will commence tomorrow in the junior department. The seniors will conduct similar contests, though they will wait until the costume exhibition has taken place to enter into permanent plans.

In the junior department there will be four groups, under names familiar to Roman history. They will be the Olympians, the Spartans, the Gladiators and the Romans. The captains of these teams are Clarence Steiner, Roy Woodhull, Charles Line and Walter Caldwell, respectively. On each team there are about fifteen members of the junior department. The contests, which will include athletics, gymnastics, basketball, and other games, will continue through the entire season. In the apparatus, the horse, buck, mats and low bar will be used, while the athletic contests will include the usual events.

Each of the teams has its distinguishing color, the Spartans wearing orange; the Gladiators, crimson; the Olympians, white; and the Romans, light blue. Prizes will probably be offered for the best individual record, and the winning team will receive a large shield, which will be given a prominent place in the trophy room.

LEALS DEFEATED.

Montclair Military Academy Won Basket Ball Game Saturday Afternoon.

Entirely outclassed both in respect to team work and to individual excellence, the Leal's School basketball team was beaten by the Montclair Military Academy five Saturday afternoon by the score of 53 to 9. The Leal's boys were greatly handicapped by the loss of Jewett, one of the forwards who has been a main-stay for the team. Strong and Manning were the stars in the game and did the team all the credit that was possible against such odds.

The Montclair players put up a fast game, outplaying the local boys in every stage of the contest. There was no time when the locals had a chance of taking the game, as the ball was for the greater part of the game in the home team's territory. In the second half of the game, Glenney was substituted for Underhill, the regular lineup being as follows: Underhill and Chapman, forwards; Strong, center; Lyman and Manning, guards. Montclair played the following lineup: S. Kenney, Aballi and E. Kenney, forwards; Campbell, center; Hoffstot, Pearson, Lears and Cornwell, guards. Strong threw two goals from the field, Manning made one basket, and Chapman scored three points on foul throws.

Tribune Almanac.

No one can intelligently judge the scope and consequences of the Presidential election of 1904 until he studies the tabulations presented in The Tribune Almanac for 1905. This volume gives the vote in every State by counties for Roosevelt and Parker, and tabulates the official returns by States for all the six Presidential tickets in the field last year. It gives the popular vote for President by States from 1880 to 1904, and the electoral and popular votes for President and Vice President since 1789. It gives the full and exact vote cast for candidates for Congress in each Congress district in the United States in 1904, the vote for all State officers and the party divisions in each State Legislature. Politics is the main feature of the issue for 1905. But other topics are covered with fulness and accuracy. Educational and religious statistics, sporting records, statistics of learned and patriotic societies, foreign miscellany, a necrology and a review of the Russo-Japanese War are included in this handy and useful publication. The new issue, of 384 pages, sells, as usual, for 25 cents. Cloth bound, 50 cents.

SEEKING WATER POWER.

Use of Niagara Falls for Generating Electricity Stirs Other Countries to Action.

The lesson of the use of Niagara falls for generating electricity has been put to worldwide application, says the New York World. Throughout the world falling water, according to a paper read before the British association by Mr. Campbell Ewinton, yields to man's use an energy equal to 1,483,390-horse power, of which Great Britain figures for only 11,906-horse power. The British Aluminum company gets 7,000-horse power from the falls of Foyers and it expects presently to procure 17,000-horse power from Loch Leven. The North Wales Electric Power company is about to tap Lake Llydaw, on Snowdon, and hopes to obtain 8,200-horse power for every working day of nine hours. Finally, the Scotch Water Power syndicate is peering round in quest of waters that it can imprison at lofty levels and so generate electric power. From Loch Sloy, 757 feet above Loch Lomond, it is going to get 6,600-horse power, and at Ardlui, higher up, it proposes to get further energy. Even a modest stream that drops several hundred feet may be a source of power.

UMBRELLA A WIRY THING.

If Not Attached to Owner by a Chain It May Disappear with an Entire Stranger.

Umbrellas are proverbially a hard thing to keep, says the Illinois State Journal. They have such a way of making up with an absolute stranger and walking away with him. No matter how much a man may be attached to an umbrella, if it is not attached to him with a chain he may as well bid it an affectionate farewell whenever he puts it down in a corner and turns away to transact some business. However, this rule, hard, fast and inflexible as it is, does not apply unless the umbrella is new and shiny and cost more than 29 cents at retail. To keep an umbrella on down through the years and have it on hand to will to your grandchildren, select one with a cracked handle and a hole in the cover as large as a boilermaker's hand. Then you can't lose it, or if you do after repeated attempts a small boy will be around at your door with it in the morning claiming a reward for his honesty.

JAPAN AS OUR CUSTOMER.

England and the United States Are Favored in Trade of the Insular Country.

According to an article in the German Export Review, quoted in the consular reports, the materials needed for shipbuilding are bought in England. Even big ships built for Japan in Germany years ago were ordered to Armstrong's in England for their armament. Recently Krupp and the French firm of Schneider are preferred. The fact that England and the United States are favored is shown by the purchase of material for the Yokohama waterworks. In calling for bids it was provided that the cocks come from England and the water meters from England or the United States, the names of firms even being specified. Locomotives for the railroads in Japan and Korea are bought exclusively in the United States, presumably because they are more quickly obtainable there. The friendship for the United States is increasing.

BUSY LAKE SEASON ENDS.

More Traffic This Year on Great Bodies of Water Than Ever Before.

"The great lakes are about to see the close of one of the busiest seasons they have ever known," said a lake captain in the Washington Post. "A large number of immense new vessels were added to the carrying fleets this year, but the increase in capacity was not sufficient to meet the increased demand. No vessel, no matter of what class, ever had to be without a cargo. One of the big steel vessels of to-day carries as much as 25 or 30 vessels of the type in use a few years ago, and they make their trips in about one-fourth or one-fifth the time. Why, we had to depend on the old-timers, the great lakes would have to have more ships, numerically, than there are on all the seas in the world."

FATERSON FLOODED.

Breaking of Pompton Dam Made Passaic Raging Torrent.

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 9.—Flood has again descended upon the city of Paterson. Following the breaking of a dam at Pompton the Passaic river at daylight was a raging torrent twenty feet deep. The Hillman street bridge was soon carried away and the Arch street bridge damaged so that its fall became imminent. Merchants and many factories along the river front were compelled to remove their goods from stores and factories. News from the upper section of the river filled them with apprehension, indicating that the worst of the flood is yet to come.

When the silk workers swarmed to the mills in the morning the usually trickling stream of dirty water, across which a small boy might ordinarily wade without wetting much above his knees, had become a destructive torrent. At 7 o'clock, after thousands of men and women had passed in safety over the Hillman street bridge—a temporary structure built to replace a steel truss carriage and footbridge carried away by the flood of October, 1903—it gave way with a mighty rending sound and was swept downstream and washed against the high trestle bridge of the Susquehanna railroad.

A report reached the city authorities soon after the Hillman street bridge gave way that the temporary structure across Arch street was in danger of collapse, and police were hurried to the place to close both ends of the structure in order to prevent reckless persons from endangering their lives upon the tottering bridge.

DYNAMITE EXPLODED.

Ashland Firemen and Spectators Seriously Hurt.

ASHLAND, Wis., Jan. 9.—While the fire department was fighting a fire in the barn of George Wilkinson here a quantity of dynamite exploded in the burning building, seriously injuring four firemen and two spectators.

The firemen had been warned that there was dynamite in the building, but continued their work. The Wilkinson family had hurriedly vacated their dwelling, adjacent to the barn, when without warning the dynamite exploded, hurling firemen to the ground and also prostrating nearby spectators. The barn was blown to fragments, and nearly every house in Ashland was shaken by the force of the explosion, windows being broken half a mile away.

Two windows in the Congregational church were blown in while services were being held, creating a panic among the worshipers. A crowbar was blown through the air for seven blocks, smashing fences and windows which it encountered. Silver Nell, a valuable trotting horse, was killed by the explosion.

A Salem Tragedy.

SALEM, Ala., Jan. 9.—Walter Lawrence shot Hermann Beiman, a well known merchant here, the wound proving fatal. The shooting occurred in Beiman's store. Lawrence was a clerk of Beiman's. There were no eyewitnesses. At first it was given out by Beiman that the shooting was accidental, but later, when told that he probably would die, Beiman made a statement to the effect that Lawrence shot him when accused of being too intimate with his (Beiman's) wife. Lawrence is in jail.

Shot His Friend While Hunting.

CONCORD, Mass., Jan. 9.—Clarence E. Jones, son of R. H. Jones of the Boston banking firm of Blake Bros., was fatally shot from a weapon in the hands of Samuel Hoar, son of the late Samuel Hoar. He died a few minutes later. The discharge of the firing piece was accidental. The boys, who were close friends and each seventeen years old, were hunting muskrats on the Concord river when the accident occurred. Jones received a ball from a 32 caliber rifle in the left temple.

Post For British Expert Gunner.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—With a view to improving naval gunnery the admiralty has decided to create the new post of director of naval gunnery practice, to which Captain Percy Scott will be appointed. He will be given wide powers of supervision and advice. Captain Scott is a great expert in this line, and during his periods of command of the cruisers Scylla and Terrible these vessels were ahead of all other British men-of-war in gunnery.

Funeral of Ex-Governor Claflin.

NEWTON, Mass., Jan. 9.—Public funeral service for former Governor William Claflin were held at the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal church, following a brief service for the family at the home. Rev. A. L. Squire, the pastor, assisted by Bishop Willard F. Mallalieu and Professor Borden Bowne, officiated. Those present included Governor William L. Douglas, former Governors John D. Long and J. Q. A. Brackett.

Wreckage Drifts Ashore.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 9.—A considerable quantity of wreckage of small fishing boats and lobster cars has been washed up on the shores of Peaks Island. The sloop Lottie W., owned by Oscar Randall, and the sloop Lulu, owned by Henry Hadlock, were both driven on the rocks in the bay and will be lost.

Two Brothers-in-law Held.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Jan. 9.—The partially clothed body of Louis Lamora was found frozen to the sidewalk in front of his home at Winooski at daylight with his skull fractured. Louis and Dennis Trambley, brothers-in-law of the dead man, are under arrest.

FASHIONS IN FURS.

Feather Boas and Muffs Are Smart For Evening Wear.

It is an easy matter for the rich woman to choose a becoming set of furs, but she whose income is limited finds it a harder task. The most expensive furs are sable, sealskin, broadtail and chinchilla.

The girl who wants a pretty inexpensive fur tie can get one of gray squirrel with ends of chenille or tails of the same fur. A large muff of the squirrel should accompany it.

Furs are combined this season very successfully, sealskin with chinchilla being a favorite combination; also Persian lamb with chinchilla. Sable stands alone in its royal estate.

NEW ERMINE TIE.

Stoles are often formed of three different skins, and the muff must coincide with the neck piece.

The round muff, which has been rather out of it for several winters, is gradually creeping back to favor. The pillow, bolster and bag muffs are all very popular. They are soft and more easily handled than the more uncompromising one of round shape.

Fur tails are not seen on the smart new furs of the season, but the tiny claws are used with fine effect.

Very new and attractive is the ermine tie illustrated. It fits closely around the throat and hangs to the waist in four graduated ends trimmed with a fringe of chenille. A handsome braid ornament fastens the tie at the throat.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

A New Braid Trimming—Marble Velvet Is Smart—A Parisian Wrap.

A new description of velvet christened "marble" has just been added to attractive fabrics of this nature, and, as its name foretells, the new variety is adorned with all the delicate tracery of the marble it simulates. It is used for the popular waistcoat and for trimmings on elaborate gowns and wraps.

Marble velvet is most effective in white with little pinkish veinings all over its surface which are hardly perceptible in some lights. It is also to be had in black and white, reddish brown and malachite, the latter representing soft shades of green, which are charming when used in connection with black.

The new taffeta braid is very smart with its little silk bands neatly plaited in and out in inch and a half wide trimmings. It is most effective when matching the gown in color.

Becoming long velvet basqued coats are worn with silky cashmere or cloth skirts. This fad has been adopted by all smart women who figure in the vanguard of fashion.

The dancing frock illustrated is of white silk batiste over an underrobe of pink liberty satin. The skirt is delightfully "froufrouey" at the feet, and above the quillings of satin are two flounces of swiss embroidery formed by motifs strapped together with bows of pink satin ribbon. Each flounce is headed by an insertion of swiss embroidery. The baby bodice has the embroidery and ribbon bow effect in front, and the decollete neck is finished with insertion. The high puffed sleeves have a line of smart little bows just below the stiffened puff.

By Irving Bacheller

Author of "Eben Holden," "Darrel of the Blessed Isles," Etc.

(Copyright, 1901, by Lothrop Publishing Co.)

They gave me a French paper. I read every line of it, and sat looking out of a window at the tall trees, at servants who passed to and fro, at his lordship's horses, led up and down for exercise in the stable-yard, at the twilight glooming the last pictures of a long day until they were all smudged with darkness. Then candle-light, a trying supper hour with maids and cooks and grooms and footmen at the big table, English, every one of them, and set up with haughty curiosity. I would not go to the table, and had a cup of tea and a biscuit there in my corner. A big butler walked in hurriedly awhile after seven. He looked down at me as if I were the dirt of the gutter.

"They 're waitin'," said he, curtly. "An' Sir Chawles would like to know if ye would care for a humberreller?"

"Ah, m'sieu'! he rains?" I inquired.

"No, mum."

"Ah! he is going to rain, maybe?"

He made no answer, but turned quickly and went to a near closet, from which he brought a faded umbrella.

"There," said he, as he led me to the front door, "see that you send it back."

On the porch were the secretary and the ladies—three of them.

"Ciel! what is it?" one of them whispered as I came out.

The post-lights were shining in their faces, and lovlier I never saw than those of the demoiselles. They stepped lightly to the coach, and the secretary asked if I would go in with them.

"No, m'sieu'," was my answer, "I sit by ze drivaire."

"Come in here, you silly goose," said one of the ladies in French, recognizing my nationality.

"Grand merci!" I said, taking my seat by the driver; and then we were off, with as lively a team as ever carried me, our lights flashing on the tree trunks. We had been riding more than two hours when we stopped for water at a spring-tub under a hill. They gave me a cup, and, for the ladies, I brought each a bumper of the cool, trickling flood.

"Ici, my tall woman," said one of them, presently, "my boot is untied."

Her dainty foot came out of the coach under ruffles of silk. I hesitated, for I was not accustomed to that sort of service.

"Lambine!" she exclaimed. "Make haste, will you?" her foot moving impatiently.

My fingers got numb in the cold air, and I must have been very awkward, for presently she boxed my ears and drew her foot away.

"Dieu!" said she. "Tell him to drive on."

I got to my seat quickly, confident that nature had not intended me for a lady's-maid. Awhile later we heard the call of a picket far afield, but saw no camp. A horseman—I thought him a cavalry officer—passed us, flashing in our faces the light of a dark lantern, but said nothing. It must have been near midnight when, as we were going slowly through deep sand, I heard the clang of a cowbell in the near darkness. Another sounded quickly a bit farther on. The driver gave no heed to it, although I recognized the signal, and knew something would happen shortly. We had come into the double dark of the timber when, suddenly, our hoses reared, snorting, and stopped. The driver felt for his big pistol, but not in the right place: for two hours or more it had been stowed away in the deep pocket of my gown. Not a word was spoken. By the dim light of the lanterns we could see men all about us with pikes looming in the dark. For a breath or two there was perfect silence; then the driver rose quickly and shouted: "Who are you?"

THEY WERE CLOSE UP AND STRIVING FIERCELY AS IF WITH BROAD SWORDS.

"Frien's o' these 'ere women," said one I recognized as the corporal D'ri.

He spoke in a low tone as he opened the door.

"Grace au ciel!" I heard one of the young ladies saying. "It is D'ri—dear old fellow!"

Then all hurried out of the coach and kissed him.

"The captain—is he not here?" said one of them in French. But D'ri did not understand them and made no answer.

"Out wi' the lights, an' be still," said D'ri quickly, and the lights were out as soon as the words. "Jones, you tie up a front leg o' one o' them hosses. Git back in the brush, ladies. Five on 'em, boys. Now up with the pike wall!"

From far back in the road had come again the clang of the cow-bell. I remember hearing five strokes and then a loud rattle. In a twinkling I was off the seat and beside the ladies.

"Take hold of my dress," I whispered quickly, "and follow me."

I led them off in the brush, and stopped. We could hear the move and rattle of cavalry in the near road. Then presently the swish of steel, the leap and tumble of horses, the shouting of men. My companions were of the right stuff; they stood shivering, but held their peace. Out by the road lights were flashing, and now we heard pistols and the sound of a mighty scuffle. I could stay there in the dark no longer.

"Wait here and be silent," I said, and ran "like a madwoman," as they told me long after, for the flickering lights.

There a squad of cavalry was shut in by the pikes. Two troopers had broken through the near line. One had fallen, badly hurt; the other was saber to saber with the man D'ri. They were close up and striving fiercely, as if with broadswords. I caught up the weapon of the injured man, for I saw the Yankee would get the worst of it. The Britisher had great power and a saber quick as a cat's paw. I could see the corporal was stronger, but not so quick and skillful. As I stood by, quivering with excitement, I saw him get a slash in the shoulder. He stumbled, falling heavily. Then quickly, forgetting my sex, but not wholly, I hope, the conduct that becomes a woman, I caught the point of the saber, now poised to run him through, with the one I carried. He backed away, hesitated, for he had seen my hat and gown. But I made after him with all the fury I felt, and soon had him in action. He was tired, I have no doubt; anyway, I whirled his saber and broke his hold, whipping it to the ground. That was the last we saw of him, for he made off in the dark faster than I could follow. The trouble was all over, save the wound of the corporal, which was not as bad as I thought. He was up, and one of them, a surgeon, was putting stitches in his upper arm. Others were tying four men together with rope. Their weapons were lying in a little heap near by. One of the British was saying that Sir Charles Gravleigh had sent for them to ride after the coach.

"Jerushy Jane Pepper!" said the man D'ri. "Never seen no sech wil'cat uv a woman es thet air."

I looked down at my gown; I felt of my hat, now hanging over one ear. Sure enough, I was a woman.

"Who be ye, I'd like t' know?" said the man D'ri.

"Ramon Bell—a Yankee soldier of the rank of captain," I said, stripping off my gown. "But, I beg of you, don't tell the ladies I was ever a woman."

"Judas Priest!" said D'ri, as he flung his well arm around me.

CHAPTER XXIII.

I felt foolish for a moment. I had careful plans for Mme. St. Jovite. She would have vanished utterly on our return; so, I fancy, none would have been the wiser. But in that brief sally I had killed the madame; she could serve me no more. I have been careful in my account of this matter to tell all just as it happened, to put upon it neither more nor less of romantic color than we saw. Had I the skill and license of a novelist, I could have made much of my little mystery; but there are many now living who remember all these things, and then, I am a soldier, and too old for a new business. So I make as much of them as there was and no more.

In private theatricals, an evening at the Harbor, I had won applause with the rig, wig, and dialect of my trip to Wrentham Square. So, when I proposed a plan to my friend the general, urging the peril of a raw hand with a trust of so much importance, he had no doubt of my ability.

I borrowed a long coat, having put off my dress, and, when all was ready, went with a lantern to get the ladies. Louise recognized me first.

"Grace au ciel! le capitaine!" said she, running to meet me.

I dropped my lantern as we came face to face, and have ever been glad of that little accident, for there in the dark my arms went around her, and our lips met for a silent kiss full of history and of holy confidence. Then she put her hand upon my face with a gentle caressing touch, and turned her own way.

"I am very, very glad to see you," I said.

"Dieu!" said her sister, coming near, "we should be glad to see you, if it were possible."

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

DIME NOVEL DESPERADOES.

Boy Burglars Keep Binghamton Police Busy.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Jan. 9.—A gang of boy burglars, who threatened to equal the famous Chicago car barn bandits, have kept the police of this city busy for some time past. Michael Forbes, known as "Micky," has been arrested, and the police thought they had the gang well in hand, but the other three succeeded in escaping and getting out of the city. They are all known, however, and it is expected that they will be captured within a day or two.

Forbes is thirteen years old, and the oldest of the trio who escaped is seventeen. The crimes are attributed to dime novel reading.

Like the car barn bandits, these youthful desperadoes began operations at the car barn of the Binghamton Railway company in daylight.

The four boys broke into one room and stole tools, with which they were cutting through a partition into a supply room when they were discovered by Michael Smith, a lineman for the railway company. When they saw Smith one of the boys drew a revolver on him, the muzzle of which, Smith says, looked "to be three inches in diameter," and pulled the trigger. The gun failed to go off, but Smith was too badly frightened to attempt to stop the boys, who escaped. All of the boys were armed with large revolvers, and one of them wore a mask.

YELLOW FEVER AT PANAMA.

Official Reports Show That Many Cases Exist.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Full official confirmation to the rumor that yellow fever had broken out at Panama is given in the report of the public health and marine hospital service, just issued.

It is shown that three cases had appeared as early as Dec. 19. Several additional cases have since appeared.

That the situation is serious is attested by the recent death from yellow fever of Mrs. John Seager of this city, wife of the secretary of Chief Engineer Wallace.

The canal commission has persisted in denying knowledge that fever existed at Panama. The report of the plague has excited the clerks and employees of the commission on the isthmus. Many are anxious to get away. The reports will seriously hamper the canal work by keeping persons from enlisting for the work.

Out of "Blow Hole" Snowdrifts.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Out of the snowdrifts of the "Blow Hole," at Copake, just north of Boston Corners, ninety-four miles from New York, where the storms from the Hoosac mountains always blow the fiercest, the North Adams express of the New York Central, snow laden, with icicles clinging to the hoods and platforms of engine and cars, drew into the Grand Central station at a quarter before 5 o'clock, twenty-three hours behind schedule time. The Chatham local, stalled at Hillsdale overnight by the same snowdrift and in the same arctic habiliments, puffed into the station fifteen minutes later, twenty-one and a half hours behind time.

Italian Poisoned at Olean.

OLEAN, N. Y., Jan. 9.—Guiseppe Bossi, an Italian laborer, has been found dead in a boarding house at Belvidere. Investigation proved that he had been poisoned. A package which had contained rough on rats was found beneath the bed ticking of the bed where Bossi died. Sheriff Bellamy, who has taken charge of the case, claims to have strong evidence against one of Bossi's fellow countrymen and has wired the Buffalo police a description of the man he wants.

Woman Appeals For Mary Rogers.

STAMFORD, Conn., Jan. 9.—Mrs. William J. Blickensderfer has prepared an appeal to the women of America, urging them to use their influence with the governor of Vermont and the governor of Pennsylvania to save from the gallows Mary Rogers of Vermont and Kate Edward of Pennsylvania, sentenced to be hanged for the murder of their husbands. The appeal is based on grounds of general opposition to capital punishment as a principle.

Snowplow Killed Two Shovelers.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 9.—A Nickel Plate railroad snowplow struck a gang of snow shovelers at Ripley during the blizzard here, killing John Post and Charles Dash and injuring two or three other men. The storm in southwestern New York is the heaviest of the winter, thirty inches of snow having fallen during the last two days. Railroad, street and highway traffic is almost paralyzed.

Threatened Austrian Premier.

LEBANON, Pa., Jan. 9.—Diligent search of the foreign settlement here failed to throw any additional light on the existence of a Mafia or "Black Hand" society in this city. It was learned, however, that Ignace Wanzler, who is held here, has confessed to having sent two threatening letters to Count Stephen von Tisza, the Austrian premier.

Blizzard Raged at Corry.

CORRY, Pa., Jan. 9.—The worst blizzard of the winter has raged in this vicinity all day, and as a result all passenger trains are late, freight service is at a standstill and country roads are impassable. The snow is two feet deep.

Lowther to Succeed Lord Milner.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 9.—The Post hears on good authority that J. W. Lowther, M. P., will succeed Lord Milner as commissioner to South Africa in April.

A SUDDEN CALL.

Ex-Governor Lloyd Lowndes Dead at Cumberland, Md.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Jan. 9.—Former Governor Lloyd Lowndes of Maryland died suddenly at his home here yesterday. His death has cast a pall of gloom over the community. There had been no indications of illness, and Mr. Lowndes appeared to be in his usual good health and spirits when he arose in the morning. He left his office in the Second National bank late Saturday, went to his home and after dinner spent several hours in the preparation of an address to be delivered here at Bishop Paret's twentieth anniversary as bishop of the Maryland diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church. He then awaited the arrival from Clarksburg, W. Va., of his son, Richard T. Lowndes, who did not reach the house until past midnight.

The governor retired at about 1 a. m. He arose at 8:30, took a bath and began to dress preparatory to attending church services. A sudden fall attracted the attention of Mrs. Lowndes, who was in the room. She summoned assistance, and the unconscious form was placed upon the bed. Physicians were hastily summoned and were quickly at the bedside, but death had ensued before their arrival. Death was due to heart failure.

Mr. Lowndes was born in Clarksburg, W. Va., Feb. 21, 1845. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth T. Lowndes; his brother, Richard T. Lowndes, Clarksburg, W. Va., and five sons, Lloyd Lowndes, Jr., Cumberland; Richard T. Lowndes, Clarksburg, W. Va.; Charles T. Lowndes, Colorado Springs, Colo.; W. Bladen Lowndes, Mount Savage, Md., and Tasker C. Lowndes.

Suicide Attempted Two Murders.

TRACY, Minn., Jan. 9.—An attempted double murder, followed by a suicide, occurred here. Iowa P. Husted shot Mrs. G. L. Lindsley and her daughter, Eva, and then sent a bullet through his own heart, dying instantly. Mrs. Lindsley is thought to be fatally injured, but the daughter may recover. Mr. Lindsley, who witnessed the tragedy, was narrowly missed by a bullet aimed at him. Husted, who boarded with the Lindsley family and who had paid some attention to Eva, quarreled with Mrs. Lindsley and suddenly drawing a revolver began shooting.

Overturned Lamp Caused Death.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—James Roth, aged forty-eight years, was burned to death and John Pierce, aged sixty-one years, was probably fatally injured during a fire which partially destroyed the boarding house kept by Mrs. Glisson in West Philadelphia. The fire was caused by the overturning of an oil lamp. Pierce leaped from an upper story window, sustaining injuries from which the hospital physicians do not expect him to recover. Roth's charred body was found after the fire had been extinguished.

Suicide Was Deceived by a Woman.

PEABODY, Mass., Jan. 9.—James E. Ricker, aged fifty-one years, a veteran of the Spanish war, committed suicide by shooting through the head. He left a note saying that he had been deceived by a woman who had taken all his money. Ricker was convicted in 1870, with Frank T. Bowers, of murder in the second degree in causing the death of Nathaniel Lord of this town in 1869. Both men were sentenced to life imprisonment on Jan. 16, 1870, but later were pardoned.

Oil Tanks Burned by Strikers.

BAKU, Jan. 9.—A big fire, presumably of incendiary origin, has destroyed sixteen oil tanks of the Nobel company's plant and several adjoining properties. There has been no actual fighting since Jan. 5, when a collision occurred between strikers and Cossacks, and six workmen were killed and two Cossacks and thirty workmen injured. The strike has been in progress since Dec. 26. The original dispute was over hours and wages.

Noted Halfback Married.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Jan. 9.—Mr. Howard Rowland Reiter, a noted Princeton halfback and a star of the victorious elevens of 1896, 1898 and 1899, which defeated Yale all three years, has married Miss Edith M. Burt, a pretty young teacher in the Plainfield seminary, with whom he fell in love while both were at Ocean Grove, N. J., two years ago. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride on Saturday evening.

Bishop Spalding Is Better.

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 9.—There was a noticeable improvement last night in the condition of Bishop John L. Spalding, the Roman Catholic prelate, who was stricken with paralysis at his residence on Friday afternoon. He has regained the use of his left arm and speaks with more freedom. The remainder of the left side of his body, however, he is unable to use at all.

Eighteen Footer From Norway.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Jan. 9.—The eighteen foot Norwegian lifeboat Uradd, from Aalesund, Norway, which, after an adventurous voyage of six months, stranded in coming up the harbor shortly after midnight, was floated yesterday noon, with only a small hole in her outer skin.

Columbia Won Hard Fight.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 9.—Columbia defeated the cadet basket ball team in their annual game in the gymnasium here on Saturday by a score of 29 to 25. It was a hard fought contest, the score being a tie when only four minutes of the second period remained.

BASKET BALL.

Harold C. Fenno, of Watchung avenue, has made a record in his class basketball team at Williams College. He plays guard on the team, and has taken part in several of the important class games.

As yet H. G. Thompson is captaining Plainfield High School's basketball team, though there is some possibility that he will appoint a temporary field captain to act until he is able to get in the game again.

Phil Smith, the Plainfield High School pitching marvel, after making a good fight for a position as forward on the basketball team, has been obliged to step out of the game on account of an operation on his arm.

The Y. M. C. A. and P. H. S. basketball teams will line up as follows in their game at the local gymnasium tonight: Y. M. C. A.—Scull, Neal, Smith, Hand and Cahoone. P. H. S.—Gavett, Stutsman, Freeman, Bentley and Deane.

North Plainfield and Plainfield High School will compete in the Interscholastic Basketball League Wednesday afternoon, while the game in the Juvenile Basketball League will be between the Y. M. C. A. juniors and the Whittier Schools. In both leagues the teams which will contend Wednesday are secondary in standing in the championship contest.

Leal's basketball team has been handicapped by the loss of Gwendolyn Strong, who has been playing center. Strong leaves this week for a New York school, where he will prepare for college. He played his last game with the Leal's School team Saturday against the Montclair Military Academy. Strong was a good player, fast and aggressive, and his loss will be severely felt.

Harry G. Scull and Paul Collier, both of the Y. M. C. A. basketball squad, will be unable to play in the proposed High School-Alumni basketball game, as both are registered in the A. L. N. A. and A. A. U. According to the regulations of these organizations, no registered member is allowed to play a game against a non-registered line up. The Alumni team will have to find another center.

REBUKES LAWYERS FOR BEING DILATORY

JUSTICE FORT'S REMARKS WHEN UNION COUNTY COURT OPENED.

Justice Fort administered a rebuke to dilatory lawyers at the reopening of the Union County Courts today, by declaring that hereafter cases that are not ready when called would be put over for the term.

In past years legal lights have retarded the progress of the sessions through this practice and it has caused much annoyance. When court was resumed today eight cases were to be called but none of them were of interest to Plainfielders.

MAYOR'S ABLE MESSAGE

His Honor Wanted Legislation Against Spite Houses.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL

Recommends That City Fathers Facilitate the Erection of New High School and Other Matters.

Mayor James F. Buckle's first annual message was read to the Common Council last night. It is as follows:

MAYOR'S OFFICE.
Plainfield, N. J.,
January 9, 1905.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Plainfield:

At this, the beginning of the year, when it is possible to ascertain from the annual reports of the various municipal departments, the city's exact status, both financially and along the lines of progress, it should afford us all, as good citizens, great pleasure to know that the opening of the year 1905 finds Plainfield stronger and better from every viewpoint of merit than has ever before been the case. In fact, the uniform excellence existing in the several departments makes it neither necessary nor advisable that I should do more than offer passing reference to the majority of them, while my recommendations to your honorable body must, for the same reasons, be few indeed.

The financial condition of the city continues highly satisfactory, as may be seen by an inspection of the city treasurer's most excellent report. The balance of $27,122.24 in the general fund, which the Council of 1904 received as a legacy from its predecessor, has been so wisely safeguarded and carefully husbanded that your honorable body begins its labors for the present year with a general fund showing a balance of $40,231 36.

TAXES.

The gratifying increase above noted is in a large measure due to the operations and working of the new law governing the assessment and collection of taxes, whereby property is exposed for sale the next year after the taxes assessed thereon become delinquent, instead of the second year thereafter, as was the case before said law came into effect.

This has naturally resulted in a more prompt settlement of taxes, and reference to the several annual reports of the city treasurer will disclose the fact that $95,000 more has been collected during the year just ended, on the taxes of the year immediately preceding, than has ever before been collected on like taxes during any other year.

The State Legislature has, from time to time, applied itself assiduously to the framing and passage of laws designed to make the collection of taxes as simple and speedy as possible, and has succeeded well in accomplishing the purpose sought. The collection of taxes thus being made easier, it remains for the City of Plainfield, through its properly authorized officers, to exercise the utmost care at all times that every property interest, great and small, be made to bear its just and full share of the burden of taxation.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

This department has well sustained its excellent reputation during the year just closed, and I believe enjoys the esteem and confidence of all right thinking citizens.

I must, however, ask your honorable body, in making and establishing its estimate of fire department expenses for the current year, to exercise the most provident caution, that it may never again become necessary to transfer $4,000, or any other sum, from the general to the fire department fund to enable said department

PLAINFIELDER AT HEAD OF MERCANTILE EXCHANGE

H. J. RUNYON IS MADE PRESIDENT OF THE NEW YORK ORGANIZATION.

Howard J. Runyon, of this city, has been made president of the New York Mercantile Exchange, succeeding Howard D. Reynolds, who made an exceedingly efficient officer during his term. The selection of Mr. Runyon was made at the annual meeting, the attendance being the largest in the history of the organization.

The new president was introduced to the members by his predecessor and the latter in his address paid a kindly tribute to his sterling qualities, tendering the gavel with sincere wishes for a successful administration. Mr. Runyon addressed the gathering at some length on various exchange matters and concluded by drawing attention to the importance of making sacrifices and appealed to all the members to contribute time, thought and experience towards making the year 1905 the most prosperous one of the exchange.

JUNIOR DEPARTMENT TO BE MONTCLAIR'S GUEST

Y. M. C. A. WILL BE ENTERTAINED IN FEBRUARY IN GYMNASIUM.

One of the important occasions in the athletic schedule of the Y. M. C. A. junior department, and one which is decidedly new among the Y. M. C. A.s of the State, is an athletic conference among the members of the junior departments of the State, which will be held at the Montclair Y. M. C. A. sometime in February.

The invitation has been extended by Physical Director George Henckel, of the Montclair association, to the boys departments of all the associations in the northern part of the State, to take part in the athletic and gymnastic games, and the day will be a gala occasion for the juniors. The date for the affair has not yet been decided upon, though the local association is already preparing for the event. The boys will compete in the usual events of an athletic meet, and a prize will be given to the association and to the individuals winning the greatest number of points.

Mr. Henckel, of the local department, desires to take about twenty-five or thirty members of the gymnasium class to Montclair, and the boys are in hopes that they will win the trophy. The Montclair building will be opened to the various associations, and they will be made at home in every respect.

CO. K'S CIVIL OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE YEAR

ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING LAST NIGHT WAS ONE OF IMPORTANCE.

Following the regular weekly drill of Company K last night at the armory, these officers were elected for the civil organization: Recording secretary, Corporal Trencband; financial secretary, Sergeant Pierson; treasurer, Sergeant Randolph; sergeant-at-arms, Private Post. These officers will hold their positions for the ensuing year, the meeting last night being an annual one.

Captain W. B. Martin presided at the meeting, which followed the drill, and will act in the capacity of president for the coming year. Though the term of offices for the committees in the organization ended last night, the new ones were not yet appointed, and until further notice, the same committees will serve. The Captain did not announce when the appointment will take place.

The business meeting was in many ways an important one. As the time for the fair draws near, the plans for that event are nearing completion, and reports of the committees showed that the prospects are bright for one of the most successful bazaars which the company has ever given. In all branches of the work of preparation for the fair, the arrangements have been definitely outlined and laid before the company at large. No new features presented themselves last night, however, and much of the business was of a routine nature.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Turrill have returned from their honeymoon and are now living at the groom's home in Grove street, the borough.

NEW SEWER COMMISSION

Ordinance Renewing Board to Prevent Legal Complications.

HOSPITAL GETS $1,500

Ten Per Cent. to be Added to Delinquent Taxpayers' Bills—Board of School Estimate Named.

Aside from the appointments by Mayor James F. Buckle and the reading of his first annual message, the business of the Common Council, at its adjourned session, last night, was of a routine nature. Councilman Clarence L. Murphy was the only member absent.

Mr. Tolles introduced an ordinance, suggested as quite necessary by Corporation Counsel Marsh at this time, which provides for the appointment of three disinterested persons to comprise a commission of assessment in the work of extending the sanitary sewer system. The fact that the term of the commissioners serving last year expired January 1, Mr. Marsh considered it important that a new commission be chosen to serve for one year, so that complications might be avoided. According to the ordinance, which was adopted on first and second readings and ordered engrossed and advertised, the commissioners are to assess benefits and damages and their salary is to be fixed by the Common Council.

Mr. Tolles also introduced a resolution providing that in all cases where taxes were not paid on or before December 20 last, ten per cent. per annum be charged to the delinquents.

Still another resolution by Mr. Tolles called for the acceptance of the offer of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital to care for the city's indigent poor during the year for the sum of $1,500, this amount to be raised by the general tax levy and to be placed in a separate account to be known as the "hospital fund," and to be used for no other purpose than that named in the resolution. Both of these resolutions were adopted.

It being the annual custom for the Board of Education to appoint two of its number as members of the Board of School Estimate, they to serve with a like number from the Common Council and the Mayor, Mr. Wilson offered a resolution nominating Councilmen Clarence L. Murphy and Ralph I. Tolles as members of this board from that body. A communication from the Board of Education notified the members that L. N. Lovell and C. F. Abbott were appointed at a recent meeting of the board.

A petition from Jacob A. Kriney and other residents in the vicinity of Hunter and Evona avenues, requested the Common Council to place a hydrant at that point. The petitioners claimed, and presented a letter from W. A. Woodruff, insurance agent, in substantiation of the same, that the insurance rates had been raised in that part of the city owing to the lack of fire protection. The matter was referred to the fire and building committee.

VanZandt & Voorhees, who are about to erect a two story building on Park avenue for business purposes, asked the Common Council for the privilege of using concrete blocks in the construction, believing them to be as near fire-proof as possible. Mr. Bullock later offered a resolution that the request be granted after the plans for the building are approved by the building inspector.

The bond of Constable Peter V. Weaver was received, and having been approved by the corporation counsel, was ordered filed, as was also the communication from the Board of Assessors asking for an increase in salary.

Another Men's Club.

Prior to the service as the Monroe Avenue church on Sunday there was an informal meeting of the men of the congregation, called for the purpose of considering the advisability of forming a men's association. The proposition was favorably received and another meeting will be held on Sunday morning when definite action will be taken. Rev. George Mooney, pastor of the church, has taken the lead in the organization and he is receiving the support of the men in the church in the project.

America's Ideal Citizen.

Perseverance, as typified in the life of Secretary of State John Hay, was the chief feature which Principal I. W. Travell emphasized in his talk to the pupils of the Plainfield High School, yesterday morning, exhorting them to strengthen their powers mentally, physically and morally. The speaker mentioned other characteristics of the statesman, which, as he said, go to make him "America's ideal citizen."

BUILDING IMPROVEMENT

Structure for West Second Street, Near Park Avenue.

PLANS ARE READY

Remodelling of Building Next to Schreiner's Drug Store—Store and Offices to be Arrranged.

Among the many improvements to be made in local business property are the plans for the remodelling of the brick building located on West Second street, adjoining B. J. Schreiner's pharmacy, which is owned by William R. Codington. The building stands between the pharmacy and the one occupied by Henry VanName. Mr. Codington proposes to transform the structure into a store on the first floor with handsome offices on the second floor. The store will be occupied by Mefford Giles, the butcher, who is obliged to give up his present location, corner of Park avenue and West Second street, which will be occupied with a new building by The Plainfield Trust Company.

The store to be occupied by Mr. Giles will have a twenty foot frontage. It will have two six-foot plate glass windows in front and on the Park avenue side there will be a ten-foot plate glass. It is proposed to bring the structure out to the building line, which will be about on a line with the Martin building.

The upper part of the building will have a frontage of twenty-four feet, the difference of four feet between the upper and lower frontage, will be used for a stairway leading to the offices. Mr. Codington is now receiving estimates on the work.

The changes will be made so that Mr. Giles can take possession of his new store by April 1. The building will have all the modern improvements. It will also be connected by a stairway in the rear from Mr. Codington's building on the corner.

BANKER REFERS TO EXPENSIVE DEPOSITS

EDWIN S. HOOLEY QUOTES AN EVENING POST ARTICLE.

Edwin S. Hooley, of North Plainfield, of E. S. Hooley & Company, New York bankers, favors The Daily Press with the following communication:

Plainfield, N. J.,
January 9, 1905.

Editor, The Daily Press:

The recent advertisement of a local institution bidding four per cent. interest for deposits has caused considerable comment. The following article from The Evening Post of Saturday, January 7, is worthy of careful consideration:

"The increased allowances for interest paid depositors shown by many financial institutions this year and Superintendent Kilburn's comment that the practice forms 'one of the greatest, if not the greatest, bane to banking in the State today,' have given rise to a discussion this week respecting the advisability of joint action between rival trust companies or banks with reference to fixing a maximum allowance for certain classes of deposits. Both the trust companies and the banks admit that the practice is growing alarmingly, and that the strife for new business is leading many institutions to bid ruinous rates for new accounts. Although the abuse is generally recognized, most bankers seen this week declared that the problem was one for each institution to solve for itself, without joint agreement.

"The trust companies in this State paid out last year 47 per cent. of their entire earnings in interest on deposits. This represented an increase of 8½ per cent. over the year before, and of no less than 10 per cent. compared with the showing of five years ago. With the State banks the abuse applies to such an extent that the superintendent of banks has suggested that the New York State Bankers' Association take action in limiting the evil. National banks in a different way are also offenders, some of them offering as high as 3, 4, and in special cases even 5 per cent. to secure fresh out-of-town deposits. The usual rate is 2 per cent.

"These criticisms, of course, do not apply to all banks or to all trust companies, since there are hundreds of institutions which conduct their business conservatively, never allowing more than 2 per cent. for active accounts."

Truly yours,
Edwin S. Hooley.

ALL ARE REAPPOINTED

Board of Assessors and Other Officials to Remain in Office.

SPECIAL POLICE LIST

Board of Health's Complexion Undergoes No Change—Assessors Salaries Are the Same.

In making his appointments at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, Mayor James F. Buckle made no changes, all of the officials being re-appointed for the different terms as provided for by law. It was rumored that there might be some changes, but a recent statement by His Honor that he had no disposition to disregard the wishes of the various ward organizations gave rise to the opinion that the old officials would be continued. All of the appointments were confirmed by unanimous vote.

Craig A. Marsh, Esq., was re-appointed as corporation counsel for three years; Joseph B. Coward as commissioner of appeal for three years; Alexander D. Ayers as overseer of the poor for three years, and the following members of the Board of Assessors for three years: First ward, H. O. VanEmburgh; Second ward, Charles H. Hand; Third ward, Joseph A. Hubbard; Fourth ward, H. O. Runyon. In connection with the appointment of the assessors there was a resolution increasing the salary of each from $300 to $400 a year. This action was taken in accordance with a petition from the board asking for an increase. The board asked for $500, but the Common Council decided that $100 extra would be a fair increase.

Charles J. Fisk, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges and Charles H. Dunham were appointed to succeed themselves as members of the Board of Health for a term of two years.

Mayor Buckle also appointed these men as special policemen: William Harding, Steven R. Hope, Charles Harris, Henry Pugh, Jesse Scull, Joseph Merrison, George Dean, D. F. NEW SCHOOLHOUSE FOR NEW MARKET NOW TAXPAYERS TO HOLD A MEETING AT FRIENDSHIP HALL TOMORROW NIGHT.

For the purpose of discussing the proposition of the Board of Education relative to the erection of a new school building to take the place of the one destroyed by fire at New Market, some time ago, the taxpayers of Piscataway Township will meet in Friendship Hall, New Market, tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

The old school stood on land adjoining that of "Mayor Bill" Smith, and the night of the fire his barn and dwelling house were seriously threatened with destruction. The Plainfield Fire Department was summoned to New Market and by its quick arrival saved the adjoining property. "Mayor" Smith entertained the firemen afterward in appreciation of their services. Soon after the fire Mr. Smith offered to contribute liberally toward the erection of a new school provided a statue of himself be placed on the grounds, also to a fund to cause the arrest and conviction of those who were supposed to have set fire to the school building. The township, as well as individuals contributed to this fund.

It is expected that the taxpayers will vote unanimously to erect a new building and if they do, the structure will be a modern one in every respect.

SCHOOLS DEPLETED BY SCARLET FEVER

EPIDEMIC AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD AMONG THE PUPILS.

A slight epidemic of scarlet fever which is prevalent among the junior population of South Plainfield has practically depleted the attendance at the public school. With the completion of the holiday vacation last week, several of the rooms were almost deserted, in one of them only three children appearing. There are several cases of the disease in the village, but where there is only one in a household it means the quarantine at times of five or six children.

One of the cases broke out in the school building but the authorities have the trouble well in hand and it is thought the spread has been checked.

Runaway Horse Dodges Vehicles.

Dodging wagons and narrowly escaping accident at several times, a horse attached to one of Scheuer's wagons decided to return home yesterday afternoon, while its driver was delivering goods, and becoming frightened, started on a wild gallop down Park avenue. All the way from Fifth street to Front, the animal dodged out of the way of other wagons, and though he scraped wheels with carriages several times, no damaged resulted, and the frightened horse returned peacefully to the stable at the rear of the store.

—Despite the unfavorable weather conditions excellent progress is being made by Contractor Isaac Randolph in excavating a cellar for the new Voorhees & VanZandt building on Park avenue.

The Pond Tool Works, also of this city, has been awarded the gold medal for the general machine exhibit which was said by experts to be one of the most complete ever seen at an international exhibition.

Tearing Down Burned Building.

The work of tearing down the ruins of the French mill, which was recently destroyed by fire, began yesterday. Long ropes were attached to the corners of the building, and the charred beams were hauled off by horses. A huge pile of rubbish from the ruins was burned yesterday afternoon. This morning, nearly all of the back of the building where the hay and grain was stored was pried into and torn down. The work is being done by William Hand & Son.

Come to Hundreds of Plainfield People.

There are days of dizziness;
Spells of headache, sideache, backache;
Sometimes rheumatic pains.
All tell you plainly the kidneys are sick.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.
Here is proof in Plainfield.

Jepp Zensen, of 782 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says: "For a year I had a sort of griding pain across my back, at times extending to my shoulders, and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

FIGHT BEEF TRUST.

Attorney General Moody Scores Monopoly.

ROOSEVELT PROBING HUGE COMBINE

It Is Charged That Great Packing House Formed Illegal Agreement For Purpose of Keeping Up Price of Beef.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Attorney General Moody again opened his guns on the beef trust when he continued his argument for the government in the case begun last Friday—the United States versus Swift & Co.

The case is the result of an exhaustive investigation at the order of President Roosevelt into the methods of business of the great packers of the country, who, it is alleged, are in an illegal combination for the purpose of keeping up the price of beef.

Mr. Moody said none of the agreements or acts complained of relate to manufacture or production, but to commerce — commerce as distinguished from manufacture or production. They do not accomplish fusion property in this, he said, but are, on the contrary, simply agreements between strangers to each others' business, affecting their freedom of action in certain respects, and thus the case at the bar is different from the Northern Securities case. The inquiry, he said, is narrowed down to only two questions for the determination of the court:

Whether the commerce in the case was commerce among the states, and, if so, whether the agreements constitute a monopoly or any part of it.

When Mr. Moody concluded he was followed by Mr. Miller, who closed the case for the packers.

Mr. Miller said that necessarily the presentation of the case must be confined within the limits of the bill of complaint and that epithets could not be appealed to—as attempted by the attorney general—to make the case complete. In all other cases of like character there had been a distinct agreement, he said, the charges were all general and the specifications indefinite conclusions of law or epithets.

Mr. Miller took up the charge of rebates and said the facts must be set up in some way before the court could take cognizance of them. There was no specification, and as a consequence the defendants could properly respond only by demurrer.

"Suppose," asked Justice Harlan, "the combinations alleged were confined to domestic commerce in the state of Illinois. Would you consider it a restraint of trade?"

Mr. Miller replied in the negative.

Floods at Port Deposit.

PORT DEPOSIT, Md., Jan. 10.—This town is entirely cut off from railroad communication with the outside world, and the mails are being carried by country roads to and from Perryville. Business is at a standstill. The Pennsylvania railroad has abandoned its tracks and station here; the Port Deposit and Columbia tracks are under water or covered with ice and debris for several miles to the northward; the schools are closed, and many families are imprisoned on the upper floors of their residences.

Guilty of Conspiracy to Slay.

WINCHESTER, Ky., Jan. 10.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Abrelia Marcum, who sued Judge Hargis, former State Senator Alex Hargis, Sheriff Ed Callahan of Breathitt county and Attorney Fulton French for $100,000 for alleged conspiracy with Curtis Jett and Thomas White to slay her husband, James B. Marcum, has returned a verdict for $8,000 against James Hargis and Sheriff Callahan and found for the defendants in the case of French and Alex Hargis.

A POWERFUL FLEET

Morton and Dewey Inspect Our Squadrons.

BARKER, SANDS AND SIGSBEE SALUTE

Battleship, Coast, Caribbean and Torpedo Destroyer Flotillas Made Up One of Greatest Naval Displays Ever Gathered.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 10.—Headed by the first class battleship Kearsarge, flying the blue pennant of Rear Admiral A. S. Barker, eighteen warships of the United States navy last night were on their way down the coast to the winter maneuvering grounds after having been inspected and reviewed in Hampton Roads by Secretary Morton and Admiral Dewey.

The fleet, made up of the battleship, coast and Caribbean squadrons and the second flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers, is one of the most powerful ever gathered in Hampton Roads under the American flag, and the spectacle of the review and inspection was witnessed by thousands of people on both sides of the road.

The big white hulks of the battleships, the squatty monitors, the high cruisers and the rakish, dark green torpedo craft stood out in bold relief against the blue waters and the blue sky in three columns, the right being made up of the coast and Caribbean squadrons, the center of the battleships and the left of the torpedo craft.

The battleship Kearsarge, as flagship of Rear Admiral Barker, headed the central column, while the Texas, flying Rear Admiral Sands' pennant, led the coast warships, behind which was the cruiser Newark, flagship of the Caribbean squadron, with Rear Admiral Sigsbee's pennant at her main head. The torpedo flotilla was under command of Lieutenant Commander Johnston on the Whipple.

There was not a cloud to cast a shadow over the roads when the dispatch boat Dolphin, carrying the secretary and admiral of the navy, was greeted by seventeen guns' salute from the land batteries of Fortress Monroe and the flagships of the three squadrons. The inspection consisted of the Dolphin steaming down the line of ships between the battleships and coast squadrons, returning to take her station at the head of the columns between the Kearsarge and Texas. When she had dropped anchor Rear Admirals Barker, Sands and Sigsbee made official calls on the secretary of the navy and Admiral Dewey. They were followed by the commandant of Fortress Munroe.

A Lake submarine torpedo boat from Newport News stood by as the procession passed and saluted each vessel in turn.

When the Capes were reached the Dolphin dropped out from the head of the column, and as each flagship passed in review a seventeen gun salute was fired.

The ships inspected and reviewed represent a total tonnage of 98,679 and carried 410 officers and 5,066 men.

Celebrated Jackson Day.

BOSTON, Jan. 10.—Reviving a former custom, the Massachusetts Democracy, for the first time in a number of years, celebrated Jackson day with a banquet at the Revere House last night. Added interest was given to the occasion by the presence for the first time since the administration of Governor William E. Russell, twelve years ago, of a Democratic governor. Governor William L. Douglas was given an enthusiastic reception.

President Guest of Fairbanks.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The president and Mrs. Roosevelt, who, when dining away from the White House, ordinarily do so only with the members of the cabinet, departed from this practice last night, when they were the guests of Senator and Vice President Elect Fairbanks and Mrs. Fairbanks at a dinner arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, who are the guests of Mrs. W. S. Cowles.

Well Dressed Unknown a Suicide.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 10.—A well dressed young man committed suicide last night by shooting himself through the head in a secluded spot at the western end of Chapel street, near the city limits. On two notebooks the name of "Daniel Floyd Flanders, Rosette street, city," was found, but the name does not appear in the city directory. The remains are unidentified.

Has Lost Use of Left Leg.

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 10.—Bishop John L. Spalding still continues to improve, though slowly. The bishop passed a quiet night and when he awoke said he felt better than at any time since he suffered a stroke of paralysis on Friday. The bishop is slowly recovering the use of his left arm, but his left leg is useless. The doctors say the bishop is not likely to recover the use of this leg.

To Connect Italy and America.

ROME, Jan. 10.—Signor Marconi examined the plans for the construction of the ultrapotent wireless telegraph station which it is proposed to erect at Bolotana and by which it is expected direct communication may be maintained with the stations at Poldhu, Cape Breton and Cape Cod.

PRISONERS OF WAR

Russian Garrison March Out of Port Arthur.

MINE EXPLOSION AT FORTRESS.

General Stoessel Had No Idea of Conditions of Russian Army in Manchuria—Talks of Real Cause of the War.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Advices from the headquarters of the Third Japanese army at Port Arthur say that 5,000 men of the Russian garrison at Port Arthur marched from the village of Yahutsui, on the shores of Pigeon bay, for fifteen miles to the railway station at Changlingtzu at 3 o'clock, and the other detachments followed soon after.

The Russians were taken on special trains of open trucks to Dalny, and there they were immediately embarked for Japan on transports waiting at that port.

The long procession of the remnants of the gallant Russian garrison was a pathetic spectacle. The first arrivals at Changlingtzu were four droskies drawn by sorry looking horses. They contained the staff officers who had refused to give their parole. All wore their swords, as they were allowed to do under the terms of capitulation compact.

A few minutes later the first detachment arrived. The regimental officers marched with their men, their heads bowed and their faces seamed with lines, showing the result of the mental and physical strain they had undergone during the long defense.

The prisoners were treated with the greatest respect and kindness, though they were regarded with much natural curiosity. The soldiers were given food, cigarettes and beer.

It is reported that the Japanese consul at Chefu has received news of a disastrous explosion at Port Arthur.

A large portion of General Nogi's army has been already hurried north to Liaoyang.

A dispatch from Port Louis, Mauritius, says:

"It is supposed that the Baltic fleet is sheltering either in some harbor off Madagascar or off the Comoro islands.

"There are mysterious rumors here of the approach of Japanese cruisers and of the receipt of strange wireless messages."

Captain Tsunoda, the Japanese staff officer who was sent to Port Arthur to inform General Stoessel of the message of the emperor of Japan, which ordered that the garrison should be treated with the greatest consideration, says:

"General Stoessel's first inquiry was about the whereabouts of General Kuropatkin. I said I did not know exactly, but understood he was somewhere about Mukden.

"General Stoessel remarked that he had last heard from General Kuropatkin on Oct. 6, when the latter had said he would come to relieve Port Arthur soon. General Stoessel added that he had sent out Chinese spies, who had returned and reported that General Kuropatkin, with a relieving army, was at Kinchau, twenty miles north of Port Arthur.

"General Stoessel then asked where the Baltic fleet was, and I told him that some of the ships had not passed the Cape of Good Hope.

"With a hopeless expression General Stoessel said:

"'Now that Port Arthur has fallen there is no use for the fleet coming any farther.'

"The real cause of the war was, in General Stoessel's opinion, the ignorance of the Russian people of the fighting qualities of the Japanese. The first attack on Port Arthur in February by the Japanese fleet was a tremendous surprise."

Postmaster Has Disappeared.

MACON, Ga., Jan. 10.—A special from Douglas, Ga., says: "The little town of Nichols, Ga., on the Atlantic and Birmingham railroad, twelve miles east of Douglas, has a sensation in the mysterious disappearance of its postmaster, Gilbert Meeks, who was last seen at this place three days ago. It is alleged that he is $2,300 short in his money order accounts."

J. Tircinski Charged With Murder.

BARRE, Mass., Jan. 10.—Joseph Tircinski was arraigned before Trial Justice Matthew Walker here charged with the murder of Joseph Milos at South Barre. An autopsy on the body of Milos showed a stab wound in the abdomen which penetrated the intestines four times, severed the mesenteric artery and striking the spine.

Sixteen Convicts Killed at Bilbid.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—News from Manila tells of an attempt of about 500 convicts at Bilbid prison to break jail. It resulted in the killing of sixteen of the prisoners and the wounding of forty others. Six of the wounded are not expected to live, and twenty-six others are in a critical condition.

Kaiser's Idea Adopted.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 10.—Emperor William's suggestion, made to Ambassador Tower on New Year's day, that American and German college professors exchange lecture courses has been adopted by Harvard university and the University of Berlin, and the interchange between the two is assured.

Choate Hears Sousa's Band.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Sousa's band had a warm welcome at Queen's hall last night, where the opening concert of the London engagement was given. Ambassador Choate and Consul General Evans were among the audience. The applause was frequent and vigorous.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 10, 1905.

New York paper suggests that "Commissioner McAdoo has taken the stump very early." Devery had him beaten to a standstill. He took everything in sight.

Parisian scientist says "to kiss all you like for it's healthful fun." Fellow out in Indiana who was fined $50 for his osculatory proclivities will seek a new definition for "healthful fun."

Yes, the hour of meeting for the Common Council is 8 o'clock, but you know it is considered the thing nowadays for the city fathers to consume half an hour or so in distributing "the glad hand."

There is good sound advice in Mayor Buckle's recommendation that no supplies be purchased by the city except by bids and that the local merchants be given preference. What applies to the individual citizen in this respect is of equal force when the municipal government is concerned. Prosperity depends upon trade. Do your buying in Plainfield.

One cardinal feature of Mayor James F. Buckle's first annual message to the Common Council is its business-like treatment of the subjects foremost in the taxpayer's mind. His Honor does not waste words in dealing with matters of prime importance and neither does he spoil his message by referring to matters of an unimportant nature. There are no wearisome statistics to wade through nor plastitudinous utterances to digest. The major feature of the message is the strong position taken by the Mayor regarding "spite houses" and the public will heartily concur with his statement that "the reputation of Plainfield is bound to suffer, if it shall be determined that any such blighting scheme is a possibility within the city limits, and that citizens must be put to the necessity of paying exorbitant prices to designing parties in order to rid themselves of offensive and undesirable neighbors. I would earnestly request your honorable body to take these matters under advisement, and if it be possible in any lawful way so to do, to see that ample reparation is made for the infliction of these miserable buildings in our neighborhoods And in order that the utmost caution may be exercised in the future in these and kindred matters, I would recommend that the building ordinance be so amended that no permit for a building of any description be given by the Inspector until the same shall have received the sanction of a majority of the fire and buildings committee." His timely advice for the Common Council to lend all support to the Board of Education in the erection of the new high school building stamps the chief executive of the city as a man who is anxious to promote the greatest instrument of public welfare—free educational facilities. He recites that the municipal government is stronger today from a financial viewpoint than ever before, incidently remarking that "the balance of $27,122.94 in the general fund, which the Council of 1904 received as a legacy from its predecessor, has been so wisely safeguarded and carefully husbanded that your honorable body begins its labors for the present year with a general fund showing a balance of $40,231.36." Other noteworthy parts of the message include a recommendation that an early decision be made in the proposition looking to the inauguration of a municipal system of garbage collection and disposal; that when city supplies are necessary bids be requested and that Plainfield merchants be given preference, and that as the macadam pave wears out in the business section of the city, vitrified brick be substituted. There is nothing disappointing in the entire message and by its tone we have every reason to believe that the people made no mistake when they elected James F. Buckle mayor of Plainfield.

THE FORUM.

High License; Early Closing.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Anyone living in this vicinity, and not seeing or caring for the real necessity of closing the borough saloons at 11 o'clock at night is either an idiot or something worse. It does not take a college professor to see it. Some folks have to get it rubbed into them we know, but you will have to excuse me, for I have seen and watched Mayor Smalley's efforts to bring about reform, and it gives me great pleasure to read the resolutions passed by the borough Council a few nights ago urging it.

When I speak of pleasure I will let you in. Not long ago I had to decide where I would settle and bring up my family, six boys and a girl, and I selected the borough and have purchased a home there. Now what made me do that in the light of the present situation? Simply the fact that it is just as certain that the borough will connect up with Plainfield as is that this saloon question will be settled right ere long. I much prefer the location of the borough. Its close proximity to the mountains suits me, its excellent schools, its officials, and everybody in it.

I think that most of our trouble is caused by making the borough a social dumping ground, not only Saturday night but every night in the week. It is bad enough to be an economic dump to Plainfield. The time has now arrived when the respectable citizens of the borough will have to get together and see these things through properly. We must control the saloons or they will control us. We need a big crow bar to lift a heavy stone, and to lift this one we will require the crow bar of annexation and no mistake. It may be that some of our good citizens will hesitate to stand by the Mayor in this matter because he is Smalley, but I shall, and I seek no political office, "none for mine," but the affection which my family requires from me also impresses me deeply with the sensibilities of doing what is right, and to remain still and silent now, my fellow citizens would consider me indifferent.

The price of progress is abuse, jealous and bitterness, but the abuse and all of it is on the other side, and I want no part of it, so that for the benefit of all who know me and to settle the matter of where I stand, let me say that so long as the officials of the borough will stand up for right so long will I stand up for them.

Close the saloons at 11 o'clock at night and raise the license to $1,000!

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Court Dunellen, I. O. F., met in the borough hall last evening and installed the recently elected officers. Bertram Brandon was elected chief ranger and Herbert Wyckoff, the late chief ranger, was presented with a very handsome Forester badge. Mr. Groat, of the Mauch Chunk I. O. F., then gave some very funny sayings which pleased the audience very much. Lately the number of members to attend the meetings has been very small and some amusement will be provided each time to make them more interesting.

A spirited horse belonging to Sydney Perrine, of West Dunellen, became frightened at a pile of wood along the road near Chestnut street, yesterday morning, and ran into a telegraph pole, smashing one of the front wheels and breaking the crossbar on the shafts of the wagon. The driver was thrown out and slightly bruised, but was not otherwise hurt.

The week of prayer, which was to have ended on Sunday evening in the Methodist church, is being continued this week. The week of prayer is also being conducted in the First and Seventh-Day Baptist churches.

Edward Limepeter, who has been undergoing an operation in Alexian Brothers Hospital, of Elizabeth, is now ill with typhoid fever, which set in after the operation and his condition is very serious.

The morning session at the Lincoln School was discontinued at 9:30 yesterday morning on account of the gas which filled the rooms, making the breathing difficult.

Father Dunphy, of the St. John's Catholic church, has been preaching at the forty hours devotion in the St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield.

Miss Nellie Yextitis has returned to her home in Wilkesbarre, Pa., after spending three weeks with Mrs. Bernard Siriski, of North avenue.

Richmond Ritterbush, the youngest son of A. R. Ritterbush, of Dunellen avenue, is ill at his home with the mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Cleaves, of Watchung, are spending a few days with Frank Brusheeff, of Front street.

The cellar for the house which is being built by Mrs. Mary Corlell on Front street has been started.

James R. Dunham, of New Market, has recovered from a recent attack of the grip.

Earl Wyhuskey has resigned his position with the Snare, Triest Company.

Albert Conklin is confined to his home on Front street by a severe cold.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Fanwood Council, R. A., holds installation of officers at its meeting tonight. The district deputy grand regent will be present and a full attendance of members is desired.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, who have been visiting Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Sr., have returned to their home on West Front street.

The condition of Loftus Hollingsworth, who has been critically ill at his home for several days, was reported as being somewhat improved yesterday.

The high water which followed the heavy rain on Thursday, broke the ice up on the ponds and put an end to skating for a time.

Rev. G. W. Coon, of Boston, has been spending a week with his son, Rev. Warren P. Coon, pastor of the Methodist church.

Rev. G. M. Shott, secretary Ministers' Weekly Conference, attended a meeting of that body held in New York yesterday.

The local bowling team roll the Saturday Night team, of Westfield, a match game on Lee's alleys Thursday night.

Miss Mamie Clark has returned from a two weeks' visit with her aunt, Mrs. Otto Peterson, of Newark.

Mrs. Frazee Ryno, who has been quite ill for several weeks, is reported as improving nicely now.

John Falvey is spending several weeks at his home at Dover, N. J

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

It is said that State Senator Jackson has selected his men for jobs at his disposal in the next Legislature These positions consist of clerkships on Senate committees, for which the incumbents get $500 for the term and railroad passes. R. R. Vanderberg, of Prospect Plains, is to be clerk of committee on printed bills. Thomas Hewley is also to be a clerk of a committee.

Mrs. T. C. Laing is confined to her bed with an attack of grip.

HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATED.

Y. M. C. A. Five Annihilated P.H.S. Last Night in Basket Ball Game.

Swamped to such an extent that the spectators became drowsy in watching the game, the Plainfield High School basketball team was defeated by the Y. M. C. A. team last night at the local gymnasium by the score of 63 to 19. In spite of the score, which was indeed an overwhelming one, the High School lads at times held the heavier and more experienced players down, and at such times the game was far from uninteresting.

Smith played a fast game, and got in some great passing, but the shooting star of the evening was Harry Scull, who played center on the Y. M. C. A. team, and kept the ball on the rim of the basket most of the game.

At the end of the first half the score stood 36 to 12. For the High School team, Freeman and Gavett played the best game, each being up against hard propositions. This was the line up in last night's game: P. H. S.—Gavett and Stutsman, guards; Freeman, center; Caldwell and Bentley, forwards. Y. M. C. A.—Smith and Hand, forwards; Scull, center; Neal and Uzinger, guards. Referee, Henckel.

AMUSEMENTS.

Very large and brilliant audiences continue to crowd the Manhattan Theatre, New York, where Mrs. Fisk and the Manhattan Company are appearing in "Leah Kleschna," which undoubtedly is the most striking dramatic success in that city in years. Never in the history of the Manhattan Theatre, which has been the scene of many notable successes, has the advance sale been so large or so representative as that which betokens a long success to this remarkable play, so remarkably acted. Mrs. Fisk never has appeared in a drama in New York in which her appeal has been stronger. Her characterization of the heroine in Mr. McLellan's fascinating and powerful drama is one of the most engrossing impersonations in the theatre today. The work of her supporting company, as has been admitted on all sides, has seldom or never been surpassed in this country. "Leah Kleschna" is remarkable not only as a drama of enthralling interest from first to last, its develoment holding an audience with a grip that few plays possess, but it projects a series of unusually strong characters, every one of which is played by an actor who can develop its utmost possibilities. In these days this is a rare thing in the theatre, and this all-round ability, added to the prime interest of the play itself, accounts for the phenomenal success that "Leah Kleschna" is enjoying.

Henry W. Savage's latest production, "Common Sense Bracket," the new American comedy drama of rural life, with Richard Golden in the title role, has settled down for a long run at the Fourteenth Street Theatre. The play is intensely dramatic in its serious moments and immensely humorous in the lighter passages. Three distinct love interest run through the action and several types and scenes absolutely new to the stage are presented. The scene of "Common Sense Bracket" is laid in Winthrop, Maine, and the story is woven around the doings of Bruce Bracket. Richard Golden has long been regarded as one of the leading American comedians, and in "Common Sense Bracket" he has at last found the long sought for successor to "Old Jed Prouty." In the new piece he is called upon to impersonate a village philanthropist whose life, though outwardly placid, is a storm center of emotional interest. The title "Common Sense Bracket" is the most appropriate name that could have bestowed on him, as his incessant habit of using that brainy article in all of his actions is the master theme in the denouement of the play. The piece is adequately mounted and most faithfully delineated in acting and environment. The company selected by Mr. Savage to support Mr. Golden is one rarely seen outside of star or organizations.

IN THE SHOPS.

Frank Hepner, of West Fourth street, has taken a position at the Pedrick & Ayer plant.

George McComb, of Spooner avenue, who has been working in a shop at Perth Amboy, has returned to his old position at the Potter Press Works.

George Stagaard, a resident of North Plainfield, was injured in the Pond shop last night through a piece of steel flying from a planer. His left cheek was badly gashed, the missile just escaping his eye. He was removed to his home in a carriage.

Oliver Voorhees, pressman at The Courier-News office, received a painful injury while assisting in moving yesterday afternoon. A heavy piece of casting fell on his foot, and caused a severe bruise. Though Mr. Voorhees is able to be about, the injury is a painful one, and will inconvenience him for some time.

—The cement blocks to be used in the new VanZandt & Voorhees building will be furnished by the Alliance Hollow Cement Block Company, of Siegfried, Pa., and are made out of cement manufactured by the Lawrence Cement Co. The latter company is not engaged in the cement block business.

WARMS NOSE WITH CIGAR.

New York Man Holds Fire End Close to Face and Then Takes Snuff.

Many and varied are the ways and means adopted by people these days as a protection from the cold, but one of the oddest schemes is that of a man who uses his cigar to warm his nose. While on the street he invariably smokes a cigar, and at frequent intervals he removes it from his month and holds the lighted end close to his nose, which happens to be an organ of uncommon size, says the New York Times. Some years ago this gentleman froze his nose, and ever since it has been extremely susceptible to cold. "Moreover," explained the man, "there is a considerable amount of heat radiated from the fire end of a cigar, much more than you would naturally suppose; yet I admit in extreme cold weather it is not sufficient to keep my nose comfortable, and at such times I have snuff. The resultant sneezing amply serves the purpose."

CALLS SUN A BINARY STAR

Prof. Bigelow Expounds Ideas About Old Sol and Laws Governing Him.

"The sun should be regarded as an incipient binary star," says Prof. Bigelow, in the Weather Review. Recent scientific work in investigating the circulation of the solar atmosphere in accordance with the laws governing the convective and radiative action of a large mass of matter contracting by its own gravitation, have led Prof Bigelow to the hypothesis that "the single fiery envelope conceals two disks." A series of observations extending over many years on the period of solar rotation at various points in the surface shows that "the same meridian of the sun is seen twice in a single rotation of the entire mass, first as the eastern limb, and second, 13 days later, as the western limb." Therefore the sun has a dumbbell figure of rotation.

Diplomat a Fine Pianist.

Theodore Hansen, first secretary of the Russian embassy in Washington, is an accomplished musician, being devoted especially to the piano. Most of his spare time is passed fingering the keys of a concert grand, which he has in his apartments. But he is haunted by street pianos, which seem to have a satanic propensity for cutting loose just in front of wherever he happens to live. Three times he has changed his quarters on this account, and he solemnly declares that unless he can effect permanent escape from the torment of "popular music," he may be driven to resign his position.

MERRY ACROBAT FOOLED RING.

Well Supported Red Raven Beaten Out In Second Race.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10.—The ring laid a false price—12 to 1—against Merry Acrobat here, for, despite poor racing luck and considerable interference, he beat the well supported Red Raven a head in the second race. Far West and Florentine, the latter of whom outclassed his company, were the only winning favorites. Summary:

First Race.—Far West, first; Hannibal Bey, second; Otsego, third.

Second Race.—Merry Acrobat, first; Red Raven, second; Death, third.

Third Race.—Florentine, first; Tom Shelly, second; Simplicity, third.

Fourth Race.—Edith May, first; Escutcheon, second; Matador, third.

Fifth Race.—St. Sever, first; Misanthrope, second; Homestead, third.

Sixth Race.—De Reszke, first; Gregor K., second; Au Revoir, third.

Three Favorites at Ascot.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 10.—Three favorites won at Ascot, and the other successful horses were well played. Andrew Mack was made a strong favorite for the fifth race, but made such a shockingly bad exhibition that the judges announced that the entry of this horse would be refused pending an investigation of the race. Jockey Fuller informed the judges after the race that the horse was so stiff he could scarcely get up a gallop, notwithstanding a severe flogging.

Mud Runners Landed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Mud horses landed the money at Oakland. Travers found himself in disfavor with the judges when he rode the favorite, Briers, in the fourth race. Near the finish he fouled Darksome and El Filoto, and the judges promptly disqualified Briers, placing her last.

Murphy and Attell to Fight.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—Tommy Murphy, the bantamweight pugilist of New York, and Abe Attell of San Francisco were matched here by Jack McGuigan to box six rounds at the National Athletic club in this city on Jan. 25. The men will meet at 122 pounds.

Yale Defeated In Swift Game.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Jan. 10.—The Colgate University basket ball team defeated Yale here last night by the score of 39 to 23. The game was exciting, swift and clean from beginning to end.

House Settled Great Question.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The house adopted the senate resolution providing, among other things, for the holding of the inaugural ball in the pension building. On a viva voce vote the resolution was lost, but a roll call enabled those favorable to the pension building proposition to muster their strength and pass it. Speaker Cannon and several of the Republican leaders recorded themselves as being opposed to the idea of the employment of the pension building for the purpose of the inaugural ball.

Hanged Himself With Shirt Rope.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10.—A man who registered at a hotel in this city last week as John T. Fleharty of Baltimore has been found hanging to a bedpost in his room. He was a salesman for a cracker firm and was known to have been suffering from acute gastritis. Fleharty was last seen on Saturday, and it is supposed he hanged himself on Sunday. He made a rope out of pieces of a shirt.

No Arrests In Duke Case.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Laurence Duke, son of Brodie L. Duke, recently committed to a sanatorium on the order of a magistrate, has taken initial steps to secure the annulment of his father's marriage to Miss Alice Webb. What turn the investigation by District Attorney Jerome may take is yet uncertain, but it was said that there would certainly be no immediate arrest in the case.

Paroled After Ten Years.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 10.—The last official act of retiring Governor Winfield T. Durbin was the unconditional parole of Rev. William E. Hinshaw, convicted of the murder of his wife, Thurza Hinshaw, whose death occurred at Winchester just ten years ago last night. Since his conviction Rev. Mr. Hinshaw has been confined in the Michigan City prison. He will be liberated today.

Columbia's Tribute to Woodward.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The resignation of Professor Robert Simpson Woodward, who has been chosen president of the Carnegie institution at Washington, has been accepted by the trustees of Columbia university with an expression of their high appreciation of Professor Woodward's services to the university and to science.

American Killed at Alcazar.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A dispatch from Tangier says: "The vice consuls at Alcazar report that there has been serious intertribal fighting and that one protected American subject has been killed and much property belonging to Europeans looted."

Pistol Ended Family Troubles.

HART, Mich., Jan. 10.—Nel Green of Elbridge township shot and mortally wounded his wife and then shot himself, dying instantly. Family troubles caused the tragedy. Green was a white man and his wife a half breed Indian woman.

Rioters Fired on at Cadiz.

CADIZ, Spain, Jan. 10.—Popular demonstrations against the customs dues resulted in an encounter between crowds and gendarmerie. The latter fired on the rioters, killing one and wounding several.

THE STUPID WOMAN.

There Is No Place For Her In the General Order of Things.

There is no excuse for the stupid woman. You may say she doesn't recognize her own stupidity. Yes, but other people will soon recognize it and point it out to her forcibly.

There is no woman too old to learn new things. There is no mind so dense that it cannot be, little by little, brought into play. If you have deficiencies, make them up. Books are cheap; determination is cheaper. Life is full of opportunities for every one, and the competition is not as sharp as it might be, because half the people who compete do it with only half of their will and energies.

If you think you are a failure remember there are at least three failures to every success, and they are what makes success so sweet beyond words when it does come. If success came at first it would hardly be success at all.

I hear women say life is dull, and that is the greatest untruth that was ever spoken. Life is anything but dull. It may be poignantly cruel and so full of suffering as to make one almost doubt the existence of a kindly power above, but it is never for one minute dull. The man or woman who says that is dull herself—like the blind, who believe the world dark because they themselves cannot see.

The woman who has learned to work is the queen of her sex. I admit we were not intended to work, that we should not work in the sense of doing man's work, but when circumstance has forced us to do this we receive instead a compensation, a new power within ourselves which gives us a more real grasp on life.

And the woman who fills in every minute to the best of her ability has also this gift bestowed on her. She unfolds herself and those around her and brings out the best that is in her and in them.

Such a woman cannot be stupid, and she can never find life dull.

MABEL B. ELLIS.

ANTIQUE EFFECTS.

They Are Particularly Good In Libraries of Out of Town Houses.

Now that so many people are living in the suburbs finer houses are being built every year. The added advantages of light and space, not to speak of side windows, are to be taken into consideration by the interior decorator. Thus it happens that some of the most attractive rooms have been designed for country houses.

In the sketch we see a beautiful example of what I am saying. The large room, lighted by a high north window, is decorated according to a somewhat antique idea. The wood is dark oak, and the walls are tinted a shade of venetian red, although the color scheme could be changed to gray and green in a room which admitted of more sunlight. An oak wainscoting reached halfway up the wall. The doorway is cut into this and is prettily arched. The curtains on either side of the window are of deep red. The floors, of course, are hardwood covered with small oriental rugs. The furniture is upholstered with tapestry in yellow [illegible] tones. Small tables, stands for holding books are built on [illegible] pattern and follow the wood [illegible] tone. A few rich oil paintings complete the color scheme.

I lighted the lantern hurriedly.

"Ciel! the light becomes him," said Louison, her grand eyes aglow.

But before there was time to answer I had kissed her also.

"He is a bold thing," she added, turning soberly to the baroness.

"Both a bold thing and a happy thing," I answered. "Forgive me. I should not be so bold if I were not—well—insanely happy."

"He is only a boy," said the baroness, laughing as she kissed me.

"Poor little ingenu!" said Louison, patting my arm.

Louise, tall and lovely and sedate as ever, stood near me, primping her bonnet.

"Little ingenu!" she repeated, with a faint laugh of irony as she placed the dainty thing on her head.

"Well, what do you think of him?" said Louison, turning to help her.

"Dieu! that he is very big and dreadful," said the other, soberly. "I should think we had better be going."

These things move slowly on paper, but the greeting was to me painfully short, there being of it not more than a minuteful, I should say. On our way to the lights they plied me with whispered queries, and were in fear of more fighting. The prisoners were now in the coach, and our men—there were 12—stood on every side of it, their pikes in hand. The boats were near, and we hurried to the river by a toteway. Our schooner lay some 20 rods off a point. A bateau and six canoes were waiting on the beach, and when we had come to the schooner I unbound the prisoners.

"You can get ashore with this bateau," I said. "You will find the horses tied to a tree."

"Wha' does thet mean?" said D'ri.

"That we have no right to hold them," was my answer. "Ronley was in no way responsible for their coming."

Leaning over the side with a lantern, while one of our men held the bateau, I motioned to the coachman.

"Give that 'humberreller' to the butler, with my compliments," I whispered.

Our anchors up, our sails took the wind in a jiffy.

"'Member how we used ye," D'ri called to the receding Britishers, "an' ef ye ever meet a Yankee try t' be p'lite tew 'im."

Dawn had come before we got off at the Harbor dock. I took the ladies to an inn for breakfast, wrote a report, and went for my horse and uniform. Gen. Brown was buttoning his suspenders when they admitted me to his room.

"What luck, my boy?" said he.

"All have returned safely, including the ladies," I replied quickly, "and I have the honor to submit a report."

He took a chair, and read the report carefully, and looked up at me, laughing.

"What a lucky and remarkable young man!" said he. "I declare, you should have lived in the Middle Ages."

"Ah, then I should not have enjoyed your compliments or your friendship," was my answer.

He laughed again heartily.

"Nor the demoiselles'," said he. "I congratulate you. They are the loveliest of their sex; but I'm sorry they're not Americans."

"Time enough. I have decided that one of them shall become an American," said I, with all the confidence of youth.

"It is quite an undertaking," said he. "You may find new difficulties. Their father is at the chateau."

"M'sieur de Lambert?" I exclaimed.

"M'sieur de Lambert. Came yesterday, via Montreal, with a fine young nobleman—the Count Esmon de Brovel," said he. "You must look out for him; he has the beauty of Apollo and the sword of a cavalier."

"And I no fear of him," I answered soberly, with a quick sense of alarm.

"They rode over in the afternoon with Chaumont," he went on. "It seems the young ladies' father, getting no news of them, had became worried. Well, you may go and have three days for your fun; I shall need you presently."

Breakfast over, I got a team for the ladies, and, mounting my own horse, rode before them. I began to consider a very odd thing in this love experience. While they were in captivity I had begun to think less of Louison and more of Louise. In truth, one face had faded a little in my memory; the other, somehow, had grown clearer and sweeter, as if by a light borrowed from the soul behind it. Now that I saw Louison, her splendid face and figure appealed to me with all the power of old. She was quick, vivacious, subtle, cunning, aware and proud of her charms, and ever making the most of them. She, ah, yes, she could play with a man for the mere pleasure of victory—if she were not in love with him. This type of woman had no need of argument to make me feel her charms. With her the old doubt had returned to me: for how long? I wondered. Her sister was quite her antithesis—thoughtful, slow, serious, even-tempered, frank, unconscious of her beauty, and with that wonderful thing, a voice tender and low and sympathetic and full of an eloquence I could never understand, although I felt it to my finger-tips. I could not help loving her, and, indeed, what man with any life in him feels not the power of such a woman? That morning, on the woods-pike, I reduced the problem to its simplest terms: the one was a physical type, the other a spiritual.

"M'sieur le Capitaine," said Louison, as I rode by the carriage, "what became of the tall woman last night?"

"Left us there in the woods," I answered. "She was afraid of you."

"Afraid of me! Why?"

"Well, I understand that you boxed her ears shamefully."

A merry peal of laughter greeted my words.

"It was too bad; you were very harsh," said Louise, soberly.

"I could not help it; she was an ugly, awkward thing," said Louison. "I could have pulled her nose."

"And it seems you called her a geante also," I said. "She was quite offended."

"It was a compliment," said the girl. "She was an Amazon—like the count's statue of Jeanne d'Arc."

"Poor thing! she could not help it," said Louise.

"Well," said Louison, with a sigh of regret, "if I ever see her again I shall give her a five-franc piece."

There was a moment of silence, and she broke it.

"I hope, this afternoon, you will let me ride that horse," said she.

"On one condition," was my reply.

"And it is—?"

"That you will let me ride yours at the same time."

"Agreed," was her answer. "Shall we go at three?"

"With the consent of the baroness and—and your father," I said.

"Father!" exclaimed the two girls.

"Your father," I repeated. "He is now at the chateau."

"Heavens!" said Louison.

"What will he say?" said the baroness.

"I am so glad—my dear papa!" said Louise, clapping her hands.

We were out of the woods now, and could see the chateau in the uplands.

CHAPTER XXIV.

There was a dignity in the manners of M. de Lambert to me formidable and oppressive. It showed in his tall, erect figure, his deep tone, his silvered hair and mustache. There was a merry word between the kisses of one daughter; between those of the other only tears and a broken murmur.

"Oh, papa," said Louison, as she greeted him, "I do love you—but I dread that—tickly old mustache. Mon Dieu! what a lover—you must have been!"

Then she presented me, and put her hand upon my arm, looking proudly at her father.

"My captain!" said she. "Did you ever see a handsomer Frenchman?"

"There are many, and here is one," said he, turning to the young count, who stood behind him—a fine youth, tall, strong-built, well-spoken, with blond hair and dark, keen eyes. I admit frankly I had not seen a better figure of a man. I assure you, he had the form of Hercules, the eye of Mars. It was an eye to command—women; for I had small reason to admire his courage when I knew him better. He took a hand of each young lady, and kissed it with admirable gallantry.

"Dieu! it is not so easy always to agree with one's father," said Louison.

We went riding that afternoon—Therese and her marquis and Louison and I. The first two went ahead of us; we rode slowly, and for a time no word was spoken. Winds had stripped the timber, and swept its harvest to the walls and hollows, where it lay bleaching in the sun. Birch and oak and maple were holding bared arms to the wind, as if to toughen them for storm and stress. I felt a mighty sadness, wondering if my own arms were quite seasoned for all that was to come. The merry-hearted girl beside me was ever like a day of June—the color of the rose in her cheek, its odor always in her hair and lace. There was never an hour of autumn in her life.

"Alas, you are a very silent man!" said she, presently, with a little sigh.

"Only thinking," I said.

"Of what?"

"Dieu! of the dead summer," I continued.

"Believe me, it does not pay to think," she interrupted. "I tried it once, and made a sad discovery."

"Of what?"

"A fool!" said she, laughing.

"I should think it—it might have been a coquette," said I, lightly.

"Why, upon my word," said she, "I believe you misjudge me. Do you think me heartless?"

For the first time I saw a shadow in her face.

"No; but you are young and—and beautiful, and—"

"What?" she broke in impatiently, as I hesitated. "I long to know."

"Men will love you in spite of all you can do," I added.

"Captain!" said she, turning her face away.

"Many will love you, and—and you can choose only one—a very hard thing to do—possibly."

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

DEADLOCK AT DOVER.

Regulars Determined Not to Yield to Addicks' Men.

DOVER, Del., Jan. 10.—Twenty-one ballots in the house of representatives and thirty-nine in the senate, together with the presence here of practically all the state Republican leaders, has failed to break or even indent the deadlock organization of the Delaware legislature.

Of the leaders on the scene all day was the Wilmingtonian, who solidified the Republican factions on the state ticket, T. Coleman Dupont. Senator Allee (Union) and Senator Ball (Regular) also wrestled with the problem, but State Senators Moore and Connor, Union Republican leaders in the legislature, declared they would hold out until the anti-Addicks, or minority, faction had yielded to them the right to the first choice of the officers. The Regulars continue in their determination not to give over the presidency of the senate to the Addicks men.

Adding gravity to the situation came a reaffirmation by the judges of their decision that the legislature must begin today balloting for United States senator. The Democrats threaten to walk out, which will also drive the Regulars out, for fear that the Unions will outnumber them and elect J. Edward Addicks.

Adams Inaugurated Governor.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 10.—With the exception of the contest for the governorship, which will be filed by Governor Peabody tomorrow and the hearing of which will continue through several weeks, the political troubles of Colorado that are of particular interest to the outside world have been settled, and Alva Adams was inaugurated as governor here today. Despite all the incendiary talk that has been made from time to time, the difficulties have been adjusted amicably. Nobody has been killed, and so far as known no one has delivered or suffered so much as one little blow.

LOUISE MICHEL NO MORE.

Famous Woman of French Commune Dead at Paris.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—Louis Michel, prominent as a communist and revolutionary agitator for the last thirty-five years, died yesterday in Marseilles, aged seventy-five years. Death followed an attack of double pneumonia, contracted while she was on a lecturing tour of the southern provinces of France.

Louise Michel first came into prominence during the Franco-Prussian war. She had previously been a provincial schoolteacher and had formed a romantic admiration for Charlotte Corday and other characters of the French revolution. When the war between Prussia and France broke out she joined an ambulance corps and took part in the defense of Paris, later siding with the commune and advocating the burning of Paris to prevent the entry of the Versailles troops. She was arrested and tried for treason and sentenced to transportation to New Caledonia, where she remained until 1880, when she was allowed to return to Paris under an amnesty act.

SUIT AGAINST WADDINGTON.

Village Rescinded Its Agreement With Capitalists.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Jan. 10.—Canadian capitalists have begun suit in the supreme court against the village of Waddington, St. Lawrence county, for $25,000 for breach of contract.

The village recently voted to sell the water power which supplies the place with light and water for $4,000. Before the property was transferred the Remington Paper company of Watertown obtained an option on it at $15,000, intending to build a railroad from Waddington to connect with a road at Norfolk to carry Canadian pulp wood to the mills at Racquette.

The village electors then decided to control their own light and water service and unanimously rescinded their previous action. The suit for damages will be contested.

to meet its obligations, as was the case last year.

To the various committees of your honorable body I would especially recommend earnest perusal and careful study of the several reports for 1904, on file in the City Clerk's office, as I believe the recorded experiences of your predecessors will afford you the safest and surest basis upon which betterments in the municipal service may be designed for the year now inaugurated. With the single exception above noted, I am glad to say that all city departments have kept within their respective appropriations.

I would also recommend to your honorable body that whenever occasion arises in any city department to purchase supplies in any considerable quantities, you request bids for the same, and also, that our own Plainfield merchants and taxpayers be given the preference in the purchase of all supplies, unless it can be demonstrated that the city's interests can best be served elsewhere.

THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL.

Plainfield is to be congratulated that its Board of Education has been so prompt to avail itself of the opportunities offered by the new school law, and that the result of their energy is so rapidly materializing in the shape of the splendid new High School on West Ninth street. Always held up as a pattern in the generous care of its youth along educational lines, Plainfield, in its latest display of progress and wisdom, well merits its enviable reputation. In this connection it would seem to be advisable that your honorable body and its individual members should closely follow the workings of the Board of Education, to the end that there may be at all times complete harmony and understanding between these two eminently important branches of the city government.

SPITE HOUSES.

The subject of "spite house," so called, has come very prominently before our citizens recently, and demands more than ordinary notice on the part of your honorable body. While it must be our constant care, as public servants, to safeguard the property interests of all our citizens, foreign as well as native born, poor as well as rich, we must, in justice to all, be especially careful to examine every building transaction in which the city is called upon to exercise its authority in the way of a permit, and if in any instance there be the slightest suspicion of bad faith, we must first make thorough investigation of the facts, and in the event that our suspicions shall prove to be well grounded, do all things lawful to thwart and frustrate the designs of the projectors.

There are two instances of this apparent bad faith to which I would call your especial attention, in one of which the residents of Hillside avenue are vitally concerned; the other of which is a matter of most serious moment to the residents of East Front street. In each of these instances the fact that the owners have gone far away from their own kind and have builded their unsightly shacks in exclusive neighborhoods, where there is not the slightest community of interest for them, is enough to warrant the presumption in any fair mind that ulterior motives influenced them in their actions. Adjacent property values have unquestionably been lessened in consequence, which is a matter of deep concern to the city at large, and in addition thereto, the reputation of Plainfield is bound to suffer, if it shall be determined that any such blighting scheme is a possibility within the city limits, and that citizens must be put to the necessity of paying exorbitant prices to designing parties in order to rid themselves of offensive and undesirable neighbors.

I would earnestly request your honorable body to take these matters under advisement, and if it be possible in any lawful way so to do, to see that ample reparation is made for the infliction of these miserable buildings in our neighborhoods.

And in order that the utmost caution may be exercised in the future in these and kindred matters, I would recommend that the building ordinance be so amended that no permit for a building of any description be given by the Inspector until the same shall have received the sanction of a majority of the fire and buildings committee.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL.

The city being now in possession of a garbage disposal plant, I believe your honorable body should, at its early convenience, take up the matter of the collection of the city's refuse, and if it shall seem to you advisable that the present system of licensed carriers should be discontinued, and the city maintain the entire service, it will then become your duty to provide ways and means therefor.

GENERAL IMPROVEMENTS.

The many and varied improvements which have gone so far in recent years to make Plainfield a desirable home and business city, in each and every instance have proven a success, and as, without exception, the several projects have been well and carefully financed at the outset, our pride in them may well be unqualified. The most recent improvement, and one which we have not as yet had full opportunity to test, is the new brick pavement on Watchung avenue, between North avenue and East Second street, and in case time shall prove the success of this latest experiment, I would recommend that whenever our present macadam pavement becomes worn out, brick pavement be substituted therefor in the business section of the city where the traffic is heaviest.

This, gentlemen of the Common Council, concludes my first message to your honorable body. I sincerely trust that we may work together in entire harmony during the year ahead of us, and with an eye single for our city's welfare.

With assurances of my heartiest cooperation in all plans designed for that end, I have the honor to remain,

Your obedient servant,
James F. Buckle,
Mayor.

TELEGRAPHY IN AUSTRALIA.

Railroads and Other Improvements Are Unusually Extensive in That Country.

The circumstances of Australia, and the conditions of its settlement, have had the effect of making both its railroads and its telegraphs unusually extensive in comparison with the numbers of its population, and this is markedly the case with its mileage of telegraph lines, writes Hugh H. Lusk, in the North American Review. At present the great island is only settled on a strip of country bordering on the coast, and even that strip does not include the more northern shores either on the east or west, and takes in no part of the north side at all. The consequence is that a line of telegraph which connects the settlements of Queensland on the northeast of Australia with those of West Australia on the west coast—a distance, in a direct line, of about 2,500 miles—covers fully double that distance from the necessity of keeping in touch with the settled districts. There is, indeed, one line of telegraph which of necessity ignores this rule, and passes for nearly its whole length of about 1,700 miles from the south to the northwestern corner of the island, through an unsettled country. The purpose of this line is to connect settled Australia with the rest of the world by way of Java and India, and it passes through great districts of the interior which were first explored for the purpose of its construction.

TANGIER NIGHT FASCINATES

Writer Declares That Nothing Is Quite So Beautiful as Moorish Evening.

Tangier is most fascinating at night; then the clear moon of the south throws a veil over the city; the browns become softened, the shadows deepened; the shrouded women looking down from the roof tops appear as pale and lovely ghosts, writes Martha Lowell, in the Four-Track News. It is at night that the Moor goes to some cafe, joins the circle of his brethren seated around a lighted brazier, smokes and hears the musicians sing of valor and of love. And if the musicians sing well, a wealthy Moor may throw some rare incense upon the brazier, and the air is then filled with a wondrous perfume, such as is found in no other country in the world. It is at night that the wedding processions march through the winding streets. A band of men, singing the weird wedding song, accompanies the bride. She rides in a covered palanquin mounted on a mule. She has never seen the man whose wife she is to be. If he isn't pleased he will return her next day together with the scornful gift of two chickens.

MAKE GEMS FROM QUARTZ.

Rock Crystal, Purest Form of That Stone, Employed in Manufacture of Diamonds.

Diamond cutting up to a recent time was nearly all done abroad, Holland being the chief center of the industry for some centuries, but of late a good deal of it has come over to America, where electrical machines are used in the work to great advantage in all ways. European work has always been done by hand, as it still is, and the lapidaries there are only just waking up to the knowledge that artificial power can be applied. Besides cutting real gems, the machinery employed here turns out great quantities of artificial ones, which now rule the markets of the world. They are so brilliantly cut and polished that only experts can distinguish them from the genuine article. Rock crystal, the purest form of quartz, is employed in making artificial diamonds, and this can only be worked to advantage with the electrical machines, hand work leaving no profit in the business, besides turning out inferior results.

LEGISLATURE AT WORK

Joseph Cross, of Union Co., Presides Over Senate.

THE COMMITTEES

Features of Governor's Message Includes Proposition for Constitutional Convention.

With the strictest adherence to Republican caucus plans, the one hundred and twenty-ninth session of the Legislature convened at the State House, Trenton, yesterday afternoon. The opening was enthusiastic and was marked by splendid floral displays and unusually large audiences in the galleries and lobbies.

The Senate organized by electing Joseph Cross, of Union, president, and Howard L. Tyler, of Cumberland, secretary. John Boyd Avis, of Gloucester, was chosen speaker of the House and Captain James Parker, of Passaic, clerk. The regular Senate committees were appointed and Senator Childs was placed on the following: Appropriations, boroughs and townships, New Jersey Reformatory and State Village for Epileptics. In the House, Frederick W. Bender, of Union, was made assistant bill clerk and members from Union and Somerset were appointed on the following committees: Tillman, bill revision, towns and townships, New Jersey Reformatory; Coyne, commerce and navigation, corporations, sinking fund, State prison; Hoagland, education, printed bills.

The Senate was called to order by Senator Bradley, of Camden, and Senator Cross nominated for temporary chairman, Senator Childs, of Somerset, who was elected. Mr. Bradley named Senator Cross for president and Senator Ferrell, of Gloucester, named Senator Childs but prefaced the nomination with brief complimentary references to the Republican nominee. Mr. Cross was elected by 12 to 7. S. Merchant Meeker, of Union, was elected Journal clerk.

Governor Murphy's message was received. It defends the State institutions and their unprecedented cost to the State, urges a constitutional convention, holds that the surplus in the hands of the treasurer is too large, and recommends the increase of the annual appropriation to the State school fund from 35 per cent. to 50 per cent. of the total school tax.

On the question of the taxation of railroads the message says: "The subject of the proper taxation of railroad property should receive the earnest attention of the Legislature. * * In my opinion nothing should be done which will decrease the revenue now received by the State from this source, or divert any of that revenue to the local municipalities." A recommendation is made that elections close at sunset and that the voting machines be adopted generally.

Four pages of the message are devoted to the consideration of automobiles, with recommendations that no machines geared to run more than 30 miles an hour be licensed, and that the tax be increased from a permanent fee of $1 to $5 a year and the proceeds be expended on improvement of the roads.

PASTOR TO BE "AT HOME;" INNOVATION AT ONE CHURCH

REV. CHARLES E. HERRING'S IDEA TO TO BE PUT IN FORCE.

For the purpose of giving the members of the church and congregation a better opportunity to meet the pastor, and also provide a regular time for calls, Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, is planning to set apart stated evenings in the month when he will be "at home" in the church

Plans are now being formed to make the rooms in the chapel more attractive by providing appropriate decorations for the walls. On Friday night the Christian Endeavor Society will hold a passe-partout social, the object being to make these pictures and place them on walls to be covered with burlap. The pictures will include scenes from the Holy Land. Rev. Mr. Herring also proposes to introduce another feature at the "at homes," that of serving some light refreshments, and he will ask various members of the church to assist him at these affairs.

Eagles Install.

Plainfield Aerie, No. 866, F. O. E., installed these officers last night, District Deputy Rudolph Kampf being the installing officer: Worthy president, Daniel V. "Korea and the Late War."

The recent announcement of the fall of Port Arthur is still the wonder of the world and everyone is watching the last scenes in this great struggle between Japan and Russia. On Tuesday night, January 17, Rev. J. Dehart Bruen will give a stereopticon lecture on "Korea and the Late War." He will show many pictures which have been copied extensively from magazines and newspapers. Mr. Bruen is especially well informed on the subject and his lecture cannot fail to interest all who have been following the history of the war.

A Contract Case.

A verdict in favor of the plaintiff to the amount of $38 was given by the jury in the contract case of John Leahy against Franklin Codington, at Justice Hand's court yesterday afternoon. John P. Owens represented the plaintiff and Codington by his brother, Horace Codington, of Somerville. This was the jury of six men which tried the case: J. J. Kenney, foreman; Frank Jones, Mr. Toms, John Case, William Ricketts and Felix Hahr.

MEN'S CLUBS ENTERTAINED

Congregationalists the Hosts at Union of Church Societies.

A CONGENIAL AFFAIR

Good Fellowship a Feature of Last Night's Social—The Clubs Represented and Their Presidents.

Good fellowship characterized the union Men's Club meeting at the Congregational church last night, when the members of the men's organizations of all the local churches were given a welcome, generous and hearty, in every sense of the word. Nearly two hundred men were present at the occasion, which was a positive proof of the interest which the organization of men's societies has taken among the male portion of Plainfield's church membership.

Representatives of all the churches were present, both those whose clubs have been for some time in existence, and those who have lately made the initial steps of organization. In welcoming the various club men to the Congregational church last night, W. B. Wadsworth, the president of the club, spoke of the growing interest in men's clubs throughout the city, and later Rev. C. L. Goodrich outlined briefly the history of the home club.

A portion of the programme which won much deserving applause was several selections by a quartette of the Oshkosh Glee Club. The singers were Willard Wadsworth, C. L. Calkins, E. Maxwell Honeyman and William Barlow. Following the quartette selections, Walter David, of New York, the entertainer for the evening, made a decided hit by his impersonations. Mr. David presented a variety of impersonations, and in all he displayed a perfect ease, a delightful sense of humor or pathos, which absolutely captivated his hearers. He is one of the cleverist entertainers who has ever appeared before a local audience, and the entertainment committee was fortunate in procuring such an artist for the occasion.

At the conclusion of the entertainment, the gentlemen were invited to participate in a social hour and to partake of plentiful refreshments which were provided by a committee composed of Charles Steiner, G. F. Fisher and Joseph D. Moore. The reception committee was Frank A. Weeks, William B. Wadsworth, Charles Steiner and J. A. Powlison. These are the clubs which represent Plainfield churches, and their presidents: Men's Brotherhood, of the First M. E. church, president, Nelson A. Miller; Men's Assembly, of Grace M. E. church, president, William Warrin; Young Men's Club, of Hope chapel, president, William N. Runyon; Young Men's Brotherhood, of Warren chapel, president, Charles Wheeler; Men's Club, of First Presbyterian church, president, Frank Dunning; Men's Association, of Trinity Reformed church, president, H. W. Marshall; Men's Club, of Grace P. E. church, president, Hugh F. Fox; Men's Club, of First Baptist church, president, Dr. Norman Probasco; Men's Club, of Congregational church, president, William B. Wadsworth.

Members Receive Rewards for Faithful Work.

For perfect attendance and discipline at drill, Privates Winter, Forst and Kefoed, of Company K, were awarded 100 per cent. medals at the regular weekly drill Monday night. All three enlisted in 1903.

The tickets for Company K's annual fair have been issued, and are attractive in appearance and well worth the price charged for them. The committees on the fair report that all plans are progressing rapidly and it is expected that the members of the company will outdo themselves this year.

BALL MANAGERS PLANS

To Hold a Conference in This City on Saturday Night.

CONSIDER LEAGUE

Rahway, Cranford, Westfield and Plainfield in Combination Maybe.

Charles S. Woolston, manager for the Plainfield Baseball Club, is gradually getting his team together and completing other details for the opening of the baseball season in the spring. No doubt games will be scheduled with Rahway and Cranford, but they will be played here. As for Westfield it is likely that not more than five games will be arranged with that team.

The question of forming a four-team league will be decided at a meeting of baseball managers to be held here Saturday night. It is expected that Manager Potter, of Rahway; Manager Lentz, of the Aeolians; Manager Denman, of Westfield, and Manager Woolston, of the Plainfield club, will hold a conference and decide the matter. Charles A. Reed has been indirectly asked to be president of the league if it is formed, but he has neither assented or refused, preferring to wait until the request takes a more definite shape.

The team will play an occasional Wednesday game here and away from home, always playing here on Saturday. It is possible that the team may play Sunday games away from home, although this has not been definitely decided. The teams that the management hopes to bring here during the season include Trenton Y. M. C. A., Chatham, Madison, Dover and some of the strongest teams in the Metropolitan district. It is also planned to secure some of the college teams for Wednesday afternoons.

MISS LEE'S LUNCHEON.

One of the unique social events of the season was the luncheon given yesterday by Miss Genevieve Lee at Truell Inn. There were four tables, each representing a nationality. One table decorated in red, represented China, another in pink represented France, a third in violet, represented Italy and the fourth in yellow, represented Holland. At each table the favors were representative of the country named, there being miniature gondoliers and windmills, while the ice cream was in the form of various things to be found in the four countries represented. After the luncheon the afternoon was spent in playing cards.

The guests were Miss McDermott, of Jersey City; Miss Elsie Harman, Miss Helen Harman, Miss Ursula Rowland, Miss Grace Kaufman, Miss May Rodman, Mrs. James R. REED ANSWERS ENEMIES

Incidently Charges That Courier-News Misquoted Him.

PROPOUNDS QUESTIONS

He Calls Upon Messrs. Honeyman, Place, Cooley and Others to Answer Some Queries.

Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed makes reply in a communication addressed to The Daily Press to a letter of A. V. D. Honeyman, Charles Place, Justus H. Cooley, W. W. Howland, J. Hervey Buchanan and Edwin A. Overton, in which they denied being in league with the North Plainfield saloonkeepers in any way at the time of the annexation campaign. That there was a tacit understanding between "the powers in Somerville and the leaders of the anti-annexation party in North Plainfield" was reported by the Courier-News as being charged by Mr. Reed at the last meeting of the borough Council. In repudiating the Courier-News story, the Corporation Counsel says:

Editor, The Daily Press:

Referring to the letter of Messrs. Honeyman, Place, Cooley & Co., published in the Courier-News of Monday, I beg to say that my remark was reported with substantial accuracy in your issue of that date. I did not even mention "the powers at Somerville," and hence it was very easy to denounce as false a statement which was never made.

No assertion, however, on the part of the gentlemen in question would alter the belief which I did express, nor in my opinion, would it effect the belief of any impartial man familiar with all the circumstances. It would not surprise me if one or more of these gentlemen were to declare that the saloon men did not aid materially in the fight against annexation and did not make its defeat possible. But in view of the circumstances would not a contrary belief be tenable?

It is even conceivable that some of them may even yet claim that they have been actively engaged in backing up the Smalley administration in its efforts for higher license, and have always been in full sympathy with that movement. It is perhaps a trifle late to make such a declaration now that the Grand Jury has spoken, but at least it could be refreshing and would doubtless surprise the saloon men. As to some of the gentlemen who signed the letter in question it would never have occurred to me to consider them "leaders" in any sense of the word. But since they have all asserted themselves to be such, and familiar with "the views and doings of the party," they will doubtless be willing to answer the following questions:

Were not the liquor dealers of the borough, to a man, opposed to annexation, and opposed because they feared that it would mean consolidation and higher license and shorter hours?

Did not some of them contribute money to the "anti" campaign fund, and all of them use their influence to defeat annexation?

Did they not consult with the gentlemen in question or one or more of them, directly or indirectly, as to the plan and ways and means of that campaign, and work shoulder to shoulder with them in a cause common to both of them?

Were not the gentlemen in question and the liquor dealers in full accord in that campaign in the common object of defeating annexation, and did they not aid and assist each other toward that same end?

During the campaign a year ago when the "Citizens' Party" was seeking control of the borough, were not these same liquor dealers again in full sympathy and accord with these same "leaders?"

Do these gentlemen now mean to give the impression that if the liquor dealers had believed during either of those campaigns that the "antis" or the "Citizens'" favored, and would fight for higher license and shorter hours, they, the liquor dealers, would have joined hands or forces with such "leaders" in either campaign?

Has the voice of any one of said gentlemen ever been raised in the borough in public in favor of higher license or shorter hours, and if so when and where?

Charles A. Reed.

MYSTERIOUS BLAZE CAUSES INVESTIGATION

FIRE AT WHITE BUILDING IMPERILS FOUR FAMILIES.

Evidently started by someone dropping a lighted match or cigar in the carpeting, flames spread up the first stairway of the White building at 118 West Front street late last night and imperilled the lives of four families occupying the various floors. The blaze had assumed dangerous proportions when it was discovered by Mrs. Anderson, one of the tenants, who summoned assistance and with several others sought to put it out. In the excitement no one thought to call the fire department but the danger was removed after several minutes of hard fighting. The carpeting on the stairs was ruined, the steps were badly burned and the walls were scorched in many places.

The matter was reported at police headquarters and an investigation is being conducted. There have been rumors of incendiarism but nothing has been learned to bear out any such statement.

GOLD COIN PRESENTED TO R. A. COLLECTOR

AFTER TWENTY-ONE YEARS SERVICE REV. DR. PARKS GETS REMEMBRANCE.

To show their appreciation of the services rendered by him during the past twenty-one years that he has been collector of the organization, the members of Fanwood Council, Royal Arcanum, last evening, presented Rev. Dr. James H. Parks with ninety dollars in gold wrapped in a crisp one dollar bill. Failing health prevented his accepting the office for the twenty-second year and with his retirement the council decided to signalize the event with more than passing consideration. The presentation was made at Dr. Parks' home, illness preventing his being at the council meeting. Secretary William E. Collins making the address. He referred to the recipient's faithful work and conveyed to him the sincere regret felt by everyone of the members at his inability to continue. Though taken completely by surprise, Dr. Parks found words to thank the donors, declaring that he had felt highly repaid by the members expressed approval of what he had done.

Following the presentation the council adjourned to its rooms where officers for the year were installed by Supervising District Deputy Grand Regent Samuel R. Drummond, of Bound Brook, as follows: Past regent, J. Edward Ruth; vice regent, James B. Guttridge, orator, W. H. Westphal; collector, William B. Noble; secretary, Edward L. Hand; chaplain, Frederick Bour; guide, John T. Green; warden, Matthew Stewart; sentry, William R. Stanbury. Owing to the illness in the family, regent elect, Samuel Hollingsworth, was unable to be present and will be installed at the next meeting. Owing to business cares, secretary elect, William E. Collins, was obliged to resign, Edward Hand being elected to fill the vacancy. Fanwood Council is known as "the little giant" in the Arcanum world and at last night's meeting it was shown that its growth has been almost unprecedented.

Work of the Grand Jury.

From all appearances the Union County Grand Jury will conclude its labors the last of next week. The session is not considered a particularly heavy one and it is predicted that the number of indictments will not be quite as large as usual. However, there are sure to be several interesting trials following the report of the Grand Jury, one especially, if an indictment is found in the case of Harold M. Wilcox, who shot John Darling at Westfield on Hallowe'en night.

Druggists in Meeting.

The Union County Druggists' Association met yesterday in the Y. M. C. A. for the transaction of regular routine business. The meeting was a quarterly one and was largely attended both by druggists from this city and from other parts of the county.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Are you troubled with your feet in any way? If so give Thorp's foot-relief a fair trial and your troubles will soon disappear.

When I. N. Wyckoff, of West Front street, does your painting or papering the work is always sure to be satisfactory. Give him a trial.

Besides conducting a general trucking and moving business, William Hand & Sons, of 136 East Second street, maintain fine storage warerooms for storage purposes.

The very best of everything in the way of accommodations has made the Hotel Waldorf popular with both transient and permanent guests. It has few equals anywhere in the State.

John Johnston, Plainfield's popular coal dealer, will be glad to supply you with coal for the rest of the year. If you are out of coal now, order from Johnston. All the best grades. None of the poor grades.

In the years that he has conducted his business in this city, Allen B. Laing, the electrician, has undertaken a large number of important contracts. If you contemplate anything in this line ask him for estimates.

Water ices, cakes, salads, pies and ice creams of all kinds, from the French caterer, Demolli, are very choice. Demolli caters to Plainfield's best class of people. No reception or dinner is complete when Demolli is left out.

M. C. Dobbins, the Park avenue tobacconist, has recently added several new specimens to his large collection of birds. Drop in and see them and incidentally try one of those Nickle Yara cigars that Dobbins makes and sells.

You will find that most physicians prefer to have their prescriptions taken to Hedge's pharmacy to be put up. It is natural that they should want them put up correctly, and it is consequently natural for them to send you to Hedge's.

Engraving work is made a feature at L. Moralier & Son's Park avenue jewelry establishment. If you have received a Christmas gift in gold or silver why not have it embellished with your monogram? The cost is trifling if Moralier & Son do it.

Fred Endress gets only the best meat. He has no use for meat other than the best, for most people do not care for poor meats. The class of Endress' trade compels him to keep only first-class meat in stock. You may be sure of all you buy at Endress'.

If you have not inspected the desirable line of useful articles at A. M. Griffen's hardware store in East Front street, you have no idea what bargains are to be had there. A special drive is being made on aluminum ware, table cutlery and many special articles. Ask to see Dunlap's percolator, the best coffee pot on the market.

People often quote the fact that "health is wealth" and yet there is nothing that can be lost quicker than the former. Riches in another sense also have a faculty of taking wings but if a proper system of banking is maintained the danger is greatly lessened. The City National Bank, with its increased facilities for depositors, offers inducements for weekly surpluses and an account that is stable.

The January sale of furniture at Woodhull & Martin's store is one of the events of the town and there is no reason why everybody should not take advantage of this great sale. One is now able to furnish their homes at a moderate cost and have the satisfaction of knowing that the goods are all right. A visit to the furniture department will repay you and you may see just what you want. There is always a complete line of goods such as can be found at any first-class house like Woodhull & Martin's.

NEGRO BRAVED BOMB

Gift of Kaiser to American People In Danger.

ATTEMPT TO DESTROY STATUE.

Had It Not Been For Prompt Action of Colored Man Statue of Frederick the Great Might Have Been Damaged.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The police investigation of the alleged attempt to blow up the statue of Frederick the Great tends to demonstrate that the affair was in the nature of a fake caused with the view of creating a sensation rather than of defacing or damaging the statue. The investigation shows that the materials used were incapable of producing very serious results.

An early account said that an unsuccessful attempt was made by one or more civilians to blow up the statue of Frederick the Great, recently presented to this government by the emperor of Germany and now standing in the War college grounds.

A charge of explosive with lighted fuse was attached to the fence surrounding the statue, but was removed by an employee before it exploded.

No damage resulted to the statue or to property or persons.

Prompt measures were taken to detain the perpetrators of the crime before they left the grounds, but they were not captured.

A stranger drove up to the statue in a carriage and arranged his plans carefully for the explosion. He hung a long fuse bomb on the fence surrounding the statue while pretending to take a photograph and then drove hastily away.

A negro named Ellis saw the satchel or suit case containing the bomb, and, hooking a section of scantling through the handle, he raised the suit case off the wire hook which held it to the fence and with a swing landed the "bomb" on the ground at the foot of the steps. An instant later it exploded. Soldiers and civilians all through the reservation heard the report. Nearly all force was taken from the explosion because the substance was confined by nothing heavier than the imitation leather sides of the small suit case. It was variously estimated that from one to five pounds of the substance were in the suit case, which was blown to atoms.

The driver of the carriage who conveyed the man to the statue was arrested and locked up and said that he received his passenger at the Pennsylvania railroad station; that he left the carriage apparently to take a photograph of the statue; that he left the carriage en route back to the depot and made his way toward the river front. The police are searching for the man.

Must Explain Outrage at Para.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—Foreign Minister Lansdowne has cabled to the British minister at Rio Janeiro to investigate the circumstances of an alleged outrage on officers of the steamer Rio Xapury at Para. The Scottish Shipmasters' association reported to Lord Lansdowne that while the Rio Xapury was anchored at Para she was boarded by uniformed men, who arrested the ship's officers, took them ashore and imprisoned them. No reason was assigned for this action, and the following day the ship's officers were released. Meanwhile, however, their cabins had been entered and property and money stolen.

Pittsburg Peace Society.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 11.—The Pittsburg Peace society has held its opening stated meeting here. Officers were elected and a resolution adopted authorizing the award of $1,000 to the author of an acceptable novel on "The Peace Question." The following officers were elected: President, Rabbi J. Leonard Levy; vice president, Rev. Samuel B. McCormick; secretary, Rev. S. Edward Young; treasurer, A. L. Lippman; honorary president, Andrew Carnegie; honorary vice presidents, Governor Pennypacker, Senators Penrose and Knox.

Charge Was Delaying the Mails.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Jan. 11.—Arthur F. Gray, who was arrested here by United States Marshal Black, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Charles S. Hall charged with delaying the mails. He was held for the grand jury. Gray is a postal clerk in the local postoffice. When he was arrested eight letters were found in his pockets, but as none of them were opened the minor charge was preferred against him. The extreme penalty is $500 fine or one year in prison, or both.

Bankers Pleaded Not Guilty.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 11.—L. P. Oligher and J. R. Zimmerman, defaulting officials of the Wooster (O.) National bank, have arrived here in the custody of two secret service men from Victoria, B. C., where they were placed under arrest several days ago charged with embezzling the funds of the bank. The two bankers were at once arraigned before United States Commissioner Marlatt. They both pleaded not guilty.

Fate Now With Court Martial.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Whatever fate awaits Captain David H. Mulliken, Twenty-seventh United States army, charged with falsifying his "efficiency" report in connection with his alleged marriage to a Filipino and with duplicating his pay account, rests now with the court martial. After five days' investigation the hearing at Fort Sheridan has ended.

FAVOR WAS ILL USED

President Withdraws His Letter to Newsboys' Magazine.

MURAT HALSTEAD HAS RESIGNED.

Roosevelt's Commendation, Couched In General Terms, Used to Exploit an Alleged Unworthy Object.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—President Roosevelt has withdrawn a letter which he wrote last March extending to the American Newsboys' Magazine his wishes for its success. The withdrawal of the president's letter was announced in the form of a letter which the president wrote to Murat Halstead, who was the president of the company which is to publish the magazine. The letter of the president to Mr. Halstead follows in part:

"I am advised that you are the president of a company formed to publish the American Newsboys' Magazine and contemplate withdrawing your connection with it."

After quoting in full the letter which he wrote last March to Colonel O. O. Stealey, then editor of the magazine, the president continues:

"As you will note, this letter is couched in general terms, but it has been used to exploit this company. Certain facts have come to me as to the character of certain persons interested in the corporation as well as the methods they have adopted for the disposal of stock which make me unwilling longer to permit the use of my name in connection with the enterprise. May I ask you to look carefully into the matter and write me your views? I will not have any letter of mine used in connection with any concern which is in any way tainted, even though this letter refers more to a general movement than to a particular scheme."

In response to this letter Mr. Halstead wrote the president that he did intend to withdraw from the company, saying:

"I cannot continue associated with the concern and propose to take the legal steps that may be possible to protect the interests of the bona fide stock subscribers from dissipation."

The president in addition to authorizing the publication of the correspondence took steps to insure the withdrawal of his letter of last March. In conclusion the statement issued at the White House says:

"In making this correspondence public there is no purpose to reflect on the integrity of Colonel Stealey, Mr. Halstead or Mr. Richardson, who were at one time or another connected as officers of the company. They evidently endeavored in good faith to cause it to carry out its original purpose."

Mr. Halstead, who called on the president at the White House, issued a statement, in which he says:

"My business here was to give the president information of the misuse of his name in a company advertised as a scheme of philanthropy. My reason for this was that my name had been abused in the same connection.

"The president had found out the offensive facts and announces that the use in any form of his name or that of a cabinet officer by the American Newsboy company is forbidden."

The stockholders of the American Newsboy company held a meeting here yesterday, at which Charles A. Edwards was elected president vice Mr. Halstead, resigned, and H. K. Holmes, E. R. Johnston and Charles A. Edwards members of the board of directors. Mr. Johnston was elected secretary and treasurer in place of Mr. Richardson.

First Cabinet Dinner.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Secretary and Mrs. Hay entertained the president and Mrs. Roosevelt at dinner last night. Those invited to meet them were Vice President Elect and Mrs. Fairbanks, Justice Holmes of the supreme court, Senator Allison, Mrs. Slater, Senator and Mrs. Lodge, Senator and Mrs. Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, Mr. Henry James and many others. The table decorations were pink. This was the first cabinet dinner of the social season and marks the abandonment of the former practice of inviting all the cabinet to each of the dinners given by the president's official advisers.

Gomez Declines to Run.

HAVANA, Jan. 11.—General Maximo Gomez has published a letter declining to allow himself to be mentioned as a candidate for the presidency. General Gomez has frequently been mentioned as a possible candidate, especially in connection with his reiterated policy of paying revolutionary veterans in full in accordance with the lists instead of effecting a compromise, which was the plan tentatively favored by the Palma administration.

Tried Suicide With Wood Alcohol.

WATERLOO, Ia., Jan. 11.—Miss Cecilia McAndrews, who was kept under surveillance at Madison, Wis., for two days on suspicion of being implicated in the sudden death there on Thursday of B. F. Burton, proprietor of the Capitol House, attempted suicide at Laporte, a small town near here, by swallowing wood alcohol. She spilled some of it in her eyes and, though she may not die, will be blind.

Buried at Sea New Year's Eve.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 11.—The British steamship Ottawa, from Manchester, England, has arrived at this port after a stormy passage of fifteen days. The captain reported the death of the third mate, Henry Allen, of Derby, England, on New Year's eve, of heart failure. He was buried at sea.

KILL YELLOW JACK.

American Public Health Conference at Havana, Cuba.

PRAISE FOR OUR FEVER EXPERTS.

Dread Scourge Banished From Pearl of the Antilles—Dr. Jesse Lazear a Martyr to Scientific Zeal For Human Welfare.

HAVANA, Jan. 11.—The feature of the formal opening last night of the annual meeting of the American Public Health association was the address of the president, Dr. Carlos Finlay, the yellow fever expert and chief of the Cuban health department. Dr. Finlay paid a tribute to the accomplishments and sacrifice of American experts who have brought about the beneficent result of banishing yellow fever through the energetic application of what previously had been only theories. Dr. Finlay was in turn praised by American sanitarians for his services to humanity in discovering the mode of yellow fever propagation.

Dr. Finlay said Cuba was especially grateful to this association, some of whose members were Cuba's greatest benefactors. The banishment of yellow fever was largely due to two commissions from Washington, the first a quarter of a century ago and the second twenty years later. The latter decisively established the true etiology of yellow fever. Its members were themselves prostrated by the disease, and one, Dr. Jesse Lazear, died a martyr to scientific zeal, permitting himself to be infected and contaminated by mosquitoes. Dr. Finlay praised the work of Major Gorgas, chief health officer under General Wood, who, adopting the commission's findings, succeeded within seven months in ridding Havana of her inveterate enemy.

With reference to the two cases of yellow fever last October in Santiago province Dr. Finlay said it was presumable that they were transmitted by mosquitoes from a quarantine ship. These were the only fever cases since 1901.

The only case of smallpox, Dr Finlay said, was one unvaccinated person, a detention hospital employee, credited to Mexico.

Dr. Finlay urged a stronger fight against tuberculosis, the most important mortuary factor in large towns everywhere.

Dr. Erastus Wilson of Havana read a paper on sanitary conditions in Havana and the necessity of their improvement. He said that while the improvements during and since the American intervention had reduced the death rate one-half Havana was now in the condition of having washed her face and left her underclothing dirty. Her radical requirements indisputably is a complete sewer system. Dr. Wilson pointed out the difficulties which prevent the general government from authorizing the projected $28,000,000 loan for Havana sewers until the soldiers' pay loan is partially cleared off.

Members of the association commended Dr. Wilson's candor and remarked that several cities in the United States were in a condition similar to Havana's.

Democratic Banquet at Lafayette.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 11.—Several national leaders of the Democratic party and many prominent state Democrats broke bread last night at the eighth annual banquet of the Jackson club, held in honor of the memory of Andrew Jackson. Following the feast there were addresses in which William J. Bryan received the largest share of applause, but National Chairman Thomas Taggart was also accorded an ovation. There were many prominent Illinois, Ohio and Michigan Democrats present, and nearly every county in Indiana was represented. More than 800 persons sat down at the first table.

To Save Adirondack Forests.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 11.—Attorney General Mayer has stated that ex-Attorney General Cunneen instituted an action in the supreme court to declare the title to the lands in the Adirondacks purchased for the Cornell University of Forestry to be vested in the state and to restrain the university and the Brooklyn Cooperage company from cutting any trees from the same. The attorney general has been requested to give a hearing before any further steps are taken.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 11, 1905.

Senator introduces a bill giving Congress the right to control polygamy. No need of that. If reports from Washington are true, well—

J. Minot Savage and Heber Newton, two doctors of theology, profess a belief that spirits are about us. The fellow who sleeps on his back in the moonlight after filling up on Welsh rarebit does not doubt it.

Summed up briefly the three notable features of Governor Franklin Murphy's third and last annual message are: First, the urgent need of a constitutional convention to revise the fundamental laws of the State; second, more stringent automobile legislation raising the tax on the machines and limiting their speed on the highways, and, third, the benefit of closing the polls at sunset and the general use of voting machines. There are many other subjects treated at length and wisely, among them being the tenement house law, equal taxation and the State institutions. As a rule the comments of the State press are favorable and deservingly so.

SNAP SHOTS.

Since locating Muhlenberg Hospital on Randolph road and Park avenue, there has been a far less number of accident cases received than formerly. This is accounted for by the fact that the institution is so much further away from the city and accident cases of minor importance are generally cared for by the physicians who live near the business section of the city. Only cases of a more serious nature are taken to the hospital.

Justice of the Peace Hand tells a funny story of one of the parties who has recently come before him on trial. Henry Johnston, who was assaulted by his landlady, Mrs. Martha Haskin, is the object of the joke, though the Justice was equally the butt of the fun. Thursday afternoon the lawyers and their clients met and decided upon Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock as the hour for trial. The necessity of prompt attendance at the court was strongly impressed upon the plaintiff and the defendant, especially on account of the fact that Mrs. Haskin had the day before resisted arrest. At 12 o'clock at night the Justice heard a knocking at the door, and thinking that some belated couple had come to be married, opened the window and asked what was wanted. "Did yo' honor say dat trial was fo' o'clock in de mornin' or in de afternoon?" asked Henry Johnston, who stood shivering under the frowning Justice. The 'Squire said something forcible but what he said can't be recorded here.

This sale appeals most forcibly to new beginners, who contemplate going to housekeeping in the spring.

Since the new guarantee rates have been charged by the Supreme Lodge, Ancient Order of United Workmen, the Grand Lodge of this State has paid to the higher body the sum of $34,323.40. These payments were made during the first ten months of 1904. Of this sum $17,032.02 was collected direct from the members and $17,291.38 was transferred from the beneficiary fund. In its presentment of the scheme for new rates and an adequate guarantee fund, the Supreme Lodge has a table showing at how much less than cost the insurance has been given to members. The amount of death benefit is calculated each time a member dies and the sum returned to the Grand Lodge in the jurisdiction in which the deceased member lived. The rebates allowed New Jersey for the first ten months of 1904 amounted to $23,659.43, making the net cost to the order in this State $10,663.97 for the privilege of participating in the guarantee fund. Even this amount will come back to the State as future death claims are filed. It is figured that if the new guarantee rates had not been paid by this State the Grand Lodge would have been asked to pay in the sum of $17,032.02 and would have received nothing in return. By paying $17,391.38 in addition under the new plan the State has received in rebates the sum of $23,659.43, which means a saving of $6,368.05.

KING OF THE FOREST

SUCH IS THE GIANT NORTH AMERICAN MOOSE.

The Prize for the Hunters Is a Dweller in the Northern Woods —Something About His Habits.

Now and then, in my wanderings through the Blue mountain forest, I come upon a gigantic blackish-brown deer, which, by reason of the great length of its yellowish-gray legs, stands higher than a tall horse. It is clothed in coarse, bristly hair, longest on the neck and shoulders, and it has a rather ugly, overhanging nose, which distinguishes it at once from all other kinds of deer. From the throat of the male hangs a long hair-covered appendage known as the "bell;" and in the fall and winter he has also a pair of wide-spreading antlers, very heavy and much flattened or "palmated." He stalks the forest through undergrowth and over fallen trunks, like a king of giants, or, if alarmed, he speeds away at an amazingly swift swinging trot, and with a crashing which resembles the sound of falling trees. Such is the moose, the largest of all deer living or extinct.

The moose is chiefly an animal of the northern woods, the southern limit of its range being the head of Green river, Wyoming. It is also found in northern Maine, New Brunswick, southern Canada, Idaho, British Columbia, Alberta, Athabasca, Yukon and Alaska. It is strictly a dweller of the forest, seldom venturing to treeless plains. It lives for the most part by browsing on the leaves, twigs and bark of trees, particularly young trees. In order to reach the tops of tall saplings, the moose rears up against them, straddling them with his long legs, and literally riding them down. He is fondest of birch, hemlock, alder, aspen, willow and maple. He also eats mosses and liches, but his legs are so long that when he wishes to eat from the ground he is obliged to kneel. In summer he frequents the shores of quiet, tree-bordered lakes and streams, where he eats the lily-pads.

In May, the "cow," as the female moose is called, gives birth to a long-legged, ungainly, tawny-colored calf, to protect which the mother will fight any woodland creature to the death.

THE MOOSE.

She has no antlers, but she can use her great sharp hoofs with the skill of a prize-fighter, and has been known to pound to death a large black bear, and fairly trample his body into the ground. The calf stays with his mother for two or three years, or until he wanders off to seek a mate for himself. One day last summer I came suddenly upon a cow moose, standing knee deep in a shallow pond, while from beneath her neck her grotesque-looking calf peered out at me with eyes wide open, as if with astonishment.

Like all American deer, the "bull" moose sheds and renews his antlers every year. They become full-grown, hard and sharp, about the first of October, the beginning of the breeding season. At this time of year, the bulls are very savage, and not only fight furiously among themselves, but are apt to attack anything or anybody who comes in their way. The call of the "bull" is a long-drawn bawl, with several loud grunts at the end. If there is a cow within hearing, she will answer with a low cry, and the "bull" will come forward to meet her. Hunters often take advantage of this fact, and attract the "bull" by an imitation of the call of the cow, executed on a cone-shaped horn made of birch bark. Lying concealed on the bank of a lake or stream, they give out the call, and when the bull comes within range they shoot him. But as this trick is usually played at night, and as the bull sometimes never gives any warning of his coming until he is almost on the spot, the sport is apt to be dangerous. The bull, at such a time, is in no mood to be trifled with, and unless the hunter is cool-headed and a good shot, the moose is not only willing, but very able, to kill him, and a dozen like him, if they happened to be on the spot.

In the winter, when the snow is deep, the moose, sometimes several families together, will gather in a certain section of woodland, and be breaking out paths for themselves over a space of perhaps several acres, form what is known as a "yard," where, if not disturbed, they may stay for weeks together. But the moose is able to travel well at all seasons, and even in deep snow his long legs enable him to move at a pace which will astonish any hunter who tries to run him down on snowshoes.

ERNEST HAROLD RAYNES.

KILLED BY MOROS.

Cavalry Officer and Trooper Slain on Jolo Island by Rebels.

MANILA, Jan. 11.—In an engagement which took place with refractory Moros on the island of Jolo Lieutenant James M. Jewell and Private William F. O'Neill, Troop K, Fourteenth United States cavalry, were killed.

Second Lieutenant Roy W. Ashbrook of the Seventeenth United States infantry, Captain Halstead Dorey of the Fourth United States infantry, Second Lieutenant C. Richardson of the Fourteenth United States cavalry and three privates were wounded.

The action was an incident in connection with the capture of a fort held by the Moro outlaws which Major Scott, governor of the island, had attempted to secure by peaceful means several months ago.

Recently while attempting to secure recruits on the island the kindly means taken by Major Scott were mistaken by the surrounding Moros, and trouble resulted, necessitating forcible action.

The Moro leader has been killed, and the fort has been destroyed. The American troops were assisted by the gunboat Quiros, in command of Lieutenant Walker.

A telegram from Major General Corbin, commanding the Philippine division, in regard to the engagement says:

"The disturbances were purely local and unimportant as relates to Jolo in general, which is in good condition. Most of the wounded only slightly hurt. Valuable assistance was given and excellent service rendered by party from the gunboat Quiros. Major Hugh L. Scott commanded the troops in the action.

"The above contains all concerning event known to this office. Bodies will be sent on February transport."

Captain Halstead Dorey, wounded, is a nephew of Mrs. Murat Halstead of Cincinnati. He was graduated from West Point the year before the Spanish-American war.

PRESIDENT MUST DETERMINE.

Responsibility of Tariff Reform Agitation Must Be Borne by House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Whether there will be an extra session of congress for the revision of the tariff is a question in the expressed opinion of a number of leaders of the senate that must be determined by the president and the house. In other words, several senators contend steadfastly that the responsibility of tariff revision agitation must be borne by the house, while the senate will join in perfecting such legislation as may be provided if an extra session is called by the president and a bill be passed by the house.

The senators holding this view are not confined to those who, with certain house leaders, attended the conference held at the White House to sound the sentiment of congress. Yet they assume, without any public confirmation of the fact, that the attitude of the senate as represented by the senate conferees was not in opposition to the tariff revision if that programme should be decided on by the president.

It is declared, therefore, that the senate does not stand in the way of an early decision as to the necessity or advisability of action by congress before the next regular session of congress.

Senators who plan to place on the house the burden of an extra session argue that certain house members, in discussing the relative positions of the two legislative branches of congress, have not refrained from advancing the charge that the senate does not represent the people as does the house and say that if opposition to an extra session is made effective it will not be the senate that erects the barrier.

Senate Confirms Nominations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The senate in executive session has confirmed the following nominations: Henry M. Hoyt, California, to be United States attorney for the district of Alaska; Harold L. Lyon, Minnesota, consul at Chungking, China; Ira A. Abbott, Massachusetts, associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of New Mexico; Clinton D. McDougall, marshal for the northern district of New York; John B. Robinson, marshal for the eastern district of Pennsylvania; Robert W. Taylor, district judge for northern district of Ohio.

Fined For Smoke Nuisance.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Following the recent letter of President Roosevelt urging strict enforcement of the law against the emitting of dense smoke from chimneys near the White House a police magistrate has imposed fines aggregating $480 in nineteen cases against Lindley S. Sinclair, general superintendent of the Potomac Electric Power company. Fines were also imposed in several other cases.

Peace Mass Meeting at Boston.

BOSTON, Jan. 11.—A meeting to indorse and further the movement for general arbitration treaties was held at the Chamber of Commerce here under the auspices of a committee on international arbitration appointed at a mass meeting of citizens about a year ago. Former Governor John D. Long was chairman of the meeting.

Denied He Was Hired to Kill.

NEW ULM, Minn., Jan. 11.—In the Koch trial here on cross examination Witness Ulen said that he did not mean to tell the jury that Dr. Koch had tried to hire him to kill Dr. Gebhardt. Witness said positively that Dr. Koch had not tried to get him to kill Gebhardt.

American Schooner Stranded.

NASSAU, N. P., Jan. 11.—The American schooner Mary Lee Patton, Captain Steelman, from Philadelphia on Dec. 20 for Cardenas, has been found stranded and deserted at Abaco, Bahama islands.

Feminine Snapshots

Object Lesson on How to Spoil a Man

Lately I spent an hour in the company of a mother and her sixteen-year-old son. It would be truer to say "a sixteen-year-old son and his mother," for the son was "it" there. The hour was a distressful one. The mother was rather a brainy woman, lively and pleasant, but she was just too intellectually lazy to exercise her brains, so let them rust. At the same time she was the typical fool mother who makes a door mat of herself for her children. The fool mother calls this affection, which it is not. It is silliness. I tried to draw out the mother in talk, but that brassy youngster would "butt in" every minute and force himself in the foreground. He contradicted his mother, told her she could not have in the house something she had a fancy for and instructed her in matters she had known all about before he was born. Worst of all, that foolish woman weakly settled back and let him take the lead. She even seemed to have a kind of pride in the ill bred boy, as if to say, "See what a splendid, superior creature I have given to the world!" The cold fact was that the lad was not a bit superior to the average youth of his age, only conceited, impertinent and extremely offensive to almost everybody but his mother, who was directly responsible for his bad qualities. She was breeding into her son a contempt for the whole feminine sex. No boy can possibly respect a mother who lets him boss her in that way, and if a man respects not his own mother, then what woman will he respect in the whole course of his life? The woman who panders to masculine vanity is guilty of a grave wrong. It is the common grievance of our sex that men look on women as inferior. How can they do otherwise when brought up by fool mothers? The wise, strong willed, noble mother, who enforces respect from her sons is the one that builds for the future of her sex.

In wealthy families wages for a skilled woman cook range from $20 to $50 a month, with usually a cook's helper kept in addition. The cook has a good home and no expense except for clothing. There are now training schools in all our large cities where a woman may in a short time learn thoroughly the science and art of cookery. The average pay of a woman teacher in the United States is $40 a month during seven to ten months in the year, with nothing doing to earn money during the other two months. Who would not be a cook?

Miss Ida Galbreth, a public school teacher of Columbia City, Ind., has received from President Roosevelt a letter of thanks and his photograph for defending him in ringing words against attacks made on him in a public speech.

Blessed be the woman who does things and makes no fuss!

Lately a woman who has made a famous nonsuccess of her own married life made a violent and silly attack—violent attacks are always silly—on the going out of girls to work in stores and shops instead of staying at home and learning to cook. Her objection was that such work made girls unfit for matrimony. Such stuff makes one tired. Unless the girls went out to work how could they get anything to cook at home?

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson reports that the hens of the United States in one month lay eggs enough to pay the interest on our big national debt for a whole year. And the women of the United States rear and tend the hens! Is not this productive industry—that, too, of the best kind? It may be remarked quite incidentally that there is good profit in the poultry business, and it is very healthful.

Know this: No human being is superior in any respect to the woman who keeps her head on and her will in action and develops her natural powers.

Woman's vitality is superior to that of man, and statistics prove it. One-fifth more boy babies than girls are born, yet a large percentage of the boys die before they are five years old, and the feminine population the world over is steadily gaining on the masculine.

A tremendous step forward has been taken by several leading hotel and restaurant keepers in New York city. They now permit a woman unattended by one of the trousered sex to enter their dining rooms and order dinner in the evening. The sun do move!

Some time since Professor and Mrs. Oliver of Cleveland, traveling in Europe, journeyed to Finland. Mrs. Oliver had with her a paper dress skirt pattern, given to her by her mother. Russian customs officers saw it, nabbed it and detained the Olivers, concluding they were spies. Explanations were no good at first; that skirt pattern told a suspicious tale. At length, after delay, elaborate explanations and great jabberings, the pair were allowed to go on to Finland. But the officers confiscated the pattern, fearing, after all, it might be plans of some Russian fort.

By Irving Bacheller

Author of "Eben Holden," "Darrel of the Blessed Isles," Etc.

Copyright, 1901, by Lothrop Publishing Co.)

"Not hard," said she, "if I see the right one—and—and—he loves me also."

I had kept myself well in hand, for I was full of doubts that day; but the clever girl came near taking me, horse, foot, and guns, that moment. She spoke so charmingly, she looked so winning, and then, was it not easy to ask if I were the lucky one? She knew I loved her, I knew that she had loved me, and I might as well confess. But no; I was not ready.

WE WENT RIDING THAT AFTERNOON.

"You must be stern with the others; you must not let them tell you," I went on.

"Ciel!" said she, laughing, "one might as well go to a nunnery. May not a girl enjoy her beauty? It is sweet to her."

"But do not make it bitter for the poor men. Dieu! I am one of them, and know their sorrows."

"And you—you have been in love?"

"Desperately," I answered, clinging by the finger-tips. Somehow we kept drifting into fateful moments when a word even might have changed all that has been—our life way, the skies above us, the friends we have known, our loves, our very souls.

She turned, smiling, her beauty flashing up at me with a power quite irresistible. I shut my eyes a moment, summoning all my forces. There was only a step between me and—God knows what!

"Captain, you are a foolish fellow," said she, with a little shudder. "And I—well, I am cold. Parbleu! feel my hand."

She had drawn her glove quickly, and held out her hand, white and beautiful, a dainty finger in a gorget of gems. That little cold, trembling hand seemed to lay hold of my heart and pulled me to her. As my lips touched the palm I felt its mighty magic. Dear girl! I wonder if she planned that trial for me.

"We must—ride—faster. You—you—are cold," I stammered.

She held her hand so that the sunlight flashed on the jewels, and looked down upon it proudly.

"Do you think it beautiful?" she asked.

"Yes, and wonderful," I said. "But, mark me, it is all a sacred trust—the beauty you have."

"Sacred?"

"More sacred than the power of kings," I said.

"Preacher!" said she, with a smile. "You should give yourself to the church."

"I can do better with the sword of steel," I said.

"But do not be sad. Cheer up, dear fellow!" she went on, patting my elbow with a pretty mockery. "We women are not—not so bad. When I find the man I love—"

Her voice faltered as she began fussing with her stirrup.

I turned with a look of inquiry, changing quickly to one of admiration.

"I shall make him love me, if I can," she went on soberly.

"And if he does?" I queried, my blood quickening as our eyes met.

"Dieu! I would do anything for him," said she.

I turned away, looking off at the brown fields. Ah, then, for a breath my heart begged my will for utterance. The first word passed my lips when there came the sound of galloping hoofs and Therese and the marquis.

"Come, dreamers," said the former, as they pulled up beside us. "A cold dinner is the worst enemy of happiness."

"And he is the worst robber that shortens the hour of love," said the marquis, smiling.

We turned, following them at a swift gallop. They had helped me out of that mire of ecstasy, and now I was glad, for, on my soul, I believed the fair girl had one more to her liking, and was only playing for my scalp. And at last I had begun to know my own heart, or thought I had.

D'ri came over that evening with a letter from Gen. Brown. He desired me to report for duty next day or two.

"War—it is forever war," said Therese, when I told her at dinner. "There is to be a coaching-party tomorrow, and we shall miss you, captain."

"Can you not soon return?" said the baroness.

"I fear not," was my answer. "It is to be a long campaign."

"Oh, the war! When will it ever end?" said Louise, sighing.

"When we are all dead," said Louison.

"Of loneliness?" said the old count, with a smile.

"No; of old age," said Louison, quickly.

"When the army goes into Canada it will go into trouble," said the Comte de Chaumont, speaking in French. "We shall have to get you out of captivity, captain."

"Louise would rescue him," said her sister. "She has influence there."

"Would pay my ransom?" I inquired, turning to her.

"With my life," said she, solemnly.

"Greater love hath no man than this," said the good Pere Joulin, smiling as the others laughed.

"And none has greater obligation," said Louise, blushing with embarrassment. "Has he not brought us three out of captivity?"

"Well, if I am taken," I said, "nothing can bring me back unless it be—"

"A miracle?" the baroness prompted as I paused.

"Yes; even a resurrection," was my answer. "I know what it means for a man to be captured there these days."

Louise sat beside me, and I saw what others failed to notice—her napkin stop quickly on its way to her lips, her hand tighten as it held the white linen. It made me regretful of my thoughtless answer, but oddly happy for a moment. Then they all besought me for some adventure of those old days in the army. I told them the story of the wasps, and, when I had finished, our baroness told of the trouble it led to—their capture and imprisonment.

"It was very strange," said she, in conclusion. "That Englishman grew kinder every day we were there, until we began to feel at home."

They were all mystified, but I thought I could understand it. We had a long evening of music, and I bade them all good-by before going to bed, for they were to be off early.

Well, the morning came clear, and before I was out of bed I heard the coach-horn, the merry laughter of ladies under my window, the prancing hoofs, and the crack of the whip as they all went away. It surprised me greatly to find Louise at the breakfast table when I came below-stairs; I shall not try to say how much it pleased me. She was gowned in pink, a red rose at her bosom. I remember as if it were yesterday, the brightness of her big eyes, the glow in her cheeks, the sweet dignity of her tall, fine figure when she rose and gave me her hand.

"I did feel sorry, ma'm'selle, that I could not go; but now—now I am happy," was my remark.

"Oh captain, you are very gallant," said she, as we took seats. "I was not in the mood for merrymaking, and then, I am reading a book."

"A book! May its covers be the gates of happiness," I answered.

"Eh bien! it is a tale of love," said she.

"Of a man for a woman?" I inquired.

"Of a lady that loved two knights, and knew not which the better."

"Is it possible and—and reasonable?" I inquired. "In a tale things should go as—well, as God plans them."

"Quite possible," said she, "for in such a thing as love who knows what—what may happen?"

"Except he have a wide experience," I answered.

"And have God's eyes," said she. "Let me tell you. They were both handsome, brave, splendid, of course, but there was a difference: the one had a more perfect beauty of form and face, the other a nobler soul."

"And which will she favor?"

ILL TREATED AN OLD LADY.

Herbert Taylor of Many Aliases Captured In Lumber Camp.

WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 11.—A special from Bellows Falls, Vt., says:

"After a thrilling chase of three days Deputy Sheriff Daniel H. Rice of Barre, with Chief of Police A. H. Thompson of Bellows Falls, have arrested Herbert Taylor, alias George Davis, alias Bert Needham, who is wanted in Petersham on the charges of larceny from and assault on Mrs. Elsino O. Ward, sixty-five years old. According to her story to the police she was at the mercy of the young man, who, armed with a shotgun, rifle and bowie knife, kept her at her lonely home, two miles from Petersham Center, from 5 o'clock Tuesday night to Wednesday night at 10 o'clock, when in a blinding snowstorm he took his departure, threatening to kill the old lady if the story of his doings ever got into the newspapers. State Detective Peleg F. Murphy and Deputy Sheriff Rice followed the man's trail from Winchendon to Bellows Falls, where he arrived Friday night and registered at the Hotel Windham as George Davis.

"Saturday he strolled down the main street of the city with a rifle strapped over his shoulder and then, as if by magic, he disappeared.

"The officers received word that the young man was in a lumbering camp four miles from here in the mountains. They left the city at 5 o'clock, reaching the lumbering camp after dark. There they went to a stable and found their man. He did not offer any resistance and was driven to Bellows Falls with the officers. On the way he admitted being in Petersham, and when asked what he did at the home of Mrs. Ward he replied: 'Well, I don't know. I suppose I was foolish.'"

CORUSCATE AT NEW ORLEANS.

Odds On Favorite, Well Ridden, Took Handicap Easily.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11.—The attendance on the first ladies' day of the season was a record breaker. The card provided was a good one, and five favorites won. Optional, who showed no speed and who was outrun at every stage of his race, was the only beaten favorite. Summary:

First Race.—Monte, first; Ascot Belle, second; Flight, third.

Second Race.—Lieutenant Rice, first; Norwood Ohio, second; Little Jack Horner, third.

Third Race.—Kittie Platt, first; Sponge Cake, second; Miss Betty, third.

Fourth Race.—Coruscate, first; Monaco Maid, second; Katie Powers, third.

Fifth Race.—Treacy, first; Lord Tennyson, second; Cataline, third.

Sixth Race.—Montebank, first; Knowledge, second; Annora J., third.

Golf Tournament Ends.

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 11.—The advertising men's international golf tournament ended in a victory for the chief cup by James G. Batterson of New York over Paul Harrison of Montclair, 4 up and 6 to play. The success of the tournament has resulted in the formation of a permanent organization to be known as the American Golf Association of Advertising Interests for the purpose of holding annual tournaments.

Venator Came to Life.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—Venator came to life here and won the handicap in hollow fashion. Martinmas' defeat cast a gloom over the talent, as it made four choices in a row to fall down. Martinmas was an easy second. Three necks apart for the third place were Sea Voyage, Romaine and Judge, but Sea Voyage got the money.

Talent Hard Hit by Locket.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 11.—Mimon was the only favorite to win over the heavy track at Essex park. Roommate, Benton and Ethics, well supported second choices, saved the form players from a disastrous day. The talent received a hard blow when Locket, at 20 to 1, captured the last event on the card.

A Win For Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 11.—Princeton defeated Swarthmore at basket ball here by the score of 37 to 19.

Ice Gorge at Rondout.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Jan. 11.—An ice gorge has formed at the mouth of Rondout creek, preventing all boats from passing in or out. Repeated attacks on the gorge by ice breaking tugs have been unsuccessful. River men believe that the ice has formed solidly to the bottom of the creek and that it cannot be dislodged with dynamite sufficiently to allow navigation because the Hudson river beyond the gorge is covered with thick ice. Since the gorge has formed passengers are transported across the river in sleighs.

Winnipeg Factory Burned.

WINNIPEG, Man., Jan. 11.—Fire here has destroyed the factory and warehouse of the Hoover Manufacturing company, makers of overalls and clothing. Loss, $100,000, including the British Importing company's loss of $38,000. Both companies carried full insurance.

Woman Burned to Death.

NYACK, N. Y., Jan. 11.—Mrs. Jackson Waldron, wife of a prominent resident of West Haverstraw, was burned to death at that place; her clothes having caught fire from burning rubbish in the yard.

Negro to Hang For Assault.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 11.—Ed Austin, colored, in the Henrico circuit court has been sentenced to be hanged for criminal assault on Lillie Ross, a nine-year-old colored girl.

JAPANESE AT CHAGOS.

Russian Admiral Warned That He May Expect an Attack.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—A Port Louis (Island of Mauritius) dispatch says that a Japanese squadron is at Diego Garcia, Chagos islands.

The Russian admiral has been informed that Japanese warships are proceeding to meet the Russian squadron, and the vigilance of the latter has been doubled.

The aid-de-camp of the Russian admiral in an interview at Tamatave, capital of the island of Madagascar, was quoted as saying that the Russian squadron wou' require a month to cross the Indian ocean.

A special from Huanchan says that news of the fall of Port Arthur was received there first unofficially from the Japanese, who let loose numerous paper kites bearing letters and triumphal inscriptions. These kites were picked up by Russian soldiers long before the telegraph gave them the news. The army received the announcement doggedly, regret being expressed that the troops had been unable to relieve the garrison, but confidence is felt that ultimately the Russians will be able to push back the Japanese and reach the fortress from the north.

Russian artillery is steadily pounding the section of the Japanese line west of Sinchinpu and about the villages of Baitoshan and Singtungtun.

A Port Arthur dispatch says that twenty Japanese have been killed by the explosion of a contact mine inside one of the forts and that two mines in the town also exploded.

CHARGES AGAINST SWAYNE.

Impeached For Making Alleged False Claims Against Government.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. — In the Swayne impeachment case in the house here the first article as formulated by the majority declares that Judge Charles Swayne on April 20, 1897, at Waco, Tex., presented a false claim against the government in the sum of $230, knowing the claim to be false. The copy of the certificate made by Swayne is given, in which he says that for twenty-three days "my reasonable expenses were $230."

On this account he is charged with a high crime and misdemeanor.

Article two relates to the charges of $10 a day while at Tyler, Tex., when his expenses were less, and alleges that he obtained money from the government by false pretense.

Article three contains similar charges, but cites another occasion.

Article four charges Judge Swayne with appropriating to his own use, without compensation to the owner, a car belonging to the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West Railroad company to transport himself, family and friends from Guyencourt, Del., to Jacksonville, Fla., the railroad at that time being in the hands of a receiver appointed by Swayne, and that as judge he allowed the credit claimed by the receiver on account of necessary expense in operating the road. Judge Swayne, as to this, is charged with an abuse of official power and a high misdemeanor.

Whittier and Y. M. C. DIAMOND DUST.

Virgil Garvin, who is spending the winter at one of the well-known springs in Missouri, has signed for the coming season to pitch for the Chicago Americans.

LITERARY.

The tremendous interest attaching to Mr. Lawson's extraordinary articles has brought to the attention of hundreds of thousands of new readers the many excellence of Everybody's Magazine. The January number is a particularly good example of the virtues of this publication, for it is an exceedingly entertaining issue, containing not only some very readable short stories, but several articles which are of prime social importance. The first instalment of "Experiences of a Nursery Governess" appears in this number. The author, Miss Martha Bensley, served in a variety of families both in the East and West, in order to investigate the manner in which American children are reared. In the course of her experiment Miss Bensley gathered facts of great importance, and her story cannot fail to interest mothers all over the country.

Trust Company's Election.

The annual election of directors of The Plainfield Trust Company, held yesterday afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock, resulted as follows: Ernest R. Ackerman, J. Herbert Case, Frederick Geller, Augustus V. Heely, Francis deLacey Hyde, James W. Jackson, Edward H. Ladd, Jr., Charles W. McCutchen, Henry A. McGee, Walter M. McGee, George P. Mellick, Isaac W Rushmore, Samuel Townsend, Lewis E. Waring and Orville T. Waring. The directors will meet on Thursday, January 19, for organization.

BASEBALL PLANS AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

HOWARD LAPSLEY LIKELY TO BE CHOSEN MANAGER OF THE TEAM.

Early as it is to consider the prospects of baseball, the board of directors of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association will meet in a few days to appoint the baseball manager, and with the breaking up of winter the first practice will be held. Already letters have been received from out-of-town teams concerning games, and the appointment of a manager is necessary to dispose of such correspondence.

As to the appointment of the manager, it is impossible to say at present who that individual will be. There are several names suggested, which the board has under consideration. It is rumored that Howard Lapsley is the man sought for to occupy the position of baseball manager. His term of office on the paper will expire before the baseball season commences, and if he will accept the position there is little doubt that the board will appoint him.

With regard to the make up of the team, the High School has every right to expect a first rate aggregation on the diamond next season. Though from last year's squad the team has lost Monroe Long, Adam Scott, Louis Beck and Paul Collier, it has been strengthened by the reinforcement of William Doane, formerly of Leal's; James Conway, also of Leal's, and Charles Burt, a former Carteret Academy pitcher. In the person of Charles Burt the team has what it has needed for some time. A pitcher to relieve Smith. Burt has quite a reputation as a twirler, having filled that capacity at Carteret for two years.

Behind the bat Malcolm Davis, who caught Smith last year, has no rival. He is a good catcher, a heady player, and an excellent base-thrower. For first, second base and short stop there is little possibility of a competition. William Doane, captain of Leal's team last year, will try for first bag; Captain Harry Thompson will sit on second, and there is no competitor worthy of Howard Craig, the snappy short stop of the last three years. At third base there will be the greatest contention. This position seems to be an especially coverted one, and the candidates are many. Including those who will try for field positions they are as follows: James Conway, Stuart Freeman, Samuel Bogart, Paul Brakeley, William Banks, George Bentley, Theodore Gavett, Sidney Rockwell and William Douglass.

Child a Victim of Measles.

Francis Gill, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gill, of McDowell street, died last night, after an illness with measles. Private funeral services over the body will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock with interment in St. Mary's cemetery. Two other children in the family are also afflicted with measles but not in a severe form.

A Surprise Party.

Miss Matilda Gustafson was pleasantly surprised Monday night by a number of her young friends. Games and music made the evening pass rapidly. Among those present were the Misses Olson, Kullgren, Gustafson, Knander, Magnuson, Milcen, Valeen, Lind and Svenson.

Approaching Nuptials.

FAMINE IN IRELAND

THE POTATO CROP AGAIN FAILS IN WEST COUNTIES.

A Short Glimpse at the Various Periods in Which the Emerald Isle Has Suffered Dire Want.

Still fresh in our minds is remembrance of the horrors of famine in India, but more or less vague, for most of us at any rate, is the picture of famines from which old Ireland has suffered. When the potato fails, then, alas! for the Irish peasant. And the potato crop this year is no crop at all in western Ireland, the tubers if not diseased, are wretchedly small; and a large area of the poorest district in the western part of the island is threatened with actual famine.

Mr. W. P. O'Brien says, in his book called "The Great Famine," that the

A VILLAGE STREET.

Irish have frequently been warned of the danger of relying exclusively for their support on the one root, but that the tuber appeals to them because of its exceptional productiveness, it being estimated that an acre of land sown with potatoes is calculated to yield as much food as three or four times that extent devoted to any other cereal. An article in the Edinburgh Review gives this verdict in regard to Erin's favorite food: "Who are habitually and entirely fed on potatoes, live upon the extreme verge of human subsistence, and when they are deprived of their accustomed food there is nothing cheaper to which they can resort. They have already reached the lowest point in the descending scale, and there is nothing beyond but starvation and beggary." Cobbet, the noted English political writer, called the potato the root of poverty.

The great famine commenced in 1845, but there were previous years marked by the absence of the essential potato harvest. The first recorded famine occurred in 1739, and was caused by a severe early frost. The calamity resulting lasted two years, pestilence following on the feet of the famine, destroying many people.

An extreme wet season resulted in the famine of 1821, but the want then was not widespread, being confined to the provinces of Connaught and Munster. In these provinces the potatoes rotted in the pits and became unfit for food. For the relief of the needy, England and Ireland promptly set to work, and very shortly raised, by subscription, the large sum of over a million dollars, which amount was distributed with due care. Parliament voted large sums for the purpose of providing employment on public works, and to facilitate emigration from the destitute land.

The next famine (1831) was caused by heavy rainfall and violent storms, and here again western Ireland suffered, the three counties of Galway, Mayo and Donegal being the victims. Private philanthropy and government aid came to the rescue without delay. In 1835, 1836 and 1837, western Ireland suffered once again, and in 1839 the western and midland counties. In the latter year a special officer was appointed by government to aid the landlords in employing the destitute.

Mr. O'Brien declares that the failure of the potato crop experienced in Ireland in 1845-6 has never been paralleled in its magnitude or its consequences at any other time in any other country. A blight came upon the potatoes in 1845, and a much worse one the following season. The food of the people, and of the people's stand-by, the pig, was gone. Nothing was left to depend upon, and whole families died in their wretched hovels of starvation. Relief measures were put into operation, but the misery was something frightful. Revolt presently raised its head, and poor Ireland was indeed in the throes of a crisis. Hosts fled from the land and in two years Ireland lost, because of the famine and consequent emigration, half a million of her people.

WEST END AVE. BRIDGE

New Structure Needed Across Green Brook at That Point.

IMPROVEMENTS THERE

Enterprise of Messrs. McCutchen, Buttfield and Smalley in That Section Will Increase Traffic.

The improvements to be made in the West End of the borough by reason of the recent purchase of a large strip of land by Charles W. McCutchen, W. J. Buttfield and Mayor Newton B. Smalley, will call for other improvements on the part of the freeholders in both Union and Somerset counties. For some time the question of placing a new bridge over Green brook on West End avenue, has been under discussion. When the plan to erect a new bridge on Mountain avenue was talked of, some of the Union county freeholders wanted to take the one from West End avenue and put it there. On a vote this proposition was defeated and a new structure erected in the borough.

That a new bridge will have to be built on West End avenue is evident. Experts say that the present bridge cannot be widened properly and to repair it would be folly in view of the extensive improvements to be made to adjoining property, which includes a ninety-foot boulevard, extending from that bridge to Stine's bridge near the mountains. The opening of this territory and construction of the boulevard will surely result in increased traffic, especially as it is proposed to open another boulevard from the city into the borough, thus giving owners of horses an opportunity to get away from the trolley.

If a new bridge is placed on West End avenue it will be similar to the ones on Madison and Watchung avenues, that is, brick arch with cement and crushed stone foundation. These bridges cost more than the wooden ones, but the increased wear more than justifies the extra expense. The freeholders will take up the question of placing a new bridge on West End avenue within a short time, as the present structure is badly in need of repair and something will have to be done.

HIS FACE DISFIGURED BY EXPLODING POWDER

CHARLES MALTBY NARROWLY ESCAPES LOSS OF AN EYE.

While using a flobert rifle, Charles Maltby, of Plainfield avenue, narrowly escaped losing the sight of his right eye, yesterday morning. He was trying the gun at his home and had discharged four of the five cartridges. In discharging the last one, the shell exploded and the powder struck his eye, blinding him for the time. He reached the house and Drs. J. B. Probasco, N. H. Probasco and F. O. Ard were summoned. For a time it was believed that Mr. Maltby might lose the sight of that eye, but prompt treatment saved it, although his face will be scarred for life.

INAUGURAL PLANS.

Arrangements for Gubernatorial Ceremony at Trenton.

Plans for the inauguration of Governor-elect Edward C. Stokes on Tuesday, January 17, are about complete. Senator Hutchinson has been made chairman of the committee of arrangements and Taylor Opera House has been secured for the ceremonies. Following the ceremony there will be a luncheon served either at the State House or at the Trenton House for the guests, and then the Governor will review the parade on a reviewing stand to be erected in front of the State House.

The new executive will hold a reception at the Capitol from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7:30 to 9 o'clock in the evening. The Governor-elect has not consented to a military display and nothing definite along this line has been arranged, although it is generally understood that the Essex troop will be ordered to Trenton to act as an escort to the Governor.

ROBERT LARAMOUR WEDS MISS AMELIA BREMMER

FIFTY GUESTS WITNESS CEREMONY AT HOME OF BRIDE'S PARENTS.

In the presence of fifty relatives and near friends from this city and other places, Miss Amelia Bremmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bremmer, of Greenbrook road, was made the wife of Robert Laramour, of West Fifth street, last evening. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock at the bride's home by Rev. A. C. Walker, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, of which the groom is a member.

Miss Bremmer was gowned in white mulle and carried bride roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Millicent Bremmer, who wore white and carried carnations. William Laramour, a cousin of the groom, acted as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held during which Mr. and Mrs. Laramour were the recipients of hearty congratulations. The former is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Laramour and is a well known employe at the Pond Tool Works. He is connected with local fraternal organizations and enjoys a wide acquaintance in the city and borough. He and his bride will go to housekeeping at Sixth street and Clinton avenue.

LIKELIHOOD OF MORE BRICK PAVEMENTS

STREET COMMITTEE FAVORS REPLACING OF EXPENSIVE MACADAM.

An important matter that the street committee from the Common Council is likely to take up during the year is that in reference to extending the brick pavement in the business section of the city, as recommended by Mayor J. F. Buckle in his first annual message. The laying of vitrified brick in Watchung avenue, between North avenue and Second street, is giving satisfaction although it has not been down quite long enough for a severe test.

The street committee is in favor of replacing the macadam in the business part of the town, Chairman Tolles especially being an advocate of the improved pavement. The macadam is considered as one of the most expensive pavements Plainfield could have as the roadbed needs more or less repair continually. This expense will be eliminated with the brick pavement and it is said that once properly laid it should stand the heaviest wear for a number of years without needing repair.

If the Common Council decided to extend the brick through Watchung avenue and Front street, the Public Service Corporation would have to stand a share of the expense. This would lessen the cost to the city very much. Another argument in favor of the brick is that it costs less than the wooden pavement, at one time considered for Watchung avenue, and it is more desirable than asphalt, the latter being difficult to repair and at the same time being hard on horses.

Solution of Liquor Question.

The Hunterdon County Democrat says editorially: "The Somerset grand jury recommended to the court that the license fee to sell liquor in North Plainfield be fixed at $1,000, the same as that charged in Plainfield. Under the present conditions Plainfield charges $1,000 for a liquor license and requires all bars to be closed at 11 o'clock. In North Plainfield, which is only separated from Plainfield by an imaginary county line, the license fee is but $350, and the saloons and barrooms keep open all hours of the night, and thus counteract the good which the action of the Plainfield authorities intended by restricted hours and high license. The fact is, if politics were eliminated from the question, and the real good of the people solely considered, North Plainfield would be annexed to Plainfield."

Stein Case Deferred.

Owing to the illness of an important witness for the defense, the damage suit of Mrs. Mary E. Stein, of Morris street, this city, against the New Jersey Central, for the death of her husband, John Stein, will not be tried until February. Mr. Stein, who was employed in Thorn's laundry as an engineer, was killed on Christmas day, 1903, at Dunellen, just after leaving a train at the station. He was on his way to visit his mother in New Market. G. W. V. Mey, Esq., represents the plaintiff.

FIRE IN MARSH BUILDING

Salvation Army is Routed While Holding a Meeting.

THE LOSS IS SLIGHT

Blaze in Justice Mosher's Court Room Put Out With Chemical Extinguishers.

In the midst of a well attended and enthusiastic meeting, the local Salvation Army Corps was routed from its hall on the second floor of the Marsh building at Park avenue and Second street, last evening, by a fire which broke out in the office of Justice J. E. Mosher on the floor above. Smoke had been creeping about the Salvationists room for several minutes when it became known that a conflagration was in the vicinity. Leaders and congregation alike hurried around to secure the bass drum, tambourines and other fixtures and made a hasty exit down the stairs as an alarm was turned in from box 13 at Park and North avenues. No one was hurt in the scramble but the meeting for the evening was abandoned.

The fire broke out in a closet in Justice Mosher's office but from what cause he or the firemen cannot explain. The justice had left but a short time before when a citizen noticed the smoke and flames through a window on the Second street side and summoned the department. When Acting Chief Jennings arrived the closet had been consumed and the fire was eating its way down through the floor beams at Craig A. Marsh's office when intercepted.

A line of hose from the chemical engine was laid in from the main stairway and another line from a hydrant was carried up from the Second street side by the aerial ladder but the latter was not used. There was practically no damage from water and the blaze was confined almost entirely to the room where it started. It was one of the best fought fires the local department has had to contend with in a long time and insurance men speak highly of the work. The total damage will not exceed $100, divided between building and contents.

Justice Mosher carried no insurance and he will have to bear the brunt of the loss. In the closet destroyed was a new suit of clothing which was entirely burned and in addition he lost many papers, the majority of which he was carrying for William K. McClure.

WHITTIERS WON.

Y. M. C. A. Juniors Were Defeated in the Juvenile Basket Ball League by the Score of 4 to 0 Yesterday.

Though they won their game, little credit is due the Whittier School basketball players for defeating the Y. M. C. A. junior team in the Juvenile Basketball League yesterday afternoon by the score of 4 to 0. For two fifteen minute halves the two teams fought hard for the supremacy, and in point of good playing the Y. M. C. A. deserved it. Both teams were poor in goal shooting, the opportunities for scoring being many.

At the end of the first half the score was 2 to 0, Alpaugh, the Whittier center, landing a goal in each half of the game. Steiner, though up against a much heavier man, played a remarkably good game, as did also Line, of the Y. M. C. A. team. There was little choice among the grammar school boys, all showing decided need of practice in goal shooting. This was the lineup: Whittiers—Loughlin and Briggs, forwards; Alpaugh, center; Woodhull and Fountain, guards. Y. M. C. A.—Line and Mortimer, forwards; Steiner, center; Doeringer and Tallmadge, guards.

COLORED "JOINT" RAIDED

White Girl Included in Six Prisoners Captured.

HEAVY SENTENCES

Ellsworth Cuff, Proprietor of the Place, and Four Others Get Sixty Days Straight.

After having been under the surveillance by Chief Kiely's men for the past month, the police swooped down on the home of Ellsworth Cuff, colored, on Arlington avenue at 2 o'clock this morning and captured six prisoners, one of them a sixteen-year-old white girl named Marion Johnson. The raiding party consisted of Patrolman McCarthy, Higgins and O'Keefe and they gained entrance to the place before any of the inmates were aware that anything was wrong. The colored prisoners taken beside Cuff and his wife were Tillie Moore, Jefferson D. Walker and Tillie Hodges, all of whom were given sixty days straight in the county jail.

The Johnson girl has been placed in charge of Miss Holly, of the Organized Aid Association, as Chief Kiely believes she has been innocent of any wrongdoing and was at the Cuff house because she had nowhere else to go. She came to Plainfield from Scotch Plains, where she had been employed as a domestic, and through a colored girl she knew was installed at the Arlington avenue house until she could procure another position. When the raid was accomplished she was found sleeping on a couch in the kitchen while the colored inmates were in rooms above. The girl is comely in appearance and of German parentage, having landed in the country but a few years ago.

In police circles, the Cuff place has long been looked upon as a disorderly house where gambling and riotous conduct was being carried on at all hours of the day and night. Chief Kiely has had his men watching it and word came to his shortly after midnight that the opportunity was ripe for a raid and the three patrolmen were ordered to make it. They gained entrance without any trouble as the house has been conducted in such "free and easy" style that the doors have never been locked for fear of keeping a friend outside.

In passing sentence on the prisoners, Judge Runyon declared there are too many just such places in Plainfield and he would do all possible to aid the police in breaking them up.

CLAIMED TO BE HUSBAND TO GET WIDOW'S PROPERTY

BUT VERDICT WAS GIVEN TO MRS. CARPENDER AGAINST R. COTTIS.

Making numerous statements intended to support his claim to a title in the Price property, between Fanwood and Westfield, Richard Cottis, as defendant in the landlord and tenant case at Justice Hand's court yesterday, testified that he was the husband of the plaintiff, Mrs. Martha L. Carpender, to whom the title is made out, and who is the rightful owner of the disputed property. The case was characterized by brilliant cross examination and summing up on the part of Fred J. Huff, the lawyer for the plaintiff, to whom the verdict was given.

Though Cottis' assertions and claims to the ownership of the property were many, in cross examination they fell apart, and it was conclusively proven that he has no right to the ownership. He has been living in Mrs. Carpender's house for four years, having originally come as a boarder. Subsequently Cottis worked about the house for his board. In giving his testimony, the said that he had lived at the Price estate all his life, and together with other testimony asserting his right, he said that he was married to Mrs. Carpender. This statement was also proven false.

Rev. E. B. Saunders Ill.

Rev. E. B. Saunders, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, Shiloh, who is well known here among the Seventh-Day Baptists, has been obliged to undergo an operation, the result of which is anxiously awaited by his friends. A year ago he, together with a number of clergymen, took a special trip to Palestine, and he has not been well since returning home.

WANT $20,000 BUILDING

Piscataway Citizens Divided on Plans for New School.

HELD LIVELY SESSION

Scheme to Erect Several Small Buildings Instead of One Large Structure.

The question of building a new school house at New Market to take the place of the one destroyed by fire some time ago, was discussed in a lively fashion at a meeting of taxpayers held at New Market, last night. The question will properly come before the meeting to be held this afternoon at the home of Clark T. Rogers, when it will be decided whether to build the new school. Officers of the school board will also be elected.

Last night's meeting was held chiefly for the purpose of ascertaining just how the taxpayers felt about the improvement. The proposition is to erect a new six-room building at New Market at a cost of $20,000, thus providing ample room for the 135 children now attending school there. A preliminary vote was taken on this question and it was evenly divided for and against. A previous vote on a $10,000 building was defeated, the taxpayers believing the amount insufficient.

Some of Piscataway township's citizens want to erect two or three small school houses in the township, one at Gallagher's Corner, where there is quite a settlement of children, and another near Kerwin's place at the eastern end of the township. These buildings would provide for children in the immediate vicinity and would obviate the present trouble of children being obliged to travel so far to the other school. No doubt such an arrangement will be made eventually.

Those who favor the new school at New Market have secured an option on a piece of property, 65x250, owned by William Farrier and which can be purchased for $425. Mr. Rogers secured this option and he together with the many who favor the new building, are working hard for the success of the proposition.

County Superintendent of Schools H. Brewster Willis sent a letter to the meeting last night urging favorable action. He claimed that it would only be a short time when another teacher would be a necessity, and six rooms in the new building would give the desired accommodation. At present there are over fifty children in one room, too many for one teacher. Remarks were also made at the meeting by Mr. Perrine, chairman of the school board; C. M. Kelly and C. T. Rogers, prominent taxpayers. Much of the opposition shown before the meeting had disappeared afterward and it seems to be the opinion that the $20,000 proposition will be carried.

Among the objectors were presentatives from South Plainfield. They claimed that $20,000 is too much to expend for one building. They thought it could be built for less money. They advocated the erection of several smaller buildings throughout the township.

The question of the $2,400 insurance money received after the destruction of the old school building, was brought up and it was explained that some of the money was used to meet old school bonds and pay rent for temporary quarters. The $700 remaining, it was proposed to use in furnishing the new school house.

JONES JURY DISAGREES.

Doctor Was Charged With Causing Death of a Child by Giving Morphine Tablets.

The jury in the civil suit for $8,000 damages brought against Dr. Frederick C. Jones, of Bernardsville, accused of having caused the death of the child of John H. Sharp by giving it morphine tablets by mistake, failed to agree on a verdict, and was discharged in the Somerset Court yesterday morning, after remaining out all night.

In charging the jury, Justice Garretson said that the only ground on which damages could be given was that based on the pecuniary advantages that the father, as next of kin, might have enjoyed had the child lived. Mr. Sharp said at the close of the trial that he did not care for the money, but that he wanted his wife cleared of the imputation that she was responsible in causing the death of her child by giving it tablets. Craig A. Marsh represented the plaintiff.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harsell, of this city, have been visiting Mr. Harsell's parents at Cherryville, Hunterdon county.

FILLMORE BAPTISTS SEEK TO RECOVER CHURCH

ALEX. KANE MUST SHOW WHY JUDGMENT SHOULD NOT BE SET ASIDE.

Through their counsel, Winfield S. Angleman, the members of the Fillmore Avenue Baptist church yesterday secured from Justice Fort a rule to show cause why the judgment granted against them in favor of Alex. Kane should not be set aside, thus adding another chapter to the tangled tale of the colored worshippers. It is returnable at the opening of the Supreme Court in February and if the ousted flock succeed in gaining its point all proceedings conducted by Kane, including the sale of the church and its furnishings will be void. In the meantime any further action on Kane's part will not be allowed and the building will remain as it is until it is decided whether the flock is to have it back or not.

The Fillmore congregation has had an uphill path in its work for the past two years, and the climax came when Kane purchased the church and took possession. Suits of one sort and another were frequently in the courts, the worshippers striving to the last to keep a roof over their heads. What was thought to be the final chapter in the legal battle came Tuesday when Sheriff Cornell sold the melodeon, pulpit and other fixtures but Justice Fort's rule has re-opened the case.

HOPE MINSTREL TROUPE TO APPEAR OUTSIDE

NO FURTHER PERFORMANCE TO BE GIVEN IN THE WEST END CHAPEL.

Through opposition to its plans on the part of members of the Crescent Avenue church, the young men of the Hope Y. M. A. will not conduct a minstrel show in Hope chapel this spring as has been the custom for the past three years. The decision was reached recently after the opinions of all concerned had been freely expressed and the officers of the association concluded it would be best to give future entertainments of this nature in the Casino or some other building as appropriate. Heretofore the performances have been given in the chapel's Sunday-school room and the session of the Crescent Avenue church, which is the parent of the West End congregation, has been divided in allowing the practice, although the minstrel troupe is composed of Hope young men and the proceeds were devoted to its work.

Because of the change, the Y. M. A. will not abandon the practice of giving an annual show and plans are now on foot for a big production in March. Because of their experience and abundance of talent, the members have always drawn large audiences and the entertainments furnished have met with high encomiums. The troupe consists of thirty members, most of whom are employed in the West End shops and who adopted this method of securing funds to maintain their large gymnasium and evening classes.

Frelinghuysen, Stokes' Aid.

Governor-elect Stokes tendered yesterday to Joseph T. Frelinghuysen, of Somerville, the appointment of personal aid on his staff, carrying with it the rank of colonel. Mr. Frelinghuysen accepted the position. Under the present law the Governor appoints but one aid, but may designate from the National Guard such officers as he desires to constitute his personal staff. The personal aid of Governor Murphy is his son, Colonel Franklin Murphy, Jr.

Whist Club Meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lewis, of Richmond street, entertained the Watchung Whist Club on Tuesday night. Mrs. Walter Apgar and Mrs. Walter Walker won the first and second prizes for the women, and U. G. Pierson and William Appleman for the men. After the play the host and hostess provided refreshments and there was a social time. Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Pierson will entertain the club on Tuesday night, January 24.

Freight is Congested.

Owing to the congested conditions on its own road, the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company has been unable to move the freight East by the Lehigh Valley and consigned to points on the Hudson River. Large quantities of grain and other freight are held in South Plainfield, awaiting shipment, as many as 300 cars having accumulated there at one time, within the last few days.

UNION'S WASHINGTON TRIP

County Republicans to Witness Inauguration March 4.

A SPECIAL TRAIN

Plan to Take a Brass Band Along—Cost of Outing to be Slight.

Arrangements are being perfected for the trip of the Union County Republicans to the inauguration of President Roosevelt at Washington on Saturday, March 4, and it is expected that an unusually large delegation will go from this city, including a majority of the officials. The Union County Executive Committee is arranging for a special train either over the Pennsylvania or the B. and O. Railroad. The Pennsylvania has offered to take the band which will accompany the delegation, for half fare, while the B. and O. has thus far made no offer of a reduction in the rate.

Those who go with the county delegation on the special train will be charged $7 50. This includes ticket, a badge and cane and a few other incidentals. It is planned to have the train leave Friday night, March 3 and arrive at Washington early Saturday morning, leaving the Capitol that night on the return trip. If possible, the committee in charge will arrange for headquarters at Washington where entertainment can be provided. Any one wishing to go to the inauguration independent of the special trip can do so for $6.40, which covers just the bare cost of the round trip.

LEAL'S SCHOOL WON FROM CARTERET TEAM

LOCAL AGGREGATION MADE GOOD SHOWING AT ORANGE YESTERDAY.

Playing the best game they have put up so far this season, the Leal's School basketball team defeated the Carteret Academy team at Orange yesterday afternoon by the score of 20 to 7. At the end of the first half the score was 11 to 5, while in the second part of the game the ball was almost continually in the Carteret School territory, and the home team was playing an entirely defensive game. Howard, of Leal's School, played a splendid game yesterday, as did also Chapman and Jewett. Lyman, who has been playing guard, was not in the game, and in his place Glenney made a good showing.

This was the local team's lineup: Chapman and Howard, forwards; Jewett, center; Manning and Glenney, guards. Referee—Paul Collier, of the Plainfield High School.

J. H. DUNN BURIED.

Funeral Services Conducted by Rev. Frank Fletcher.

The funeral services of John H. Dunn were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of his sister, Mrs. Joseph Randolph, 128 Elmwood place. There was a large attendance. Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the New Market Baptist church, officiated. There were many floral tributes from relatives and associates of Mr. Dunn, a beautiful token being sent by the employes at the Plainfield Cab Company, where he was employed. The interment was in Samptown and the bearers were James Davis, Dr. F. C. Herbert, H. A. Todd and Charles Frazee.

Mr. Dunn's death was the result of a second operation performed at Flower Hospital, New York. The first one for the removal of the leg just below the knee was apparently successful and the patient was progressing favorably until Christmas Day. At that time infection was discovered necessitating another operation. It was from this that Mr. Dunn could not rally.

Mayor Takes a Tumble.

The ice-covered sidewalk in front of Frank Bowley's drug store on West Front street, took a fall out of Mayor Newton B. Smalley, early last night, but aside from a severe shake up, not politically, and the breaking of the rim of His Honor's hat, the damage was slight. There was a rumor that Mr. Smalley was seriously injured.

LITERARY.

The political warfare of the immediate future, in the United States, will be between Conservatives banded together and Radicals banded together. The two kinds of minds will no longer be found in the same organization. The wreck of the Democratic party, as it has been constituted for more than a decade, was necessary to this development. That wreck is now apparently complete. To attempt resuscitation would be time and effort wasted.—John W. Ryckman in The Era Magazine for January.

Mrs. Joseph Allison, of Brooklyn, has been the guest of Mrs. A. A. Cannon, of Somerset street, for a few days.

Wilkes Booth's Fellow Actor Dead.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—John Matthews, an aged actor, who for a time was held as a suspect in connection with the assassination of President Lincoln, is dead here. Matthews was Wilkes Booth's roommate and one of his closest friends and was on the stage in the Washington theater when the fatal shot was fired. After the assassination his room was searched, and because of papers left in the grate by Booth he was arrested on suspicion of knowing something of the plot. His innocence was later established, but his friends say he never recovered from the effects of the accusation. Matthews was well known to theater goers of civil war times, when he appeared in many famous companies. He was in the original cast of the famous drama "The Two Orphans." He was sixty-nine years old.

When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. SMOOT INQUIRY.

Ex-Senator Testified as to Mormon Morale of Highest Type.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Testimony intended to prove that the Mormon morale is of the highest type and to refute the word of witnesses who have declared the contrary to be true was offered by counsel for Senator Reed Smoot. W. J. McConnell, formerly a United States senator from Idaho and twice governor of his state, and Representative Burton L. French, a member of the present congress and re-elected for another term, were witnesses.

It was the opening session of the defense in the Smoot investigation. Senator Knox, a new member of the committee, attended for the first time. There is a sentiment in the committee in favor of pressing the investigation to a quick conclusion.

Both witnesses denied many statements directed against the Mormon church and its alleged interference in political affairs. Former Governor McConnell said that the gentile members of the Idaho legislature have not as high morals as the Mormon members and that if it were not for questions of geography and knowledge of legislative needs the interests of the state would be better served by an entire Mormon legislature.

JEWELS RECOVERED.

After Eight Months Pinkerton Detectives Run Down Thief.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—After eight months of patient effort on the part of the Pinkerton detective agency and members of Inspector McClusky's staff the $30,000 worth of jewelry stolen from the summer residence of Mrs. Bishop Potter, formerly Mrs. Alfred Corning Clark, in Cooperstown, N. Y., has been recovered and the thief taken into custody. They belonged to Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, daughter-in-law of the bishop's wife.

The gems were found hidden under a rock in a vacant lot under the viaduct at One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street and Eighth avenue, this city, and the story of the theft and the running down of the criminal is one of the most remarkable to be found in the annals of crime. The alleged thief, who is in custody, is William Coleman, sixty years old, of 210 Morningside avenue, this city.

Press Banquet at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Chicago Press club was celebrated last night with a banquet in the club-rooms. In after dinner speeches statesmen and authors of national reputation, invited guests of the newspaper men, praised the power and influence of the American press in the highest terms. The principal speakers of the evening were George Harvey of New York and Governor Albert E. Cummins of Iowa. Two hundred and forty members of the club, with their guests, were present. Homer J. Carr, president, presided. Colonel Harvey responded to the toast "The Freedom of the Press."

Police on Murderer's Trail.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 12.—The murderer of Mrs. Jessie Bouton, the Syracuse (N. Y.) woman whose body was found near Colorado Springs, Colo., is believed to be in this city, and Chief of Police Reynolds of Colorado Springs is here searching for him. Chief Reynolds traced a man suspected of the murder from Denver to Chicago, thence to Battle Creek and Jackson, Mich., where, it is said, he tried to dispose of some valuable jewelry. The man left Jackson when the chief arrived there, and it is thought he came to Detroit or Mount Clemens. Both cities are being searched.

Sultan Mobilized Rebel Force.

TANGIER, Jan. 12.—According to an excellent authority, the sultan of Morocco recently mobilized at Fez a considerable army composed apparently of loyal, satisfied Kabyles. These, however, suddenly deserted, and the sultan was left without a military force sufficient to make up one regiment. The same authority states that all the southern tribes at a convention proclaimed as sultan Mulai Hafig, the sultan's brother.

Japanese Get Railroad Concession.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The foreign office has received a dispatch from Shanghai announcing that China has cancelled the concession of a leading British firm for building the railroad from Swatow to Chaochou and has regranted the concession to a Japanese company. This is taken as indicative of unexpected Japanese inroads upon British business and influence in China.

Bonifacio Confessed Murder.

CLINTON, Mass., Jan. 12.—Angelo Bonifacio, who has been employed as a clerk in a grocery store in Oakdale, gave himself up to the police here last night and, the officers say, admitted that he had fired the shots which resulted in the death Sunday night of Vitro Octoirono. Bonifacio claims that Octoirono was chasing him and that he shot the other in self defense.

Tax For Niagara's Power.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Assemblyman Wade has introduced a bill for the taxation of corporations using the water of Niagara falls and river for power purposes at the ratio of $1.50 for each horsepower up to 20,000, $1 from 20,000 to 30,000, 75 cents from 30,000 to 40,000 and 50 cents for all over 40,000.

Tramps Fired a Hay Barn.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Jan. 12.—A large hay barn on the farm of E. V. Draper, near Owego, has been destroyed by fire, with all its contents, entailing a loss of $1,000. The fire is supposed to have been the work of tramps.

HONORABLE PEACE?

Russian Admiral Says War May End Very Soon.

WILL CONQUER JAPAN NEXT TIME.

Doubassoff Sure That Czar Favors Immediate Reconstruction of Navy to Attain Supremacy on Far East Seas.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Advices from Paris say that Vice Admiral Doubassoff, Russian member of the international commission sent here to inquire into the North sea incident, has declared that an honorable peace between Russia and Japan is likely to be made. His statement is considered highly significant.

Heretofore members of the Russian embassy and all the other Russian officials here have resented suggestions of peace as humiliating. There is reason to believe that these were expressive of personal views before hearing from St. Petersburg. Admiral Doubassoff has just arrived from St. Petersburg after a lengthy audience with Emperor Nicholas following the fall of Port Arthur.

The admiral, who is chief of naval construction, says he submitted to the emperor last Thursday a plan to complete the rehabilitation of the navy.

Doubassoff declares the emperor gave it most favorable consideration and said it would be submitted to the council of ministers.

"I am convinced," said Admiral Doubassoff, "of the immediate necessity for the reconstruction of our fleet at all the Russian and foreign shipyards for the purpose of securing strength sufficient to command supremacy at sea. This is absolutely indispensable if we are to expect victory from the next war with Japan. The remnant of our fleet is hardly more than debris and entirely unequal to Japan's naval strength."

The admiral further said it was necessary to recognize the conditions, however painful they might be to national self love.

"Therefore," he added, "I do not hesitate to say that we tend toward not faroff peace. We will leave the Japanese Port Arthur and the territory they now occupy in Manchuria. We will set ourselves resolutely at work to prepare a powerful invincible navy, as this peace will be but temporary, and the next time we shall be amply prepared."

It is reported from Tokyo that Japanese men-of-war have reached Diego Garcia (Chagos archipelago), and experts point out that although Admiral Togo is at Tokyo other admirals are not idle. Vice Admiral Uriu has been cruising in the vicinity of the equator for some time past. The number of vessels he has is kept secret, but doubtless he is ready to do battle with the Russian Baltic squadron whenever they appear.

Vice Admiral Kamimura is in the China sea, within easy steaming distance of either the Malacca or Sunda straits, and Vice Admiral Rojestvensky purposes to spend the ensuing weeks in cruising in the vicinity of Madagascar. It is not improbable that he will find himself assailed by a torpedo flotilla.

A dispatch from Port Said, Egypt, says that Rear Admiral Botrovsky's division of the second Russian Pacific squadron has entered the Suez canal. Its destination is uncertain, but it is probably Madagascar by way of Jibuti, French Somaliland. The warships were only permitted to ship a thousand tons of coal among the seven ships, besides taking on board provisions.

They are the cruisers Oleg, Isumrud, Dneiper and Rion and the torpedo boat destroyers Grozni, Gromski and Resity. One of the destroyers entering the harbor struck and sank a coal lighter.

A Libau report says that four lake submarine boats have arrived there from the United States. They will be sent to Vladivostok by rail.

A Berlin dispatch says that Emperor Wilhelm has bestowed on Generals Nogi and Stoessel German decorations of merit for their conduct of the siege and defense of Port Arthur.

Glenn Inaugurated at Raleigh.

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 12.—R. B. Glenn of Winston was inaugurated as governor of North Carolina at the Academy of Music here, as rain prevented outdoor exercises arranged at the capitol. The other state officers also took the oath of office. The oaths were administered by Chief Justice Clark. Ex-Governor Aycock was wildly cheered as he introduced the new governor.

Lightning Struck the Altar.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Jan. 12.—While a procession was entering the Catholic church at Cayambe, near Quito, a thunderstorm broke, and the altar was struck by lightning, setting fire to the church. A priest and eight other persons were mortally wounded. Two persons were killed by lightning during the same storm.

Booth-Tucker at Exeter Hall.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—There was another monster demonstration of the Salvation Army at Exeter hall when Frederick Booth-Tucker was formally inaugurated as foreign secretary. General William Booth presided and introduced Booth-Tucker, who spoke feelingly of his work in America.

Charges Against Hooker.

MABEL PAGE'S DEATH

Cambridge Trial Develops Important Testimony.

BODY DRAGGED TO UPPER BEDROOM

Amy Roberts, a Servant, Identified Scarfpin Belonging to Dead Girl Said to Have Been Found on Prisoner Tucker.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 12.—One of the most interesting pieces of testimony yet offered by the prosecution in the trial of Charles L. Tucker, charged with the murder of Mabel Page, came when Amy Roberts, a servant in the Page household, stated that a scarfpin which had been found in the defendant's overcoat pocket was the property of Miss Page and was in a pincushion on the latter's bureau on the day before the murder. The witness identified the pin by the design and two peculiar bends in the shaft. Tucker leaned forward as Miss Roberts identified the pin. He showed no emotion and quickly settled back in his seat.

Miss Roberts further testified that on the day Tucker called at the Page house to see Harold Page he also talked with Mabel Page. Miss Page and he, the witness said, were together in the living room of the Page home for about ten minutes. This was the first testimony introduced tending to establish that Tucker was acquainted with the murdered woman.

To questions intended to strengthen the government's theory that Miss Page was murdered in a room on the first floor and her body dragged to her bedroom on the second floor Miss Roberts replied that there were blood stains on the outer panels of the doors leading from the hall to Miss Page's room. After the murder she had noticed that a rug in the upper hall had been partially rolled up and moved nearer the door of Miss Page's bedroom.

Marked interest was aroused when General Jophanus H. Whitney of the district police told of a conversation he had with Tucker at the Newton police station on the night that the prisoner was placed under arrest. General Whitney stated that after Tucker had been confronted with the knife sheath and the broken knife blade he buried his face in his hands and said: "By gee! This knife makes a bad case against me."

According to the detective, Tucker said he was going away for two or three months or until the affair had "blown over."

The appearance of Mrs. Esther Deyong, a secondhand clothing dealer of Boston, as a witness caused Tucker again to lean forward in his customary attitude when interested. Mrs. Deyong testified that on March 23 Tucker sold her a revolver for $2, and on March 25 Tucker wanted to sell her a hunting knife. He refused her offer for the knife, but sold her some old clothes which he had brought in a suit case.

Tucker bore himself with his customary air of nonchalance, but showed more than usual interest in the day's testimony.

MOB STORMED BANK.

State Bank In New York Suffers Its Sixth Run.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Three policemen and two Hebrew women were injured in a run on the State bank in Grand street, in the heart of the business section of the east side in this city. The run was attended by some sensational incidents. So great did the crush of 5,000 persons thronged about the bank become that they broke down an iron railing around a light well in front of the bank, and it was only by desperate clubbing on the part of the police that the excited and unruly mob was prevented from forcing many of its number into the well. The policemen and women were hurt at that point. The emergency police detail of the Delancey street station were finally called out and policemen were stationed at intervals of five or six feet for two blocks on either side of the bank.

The cause of the run was as extraordinary as the frenzied character of the run itself. There was a rush of depositors to get their money into the bank by the 10th inst., in time to begin to draw interest at once, and the long line of waiting depositors convinced the excited Hebrews that something was wrong with the institution. Five hundred persons waited in front of the building all through the night, and their number quickly swelled to 5,000 when the bank opened, though not all of that number were depositors.

The bank, which has deposits of $10,500,000 and a cash reserve of $4,000,000, and which, Cashier A. I. Voorhis said, earned 244 per cent profits last year, sent to the subtreasury for money, and $250,000 was brought by the wagon load, largely in specie. At the sight of it those waiting became only more impatient to get at it. The bank officials proceeded to pay them off, largely in silver dollars, as fast as the operation could be conducted. In all the bank paid out $55,000 and received in deposits $440,000.

Of the five previous runs on this bank one was started by a fire, another by a fight, a third by a rumor in the Bryan campaign that silver dollars were to be cut in half, a fourth by the Spanish-American war and a fifth by the failure of a bank in Nebraska.

There was a small run also upon a branch of the State bank in Brooklyn.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

The more Magazines there are, the more Indispensable is The Review of Reviews

"Indispensable," "The one magazine I feel I must take," "The world under a field-glass," "An education in public affairs and current literature,"—these are some of the phrases one hears from noted people who read the Review of Reviews. The more magazines there are, the more necessary is the Review of Reviews, because it brings together the best that is in all the most important monthlies of the world. Such is the flood of periodical literature that nowadays people say that the only way to keep up with it is to read the Review of Reviews. Entirely over and above this reviewing section, it has more original matter and illustrations than most magazines, and the most timely and important articles printed in any monthly.

Probably the most useful section of all is Dr. Albert Shaw's illustrated "Progress of the World," where public events and issues are authoritatively and lucidly explained in every issue. Many a subscriber writes, "This department alone is worth more than the price of the magazine." The unique cartoon department, depicting current history in caricature, is another favorite. The Review of Reviews covers five continents, and yet is American, first and foremost.

Men in public life, the members of Congress, professional men, and the great captains of industry who must keep "up with the times," intelligent men and women all over America, have decided that it is "indispensable."

BARGE CANAL ACT.

Superintendent Franchot Will Test Legality of Measure.

FEDERAL CONTROL QUESTION RAISED

Senator Brackett Asks If Completed Waterway Would Come Under Control of United States as Navigable Waters.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Developments in the barge canal tangle have all tended to corroborate the view that considerable litigation will have to precede the actual beginning of work upon the great waterway enterprise. Superintendent Franchot of the department of public works confirmed the understanding that he would ask the attorney general for an opinion on the legality of the procedure thus far under the law.

A new element entered the situation last night when Senator Brackett introduced a resolution requesting the attorney general to inform the senate at his earliest convenience whether the canals of the state are navigable waters and for that reason in the control of the United States and whether the state can safely commence the work of enlarging the canal without the consent of the United States authorities.

The resolution recites chapter 425 of the laws of 1899, section 10, which prohibits the creation of any obstruction not affirmatively authorized by congress to the navigable waters and calls attention to the fact that the United States supreme court has decided that the Erie canal is a navigable water of the United States. "In view of the statute and the decisions referred to," says the resolution, "it is desirable before work upon the enlargement of the canal shall be entered upon by the state and its money expended for that purpose that the question shall be carefully examined as to whether the state has any right to undertake the work without the consent of the United States government."

In presenting the resolution Senator Brackett said:

"I have no wish to either delay or hasten any work in connection with the canal."

Superintendent Franchot said last night that today he would send his communication to Attorney General Mayer asking for his opinion as to the correctness of the procedure thus far under the barge canal law.

The members of the barge canal advisory board called upon Governor Higgins, and the questions that have arisen about the barge canal act were informally discussed.

They spent the night under bough shelters around a fire.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 12, 1905.

The anomalous situation of North Plainfield respecting the excise conditions has attracted widespread comment, but unfortunately much of the criticism is worthless because those who give their opinions regarding the trouble have little knowledge of the real relation existing between Plainfield and North Plainfield. Albert Hubbard's saying that "the value of a statement by any man depends largely upon who the man is" applies in this case. North Plainfield's Common Council has expressed to Judge Schenck its gratification over the action taken by the grand jury, which recommended that the liquor license fee be increased to $1,000, a larger sum than the borough fathers dared to ask for but which meets with their approval. In discussing the subject the Newark News said Tuesday:

"Probably the most complicated license question in this State is that in the borough of North Plainfield, which is geographically, but not politically, a part of the city of Plainfield, being separated only by a little brook, an imaginary line and the biggest legislative blunder of the past decade. A little over a year ago the license fee was $300. As one result of a bitter factional fight the outgoing council of 1903 urged that it be raised to $600, and the new council of 1904, not to be outdone, unanimously seconded the recommendation. The Somerset County Court, consisting of Supreme Court Justice Garretson and Judge Schenck, refused to increase the fee, on the ground that they could not consistently double the license rates in one section of the county without doing the same in all parts thereof.

"The December grand jury, after indicting five negroes who had come over from Plainfield on a drunken spree and practically disabled the whole North Plainfield police force, made a strong presentment to the court, in which a license fee of $1,000 was urgently recommended for North Plainfield, the same as that charged in Plainfield. Now, what will be done? The grand jury wants $1,000, the North Plainfield council wants $600, the court insists on $300. Do the councils and the grand jury know better than the court what will best protect the people? Are the courts to consider local conditions as being everywhere the same when they are not the same, and to fix one license fee for all saloons, irrespective of borough interests? It is a complex situation, all growing out of the quarrel between the annexationists and the antis, with the latter thus far successful in nearly every department, even including the school board and the board of health. There was a charge that the anti-annexationists and the saloon-keepers had made a deal, but this is thoroughly disproved. The court will have to settle the license question, and there is, therefore, not much hope for high license."

IN THE SHOPS.

Wm Mosher, superintendent of the Potter Press Works, is detained at home, the result of a recent fall in which he injured his hip.

James Patterson, Sr., of West Front street, who has been detained at home with the grip, returned to his position at the Potter Press Works today.

Verdict Against P. S. C.

John Ward, of West Fourth street, an employe at the Pond Machine Tool Works, got a verdict for $125 in the Supreme Court at Elizabeth, yesterday, as damages against the Public Service Corporation. On June 10 last Ward stepped off a trolley car and walked in front of another going in the opposite direction. The defendants tried to prove contributory negligence, but the court denied a motion for non-suit, preferring to leave the matter to the jury. G. W. V. Moy, Esq., represented the plaintiff. The suit was for $5,000.

First of Group Contests.

The first of the group contests at the Y. M. C. A. Junior department was held Tuesday afternoon, the events being the broad jump and the relay race. As the points have not been averaged up, the winners in these events are not yet known. They will announced at the next contest.

THE FORUM.

Editor, The Daily Press:

A good many taxpayers and land owners of this beautiful town are wondering just about this time "where they are at." It seems that about fifty years ago or less a gentleman granted and set off to the town of Westfield, its successors and so on, a strip of land in the southern part of the town for a street to be called "Addison street." The street has been largely built upon and lately The Westfield Realty Company made large purchases upon both sides of that street and began to improve it upon a rather large scale. But recently the Westfield town Council, without, it would appear, any application or petition for such action, or without any public hearing or taking any legal advice, changed the name of the street to "Washington street," by which action the street has reverted by failure of consideration to the estate of its original owner of the land comprised in it, and the Westfield Realty Company finds that it is a trespasser if it goes to walk across from one piece of its property to another. And the private owners of property fronting on that street are even in a worse fix, for they cannot reach their own residences without either trespassing on the land of the realty company or upon the private property once called "Addison street." Several law suits are threatened and the worse of it is these suits are threatened not only against the town but against the town fathers personally for passing an ordinance without granting the certain taxpayers most interested a hearing by which those taxpayers are cut off from entrance to their own property. Other suits are threatened for recovery of all taxes paid by these residents for some fifty years with interest and altogether this little town is in a hole. William Butts.

Personal Property Insufficient.

V. W. Nash, Jr., Esq., representing the petitioner, applied before Judge Vail in the Orphans' Court, Elizabeth, yesterday, for a rule to show cause why the real estate of the late Mary Jane Elliott, of this city, should not be sold for the payment of her debts, it being shown by the petitioner, Henry Leifke, the administrator, that the personal property is insufficient to meet the claims. The rule was made returnable Wednesday, March 15, before the Orphans' Court at Elizabeth. The real estate in question is located on West Eighth street.

CITY DEFEATS BOROUGH IN BASKET BALL GAME

SECOND VICTORY FOR P. H. S. IN INTER-SCHOLASTIC LEAGUE.

Supporters of the Plainfield High School were given a good exhibition of basketball playing at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, when the city school five defeated the North Plainfield aggregation by the score of 24 to 15. The game was a great improvement over the first contest between the two schools, the borough school boys putting up a much stronger defense. The High School players showed the value of their recent practice, and played the best game they have put up since the trio of stars left the squad.

Bentley and Smith, the two forwards, were in the game from start to finish, and they kept their guards hustling all the time. Each landed four baskets. Freeman's defensive game was good, though in goal shooting he was not up to his usual game. For the borough, Steiner played well, his goals from fouls aiding much to increase the score for N. P. H. S. As forward, Nischwitz was the star of the borough aggregation, while Peacock, a new man at guard, was also notably good.

This is the summary of the game, which is the second and last meeting of the teams in the Interscholastic League: P. H. S.—Bentley and Smith, forwards; Freeman, center; Gavett and Stutsman, guards. N. P. H. S.—Nischwitz and Webster, forwards; Mundy, center; Steiner and Peacock, guards. Goals from the field—Bentley, 4; Smith, 4; Gavett, 2; Webster, Mundy and Peacock. Goals from fouls—Gavett, 4; Steiner, 5, and Nischwitz, 2. Referee—Robbie. Umpire—Shephard. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

POLITICAL CHAT.

Senator Jackson is preparing to introduce a bill this session under which the offices of Surrogate, Registrar of Deeds and Mortgages, Sheriff and County Clerk in all the counties of this State shall be put on salaries. There is a prospect that his efforts to thoroughly reform the fee system will be successful this year. A similar bill introduced last year by Mr. Jackson did not go through.

The yearly salaries of the county officers mentioned under Mr. Jackson's bill be graded by population as follows:

Over 200,000 population, $7,500.
Between 100,000 and 200,000, $6,000.
Between 80,000 and 100,000, $5,000.
Between 70,000 and 80,000, $4,000.
Between 50,000 and 70,000, $3,500.
Between 35,000 and 50,000, $2,500.
Between 20,000 and 35,000, $2,000.
Less than 20,000, $1,500.

In addition to the above the Sheriffs will have actual travelling expenses allowed them. All deputies and assistants employed by the Surrogates, Registrars, Sheriffs and County Clerks shall be paid such compensation as is approved by the Board of Chosen Freeholders in their respective counties.

The act, if passed, cannot affect present office holders.

AMUSEMENTS.

Beginning this week, Warfield, in "The Music Master," is at the Bijou, on the stage where he scored his first great hit, which established him as a legitimate star. The sale for his opening weeks at the Bijou has been so heavy as to prove that the success which has crowded the Belasco every night since early in September will remain with Warfield in his new abode throughout the season. Mrs. Leslie Carter's New York opening in her new play, "Adrea" by David Belasco and John Luther Long, is now definitely set for tonight at the Belasco. Advance reports state that Mrs. Carter has scored as "Adrea" a success surpassing that of "Zaza" and "Du Barry"—a fact which, if true, is the more notable in that "Adrea" shows her in a new line of work. The advance interest in Mrs. Carter's first New York performance of her latest role is unprecendented. Orders are pouring in with every mail, even though the box office sale will not open until next Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

George Primrose comes to the Grand week of January 9, with what is said to be the biggest and best minstrel aggregation ever organized, and with the finest blackface performance ever offered to lovers of this style of entertainment. It has long been Mr. Primrose's ambition (and that of James Decker, his manager) to revive old-time minstrelsy in an idealized form, omitting vaudeville features that for several seasons past have almost eliminated the real minstrel element. In the Primrose Minstrels the first part will be given with all the old-time characters and costumes. This will change to a sumptuously staged modern scene, painted in blue, gold and ivory and artistically embellished with paintings, candelbra and trappings of exquisite pattern. During this part Mr. Primrose will be heard in an original comic song, assisted by the laugh provokers, Arthur Deming, Eddie Leonard, Charles McAvoy and Alf. Gilson, who will occupy the end chairs and bring a budget of witty sayings to swell the tide of entertainment.

Henry W. Savage's latest dramatic offering, "Common Sense Bracket," with Richard Golden in the title role, received its New York premier on last Monday and was enthusiastically received by press and public. It is from the pen of Charles W. Doty and tells a story of life in a small New England town. Types are introduced without exaggerated features, and the humor is distinctly local and genuinely American. It is a drama of the home and fireside. There is a strong and well defined plot withal it tells a love story of sweetest charm and amply aided by intervals of true comedy. A well balanced company, including Florence Rockwell, Esther Lyon, Agnes Scott, Louise Galloway, Theodore Babcock, H. S. Northrup, Charles Carter, Richard Nesmith and Frank Green, support Mr. Golden in his new success. The entire New York press were unanimous in praise of star, production and play. The American said: "It took Fourteenth street by storm." The Tribune: "Met with undoubted popular success and deserves it." The Telegraph: "One of the best rural plays seen in New York in some time." The Herald: "A good, wholesome rural play." "Common Sense Bracket" is destined for a long and prosperous run in New York.

New Rules for Operations.

According to a new rule established by the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, the operations at that institution can be performed only by certain surgeons. Heretofore, the rule has been that physicians, either allopathic or homeopathic, could operate at the hospital, but the rules have since been changed designating certain physicians and surgeons for the work. In making the selection the medical staff of the institution is consulted.

Mrs. Richard Naylor and Mrs. Delinson and son, of Babylon, L. I., are visiting their cousin, Mrs. A. O. Larton, of Watchung avenue.

THIEVES' SECRET DEN.

Trapdoor Guarded Chamber Where Police Find Champagne and Silks That Were Stolen.

Chief Dougherty, of the Central Railroad detective force, and Constable Totten, of Somerville, who found a wagonload of plunder that was stolen from Central Railroad cars, at the house of John Navoski, at Middlebrook, paid another visit there Tuesday.

The second search of the house revealed a trap door in a back room floor, under a bed. Under it was a secret chamber, and in this they found $200 worth of champagne and silks.

The plunder is believed to have been stolen by "Dutch" Ides and his gang. Ides was arrested at Cranford Sunday and some of his pals confessed. The occupants of the house were arrested this week.

—H. Adelberg, proprietor of the People's Credit Clothing Company, of 129-131 East Front street, has opened a new store at 21 23 Peace street, New Brunswick.

Miss Hattie Kelly, of Whitehouse, has been visiting relatives here.

Jan. 15: "Am I My Brother's Keeper?"—Gen. iv, 8-15—A Temperance Meeting.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, Ph. D.

The story of Cain and Abel is a true picture of the race in all lands and all times. There are men who try to do the right thing. There are others who have no love to the right course of action and intend and practice the opposite. The doing of the wrong by one's brother causes sorrow to the man who does the right. The doing of right by any one causes him who does the contrary to feel rebuked and condemned. It awakens enmity against him who does the better. Yet, more, unless the wrong is forsaken it will lead from inward dislike of the well doer to open opposition. The two cannot walk together because they are not agreed. The world will hardly be large enough to contain them. They are brothers by birth, and their natures compel them to seek association. It is the inwritten law of God in their very constitution, and they may not escape from it. One must triumph over the other. This is the worldwide, age long conflict. Here emerges the principle also that he who wrongs another will end by hating the one whom he has wronged. The other side of this is equally true—whosoever you help and benefit you will come to love.

Cain does not awaken to a realization of his true relation to his brother until he has slain him. There seems something of surprise in his question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" He has not yet learned that he is to live in society and that his brother is necessary to his own development in society. Still less has he arrived at the truth that he is responsible for his brother's welfare in the same things that he has regard for himself in and in equal measure. The world has been slow to profit by the mistake of Cain and find the clew to security in social life. Still the rule of force and fraud is held too largely in the affairs where neighborly regard should be recognized.

Our lesson calls for special attention to the temperance situation. Few at the present time look upon the saloon as helpful to society. It is tolerated as a necessary evil by those who see no immediate prospect of its banishment. Even the men whose money is invested in the business speak of it as a bad one which they engage in only because of the financial gain to be derived from it. The evil of drunkenness all see and none defend. How to get rid of this evil is the question by which we are confronted and which is one of the most vital in importance of any now claiming solution.

It is beyond dispute that the reclaiming of those who have acquired the appetite for intoxicants must largely be accomplished through personal appeal and individual persuasion. But there is a larger problem to be dealt with in the safeguarding of the young, who should not be allowed to acquire the drinking habit, and those who are too weak to hold themselves in check in the midst of temptations.

Society in its corporate capacity owes to itself the duty to secure for its members the greatest safety possible to morals, as well as to health and protection to property rights.

Continual agitation on the moral features of this matter should be made, and the duty of the state and nation to enact and enforce laws to do away with the evil of the sale of intoxicating beverages should be pressed home to thought and conscience. If we are true to God and our convictions in this regard, progress will be made, and, however slow it may appear to our impatience, it will move in the providence of God steadily forward as swiftly as may be and will end in the establishment of purity and sobriety among men. It is a great issue and cannot be won in a single easy campaign. But because God is God and this is His world right must triumph at length.

Try For Trustworthiness.

People would try harder for trustworthiness if they knew how lovable a quality it is. When you know you can rely upon any one, that whatever they undertake to do will be done, that you can really pass over a share of your load to them, you cannot help liking them. On the other hand, it does not matter how amiable men be, if they are forgetful, if they are unpunctual, if they habitually neglect, they become sources of such annoyance that one's liking is apt to die out.—W. R. Nicoll, D. D.

Service and Pay.

Little children loved Jesus for the luxury of loving Him. Their love was its own reward. They loved the lovable and were happy. But are not older people prone to think that devotion to Jesus ought to be returned in the shape of temporal prosperity? Do we not half expect material payment for spiritual service?—Rev. J. H. Jowett.

Success.

"See how they toil!" the angels said.
The curious host looked down on men.
"What is this thing they call 'success,'
For which they strive and strive again?"

There one appeared, surpassing rich,
With ships afloat on many seas,
Yet anxious care sat on his brow;
His eyes showed not a mind at ease.

Another pressed up Fame's steep cliff,
Amidst applause of human speech,
Unsatisfied, for still there rose
Before him other heights to reach.

And some sought this, and some sought that,
But, one and all, they sought success.
The angels said, "Whatever 'tis,
It's plain it is not happiness."

The heavenly watchers turned away.
"Earth's riddles are not ours to prove;
Our ways are smooth, our lives are led
Along the pathway of His love."

Yet still they pitied mortal men,
The road so oft in failure trod.
"We wish, we wish our brothers knew
That happiness is pleasing God."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 15.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Am I my brother's keeper?—Gen. iv, 8-15. (A temperance meeting.)

The question of the topic was the question with which Cain answered God when He said unto him: "Where is Abel, thy brother? And he said: I know not. Am I my brother's keeper?" First he denied his knowledge of his brother and then his responsibility for him. And thus today many try to shirk the duties they owe to their fellow men. If men are being ruined by the thousands through intemperance they profess not to know it and then disclaim responsibility if shown it is true. If they heard the cry of a child in a burning building they would risk life itself to save it, and yet the same man is unmoved by the fact that hundreds of thousands of babes grown to manhood are being destroyed by the curse of strong drink. They are not Cains taking the lives of their fellow men, but are they not often like one who would stand upon the shore and watch a fellow man drown without offering to aid him and as he disappeared for the last time would say to himself, "Am I my brother's keeper?" Would the priest and the Levite have had no responsibility had the "man who fell among the thieves" died? Christ's "Go and do thou likewise" forever declares their and our responsibility under such circumstances.

The excuses and objections of men in relation to their responsibility toward their fellow men are false and worthless. This can be easily proved by testing them. "Every man should be able to take care of himself," is an excuse often heard, but experience proves its fallacy. Men are not equally strong or equally capable of taking care of themselves. Some are born strong; others are weak and need the care and guardianship of their fellows. If we were weak and another strong, would we not want their help and support? Again, it is said, "It is all I can do to take care of myself." This is also untrue. No man does take care of himself. God has blessed him with strength, and there are other sustaining influences about the man who can withstand temptation independent of himself. Moreover, the man who stands can help another. All have some power to help others and should do it. "They do not deserve it," is another objection. Many have no sympathy with one who falls into the habit of intemperance upon the ground that he should not have been so unwise, and therefore, having been so, he should reap the consequences. But through the apostle God says, "Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault [overcome by temptation] ye which are spiritual restore such a one in the spirit of meekness lest thou also be tempted." Nothing will excuse a man from lending a helping hand whenever and wherever he can do it.

"Am I my brother's keeper?" "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ." "We, then, that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak and not to please ourselves." "Destroy not him with meat for whom Christ died."

Three Endeavor Convention Echoes.

Would you have a vision of Jesus Christ and become a disciple in deed as well as in name and go out to work together with Him in reaching those unsaved ones in the home? Then give Him first place and crown Him King and say goodby to the old self.—Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Smith.

Satan builds walls, and he runs them very high, but he is never allowed to put a roof on. Supplies come downward.—Rev. Dr. John Robertson, Scotch Evangelist.

God bless the mothers! I don't know what would become of the world if we had to wait for the fathers to bring the boys and girls to Jesus Christ.—William Shaw, Treasurer World's Union.

An Increase Campaign Banner.

One of the finest of the many fine prize banners which Dr. Francis E. Clark had prepared in Japan to be given to the Christian Endeavor unions making the best increase in campaign showing is the one reproduced herewith, which went to Ohio. The banner is now held by the Cuyahoga county Christian Endeavor union of the Buckeye State and is highly prized by the union. The picture of the Japanese banner is shown by courtesy of the Ohio Endeavorer.

At the Society's Birthplace.

The old original Williston society has pledged a round thousand dollars to the new $26,000 parish house which this enterprising church is about to erect. Land has already been broken for this new and beautiful addition to the historic church, which will always be dear to the hearts of Endeavorers the world around.

SKATING FROCKS.

Smart Modes For the Athletic Girl. Colors Worn on the Ice.

There are three shades that look particularly charming on the ice—silver gray, ivory white and scarlet. A silver gray frock trimmed with an edging of silver fox or chinchilla and a chinchilla shah turban worn with the costume is a fetching toilet.

An ideal skating costume has a short cutaway Louis coat.

The successful wearer of a white skating gown generally requires a touch of brown fur, such as mink or beaver, somewhere on the costume. Cream zibeline is an attractive material for this purpose. The dress should be made with a plain short skirt that flares smartly out at the feet and trimmed at the hem with a band of beaver, a bloused coat with a waistcoat of the beaver and a touch of lace at the throat. The toque will consist of the white cloth, with a deep bandeau of beaver colored velvet.

The costume should be completed by a muff of beaver and the smartest of beaver colored boots and gloves.

Many girls possessed of a brilliant coloring look well on the ice in scarlet. Rough surfaced tweed in this shade, made up all in one tone and worn with a muff and tie of white fox, is very natty.

The skating gown illustrated is developed from brown velveteen. The skirt is plaited at the waist and hangs loose from a stitching several inches deep. The tiny cutaway Louis coat is of the velveteen, with a waistcoat of tan suede embroidered with gold. The scarf, muff and toque are of mink.

JUVENILE STYLES.

Smart Frocks For Children Are Loose and Comfortable.

While their elders are erring on the score of overornamentation in their dress children's fashions are becoming much plainer. They have their own fashions, which are loose and easy, and when white is not worn the colors are chosen with great care.

The skirts of children's frocks are short and full, the bodices broad on the shoulders and the sleeves loose enough to allow the muscles full play. The waistbands are sufficiently large to admit of no restraint.

Tucks, embroidery and braiding are the usual trimmings on the skirts, and a new wrinkle is to make them a trifle shorter at the back, especially when the skirt is kilt plaited.

Round yokes figure on most of the blouse bodices. Some of the skirts have bretelles attached, so they may be slipped over different blouses, thus making a variety.

Gabrielle frocks are revived cut low in the neck, with short sleeves half fitting beneath the arm and plaited below the decollete neck. They are intended to be worn over an underbodice with a victorian collar and tie.

The dancing dress illustrated is of accordion plaited white batiste. The skirt is trimmed with three rows of valenciennes and edged with a ruffle of the same lace. The chemisette is of insertion, and the deep collar is strapped and bordered with a deep ruffle of valenciennes. Rosettes of baby ribbon are scattered about the collar.

By Irving Bacheller

"Alas! I have not read, and do not know her enough to judge," was the answer; "but I shall hate her if she does not take him with the better soul."

"And why?" I could hear my heart beating.

"Love is not love unless it be—" She paused, thinking. "Dieu! from soul to soul," she added feelingly.

She was looking down, a white, tapered finger stirring the red petals of the rose. Then she spoke in a low, sweet tone that trembled with holy feeling and cut me like a sword of the spirit going to its very hilt in my soul.

"Love looks to what is noble," said she, "or it is vain—it is wicked; it fails: it dies in a day, like the rose. True love, that is forever."

"What if it be hopeless?" I whispered.

"Ah! then it is very bitter," said she, her voice diminishing. "It may kill the body, but—but love does not die. When it comes—"

There was a breath of silence that had in it a strange harmony not of this world.

"'When it comes'?" I whispered.

"You see the coming of a great king," said she, looking down thoughtfully, her chin upon her hand.

"And all people bow their heads," I said.

"Yes," she added, with a sigh, "to give their bodies to be burned, if he ask it. The king is cruel—sometimes."

"Dieu!" said I "He has many captives."

She broke a sprig of fern, twirling it in her fingers; her big eyes looked up at me, and saw, I know, to the bottom of my soul.

"But long live the king!" said she, her lips trembling, her cheeks as red as the rose upon her bosom.

"Long live the king!" I murmured.

We dared go no farther. Sweet philosopher, inspired of Heaven, I could not bear the look of her, and rose quickly with dim eyes and went out of the open door. A revelation had come to me. Mere de Dieu! how I loved that woman so fashioned in thy image! She followed me, and laid her hand upon my arm tenderly, while I shook with emotion.

"Captain," said she, in that sweet voice, "captain, what have I done?"

It was the first day of the Indian summer, a memorable season that year, when according to an old legend, the Great Father sits idly on the mountain-tops and blows the smoke of his long pipe into the valleys. In a moment I was quite calm, and stood looking off to the hazy hollows of the far field. I gave her my arm and without speaking, we walked slowly down a garden path. For a time neither broke the silence.

"I did not know—I did not know," she whispered presently.

"And I—must—tell you," I said brokenly, "that I—that I—"

"Hush-sh-sh!" she whispered, her hand over my lips. "Say no more! say no more! If it is true, go—go quickly, I beg of you!"

There was such a note of pleading in her voice, I hear it, after all this long time, in the hushed moments of my life, night or day. "Go—go quickly, I beg of you!" We were both near breaking down.

"Vive le roi!" I whispered, taking her hand.

"Vive le roi!" she whispered, turning away.

CHAPTER XXV.

How empty and weak are my words that try to tell of that day! I doubt if there is in them anywhere what may suggest, even feebly, the height and depth of that experience or one ray of the light of her face. There are the words nearly as we said them; there are the sighs, the glances, the tears; but everywhere there is much missing—that fair young face and a thousand things irresistible that drift in with every tide of high feeling. Of my history there is not much more to write, albeit some say the best is untold.

I had never such a heart of lead as went with me to my work that afternoon. What became of me I cared not a straw then, for I knew my love was hopeless. D'ri met me as I got off my horse at the harbor. His keen eye saw my trouble quickly—saw near to the bottom of it.

"Be'n hit?" said he, his great hand on my shoulder.

"With trouble," I answered. "Torn me up a little inside."

"Thought so," he remarked soberly. "Judas Priest! ye luk es ef a shell 'ad bu'st'n yer cockpit. Ain' nuthin' 'll spile a man quicker. Sheer off a leetle an' git out o' range. An' 'member, Ray, don't never give up the ship. Thet air's whut Perry tol' us."

I said nothing and walked away, but have always remembered his counsel, there was so much of his big heart in it. The army was to move immediately, in that foolish campaign of Wilkinson that ended with disaster at Chrysler's Farm. They were making the boats, small craft with oars, of which three hundred or more would be needed to carry us. We were to go eastward on the river and join Hampden, whose corps was to march overland to Plattsburg, at some point on the north shore. Word came, while I was away, that down among the islands our enemy had been mounting cannon. It looked as if our plan had leaked, as if, indeed, there were good chance of our being blown out of water the first day of our journey. So, before the army started, I was to take [illegible] others, with four boats, and go down to reconnoitre.

We got away before sundown that day, and, as dark came, were passing the southwest corner of Wolf island. I was leading the little fleet, and got ashore, intending to creep along the edge and rejoin them at the foot of the island. I had a cow-bell, muted with cork, and was to clang it for a signal in case of need. Well, I was a bit more reckless that night than ever I had been. Before I had gone twenty rods I warned them to flee and leave me. I heard a move in the brush, and was backing off, when a light flashed on me, and I felt the touch of a bayonet. Then quickly I saw there was no help for me, and gave the signal, for I was walled in. Well, I am not going to tell the story of my capture. My saber could serve me well, but, heavens! it was no magic wand such as one may read in the story-books. I knew then it would serve me best in the scabbard. There were few words and no fighting in the ceremony. I gave up, and let them bind my arms. In two hours they had me in jail, I knew not where. In the morning they let me send a note to Lord Ronley, who was now barely two days out of his own trouble. A week passed; I was to be tried for a spy, and saw clearly the end of it all. Suddenly, a morning when my hopes were gone, I heard the voice of his lordship in the little corridor. A keeper came with him to the door of my cell, and opened it.

"The doctor," said he.

"Well, well, old fellow," said Ronley, clapping me on the shoulder, "you are ill, I hear."

"Really, I do not wish to alarm you," I said, smiling, "but—but it does look serious."

He asked me to show my tongue, and I did so.

"Cheer up," said he, presently; "I have brought you this pill. It is an excellent remedy."

He had taken from his pocket a brown pill of the size of a large pea, and sat rolling it in his palm. Had he brought me poison?

"I suppose it is better than—"

He shot a glance at me as if to command silence, then he put the pill in my palm. I saw it was of brown tissue rolled tightly.

"Don't take it now," said he; "too soon after breakfast. Wait half an hour. A cup of water," he added, turning to the guard, who left us a moment.

He leaned to my ear and whispered:—

"Remember," said he, '2 is a, and 3 is b, and so on. Be careful until the guard changes."

He handed me a small watch as he was leaving.

"It may be good company," he remarked.

I unrolled the tissue as soon as I was alone. It was covered with these figures:—

21-24-6-13-23-6

21-16-15-10-8-9-21 4-6-13-13 5-16-16-19 22-15-13-16-4-12-6-5 13-10-7-21 20-14-2 13-13 24-10-15-5-16-24 10-15 4-16-19-19-10 5-16-19 3-2-4-12- 21-16-24-2-13-13 8-16 19-10-8-9-21 21-16 19-16-2-5 13-6-7-21 200 17-2-4-6-20 21-16 17-2-21-9 13-6-7-21 21-16 19-10-23-6-19 19-10-8-9-21 21-24-6-15-21-26 21-16 21-9-10-4-12-6-21.

I made out the reading shortly as follows:

"Twelve-to-night cell door unlocked. Lift small window in corridor. Back to wall go right to road. Left two hundred paces to path. Left to river. Right twenty to thicket."

Having read the figures, I rolled the tissue firmly, and hid it in my ear. It was a day of some excitement, I remember, for that very afternoon I was condemned to death. A priest, having heard of my plight, came that evening, and offered me the good ministry of the church. The words, the face, of that simple man, filled me with a deep tenderness for all who seek in the shadows of this world with the lantern of God's mercy. Never, so long, as I live, shall an ill word of them go unrebuked in my hearing. He left me at 10:30, and as he went away, my jailer banged the iron door without locking it. Then I lay down there in the dark, and began to tell off the time by my heartbeats, allowing forty-five hundred to the hour, and was not far wrong. I thought much of his lordship as I waited. To him I had been of some service, but, surely, not enough to explain this tender regard, involving, as it must have done, bribery and no small degree of peril to himself. My counting over, I tried the door, which swung easily as I put my hand upon it. The little corridor was dark and I could hear no sound save the snoring of a drunken soldier, committed that day of fighting, as the turnkey had told me. I found the small window, and slid the sash, and let my boots fall to the ground, then climbing through and dropping on them. It was a dark night, but I was not long in reaching the road and pacing my way to the path and river. His lordship and a boatman lay in the thicket waiting for me."

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

TIMELY TATTLINGS FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

PRESIDENT'S LITTLE JOKE

"Has Elevated the Bench"—Supreme Court Justices May Retire—Some Possible Changes in Senate Committees.

WASHINGTON.—President Roosevelt jocularly claims that he has done much to elevate the bench. He does not claim that this is due so much to his appointments as to the fact that his candidacy at various times has resulted in taking men off the bench. The other day he met Judge Richards, whom he appointed some time ago as a federal circuit judge, and after receiving the latter's congratulations on his victory, he laughingly said:

"Well, judge, I have certainly been the means of elevating the bench in my career."

"Why, how is that?" asked the judge.

"Well, you see I have been the means of taking several men off it, and then I have placed you upon it."

The men who left the bench on account of Mr. Roosevelt, were Judge Parker, Judge Van Wyck and Judge Herrick, all of New York, and all members of the New York judiciary. Judge Parker resigned to accept the democratic nomination for the presidency and run against Mr. Roosevelt. Judge Herrick resigned to become candidate for governor of New York against the republican candidate, Lieut. Gov. Higgins, and it is well known that he was selected because it appeared that Mr. Roosevelt's popularity would increase the vote of the republican candidate. Judge Van Wyck resigned to run against Mr. Roosevelt for governor of New York in 1898. So that the president in his political career caused three vacancies on the bench.

Mr. Roosevelt will have further opportunity probably of placing men on the bench before his next term is concluded, as there will doubtless be several changes in the federal judiciary from members of the district court up to the supreme bench.

Justices to Retire.

THERE is considerable talk of retirements from the supreme bench at an early day. Chief Justice Fuller has reached the age when, under the law, he can retire from active service and enjoy full salary the rest of his life. The law permits a supreme justice to retire when he reaches the age of 70 or when he has served 20 years. Chief Justice Fuller will be 72 years of age next February. He was appointed chief justice in April, 1888, and although he has not served 20 years, he is still eligible for retirement on account of age. It is understood that the chief justice has not been in the most robust health and is thinking of giving up the arduous work of his position.

Associate Justice John Marshall Harlan is another member of the supreme bench who is eligible for retirement, both for age and for length of service. He was 71 years of age last June, and took his seat on the supreme bench in December, 1877. He will have completed 27 years as a supreme court justice on the 10th of December. He has been one of the strongest men physically of all the justices, but is now beginning to show his age. He has been an exceptionally hard-working member of the bench, and is still insistent on doing his full share of the duties of the court. He has led an active outdoor life, which accounts for his fine physical condition, and still at his advanced age is one of the most enthusiastic golf players at the national capital. There has been considerable talk of his retiring, but unless advancing years should tell on him more rapidly than they have, he may remain to complete 30 years of service.

The next one of the associate justices who can retire for age in the near future is Justice Brown, who will be 70 years of age on March 2, 1906. He has been on the supreme bench for 14 years. Then comes Justice Brewer, who will reach the age of 70 in June, 1907. He was commissioned an associate justice in December, 1889, and has 15 years to his credit. Associate Justice Peckham was appointed in 1895, and will reach the age of 70 in November, 1908. The other members of the court are comparatively young men. Justice McKenna is 61, Justice White 59, Justice Holmes 63 and Justice Day 55.

Senate Committee Changes.

THE death of Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, the election of Senator Fairbanks to the vice presidency and a few other changes in the senate that have resulted from the recent election will bring about a reorganization of that body. It is probable that the full rearrangement of committees will be postponed until the next congress, but the vacancy at the head of the judiciary committee caused by the death of Senator Hoar will be filled by the designation of Senator Orville H. Platt, of Connecticut. Mr. Platt has for many years been the ranking member next to the chairman on this committee, and his preeminent qualifications for the chairmanship is recognized by everyone. He is one of the solid, conservative and able statesmen whose record is absolutely clear and of the highest grade. He is not one of the orators of the senate, and does not trouble that body with many lengthy speeches. When he does make an address, it is full of meat and not a lawyer in the body leaves the chamber during its delivery.

Mr. Platt is known internationally as the author of the "Platt amendment" which has been incorporated in the organic law of the republic of Cuba and which virtually gives the United States a protectorate over the island. It permits the United States to prevent Cuba from swamping herself in debt, and prevents her forming an alliance with any other foreign power. The Connecticut senator has been chairman of the committee on Cuban relations, but as most of the important legislation concerning the relations between this country and Cuba has been accomplished, the position of chairman of the committee on the judiciary will be more commensurate with his ability and experience.

Senator Platt is a typical New Englander, tall, angular and cold on the exterior. He is a warm-hearted gentleman, however, to those who have penetrated his New England reserve. He is a fisherman and a hunter of note, and has a lodge in the Adirondacks to which he retires every year to indulge in his favorite recreation and rest from the grind of senatorial duties.

Cortelyou in Demand.

NATIONAL Chairman Cortelyou is now paying the penalty of greatness. After several months of close application and arduous work he believed himself entitled to a vacation. He laid his plans for an immediate trip abroad, but found that there were demands upon his time that compelled him to indefinitely postpone the rest he contemplated. He then arranged to take a hunting trip as a diversion and dream of a few weeks' quail and deer shooting in Virginia. The republican leaders, however, had other plans such as jubilee dinners and meetings at which he was expected to be present. As national chairman he could not decline these entertainments, and again his programme of rest was interfered with.

Mr. Cortelyou takes everything philosophically, and lives on the hope of some time getting away from political worries and really enjoying a period of rest. Such an experience will be rather odd for him, as since 1897, when he became assistant secretary to President McKinley, and a year later secretary, he has had very little opportunity of enjoying the recreation and rest which ordinary mortals account as necessary. He has been in the habit of devoting from 16 to 18 hours every day to his work. That application did not seem to have any effect upon him, for he would show up at the white house at nine o'clock in the morning as fresh and energetic as though he had retired at nine in the evening, instead of two hours after midnight. The long strain, however, is telling even on Mr. Cortelyou, and the tremendous work he performed during the late campaign has added five or ten years to his age.

If Chairman Cortelyou can get away he will either go to the West Indies or Europe, and remain there until the 4th of March. He will then enter President Roosevelt's cabinet as postmaster general. If he desires to indulge his appetite for work, he will not be disappointed in that position. Of all the heads of departments in Washington the postmaster general is the busiest and, if so inclined, can put in more hours of work than any of his colleagues.

The Jefferson Bible.

THERE is a tremendous demand upon congressmen just now for copies of the "Jefferson Bible," as it is called, or to be more accurate "The Life and Morals of Jesus of Nazareth." This is a work of Thomas Jefferson, and is now the property of the United States national museum in this city. At the last session of congress a resolution was adopted to print a facsimile of this interesting book for the use of congress. The photolithographic process was used, and 9,000 copies of the book, as prepared by Mr. Jefferson, were printed, 3,000 for the use of the senate and 6,000 for the use of the house.

The volume is an exact facsimile of the one found in Jefferson's library and is bound in full red leather. It contains two manuscript leaves in the handwriting of Jefferson, and the title page in that stateman's own handwriting which reads: "The Life and Morals of Jesus of Nazareth, extracted textually from the Gospel in Greek, Latin, French and English." The compilation consists of parallel columns of extracts from the Gospels in the original Greek, the Latin, the French and English. There are no comments, and the book is of use only to those versed in these languages. It is generally valued, however, as a remarkable curiosity, and the demand for it is something unprecedented in the history of government documents.

BASKET BALL.

Carl Steiner, of the North Plainfield High School basketball team, put up a good game in the contest with the city High School team, yesterday afternoon.

Russell Morris, a new man on the Whittier School basketball team, has been playing a good game and is likely to make a capable substitute for Fountain, who has left school.

George Bentley, of the senior class at the Plainfield High School, is now playing regularly on the varsity team of that instiatution. Bentley is fast and is well put together for a basketball player.

The Plainfield High School basketball players showed great improvement in their game yesterday over the game in which they were defeated by East Orange. They have been practicing, and the new players are getting used to the team work.

Considerable interest has been evidenced in the coming game between the Plainfield High School and the alumni, and in all probability there will be a large crowd of spectators at the contest. The game will be a good thing for the High School players, coming as it does just before their important struggle with Leal's School team.

Basketball games among chosen teams at the Y. M. C. A. is the latest feature which Physical Director Henckel, has proposed, and a meeting for the purpose of organizing an inter-association basketball league will be held Tuesday night, January 17, in the gymnasium. At this meeting the plans for the league games will be made, and the teams chosen. From the membership of the senior class, which is a large one, there should be several teams drawn, and discretion will be used to see that they are well matched. The playing will not be commenced immediately, but will be taken up shortly after the costume exhibition.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Y. M. C. A. bowling team has no game scheduled for tomorrow night.

The entries for the individual championship bowling contest at the Y. M. C. A. will be closed at 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening, January 18. All information concerning the tournament may be had by application to the committee or Physical Director Henckel.

The Park Club bowling team will roll a match at Jersey City tomorrow night against the team representing that city in the Central Journal Bowling League. This will be the first meeting between the two clubs, and from the records which the Jersey City bowlers have been making, the local pin-hitters will have to roll well to beat them. On January 20, the Plainfield team will roll at match on their own alleys against the Newark Bay team.

ROD AND GUN.

Clarence Teal and Al Staats, of the Kensington Hotel, have left for a fishing trip at Netecong. They will fish through the ice.

Good Hockey Practice.

The bad skating weather is greatly regretted at the Plainfield High School, owing to the fact that the hockey team has recently been getting underway, and has put up a good showing in practice. The P. H. S. seven was to have played the Leal's school team today, if the weather had permitted. Captain Craig is much pleased with the prospects, and believed that if an opportunity is offered his team will be able to take the city hockey championship.

PLANNED PRIZE FIGHT STIRS ALL DUNELLEN

DUNELLEN IRONWORKER TO MEET A PLAINFIELD MAN IN THE RING.

Dunellen's best citizens are greatly stirred up over the almost open announcement by a so-called "social" club composed of young men that it will have a prize fight as a feature at a smoker to be given Friday evening, January 20. The contestants are to be a young iron worker living in Dunellen and a Plainfield man who has borne the reputation of being handy with his fists for the past five years. Just where the battle will be held will not be given out until the night before the twentieth, this being the only precaution to guard against interference. Dunellen's young bloods are in a spirit of excitement over the coming event and betting is keen, with odds of two to one on the iron worker.

When the borough police were questioned about the matter, it was said that the mill would be stopped if the scene of action could be located and if it was within the borough limits. It was also stated that those most directly interested would be arrested but this manifesto has had no deterrent effect in the plans.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The illustrated lecture on "Korea and the Late War," referred to in yesterday's Daily Press, will be given at Warren chapel on Tuesday night, January 17, by Rev. J. DeHart Bruen, one thoroughly conversant on the subject. He will tell much of interest regarding the fall of Port Arthur.

Forty-five new members were received last Sunday into the congregation of the Tioga Presbyterian church, of Philadelphia, of which Rev. Charles Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Dunn, of this city, is pastor. Rev. Mr. Dunn, who was a former resident of this city, has recently taken the pasterate of the Tioga church, having previously been the minister at the First Presbyterian church in Freeport.

The Board of Governors of the Men's Club of the First Baptist church met last night and elected from its number Charles W. McGutchen, J. Herbert Case and J. Henry Crane as an executive committee, to confer with the President, Dr. Norman H. Probasco. The committee will advise the president in the selection of the various other committees as provided by the consaitution and by-laws. Owing to several other events it is possible that the club may not meet before the regular time, Monday night, Feb. 13.

Fairbanks Case Jury Out.

The case of William Fairbanks, of Essex street, against the Public Service Corporation for injuries threatening permanent loss of eyesight, received several months ago by being thrown off a trolley car on West Fourth street, was tried at Elizabeth yesterday. There was a large number of witnesses from the West End. The jury is still out. Craig A. Marsh represents the plaintiff.

Miss Lizzie Volk, of Cherryville, has been spending several days with friends here.

JURY OUT ALL NIGHT, AND STILL DISAGREED

JACOB STEINBERG'S SUIT AGAINST P. S. C. MAY BE TRIED AGAIN.

After considering the case for about twelve hours, the jury in the suit brought by Jacob Steinberg, formerly of this city, against the Public Service Corporation for the recovery of damages for injuries received in a trolley accident, disagreed and was discharged at about 12 o'clock this morning by Justice Fort. William Newcorn represented the plaintiff in the case, and the Public Service Corporation was represented by John A. Bernhart.

The trial took place yesterday morning, and went to the jury about 1 o'clock. The evidence brought out showed that Steinberg had been seriously injured by a collision with a trolley car while driving across Richmond street and East Third on November 13, 1903. The plaintiff testified that he saw the trolley coming about 150 feet away, and when he had almost crossed the track the car struck the rear of his carriage, throwing the horse, overturning the rig, and hurling him out with great force.

The defense was to the effect that Steinberg had started to turn into Richmond street, toward Fifth, and had afterward turned in front of the trolley. The moterman, when on the stand, said that his car was going at the rate of one mile an hour, and that he saw the wagon for the first time when about fifteen feet from the crossing. When cross-examined by Mr. Newcorn, the moterman said that he could stop his car within three feet while going at the rate of one mile an hour.

Steinberg has been living in a boarding house on Broad street, Elizabeth, for the past few weeks, and late last night created a commotion in the place by emitting piercing shrieks and yelling "murder" in his bedroom. Male inmates rushed to his bedside and found him fast asleep but in the throes of a nightmare which made him kick and yell. He was rudely aroused and when his scattered senses returned he told the group gathered about that he thought a "fixed" juryman had him by the throat and was attempting to kill him.

INGENUITY TEST OF MIND.

Inventive Ability, Says Professor Thomas, Is a Sure Sign of Mental Soundness.

Another test of mental ability which deserves special notice is mechanical ingenuity, says Prof. W. I. Thomas, in the Forum. Our white preeminence owes much to this faculty, and the lower races are reckoned defective in it. But the lower races do invent, and it is doubtful whether one invention is ever much more difficult than another. On the psychological side, an invention means that the mind sees a roundabout way of reaching an end when it cannot be reached directly. It brings into play the associated memory and involves the recognition of analogy. There is a certain likeness between the flying back of a bough in one's face and the rebound of a bow, between a serpent's tooth and a poisoned arrow, between floating timber and a raft or boat; and water, steam and electricity are like a horse in one respect—they will all make wheels go around, and do work. Now, the savage had this faculty of seeing analogies and doing things in indirect ways. With the club, knife and sword he struck more effectively than with the fist; with hooks, traps, nets and pitfalls he understood how to seize game more surely than with the hands; in the bow and arrow, spear, blow gun and spring trap he devised motion swifter than that of his own body; he protected himself with armor from the hides and scales of animals, and turned their venom back on themselves. That the savage should have originated the inventive process and carried it on systematically is indeed more wonderful than that his civilized successors should continue the process; for every beginning is difficult.

Realty Company Re-Elects.

The annual meeting of the Investors' Realty Company was held at the office of William Jeffery in Park avenue, last night. The concern has had a prosperous year. These officers were re-elected: President, Samuel H. Craig; vice president, Alonzo W. Weseman; secretary and treasurer, William Jeffery.

Fighters in Court.

As the result of a drunken brawl in the West End yesterday, Willie Scheller, Tony Kserye, Jacob Gonsus, Walter Mize and Frank Letjo were prisoners in the city court today. They were dismissed with a warning.

Wouldn't Fight the Japs.

Pleading that he is a Russian refugee who fled to escape fighting the Japs, Frank Pinn secured a suspension of sentence in the city court today on a charge of peddling without a license.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Acklin, of West Sixth street, have gone to Haverstraw, N. Y., to spend a week with friends.

VOTE DOWN SCHOOLHOUSE

Piscataway Township Citizens Veto the Proposition.

"BILL" CONSPICUOUS

Mayor Smith Attacks Seventh-Day Baptists, of New Market, and Makes Another "Offer."

The proposition to build a new $20,000 high school at New Market was defeated at a meeting of taxpayers held yesterday afternoon. The opposition to the plan, led by "Mayor Bill" Smith, claim to have won a signal victory, the vote being seventy-five against the resolution and thirty-seven for it. Before the meeting was over, Bill Smith offered to build a new school house at New Market, after Percy Vail had refused to stand half the expense, as suggested by the "Mayor."

The greatest excitement previled throughout the meeting, the workers for and against clashing in their efforts to win votes for their side. In an open and defiant manner Bill Smith made an attack upon the Seventh-Day Baptists of New Market, charging them with trying to run the township. He made all sorts of statements as to the extravagance of the school board in conducting educational affairs, and he was particularly bitter against Charles E. Kelly, a prominent taxpayer, who favors the new school.

Joining the "Mayor" in his efforts to defeat the resolution, was a delegation of taxpayers from South Plainfield. Mr. Delafield, from that place, was the leader and he conducted a vigorous battle against those who favored the plan to erect the new school. Although the resolution was defeated, it can be brought up again by the school board and another vote taken. This will undoubtedly be done in the near future.

Those opposed to the high school plan offered a proposition to build several smaller schools throughout the township—one at Gallagher's Corner, one at South Plainfield and another at some point to be selected. They claimed that many of the children now have to walk too far to school and they argued that the buildings should be more evenly distributed.

All through the meeting Bill Smith was a conspicuous figure and a climax was reached when he attacked the Seventh-Day Baptists. He said that $20,000 was too much money to pay for one building and he erroneously stated that the school board was paying $42 a month rent for temporary quarters, not as well adapted as a place he would rent for $8 a month.

The attack made on the Seventh-Day Baptists was received with contempt on the part of those present and the charge made against them of trying to "run things" did not receive much attention. There is only one member of the denomination on the school board.

Addressing Percy Vail he offered to build half the school house if Mr. Vail would stand the expense for the other half. Mr. Vail made no reply whereupon Mr. Smith said that he would build the school house himself. He did not add what kind of a building it would be.

As a matter of fact the school board pays $35 a month rent for the present school accommodations. The option of the land owned by William Farrier, which the board hopes to purchase for the proposed new school, is for six months and before that time it is believed that the taxpayers will vote in favor of the $20,000 building. As stated yesterday there are now 135 children attending school at New Market and the number is steadily increasing. The old building contained four rooms, insufficient for the children, as there is a demand for five rooms. H. Brewster Willis, county superintendent of schools, as well as the entire school board of Piscataway Township, favors the $20,000 proposition, and has urged the taxpayers to vote for it. In a short time another teacher will be assigned to that school and at present there are no accommodations for an additional class. Provisions will have to be made for this emergency, as the school is now overcrowded.

Stanley Day, Sr., was chairman of the meeting and Charles M. Kelly the secretary. It is expected that within a few days the school board will take steps toward bringing the proposition before the taxpayers again and a more determined effort than ever will be made to adopt it. The annual election for members of the school board will be held in March, following the spring election and it is expected that it will be one of the most important in the history of the township.

DIES FROM EXHAUSTION AFTER NURSING HUSBAND

MRS. WM. RANDOLPH FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Collapsing from constant nursing of her husband who was recently stricken with paralysis, Mrs. William Randolph, of 304 West Second street, near Madison avenue, died at 5 o'clock this morning. She retired last night physically exhausted from the care and worry for her husband, who for several days has been perfectly helpless. Owing to Mr. Randolph's condition his death was expected momentarily, and it is feared that her death will hasten his end.

Mrs. Randolph was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Dunn, for many years residents of this city. She was an attendant and member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, being interested in all of the work of that denomination. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Ella Phillips, of West Virginia, and two sister, Mrs. Herman Millard, of New Market, and Mrs. Luther Boice, of Metuchen.

Mr. Randolph was for many years a well-known millwright, being associated with his brother, Charles Randolph, of West Front street. His two sisters, Mrs. David Pope and Mrs. Simeon Pope, were at the house when Mrs. Randolph died. She had not previously complained and a slight noise in her room attracted the attention of the two sisters who, upon going to the bedside, learned that she had passed away.

GAME LAW COMISSION RETURNS MARTIN'S FINE

HIS PROTESTATIONS UNHEEDED BY WARDEN AND JUSTICE.

Arrested by Assistant Game Warden Wyckoff several months ago for having a grey squirrel in his possession and fined $20 by Justice Smalley, Theodore B. Martin, janitor of Warren chapel, has had the money restored to him by the Supreme Court. His protestations at the time of arraignment that he had had the squirrel long before the existing law was passed were unheeded by warden and justice alike and after paying the fine, he placed the matter in the hands of Counseller Charles A. Reed. The decision just rendered clears him of any wrongdoing and returns the full amount he was mulcted.

The arrest was made by Wyckoff as representative of Game Warden Hawkins, of Elizabeth, but at his own instigation. Martin had the squirrel as a pet but it had been in the family for years and was not affected by the game laws. Wyckoff was afterward censured by the State officials and then dismissed as a warden.

FAIRBANK LOST HIS SUIT

Machinist's Case Against P. S. C. for Damages Failed.

FELL FROM CAR

Plaintiff Produced No Witnesses, and Jury Held He Was to Blame for Accident.

After remaining out little more than an hour, a jury in the Supreme Court yesterday brought in an adverse decision to William Fairbank, of Essex street, in his suit against the Public Service Corporation for alleged injuries caused by being thrown from a trolley car on West Fourth street last May. The case required all of Wednesday afternoon and yesterday morning to hear, going to the jury at noon. The company maintained that the accident was due to Fairbank's own negligence in stepping upon the running board despite the conductor's warning and in this it was upheld.

Fairbank, who is a well known employe of the Potter Press Company, boarded a Fourth street car, intending to go to his home and asked the conductor to let him off at the switch just west of John street. As the car came almost to a stop, he prepared to alight but the signal to go ahead was given the moterman, he claimed, and the car starting suddenly threw him headlong into the road. He received a severe gash over his left eye, his face and hands were cut and his left arm and side bruised.

A physician dressed his hurts and the next morning he went to work. He continued at his position until the middle of June, when he began to suffer pains about the head and the sight of his left eye commenced to fail. By advice he went to a hospital in New York and was treated by a specialist, then he went to England to visit relatives and while there was again treated by a specialist. Fairbank testified that the treatment so far received had been of little benefit and he had been given to understand that the injury to his eye would, in all probability, prove permanent.

The plaintiff, who was represented by Craig A. Marsh, had no witnesses but the company produced seven or eight, the majority of them Fairbank's shopmates, all of whom were on the car, who testified to his working after the accident. Lawyer J. A. Bernhard appeared for the defense.

BOWER LOSES SUIT AGAINST ROTH & CO.

ACTION FOR $5,000 BROUGHT BY FORMER EMPLOYE FAILS.

Unable to prove that preservaline was the cause of his blood poisoning, George Bower, of West Second street, lost his suit against Roth & Co., for the recovery of $5,000 damages for injuries sustained while working for the butcher a year ago. The case was tried in the Supreme Court at Elizabeth, yesterday, before Justice Fort, W. C. Angleman representing the plaintiff, and the defendant being represented by a Newark lawyer.

While packing a substance known as preservaline, it was alleged that Bower got some of the solution in cuts on both of his hands and that it resulted in a bad case of blood poisoning. Dr. W. K. Browning testified that the plaintiff had been suffering from poisoning and that it was caused by the preservaline. Jerry Foss, who was poisoned at about the same time, testified also to the extent of Bower's injury.

There was no chemical proof produced to show that the preservaline was poison or that it could cause a case of blood poison.

FOWLER WANTS REFORM

Congressman Desires Quick Action on Present Issues.

DISCUSSES FINANCE

Refers to Ship-Subsidy, Inter-State Traffic and An Elastic Currency.

Charles N. Fowler, representing the Fifth district in Congress, has given out the following interview pertaining to questions of National moment:

"Am I in favor of an extra session of Congress? No, and yes. If I should consider my personal desires only, I would say no, most emphatically. But if you wish my opinion as a citizen and a public man, charged with my due share of responsibility; then I say yes, just as emphatically.

"It is most unfortunate that our long Congressional sessions immediately precede elections. It should be just the reverse. Therefore, the President should ask Congress to convene immediately after his inauguration, and present to it for consideration several questions which are certain to suffer materially, if not to meet utter defeat, if exposed to that political paralysis which invariably seizes members seeking renomination and re-election long before important bills can be disposed of at a regular long session.

"When the fourth of March, 1905, has passed, all the appropriation bills and perfunctory legislation will be out of the way—then Congress can be challenged by the President to consider these questions of grave importance with confidence of due deliberation and wise disposition.

"It is time that our merchant marine should be given every advantage that wise and just legislation can extend to it.

"Every American citizen is entitled to equal opportunities under the operation of equitable interstate commerce laws, and these should be passed without delay.

"We are bound to see to it that the people are protected from an unlimited amount of fraud now practised in the adulteration of our food products, through the passage of a stringent pure food bill.

"We should not be beguiled into a false sense of financial security by a succession of fortuitous circumstances which may come to an abrupt ending. Sooner or later we shall move out of a calm, land-locked sea into the open ocean, and then, like the other great commercial nations, we must rely upon the enforcement of economic principles rather than on a run of luck.

"Now is the time to throw upon the banking interests of the country the burden of procuring and keeping the necessary amount of gold to meet the requirements of commerce, and to thus relieve the government from a stupendous task which it is utterly unfit to perform.

"Did the President mean anything in his message when he said:

"The attention of the Congress should be especially given to the currency question, and that the standing committees on the matter in the two houses charged with the duty, take up the matter of our currency and see whether it is not possible to secure an agreement in the business world for bettering the system; the committees should consider the question of the retirement of the greenbacks and the problem of securing in our currency such elasticity as is consistent with safety. Every silver dollar should be made by law redeemable in gold at the option of the holder.

"When are these things to be accomplished? Certainly not at this short session of Congress. Certainly not at the regular long session just preceding the next Congressional election. Nothing but another financial earthquake can compel action, unless the President convenes Congress when an election is remotely distant, and then requests that our financial house be put in order.

"Again, all constructive and progressive legislation should be enacted a year before an election, in order that the same may have a full and fair trial before the people are called upon to approve or condemn. Such a policy will do more to insure steadiness in our commercial affairs than any other one thing the administration can do.

"Again, I think that every thoughtful man will admit that a correction of the inequalities of the tariff schedules will not down until disposed of; therefore, let it be done at once, but with the understanding that no change shall take effect within a year, and that all changes shall be made in perfect harmony with the protective

DROVE ON THE BAR

Captain of Indus Lost Reckoning and May Lose Ship.

ENGLISH SAILORS STICK TO VESSEL

Sugar Freighter From Havana Struck Sands In Heavy Fog at Dawn. Life Savers Will Rescue Crew if She Breaks Up.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—One hundred miles out of her reckoning, the English tramp steamship Indus, with a crew of twenty-five, drove on the bar within a hundred yards of Fire island lighthouse in a heavy fog at dawn.

Dimly seen in the dense fog that hangs over the long swells, the Indus lies half a mile off shore hard aground. She was bound from Havana to New York with a cargo of sugar when her commander, Captain Kydd, lost his bearings in the thick weather and ran her aground.

A Merritt wrecking tug and a revenue cutter sent down from New York participated in an attempt to get the Indus off at high tide.

When she struck, rockets were sent up signaling for life savers, and the Fire island crew put out in a heavy rain at 5 o'clock. There was little wind to kick up the sea on the wide shoals, and the steamship was boarded. Captain Kydd and his crew felt certain that they were in no danger while the present weather lasted. His only reason for signaling, he explained, was to send telegrams to a wrecking company for tugs to tow the Indus clear. Captain Bixsbee of the life saving crew sent a message to the Merritt-Chapman Wrecking company, and the tug R. J. Merritt reached Fire island promptly, but seamen acquainted with the fate of vessels striking these shoals are not hopeful of getting the Indus off.

She is lying half a mile to leeward of the Western Union observatory on Fire island. Her head points eastward, and she is resting level. This bears out the captain's belief that there is no immediate danger. Unless she shifts and gets amidships on a bar of sand there will be no chance of her breaking her back—that is, if the sea remains as smooth as it is at present.

Nevertheless, she is only a mile from the wreckage of the British tramp Drumelzier, which went aground on Christmas night under similar circumstances and now lies broken into three pieces. All about the shoals are the graves of ships, and the schooner Frank W. McCulloch, which stranded on Dec. 28, is breaking up half a mile from the Drumelzier.

The life savers in their visit to the Indus called the attention of Captain Kydd to his danger and told him of the evil reputation of the shoals. As the result of their advice he set his crew at work throwing overboard part of his cargo of sugar. He hopes that by lightening her before the weight of the cargo and the action of the long "shoal swell" has driven her into the sand there will be a good chance to get her off.

The life savers are watching her closely, for if a storm comes up she may break up quickly, as did the Drumelzier.

The revenue cutter Mohawk is standing by the stranded steamer. The tug Merritt has put out two anchors and attached heavy hawsers to the steamer. An effort will be made to float the Indus at high tide.

Vessel Deep In Nantucket Sands.

NANTUCKET, Mass., Jan. 13.—The wreckers have been at work since Monday in an attempt to float the schooner George L. Ferguson, ashore here. The cargo has been lightered, and an attempt was made to heel the vessel over to inspect her bottom, but she lies buried very deep in the sand and could not be moved. Another attempt will be made.

German Miners' Ultimatum.

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—Representatives of the miners' unions in a conference at Essen have formulated the following demands: For 1905 a nine hour day, including time for entering and leaving the mines, for 1906 eight and a half hours; the creation of committees of operatives to represent their interests, the sale of coal to miners at the cost of production. These demands will be handed today to the mine owners' organization at Dortmund, with a request for an answer by noon on Jan. 16, otherwise a general strike will commence on Jan. 17.

Higgins Would Fight Typhoid.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Governor Higgins expressed himself last night as deeply interested in the protection of the sources of water supply for domestic purposes throughout the state. He believed, he said, that not only the sources from which cities receive their supply should be protected, but likewise the sources of supply for hotels in rural districts. "Typhoid fever is a preventable disease," said the governor, "and yet the number of deaths it causes annually is indeed alarming."

Morgan G. Bulkeley Chosen.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 13.—By a vote larger even than had been claimed by his supporters ex-Governor Morgan G. Bulkeley was chosen as the nominee of the Republicans of the Connecticut general assembly for United States senator to succeed Joseph R. Hawley, who, on account of ill health, is unable to serve longer as a senator.

Carter Lacks Six Votes.

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 13.—The second joint ballot for United States senator résulted in no choice. Thomas H. Carter received thirty-nine votes, forty-five being necessary to elect.

Chief of Police and Tucker's Friend on Stand.

BLOOD STAINED TROUSERS IN COURT

Cambridge Prisoner Told Frankly His Movements on Day of Mabel Page's Death—Points Made For Accused.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 13.—The trial of Charles L. Tucker, charged with the murder of Miss Mabel Page, developed two interesting features. These were brought out in the testimony of Chief of Police Shaw of the Massachusetts district police and Henry C. Bourne, Tucker's friend and companion on the day of the murder. The testimony of both related to important exhibits presented in the case by the government, the blood stained trousers worn by Tucker on the day of the murder and the stickpin found in a pocket of his overcoat after his arrest.

The witness said that Tucker told him frankly of his movements on March 31, the day of the murder. Upon the witness expressing a desire to closely examine the trousers worn by the defendant, Tucker, as he removed the garments for inspection, volunteered the information as to how they became blood stained.

Asked why he destroyed his hunting knife Tucker had replied that he feared the crime would be fastened upon him should the officers search him and find the knife.

Henry Bourne, who testified that he had known Tucker all his life, when shown the pin found on the prisoner and alleged to have belonged to the murdered woman said that he had seen Tucker wear a pin of that design while he was employed at Robertson's boathouse in 1902.

During the redirect examination the witness was shown a clasp pin and asked whether it was the pin worn by Tucker in 1902. Bourne replied that it was not, that the one worn by Tucker was smaller.

Witness was then handed the pin of Canadian design identified by Amy Roberts as the property of Miss Page.

"Is that the pin you saw Tucker wear?" he was asked.

"I don't know; I think it is smaller."

The witness added that the pin shown him was very similar to the one worn by Tucker in 1902, but he was not sure that they were the same.

Other witnesses called testified to the whereabouts of Tucker on the day Miss Page was killed.

Only once or twice during the day did Tucker display more than passing interest in the proceedings.

When Oliver Kingsbury of Auburndale, a canoe builder, took the stand he testified that he saw Tucker at noon on the day of the murder walking toward Weston. At 1:40 he saw Tucker again and spoke to him.

Replying to cross examination, witness said he noticed no change in Tucker's appearance when he saw him the second time. This was nearly an hour after the murder was committed, according to the prosecution's theory.

Archbishop Denies Report.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—It appears that the New York Churchman considered that the archbishop of Canterbury in a recent letter had advocated the establishment of some branch of religion as the national church of America. The archbishop of Canterbury when interviewed denied that he had any intention of conveying such an idea and says: "Nothing could have been further from my thoughts or wishes. The whole circumstances of the history and character of the constitution of the United States renders such a notion entirely out of the question."

Fear He Has Been Drowned.

ITHACA, N. Y., Jan. 13.—David W. Nevins, the Cornell freshman who mysteriously disappeared on Monday, is still missing. It is feared that he has drowned himself in Lake Cayuga, as it was learned that a young man answering closely to his description was seen at two hotels near the end of the lake. Nevins paid all his bills in the city on Monday and drew a small balance to his credit from a local bank. All his personal effects were neatly packed and left in his room.

Missionary to Tour Africa.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Bishop Hartzell, Methodist Episcopal bishop of Africa, will sail for Europe tomorrow. He expects to make a tour of Africa lasting a year and a half. He had a conversation with President Roosevelt concerning the Portuguese and other missions in Africa, and he said he expected to receive letters of commendation from this government.

Morse Not Re-elected.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—C. W. Morse, the banker and promoter of the American Ice company, was not re-elected vice president of the National Bank of North America when the board of directors organized. Mr. Morse remains as director of that bank and of other banks.

Reid Made Personal Call.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Whitelaw Reid, proprietor of the New York Tribune, who is to succeed Joseph H. Choate as American ambassador to Great Britain, was a caller on the president. His visit was purely of a personal character.

Railway Agent Killed in Wreck.

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 13.—In a passenger wreck on the Mobile, Jackson and Kansas City road General Passenger and Freight Agent L. B. Sullivan and another person are reported killed and several injured.

AMUSEMENTS.

Augustus Thomas's new comedy, "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots," which opened at the Savoy Theatre Wednesday night received unstinted praise from all the Metropolitan dramatic critics. The consensus of opinion seems to be that it will prove one of the most successful attractions on the boards. Francis Wilson holds sway in Clyde Fitch's "Cousin Billy" at the Criterion. It's "a great laughing success," according to the Times. The Herald declares that Bernard Shaw is at his best in his latest production, "You Can Never Tell," in which the Arnold Daly Company appears at the Garrick. Viola Allen is still in Shakespearian repertoire at the Knickerbocker and remains a great favorite with theatre-goers. "Woodland" is the card at the Herald Square and Charles Wyndham and Mary Moore appear "In the Case of Rebellious Susan" at the Lyceum. On Monday, Daly's will reopen with "The Duchess of Dantzig." Maud Adams is the Frohman offering at the Empire, the bill being "The Little Minister" and Ethel Barrymore is to be seen in "Sunday" at the Hudson.

—First Sergeant Peterson, of Company K, is next to the eldest sergeant in appointment in the regiment. The first sergeant of Company F has been in that office for the greatest length of time, having enlisted in 1895. Peterson has been first sergeant of Company K since March 26, 1901.

PORT ARTHUR CAPTURES BY TOGO

Japanese General Restoring Order to Fortress, Sending Wounded to Japan and Troops to Re-enforce Northern Army.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A dispatch from Mukden says that, according to Russian intelligence, the Japanese army facing General Kuropatkin's forces has been re-enforced by 368 siege guns recently used in the investment of Port Arthur and also by 32,000 infantry, making a total of 388,000 men and 1,245 guns.

A St. Petersburg report says that the Russian cruiser Izumrud has returned to Port Said badly damaged by a storm at sea.

The Izumrud is one of the vessels of Admiral Botrovsky's contingent of the Russian second Pacific squadron.

A Tokyo report says that General Nogi has captured at Port Arthur the following:

Permanent forts, 50; guns, 546, of which 54 are of large caliber, 149 of medium caliber and 343 of small caliber; cannon balls, 82,670; ammunition, 80,000 kilos; rifles, 35,252; horses, 1,920; battleships, 4, except the Sevastopol, which is entirely sunk; cruisers, 2; gunboats and destroyers, 14; steamers, 10, besides small steamers, 35 of which will be serviceable after little repairs.

The Russian government has issued a circular to the powers calling their attention to alleged violation of Chinese neutrality and citing numerous instances during the war in the far east tending to prove that China is unable to fulfill her obligations. This state of affairs, the circular says, is calculated to bring the country into perilous paths, and it concludes by saying that Russia claims the right to act in her own interests.

"Most Lawless Man in Florida."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The house of representatives devoted its entire session to discussion of the impeachment charges against Judge Charles Swayne of the northern district of Florida. A dramatic incident occurred when Mr. Littlefield (Me.) called on Mr. Lamar (Fla.), who filed the charges against the judge, to admit or repudiate an alleged interview which the former claimed tended to incite the people to commit an act of violence against Judge Swayne. Mr. Lamar admitted giving an interview, but emphatically denied any suggestion from him that could be construed into advising assassination or murder. He said that although Judge Swayne was known to be the most lawless man in Florida he had remained secure from bodily harm.

Powder Mill Blew Up.

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 13.—Two men were instantly killed and several others injured in an explosion that wrecked one of the buildings of the E. R. Dupont Powder works at Wayne, N. J., ten miles from here. The dead are John Birch of Scranton, Pa., and Charles Schumann of Lincoln Court, N. J., both employed at the powder works. Birch and Schumann were placing cans of powder in a small outbuilding when several of the cans exploded. The men were blown through the wall, and the building was wrecked. The explosion was felt in Paterson, ten miles away, and windows were smashed by the concussion.

President Used Strong Words.

DENVER, Jan. 13.—"The man who has imputed motives of dishonor to your president is a lair, an absolute and unqualified liar, and the chair is able to substantiate it physically or otherwise." This was the declaration of President Frank J. Hagenbarth of the National Live Stock association in a speech made here to the organization. His words alluded to alleged statements that he had been overzealous in his efforts to obtain for the railroads representation in the governing body of the Live Stock association.

Action For Wrongful Use of Funds.

BUFFALO, Jan. 13.—Albert J. Wheeler, receiver of the German bank, has brought an action against Eugene A. Georger, former president of the defunct institution; Arthur E. Appleyard, Richard Emery and other directors and former directors of the bank to recover the sum of $762,869.50 for wrongful misappropriation of the funds of the institution and for disregard of their duties as directors.

Margaret Wanted $20,000.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 13.—The market value of a kiss has been a disputed question in Maryland for many, many long years, but it is likely to be judicially determined at last. Miss Margaret Hagaman has filed a suit against Henry Callender demanding $20,000 because Mr. Callender is said to have hugged and kissed her against her will.

Dick Seated at Denver.

DENVER, Jan. 13.—The senate by a party vote has seated James B. Dick in place of Senator Robert M. Born. The stopping of cotton burning in Georgia indicates that reason has regained her throne.—New York Tribune.

Probably to get a better view of her citizens burning negroes.

An exchange suggests that giving the women a right to vote does not appear to have purified the ballot in Colorado. For goodness sake, give them a reasonable time, say 100 years, before you pass judgment.

And now Mr. Duke, like the Ohio bank directors, believes he is the victim of a woman. Time for some enterprising Yankee to start a Woman's Wiles Insurance Company, guaranting to indemnify any sucker who finds that shrewd and artful feminine creature has gotten the best of him.

You can't write the advertising of a house and make it news unless you actually live the business. Your advertising is not a thing apart from your enterprise. It is your enterprise. Successful advertising is enthusiasm and pluck and aggressiveness and the other qualities which ring true and genuine and sincere. It is a contagion which you yourself create, and which, if sincerely spread, no power under heaven can stop.—Seymour Eaton.

The suggestion made to the Legislature that automobilists who violate the speed law be sent to jail for thirty days is a sensible one. The mere fact that a heavy fine is imposed upon this class of reckless and foolhardy people is of no consequence so far as they are concerned. If the Legislature acts favorably on the recommendation, there should be a lot of revenue collected in this city from automobilists, who now use the streets for race courses.

The Pond Machine Tool Works has received a large shipment of extra work from Pratt & Whitney's Works at Hartford, Conn., and it is believed that the local works will have to be kept running overtime for several months.

Several machinists from the Potter plant were in attendance at the Supreme court session at Elizabeth yesterday, giving testimony in the case of Fairbanks against the Public Service Corporation. The plaintiff is an employe at Potter's.

Henry S. Manning, the senior partner in the firm of Manning, Maxwell, & Moore, the big selling agents and shop owners, has retired from the organization, disposing of his interests to Mr. Moore. The firm was one time the selling agent for the Pond Tool Works and did much to promote the growth of the shop when it first came to Plainfield. Although quitting the combination, Mr. Manning did not sell several shops which solely, one of which is the Pedrick & Ayer plant in this city.

principle. Can's get ready this spring? The Dingley law was passed by the House March 22, 1897, within three weeks after McKinley's inauguration.

"Let us remember that the Republican party has no mortgage upon the 16,000,000 voters of the country, about 3,000,000 of whom, for some reason, failed to vote at the last election, and that it can only continue its prior claim upon their suffrages by honest, wise and brave legislation in their interest. The President is intelligently, patriotically and courageously blazing the way. Shall we falter? Shall we refuse to follow?"

NO POMP AND VANITY IN GOVERNOR-ELECT STOKES

REGULAR MILITARY STAFF TO BE ABOLISHED.

Governor Edward C. Stokes, who is to be inaugurated Tuesday in Trenton, will abolish during his term the regular military staff of the Governor, and instead of having regular appointees for the full term of his office will distribute among the officers of the National Guard, as occasion may arise, the assignments. Under the law the Governor possesses authority to name a military staff. Predecessors of Governor Stokes have always given the honors to five men chosen from personal friends on account of the close association with the staff officers have with the Governor at functions where they appear.

Mr. Stokes is personally not given to display, and he has made inquiries relating to the feeling of the officers of the guard in relation to staff officers. Finding that they all looked on the places as ones of honor, he decided to distribute the honors and not confine them to five men.

Instead of a permanent staff he will have only acting staffs, the personnel of which will change from time to time. Occasions on which the Governor should appear with his military staff are not frequent. When they do occur he will detail National Guard officers who are willing and can find it convenient to act as members of his staff. When a second occasion for the appearance of the staff arises, other officers will be detailed, and so on through the three years of office.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

St. Ann's Guild, of St. Stephen's church, meets Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the rector's home, 721 East Sixth street.

St. Mary's Guild, of St. Stephen's church, will meet at the home of the rector, Rev. Arthur S. Peck, 721 East Sixth street, Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

It was decided at a business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of Faith chapel, held last night, to change the hour for the regular meeting Sunday night from 7:15 to 7 o'clock, it being desired to have more time for the service prior to the regular Sunday night service.

Rev. BRITAIN'S POLICY OUTLINED.

Balfour Favors Close Relations With Colonies and Rearmament.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Premier Balfour, speaking at a banquet given in his honor at Glasgow last night, avoided the fiscal question, but said he hoped conferences with the colonies soon would be quite as essentially a working part of the empire as the house of commons.

The two great problems with which the army had to deal, Mr. Balfour said, were the defense of Afghanistan and rearmament, which involved a cost as much as any continental nation was able to bear. When this was completed the British army would be in advance of that of any other nation in the world.

Continuing, Mr. Balfour said the fault with the empire was not that it was too small, but that it was too great and powerful and at the same time underdeveloped. One of the greatest problems before the country was that development, and the country was only just beginning to realize the importance of further development of all countries under the British flag.

Mr. Balfour briefly alluded to the Dogger bank affair. He said Great Britain was leading in the movement looking to the world's peace and in the case of the Dogger bank incident had skirted the precipice of war, and a small want of tact would have been a discredit to civilization.

In conclusion Mr. Balfour urged that it was the duty of all Britons to build up the machinery by which a closer union with the colonies could be produced.

CALIFORNIA LIMITED WRECKED.

Five Killed In Head-on Collision Near Wagon Mound, N. M.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Jan. 13.—A report from Wagon Mound states that five persons in all were killed in a head-on wreck on the Santa Fe road near there.

The dead are: A. M. Cochran, fireman, of Raton, N. M.; O. Greunberger of Raton, Philip Freinenschner of Chicago, barber on composite car, and two unknown men.

A negro waiter is reported missing, and several tramps who were stealing rides on both the limited and freight are reported killed.

A score of persons were injured, but none of them fatally, so far as known. Among the injured are Engineer F. G. Boomer of the freight and Engineer Allision of the limited.

Both engines were almost totally ruined.

The passenger train was heavily laden, and the occupants of the cars were hurled from their seats and berths with great violence, and many were badly bruised.

The wrecked passenger train was the eastbound California limited, made up entirely of Pullman cars. The dining, compartment and baggage cars were smashed, but the sleepers were not much damaged. Traffic was annulled all day.

Jew Baiter Sentenced.

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—Count Pueckler, Germany's most noted Jew baiter, was sentenced in one of the courts of Berlin to six months in jail for public incitement to disobedience of laws and violence of one class against another. Count Pueckler informed the court that he had a special mission from God to lead an anti-Jewish propaganda. This conviction, he said, came in answer to constant prayer. He said he often had been disposed to abandon his mission, but was held to the work by God's will. He protested against the imputation of mental abnormity.

Suffolk and Bride at Malmesbury.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The Earl and Countess of Suffolk and Berkshire, the latter formerly Daisy Leiter of Washington and Chicago, arrived at Malmesbury on their way to Charlton Park. The town was profusely decorated in their honor, and crowds cheered the newly married couple as they drove from the railroad station to the Market Cross, where the mayor and other municipal officials welcomed the earl and his bride and presented them with a silver salver and an illuminated address in behalf of the townspeople.

To Settle as to Duke's Sanity.

Fogarty of Brooklyn to act as a commission to summon a jury and take testimony on Jan. 19 concerning the sanity of Brodie L. Duke, now confined in a sanatorium at Flushing, N. Y.

Ex-Judge Nelson Dead at Albany.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Former County Judge Hartford D. Nelson of Oneonto, Otsego county, is dead at the Albany hospital, aged fifty-two, of a stomach disease. He was assemblyman from Otsego county in 1883 and 1884 and in 1887 was appointed county judge in place of Judge Scramling, deceased. He had been at the hospital about a week.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Velvet a Fashionable Craze—Cloth Toilets Are Very Dressy.

There are a few modes that are now definitely decided in the general topsy turvyism of fashion. One of them is that all skirts for street wear are of the short, round length. The real pedestrian gown has its skirt at least three inches from the ground. Only reception and carriage frocks have trailing skirts.

Velvet seems to be the costume craze of the season. This handsome fabric is developed in all kinds of toilets, not excepting the smart strictly tailored gown for morning wear.

A stunning velvet dress is carried out in that new tone of rich red something entirely different from a garnet and not the least cardinal in nuance, but a delightful mingling of both. The skirt hangs full and plain, just escaping the ground with a smart little swing very fascinating. The blouse coat opens in front to reveal a chemisette of tan lace. Little quillings of taffeta the same shade trim the blouse down the fronts, on the shoulders and about the sleeves, which are large puffs gathered into frill below the elbow. An under cuff of tan lace is the wrist finish.

Exceedingly smart are the gowns of fine cloth, of chiffon or of velvet over which are worn coats matching the dresses in color, but made up either in satin or velvet. These satin or velvet coats, made in the styles of Louis XVI., with tight fitting back, embroidered vest and soft jabot of lace, are very effective.

The picture shows a most attractive hat. It is carried out in soft white felt bound at the edge of the brim with chestnut brown velvet. A complete sable skin is arranged around the crown, with the tail dropping over the brim at the back. In front are two shaded yellow chrysanthemums.

NOVELTY IN THEATER HATS

Coquettish Tulle Turbans—A Parisian Shirt Waist.

Despite the craze for picture hats worn to the play lately a later and more sensible fashion has come to light. This concession to comfort takes the form of a pretty little turban made of tulle, usually black, draped prettily on a wire frame and trimmed with either a small white tip or a couple of silver wings. The hair is worn fluffy with these turbans, and they are pinned coquettishly to the hair with a brooch of turquoise, emeralds or diamonds.

Very smart and attractive is a new blouse to be worn under heavy winter coats. It is of cream white crepe de chine made in the simplest kind of fashion, tucked all around and the sleeves treated in the same style. The novelty of the blouse is apparent when the coat is thrown open, and the observer finds a most natural looking bunch of violets and their leaves embroidered in silk exactly on the center of the waist front.

The puffed sleeves of the season when made of thin, flimsy fabrics have inserted in each puff narrow wires to prevent them from falling flat around the arms.

The new wreaths for the hair this winter are quite different from their predecessors. They are composed of banksia roses, forgetmenots or small ivy leaves. Although rather heavy, they are a becoming addition to the coiffure.

A dainty wreath is composed of one half white roses and the other half of gold leaves, while in front is tied a long flat bow of velvet ribbon.

The charming evening blouse is of pink crepe de chine. The material is draped in folds about the figure to simulate a bolero and ruched about the neck and shoulders. The chemisette is of cream lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

By Irving Bacheller

Author of "Eben Holden," "Darrel of the Blessed Isles," Etc.

Copyright, 1901, by Lothrop Publishing Co.)

"This way," the former whispered, taking my arm and leading me to the mouth of a little brook, where a boat was tied, the bottom muffled with blankets. I took the stern seat, his lordship the bow, and we pushed off. The boatman, a big, husky fellow, had been rowing a long hour when we put into a cove under the high shore of an island. I could see a moving glow back in the bushes. It swung slowly, like a pendulum of light, with a mighty flit and tumble of shadows. We tied our boat, climbed the shore, and made slowly for the light. Nearing it, his lordship whistled twice, and got answer. The lantern was now still; it lighted the side of a soldier in high boots; and suddenly I saw it was D'ri. I caught his hand, raising it to my lips. We could not speak, either of us. He stepped aside, lifting the lantern. God! there stood Louise. She was all in black, her head bent forward.

"Dear love!" I cried, grasping her hands, "why—why have you come here?"

She turned her face away, and spoke slowly, her voice trembling with emotion.

"To give my body to be burned," said she.

I turned, lifting my arm to smite the man who had brought me there; but lo! some stronger hand had struck him, some wonder-working power of a kind that removes mountains. Lord Ronley was wiping his eyes.

"I cannot do this thing," said he, in a broken voice. "I cannot do this thing. Take her and go."

D'ri had turned away to hide his feelings.

"Take them to your boat," said his lordship.

"Wait a minute," said D'ri, fixing his lantern. "Judas Priest! I ain't got no stren'th. I 'm all tore t' shoe-strings."

I took her arm and we followed D'ri to the landing, Lord Ronley coming with us.

"Good-by," said he, leaning to push us off. "I am a better man for knowing you. Dear girl, you have put all the evil out of me."

He held a moment to the boat, taking my hand as I came by him.

"Bell," said he, "henceforward may there be peace between you and me."

"And between your country and mine," I answered.

Ah, thank God! the war was soon over, and ever since there has been peace between the two great peoples. I rejoice that even we old men have washed our hearts of bitterness, and that the young have now more sense of brotherhood.

Above all price are the words of a wise man, but silence, that is the great counsellor. In silence wisdom enters the heart and understanding puts forth her voice. In the hush of that night ride I grew to manhood; I put away childish things. I saw, or thought I saw, the two great powers of good and evil. One was love, with the power of God in it to lift up, to ennoble; the other, love's counterfeit, a cunning device of the devil, with all his power to wreck and destroy, deceiving him that has taken it until he finds at last he has neither gold nor silver, but only base metal hanging as a millstone to his neck.

At dawn we got ashore on Battle Point. We waited there, Louise and I, while D'ri went away to bring horses. The sun rose clear and warm; it was like a summer morning, but stiller, for the woods had lost their songful tenantry. We took the forest road, walking slowly. Some bugler near us had begun to play the song of Yankeeland. Its phrases traveled like waves in the sea, some high-crested, moving with a mighty rush, filling the valleys, mounting the hills, tossing their spray aloft, flooding all the shores of silence. Far and near, the trees were singing in praise of my native land.

"Ramon," said Louise, looking up at me, a sweet and queenly dignity in her face, "I have come to love this country."

"And you could not have done so much for me unless you had loved—"

She looked up at me quickly, and put her finger to her lips. My tongue faltered, obeying the command. How sweet and beautiful she was then, her splendid form erect, the light of her eyes softened by long lashes! She looked down thoughtfully as she gave the bottom of her gown a shake.

"Once upon a time," said she, slowly, as our eyes met again, "there was a little country that had a cruel king. And he commanded that none of all his people should speak until—until—"

She hesitated, stirring the dead leaves with her dainty foot.

"Until a great mountain had been removed and buried in the sea," she added in a low tone.

"Ah, that was hard."

"Especially for the ladies," she went on, sighing. "Dieu! they could only sit and hold their tongues and weep and feel very foolish. And the longer they were silent the more they had to say."

"And those who broke the law?" I inquired.

"Were condemned to silence for their lives," she answered. "Come, we are both in danger; let us go."

A bit farther on we came to a log house where a veteran of the old war sat playing his bugle, and a motherly woman bade us sit awhile at the door-step.

CHAPTER XXVI.

D'ri came soon with the horses, one the black thoroughbred of Louise which had brought her on this errand. We gave them free rein, heading for the chateau. Not far up the woods-pike we met M. de Lambert and the old count. The former was angry, albeit he held himself in hand as became a gentleman, save that he was a bit too cool with me.

"My girl, you have upset us terribly," said the learned doctor. "I should like to be honored with your confidence."

"And I with your kindness, dear father," said she, as tears began falling. "I am much in need of it."

"She has saved my life, m'sieur," I said.

"Then go to your work," said he, coolly, "and make the most of it."

"Ah, sir, I had rather—"

"Good-by," said Louise, giving me her hand.

"Au revoir," I said quickly, and wheeled my horse and rode away.

The boats were ready. The army was waiting for the order, now expected at any moment, to move. Gen. Brown had not been at his quarters for a day.

"Judas Priest!" said D'ri, when we were alone together, "thet air gal 'd go through fire an' water fer you.

"You 're mistaken," I said.

"No, I hain't nuther," said he. "Ef I be, I 'm a reg'lar out-an'out fool, hand over fist."

He whittled a moment thoughtfully.

"Ain' no use talkin'," he added, "I can tell a hoss from a jack-rabbit any day."

"Her father does not like me," I suggested.

"Don't hev to," said D'ri calmly.

He cut a deep slash in the stick he held, then added: "Don't make no odds ner no diff'rence one way er t' other. I did n't like th' measles, but I hed to hev 'em."

"He 'll never permit a marriage with me," I said.

"'T ain't nec'sary," he declared soberly. "In this 'ere country don' tek only tew t' mek a bargain. One o' the blessin's o' liberty."

He squinted up at the sky, delivering his confidence in slowly measured phrases, to wit:

"Wouldn't give ten cents fer no man 'at 'll give up a gal 'less he 'd orter—nut fer nuthin' ner nobody."

I was called out of bed at cockcrow in the morning. The baroness and a footman were at the door.

"Ah, my captain, there is trouble," she whispered. "M. de Lambert has taken his daughters. They are going back to Paris, bag and baggage. Left in the evening."

"By what road?"

"The turnpike militaire."

"Thanks, and good morning," I said. "I shall overhaul them."

I called D'ri, and bade him feed the horses quickly. I went to see Gen. Brown, but he and Wilkinson were on the latter's gig, half a mile out in the harbor. I scribbled a note to the farmer-general, and, leaving it, ran to the stables. Our horses were soon ready, and D'ri and I were off a bit after daylight, urging up hill and down at a swift gallop, and making the forest ring with hoof-beats. Far beyond the chateau we slackened pace and went along leisurely. Soon we passed the town where they had put up overnight, and could see the tracks of horse and coach-wheel. D'ri got off and examined them presently.

"PURTY FRESH," HE REMARKED. "CAN'T BE MORE'N FIVE MILD ER SO FURTHER ON."

"Purty fresh," he remarked. "Can't be more 'n five mild er so further on."

We rode awhile in silence.

"How ye goin' t' tackle 'em?" he inquired presently.

"Going to stop them somehow," said I, "and get a little information."

"An' mebbe a gal?" he suggested.

"Maybe a gal."

"Don' care s' long as ye dew th' talkin'. I can rassle er fight, but my talk in a rumpus ain' fit fer no woman t' hear, thet's sart'in."

We overtook the coach at a village, near ten o'clock.

D'ri rushed on ahead of them, wheeling with drawn sabre. The driver pulled rein, stopping quickly. M. de Lambert was on the seat beside him. I came alongside.

"Robbers!" said M. de Lambert. "What do you mean?"

The young ladies and Brovel were looking out of the door, Louise pale and troubled.

"No harm to any, m'sieur," I answered. "Put up your pistol."

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

TO RESCUE ARCTIC PARTY.

Terra Nova Will Carry Aid to Men at Franz Josef Land.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Referring to the announcement that William Ziegler had purchased the arctic steamer Terra Nova from the British government, William S. Champ, secretary of the Ziegler polar expedition, said:

"The Terra Nova is considered to be the strongest and most powerful arctic vessel afloat, having been specially built for arctic navigation. The British government selected her as the most suitable vessel for the relief which was sent out in 1903 to the antarctic expedition, commanded by Lieutenant Scott in the Discovery.

"We tried to charter the Terra Nova, but were unable to do so. Mr. Ziegler's instructions were to secure her at any cost in order that the relief expedition which leaves Norway for Franz Josef Land next June might have the most desirable vessel afloat in order to insure its success. The expedition will be thoroughly equipped, prepared, if necessary, to overwinter, to reach the members of the Ziegler polar expedition by sledge.

"We have not heard from Commander Anthony Fiala since July, 1903, but there is every reason to believe that he and his men are safe in winter quarters in Franz Josef Land. The expedition was abundantly provided, and there is plenty of game, such as polar bear, walrus and seal, to be found during the entire year around and about the Franz Josef archipelago.

"I expect to sail for England within a few days to formally take over the Terra Nova and complete other necessary arrangements for the relief expedition.

"The Ziegler provision depots laid down on the east coast of Greenland, on Shannon island and Bass rock, will also be visited by a steamer this summer chartered for that purpose, so that in the event of any members of the Ziegler expedition returning by that coast they will be brought home."

Smoot Inquiry In Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Nearly the entire session of the Smoot investigation was devoted to testimony relating to political conditions in Idaho. Frank Martin and F. H. Holzheimer, prominent Idaho Democrats, testified that a majority of the Democrats of the state opposed "an unnecessary attack" on the Mormon church, which they said was the effect of the antipolygamy plank of the party's state platform. James H. Brady, chairman of the Republican state committee, told of taking advantage of the Democratic charges in order to get votes for the Republican ticket. He charged also that the Democrats traded off Judge Parker, the Democratic candidate for president, for votes for former Senator Heitfeld, the Democratic candidate for governor. J. W. N. Whitecotton of Provo, Utah, gave evidence in relation to political conditions in Utah.

SPORTING NEWS.

BASKET BALL.

Jewett, who formerly played forward on the Leal's School basketball team, has now taken the place of Strong at center. Strong has left school, and is studying in New York.

Paul Collier, a former High School man, has been making a good showing in practice with the first team of the Y. M. C. A., and undoubtedly he will be given a try out in one of the coming games.

Captain Nischwitz, of the North Plainfield High School basketball team, expressed satisfaction at the work of his team in the game with the Plainfield High School five Wednesday afternoon. It was a great improvement over the occasion early in the season at which they were defeated 60 to 10.

Both the first and the second teams at the Y. M. C. A. Business Men's class are preparing an interesting schedule of games. On January 30, the second team will play a game with the second team at Passaic, and the first team have a hard home game for January 28. Manager Browning is trying to get other games with Business Men's teams in the State.

This will be the line up of the two teams in the game between the Plainfield High School basketball five and the alumni of the school on Monday evening: Alumni—Walter Long and Monroe Long, forwards; Luther Shephard, center; Vincent Miner and Francis K. Anderson, guards. P. H. S.—George Bentley and Phillip Smith, forwards; Stuart Freeman, center; Theodore Gavett and Martin Steisman, guards. There will be a game the same night between the Y. M. C. STATE SCHOOLS' REPORT.

Annual Statement to Governor Shows They Are Flourishing.

According to the annual report of Dr. James M. Green, principal of the State schools, which has just been presented to Governor Murphy, the past year was the most flourishing in the history of the institutions.

The report shows that the normal enrollment at the beginning of this year was 42 less than that of last year. In the Model School the enrollment is 44 greater than that of last year. In the Normal School the total number enrolled last year was 510 and of this 35 were males and 475 females. In the Model School the 1903 enrollment was 578 and of this total 211 were males and 367 females. The average total attendance per quarter was 531 and of this aggregate 197 were males and 334 were females. Dr. Green includes the Farnum preparatory school at Beverly in his report, and of the attendance there he says that the total for last year was 146 and of this number 57 were males and 89 females.

The number of graduates from the Normal School during the year was 164, of whom 14 were males. The average monthly salary received by this class is $44.86, being $3.29 more than that received by any beginning class in the history of the school. The class of 1903 has raised its average salary from $41.57 to $44.84.

The report of the treasurer of the State Board of Education shows that the Normal School for the year ending August 31, 1904, cost $77,539.31. Of this amount $27,539.51 was received from tuition and use of books; the balance of the expense was borne by an appropriation from the State of $50,000.

FOLKS FROM OSHKOSH ON THEIR WAY HERE

J. M. SHELLABARGER ARRANGES FOR A MATINEE FOR SATURDAY, JAN. 21.

According to numerous requests since the affair was first announced, those in charge of the Oshkosh Glee Club's "at home" to be given in the Casino on Thursday and Friday evenings of next week, have decided to hold a special matinee performance on Saturday afternoon, January 21, at 2:15. Tickets for the same have been been placed on sale at Armstrong's and should be secured early as no seats are to be reserved. The advance sale of seats for the two evening performances has been unprecedented and there are indications of record-breaking houses. There are no poor seats as the stage is in full view of everyone.

The chorus of fifty people includes the following well known Plainfielders all under the leadership of Joseph M. Shellabarger: C. W. McGee, H. L. McGee, Arthur Peck, William Rushmore, Mrs. George S. Ring, Miss Mary Anderson Reinhart, Elmer E. Runyon, William N. Runyon, George Schoonmaker, W. A. MacClymont, Mrs. Joseph Shellabarger, Owen Fleming, Miss Marjorie Fleming, Fred Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hall, Miss Hubbell, E. M. Honeyman, the Misses Hess, Miss Cornelia Hyatt, H. B. Lovell, Mrs. H. B. Lovell, Charles Barlow, Harry Burt, Harry Butler, Leighton Calkins, Charles and George Dupee, James Dodd, Morris Dumont, Miss Ruth Titus, Miss Madeline Uhler, Willard Wadsoeth, Lewis Williams, Willis West and George S. Ring.

SNAP SHOTS.

The funeral was held at Basking Ridge on Tuesday of Miss Susan Breese, ninety-five years old, who was a real daughter of the American Revolution. Her father was Colonel Breese, of 1776 fame, being an officer in General Washington's army and commanding one of the New Jersey foot regiments. Miss Breese died from old age. She had always lived on the property where she died, as her father did before her. In 1829 she joined the Presbyterian church at Basking Ridge, and was its oldest member. She always took an active interest in church affairs. The Rev. Charles B. Condit, of Liberty Corner, officiated at the funeral, and the burial was in Evergreen Cemetery.

After more than fifty years of widowhood, Mrs. Catharine Whitenack Runyon was laid at rest at Raritan, yesterday, in the old burying ground in the same grave with her husband. She was born March 24, 1832, at Neshanic, N. J., the daughter of Joseph Whitenack and Margaret Waldron, and died in the eighty-third year of her age. A descendant of a long line of early New Jersey settlers, she was regarded as typifying in her life their sterling merits, and left children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, by all of whom she was adored. Among these early settlers were the Waldrons, Hagamans, Van Fleets, Van Nests, Bloodgoods and Wyckoffs. Her husband was John McKenzie Runyon, the son of Richard Runyon and Catharine Churchwood.

It is generally believed that the new Common Council favors among other things the introduction of more arc lights in the business part of the city. The agitation given to this subject by the Board of Trade has had a good effect for through its efforts a light was placed at the corner of East Front street and Watchung avenue. The improvement has also received much encouragement through the action of Woodhull & Martin placing four arc lights in front of their building on East Front street. It is recognized by the business merchants that the incandescent lights now used generally in the business section, as well throughout the city, give the town a poor showing at night, and the tendency now is to lighten up the dark corners. The present price charged for arc lights is $100 each per year, but it is believed that if the city decides to use any number of them a better rate could be obtained. At all events, by the doing away of the incandescent lights in the business section and substituting arc lights, the increased cost at the present rate would not be very much and it is argued by advocates of the arc that the extra expense would be well spent in advertising the town. No doubt the light committee from the Common Council will soon take this matter up and possibly have a conference with the Public Service Corporation with a view to seeing what can be done in making a change. The arc lights now in use give excellent satisfaction, several local merchants having adopted them for use in front of their stores.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith, who have been spending two weeks with relatives in Plainfield, have returned home.

SOMERSET'S CITIZENS TO DISCUSS COURT HOUSE

BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS ARRANGES FOR PUBLIC MEETING.

At the regular meeting of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders at Somerville yesterday afternoon Judge Schenck formally presented the finding of the recent Grand Jury in regard to the court house and suggested that the board set a date to let taxpayers meet and discuss a new building. Edward P. Johnston, representing the county bar association, and former Congressman Clark made speeches favoring a new court house. Each member of the board expressed himself favorable to the proposition and said that he would vote for the new structure, if the taxpayers wanted it. The board will meet Tuesday morning, January 31, at 10 o'clock, to hear anybody who has any objection to make to a new building. The meeting will be held in the court house and it is believed by many that the old shack will convert all the "kickers."

A resolution was passed, asking Senator Childs and Assemblyman Hoagland to have a bill passed making it a law that the State pay half the maintenance of the roads approved under the State Aid Road Act. Somerset has sixty miles of macadam, which costs $100 a mile a year to keep in repair. There are seventy-eight more miles applied for. Such action has already been taken by Morris and Middlesex counties.

LITERARY.

The January Field and Stream, "commencing a year of good things," to quote a catch line from the handsome cover, appeals strongly to those who are most interested in the world outside the window-pane. This magazine advocates the outdoor life, and that it is rapidly gaining adherents to its doctrines is evidenced by its ever increasing interest and apparent prosperity. The article of chief interest in the January number is "Toward the North Star," the story of amateur voyageurs on the ancient waterways of the Hudson's Bay Company in the far North, by G. M. Richards. It is rich in information and in the romance of the far country it describes. "Two Great Sportsmen," by Uncle David, is one of the most unusual pieces of magazine literature that have appeared in years.

With the sleet pelting against our Eastern windows, it is almost unkind to mention Southern California. But this is the season when that favored region is most appreciated. In the Architectural Record Magazine for January, Elmer Grey writes of the "Architecture of Southern California," the most considerable article on the subject that has yet appeared. Some of the prettiest residences and buildings are shown in the pictures that accompany the story. "Architectural Refinements in Gothic Cathedrals" is another notable article in this number, Prof. Goodyear, of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, being the author. "The Finest Store in the World" will interest merchants. A number of Newport houses are shown, and a new department, "Notes and Queries," begins in this number.

CITY STREET SPRINKLING

Councilman Wilson Reported Not in Favor of Present Plan.

HAS A NEW SCHEME

Believes the Cost Under Contract Can be Reduced by the Municipality Purchasing the Equipment.

An important question that will soon be discussed by the street and sewer committee and later by the Common Council, is that in reference to continuing another year the present method of street sprinkling, the contract for which has been held two years by John R. Keely. Councilman Theodore D. Wilson, the new chairman of the street committee, it is said, does not favor a continuance of the present system, but will urge that the city buy the equipment, including thirty horses necessary to do the street sprinkling and at the same time use these horses for all general street work, believing that it will be more advantageous to the city than contracting the work.

Those who were instrumental in introducing the present method point with considerable pride to the success of it, and they believe that the saving to the macadam, as well as the benefits from a sanitary point of view, well justifies its continuance. The cost of sprinkling last year, exclusive of the amount paid for water, which is borne by the city, cost the taxpayers $6,000, and the individual cost has been slight in comparison to the old methods, when only a portion of the city was sprinkled. At that time the work was performed by private individuals and the cost to taxpayers who enjoyed the benefits of sprinkling aggregated more than at present.

It is estimated that according to Mr. Wilson's plan it would cost the city about $4,000 for horses and the work of sprinkling, not including the expense of water, feeding, shoeing, hire of men, together with a foreman and the risk of occasionally losing a horse by death or injury. Besides, there would be certain times during the year, especially in the winter, when there would be no work for the horses, yet they would have to be fed and cared for just the same as when used. Another factor to be considered would be that of having a place to keep the horses and sprinkling wagons. The city has no place large enough to store such an equipment and it would be necessary to build one, which would mean an additional expense.

While Mr. Wilson favors this method of municipal street sprinkling, it is understood that many of the other members of the Common Council are not of the same opinion and will vote against such a proposition if it is introduced.

Mr. Keely secured the original contract on a competitive basis and it meant a large outlay of money in purchasing horses and harness simply for a one year's contract. It is generally conceded that he could not make much if any money the first year, considering his bid, but after the first year he hoped to get some returns.

DRAKE HURT.

Lincoln's Pooh-Bah Thrown From His Carriage and Bruised.

Suffering from bruises and slight cuts in various parts of his body, Silas Dewey Drake, Lincoln's first citizen, is today bearing it all in grim silence and thanking his stars that it is not worse. His hurts are the result of a horse becoming frightened at a train near the Lehigh Valley crossing at New Market and throwing Mr. Drake and Abram Gulick, also of Dunellen, into a ditch. The animal first plunged directly toward the swiftly moving train and to onlookers it seemed as if a fatality would occur. Superior horsemanship won the day and the runaway was guided into a pole.

It was then captured but not before the harness had been badly broken and the wagon slightly wrecked.

FANWOOD BOROUGH'S CLEAN POLICE BLOTTER

SAID THAT NO ARRESTS HAVE BEEN MADE IN VILLAGE IN FIVE YEARS.

Fanwood borough, perhaps the smallest and wealthiest in the State, with a well-organized local government, was until yesterday without police headquarters or lock-up of any kind. During the five years that have passed since the borough was incorporated no arrests have been made. The police force consists of but one officer, who performs night duty. During the day there is no police protection there.

In his annual message to the Common Council, which was read before that body on Monday night, Mayor F. D. Warren, after touching upon several matters pertaining to the municipality, called attention to the fact of the borough being without police headquarters and recommended that suitable headquarters and a lock-up be provided at the earliest possible moment. The Mayor's message set forth the fact that, should an emergency arise wherein the officer made an arrest, it would be necessary to take his prisoner to Scotch Plains, in order to lock him up, and that during the absence of the officer on such an occasion the borough would be at the mercy of criminals. He also recommended that the present police force be increased to three members. The council took action on the Mayor's recommendation, and a small building adjoining the Fanwood Club house has been rented and put in shape for police headquarters, where prisoners can be locked up until convenient to remove them to the county jail. It is thought the police force will at least be increased to two officers.

FARLAND IS STYLED EMPEROR OF THE BANJO

PLAINFIELDER TOURING PACIFIC COAST HIGHLY PRAISED.

Alfred A. Farland, of this city, well-known throughout the country as a banjoist of exceptional talent, is now making a tour on the Pacific Coast. On December 14, he appeared in Steinway Hall, in San Francisco, and received a great ovation. Accompanying an interesting article concerning Mr. Farland there appears in the San Francisco Examiner, of the above date, an amusing pen sketch of the artist, showing him in the act of playing and how his music affects his audience.

The article concerning Mr. Farland was written by Ashton Stevens, a musical critic, and among other things he says: "On the national instrument Alfred A. Farland played his own transcriptions of Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Chopin and lesser classics. Mr. Farland is the greatest of all the banjoists. Without exaggeration he has been called the Paderewski of the banjo—without exaggeration, because between Mr. Farland and the next to the best banjo player, there is even a greater distance than between Mr. Paderewski and the next to the best pianoforte player. Mr. Farland stands alone, he is the emperor of his instrument.

"Whether you like the banjo for Chopin and Beethoven is another matter. On this subject great minds have differed. Paderewski laughs at the combination. Your modest servant is occasionally more serious about it. But take it any way you like, and yet Farland is a wonder. If he has not made the banjo universally respected, he has at least made himself respected as its virtuoso.

"There were modern banjo players before Farland—Brooks, Lansing, Gregory, Jones—but when Farland shook the smoke of Pittsburg from his hair some dozen years ago, and at a 'banjo tournament' in New York played pieces of a piece with the Mendelssohn concerto, he became the master of them all in twenty minutes. He had invented a new fingering, a new technique and these he brought to bear on a new kind of music for the banjo. His transcriptions gave to the instrument a new literature. His method of playing is now acknowledged as the only one. * * * His finest performance was of the Chopin Nocturne (choral). It was not an impertinence. It made the little sop of ragtime that followed sound very cheap. And this is not to decry rag-time merely because Farland has a way of sublimating the instrument that was made for it."

HIGGINS' HEROIC RESCUE

Nervy Patrolman Saves a Young Boy From Drowning.

PLUNGED THROUGH ICE

Companions Helpless With Terror, While John Lacey Battles for Life in Tier's Pond.

While fifty or more of his companions looked on helpless with terror John Lacey, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lacey, of Pearl street, struggled for life in one of the deepest parts of Tier's pond, yesterday afternoon, and would have drowned but for the intervention of Patrolman Morris Higgins. With only a small plank to aid him, the policeman ran over the ice and leaped in beside the boy, holding him up and battling for nearly five minutes before they reached a place of safety. Lacey had been in the water about ten minutes and was in an exhausted condition, medical attention being necessary to revive him. His rescuer, despite his wet clothing and chilled body, saw to it that he was safe at home before thinking of himself. Today the heroic bluecoat is on duty but suffering from a very heavy cold, the result of exposure.

The Lacey boy, with a large crowd of others, had been skating on the pond when he circled about to a place where workmen had been cutting ice. In this portion a new thin surface had formed and believing it would hold his weight he made his way over it. When well out from the shore and in a dangerous place, the ice broke and he plunged through into the water. His head reappeared instantly and he made frantic efforts to get back upon the ice but each time it gave way and he was rapidly succumbing.

Patrolman Higgins had gone to the vicinity a sort time before to prevent boys from building bon fires back of the Boice estate and he was attracted by the screams of Lacey's companions. Surmising the trouble, he caught up the plank and hurried about until he could get near him and then sprang to his aid. It was a nervy fight as the boy was a great hindrance and the cold so chilled both that they could hardly move. At one time the patrolman had the boy and himself well out upon what seemed strong ice when it again broke and they had to battle again, but with success.

Lacey is confined to his home today but unless complications ensue from the cold, he will be none the worse for his exciting experience and narrow escape from drowning.

DATE SET FOR BOYS' INTER-ASSOCIATION MEET

BOYS SECRETARIES' CONFERENCE AT MONTCLAIR SELECTS FEBRUARY 4.

The date for the inter-association athletic meet of the Y. M. C. A. boys' departments of the State of New Jersey to be held at Montclair was fixed for February 4 at a conference of the boys' secretaries recently held at Montclair. The meet will take place in the gymnasium of the Montclair Y. M. C. A., and will be open to the boys of all the physical departments in the northern part of New Jersey. The events in the meet will include the usual indoor athletic features.

The local department has accepted the invitation extended by Physical Director George Henckel, a brother of Fred A. Henckel, of this city. The boys are anxious to make a good showing at the meeting, and are training for the occasion.

The conference of secretaries at Montclair was called for the purpose of considering the subject of membership grading, and as it concerns largely those associations which has a class for employed boys, the local Y. M. C. A. was in no way effected by the meeting.

MRS. BETTMAN'S ANSWER

Denies Charge of Desertion and Alleges Cruelty.

TELLS HER STORY

Wife of Christopher A. Bettman Files Her Answer to His Petition in Court of Chancery.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Bettman has filed an answer to the petition for divorce filed in the Court of Chancery by her husband, Christopher A. Bettman, formerly of Fanwood. The wife denies the charge that she deserted her husband, asserting on the contrary that she was forced to leave her home on account of his cruel treatment.

The Bettmans were married at Fort Clark, Tex., in 1896, and lived together until 1902, when the wife left her home at Fanwood on account, she says, of her husband's conduct and for the protection of herself and child. She went to Potsdam, N. Y., where for some months she supported herself by teaching school. Then she went to Texas and attempted to support herself by teaching music. Finding that she was unable to make a living Mrs. Bettman says she returned to her husband's home in Fanwood, but he refused to receive her.

About a year ago she and her husband went to Perth Amboy, where they lived for about five months. During their residence there Mrs. Bettman declares that her husband forced her to live under an assumed name, and threatened that if she disclosed her identity and did not permit him to obtain a divorce on the ground of desertion, he would apply for one on other statutory grounds and take away her child. Last June the Bettmans left Perth Amboy and went to Jersey City and shortly afterward the husband took away their child. The mother then went to South Amboy, where her husband is now employed, but he refused to see her.

The first stroke Mr. Ginna suffered was rather slight and a recurrence was not expected. In the present instance it is believed that the effect will not be lasting and may pass off within a few days. Mrs. Ginna and also Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Ginna were notified immediately and have since been at the bedside of the sufferer.

REFORMATORY IN FLAMES

Fire in Left Wind of Institution Does $10,000 Damage.

NO LIVES LOST

Prisoners Removed With Difficulty—Blaze Starts in Some Oils in Basement.

Fire was discovered among oils and paints in the basement of the left wing of the State Reformatory at Rahway at 1 o'clock this morning, by the guards on duty, and before it was gotten under control damage to the amount of $10,000 resulted, including the entire loss of the Bertillion measurements. The main building was badly scorched, but there was no loss of life, neither was any one injured.

The guards being unable to control the fire, a still alarm was sent to fire headquarters. The firemen not responding quickly, a general alarm was given, calling out the entire department. The firemen worked until nearly daylight before extinguishing the flames.

In the meantime the guards were kept busy looking after the prisoners. Excellent discipline was maintained and no attempts at escape were made. Some of the prisoners had to be removed from the building, which ordinarily is overcrowded. Many of them were marched to the main hall, where they were closely watched by the guards. The main building was filled with smoke and some of the prisoners were almost suffocated.

LEAL'S SCHOOL LOST TO COLLEGIATE TEAM OF N. Y.

IN HOTLY FOUGHT CONTEST AT Y. M. C. A. GYMNASIUM YESTERDAY.

Winning by the narrow margin of one point, the New York Collegiate Institute defeated the Leal's School basketball team in a game yesterday afternoon which was characterized by fast playing and hard close contention. It was the most evenly matched game which has been fought out at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium for a long time, the final score being 31 to 30.

At the end of the first half the Leal's School players, though unsupported by the cheering body which usually keeps the game lively, held the lead, the score being 16 to 14. This was a fair example of the condition of the score all the way through, the game being a neck to neck struggle from start to finish. One disadvantage which the local players suffered was the fact that the visitors were accustomed to different rules regarding boundaries, and the referee enforced these rules contrary to Leal's mode of playing.

Toward the last three minutes of play the game became unusually exciting, the gallery waking up to its duty, and both teams feeling the necessity of quick snappy work. The New York school won the final spurt by one run, and it was not until the result had been announced by the scorer that either team knew to which side the victory had gone. It was a hard defeat for the Leal's School boys to bear, as they deserved the game as far as superior playing was concerned. They lined-up as follows: Chapman and Howard, forwards; Jewett, center; Manning and Glenney, guards. Goals from the field—Chapman, 5; Howard, 3; Jewett, 2; Manning. Goals from fouls—Chapman, 3; Howard, 3; Manning.

Forty-two members were initiated during the past year and four died, leaving the present membership 336, the largest fraternal society, numerically, in Plainfield.

J. Conway and M. J. Higgins gave several numerous recitations. David Patterson presided and accompanied the vocalists on the piano, besides giving two vocal selections. MINISTER DROPS DEAD

Rev. Dr. J. H. Parks Suddenly Succumbs to Heart Disease.

FOUND IN HIS ROOM

Scotch Plains Retired Pastor—Connected With Local Institutions—Sketch of His Career.

Rev. Dr. James H. Parks, aged seventy-seven years, for twelve years pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, died suddenly at his home in Scotch Plains, last night. He had just been in the cellar fixing the furnace for the night and upon reaching his bedroom he fell to the floor dead. Heart disease was the cause of death. Dr. Parks, although feeble for sometime, was ill less than a week, but his condition was not thought to be serious.

Dr. Parks was a resident of Scotch Plains about twenty-five years, coming from Philadelphia, where he was pastor of the Baptist Temple for several years. He succeeded Rev. Dr. Guisgard as pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church and he served in that capacity for twelve years, being succeeded by Rev. J. S. Braker, who was followed by Rev. G. M. Shott and Rev. T. Moore Smith, the present pastor. Dr. Parks resigned his pastorate about ten years ago. Afterward he assumed the management of the church property under salary. This he continued to do up to the time of his death. He was a successful pastor and much beloved by the members of his church and congregation. He was for twenty-one years collector for Fanwood Council, No. 744, Royal Arcanum, and on Tuesday night last was presented with a purse of $91 in gold, wrapped in a one dollar bill, in appreciation of his long and faithful services. He was also a member of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company, and he was an exempt fireman.

Dr. Parks was born in New York city, and was the son of Henry M. Parks. In addition to the organizations of which he was a member he was also a member of Harmon Lodge, F. and A. M., of Washington, also the chapter and commandery.

When the Civil War broke out he was one of the first to enlist and he served throughout as a chaplain, being stationed most of the time at Washington. During his service he officiated in burying over 2,000 soldiers. After the war he studied for the ministry. One of his pastorates was at Keyport, N. J. For a time he taught school at Caldwell, Essex County, while preparing for the ministry. He is survived by a wife.

The funeral services will be held from the Scotch Plains Baptist church Tuesday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. T Moore Smith, will have charge, assisted by Rev. G. M. Shott, a former pastor and Rev. Enoch Fullaway, of Philadelphia.

FUNDS FOR CHARITY.

Mayor Buckle to Preside at Lecture for Children's Home Benefit.

Mr. Jacobs will exhibit a great many fine views of the Holy Land, through which he travelled several months ago. The affair will be given under the auspices of the Epworth League of the church and all of the young people's societies of the city and borough have been invited.

Mayor James F. Buckle has consented to preside and he will have something to say appropriate to the occasion. There will be no admission, but an offering will be received.

Oshkosh Dates.

After four months of hard work under the direction of Joseph Shellabarger, the Oshkosh Glee Club will make its appearance at the Casino on Friday and Saturday nights, January 20 and 21. George S. Bing, the press agent, announces that a special matinee for children will be held Saturday afternoon. A chorus of fifty voices, mostly college men, will be one of the attractions. Senator Reed Denies a Story.

Former State Senator Charles A. Reed denies the truth of the Courier-News story that he was in Washington, D. C., in the interest of a submarine boat concern. The Senator was in Washington but he was there in the interest of some real estate matters in which he is personally concerned.

NEW ORLEANS RACING.

Male Hanlon Smothered the Field In Third Event.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 14.—Rain throughout the night made the track deep in mud. Four decided favorites, all of them well supported, were beaten. In the other two events which made up the card there was no positive first choice.

The investigation of the mix up between Fred Cook and Jim Williams was continued, and as a side issue some queries were made as to Nichol's ride on King's Trophy, which formed the basis of Williams' complaint and subsequent altercation with Cook. Williams was shown by the evidence to be mainly at fault, and it is likely that he will suffer a heavy fine. Summary:

First Race.—Poseur, first; Baywood, second; Flying Charcoal, third.

Second Race.—Sarah Maxim, first; Harry New, second; Princess Atheling, third.

Third Race.—Male Hanlon, first; Hakim, second; Fannette, third.

Fourth Race.—Montebank, first; Lady Charlotte, second; Aurumaster, third.

Fifth Race.—Parisienne, first; Belle of Medford, second; Hoceo, third.

Sixth Race.—Leader, first; Falernian, second; Glendon, third.

Threw Herself Before Train.

BOSTON, Jan. 14.—Suddenly demented, Mrs. Edith Temple threw herself in front of an elevated train at the Dover street station last night and received shocking injuries, from the effects of which she died a few minutes later at the City hospital. Mrs. Temple was thirty-two years old and lived with her husband at 114 Cedar street, Roxbury. She was out with others of the family and while all were waiting for the train conversed rationally. As the train drew into the station she turned quickly and threw herself over the edge of the platform on to the tracks.

Two Negroes Hanged.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 14.—A special from Sumner, Miss., says: "Albert Beldin, the negro who killed Thomas Fogarty, a railroad engineer, has been hanged here. A special from Lexington, Miss., says: "James Dean has been hanged here for the murder of Wash and Cora Honey. Dean maintained his innocence to the last."

A Chapter of Accidents.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Three persons lost their lives at the same time here, though in widely different sections of the city. Aloys Wehrle was caught between freight cars in the New York Central yards and died before he could be removed.

Found Hidden Jug of Gold.

HAMILTON, O., Jan. 14.—Charles Smith, a wealthy farmer of Union township, has found a jug of gold hidden by Byrum Seward before his death, thirty years ago. Smith bought the Seward farm and began tearing down the old house. When the chimney was thrown over the jug, containing about $2,000 in gold, was found in a corner. Seward was stricken with paralysis and died without recovering sufficiently to tell where his gold was hidden.

CHINA'S NEUTRALITY

Russia Offers Proof of Aid Given Japan.

FIERCE ATTACK ON NEWCHWANG.

Czar's Cavalry Active Southwest of Liaoyang in Endeavor to Cut Communication and Impede Nogi's Advance.

LONDON, Jan. 14. — Advices from St. Petersburg this morning say that Russia's formal notification to the powers of the imminent danger of a general uprising in China as the result of a Japanese propaganda, which will threaten all foreign interests, coupled with a general protest against China's repeated violation of neutrality in connection with Japanese operations, is really a warning to the powers that Russia regards the situation as extremely serious and considers that the time has come for joint action by the powers for the protection of their own interests. For herself Russia considers that Japan has broken the pledge she made with respect to Secretary Hay's note at the beginning of the war, and further persistence in this course will, she considers, absolve her from further observance and leave her free to act for her own protection.

The present note followed two preliminary warnings addressed to the powers, one in October and the other in November, "neither of which was heeded." It has an entirely different ring, setting forth many breeches of Chinese neutrality.

Russia's note relative to China's neutrality gives what Russia asserts is absolute proof of Chinese infringements. The three main complaints are:

First.—That the Minotao islands, in the strait of Pechili, opposite Port Arthur, have been constantly used by the Japanese without Chinese interference as a strategical base and as a harbor for Japanese torpedo boats.

Second.—That the Chinese army on the border has accepted the command of Japanese officers.

Third.—That Chinese firms have been constantly working in behalf of the Japanese, supplying them with provisions, military accouterments and general war stores.

In British diplomatic circles considerable importance is attached to the note, and in the general opinion it is designed to induce Secretary Hay to initiate steps to bring joint pressure to bear in order to prevent the extension of the zone of hostilities and to compel China to adopt drastic measures against the present agitation in the interior of that empire.

Tokyo dispatches say that bodies of Russian cavalry raiders actively operating southwest of Liaoyang are evidently desirous of harassing Japanese railroad communication and interrupting the transportation of General Nogi's army to re-enforce Field Marshal Oyama at Liaoyang.

The Japanese headquarters' report says:

"Japanese cavalry detachments encountered four companies of Russian cavalry west of Tangnasas, southwest of Liaoyang, and fiercely engaged them. The Russians were repulsed, with heavy losses.

"Subsequently they were re-enforced by several companies of cavalry and eight guns. The Japanese drew the Russians to Liuerhpag and engaged and pursued them.

"Later a small body of Russian cavalry reached the railroad line and tore up the tracks between Anshantien and Haicheng and Tatchekiao and Yiakow. They were immediately repaired, and the line was reopened to traffic.

"A Russian cavalry force, 2,000 strong, with guns, has attacked Newchwang. The Japanese were forced to retire temporarily, but were re-enforced, attacked the Russians and are still pursuing them.

"The Russians also attacked Niuchiatun, but were repulsed."

In the Russian budget for 1905 the ordinary revenue is estimated at $988,522,804 and the extraordinary revenue at $8,794,319. The ordinary expenditure is estimated at $958,032,785 and the extraordinary expenditure at $39,284,342.

It is denied that any Japanese cruisers have been sighted off Cape Amber, Mauritius, but it is rumored that a warship was recently sighted off the west coast of the island.

The steamer Irauaddy, Marseilles to Madagascar, has landed 4,500 packages at Nossi Be island for the Russian squadron.

The Russian auxiliary cruiser Kuban, carrying 540 men and eight guns, has arrived at Diego Suarez bay.

To Aid Kuropatkin's Operations.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—Officials here view the Russian note regarding Chinese neutrality as designed to give General Kuropatkin larger liberty of action against the Chinese, but as not endangering the general condition of Chinese neutrality as laid down in the Hay note.

Roosevelt Saw "Duke of Killicrankie"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—President Roosevelt, accompanied by Senator and Mrs. Lodge, Master Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Miss Ethel Roosevelt, occupied the presidential box at the New National theater last night, witnessing Mr. John Drew's splendid performance of the "Duke of Killicrankie." On his entrance into the theater the president was greeted with an outburst of applause.

TUCKER ON TRIAL.

Clothing Worn by Mabel Page Exhibited In Court.

EXPERT BLOOD ANALYST TESTIFIES

Harvard Professor, Principal Witness, Told of Microscopic Examinations—Dentist Heard on Important Points.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 14.—Blood stained exhibits, including the clothing worn by the woman and the defendant on the day that Mabel Page was murdered and the knife with which the prosecution claims the killing was done, figured in the trial here of Charles L. Tucker, accused of the crime.

Professor E. S. Wood of Harvard university, an expert blood analyst, was the principal witness. He testified that human blood had been found on Tucker's overcoat and trousers as well as on the knife with which the wounds on Miss Page's body could, he said, have been made. Arterial blood was found on the overcoat and knife only. A plaster cast of Tucker's teeth was introduced, and the dentist by whom it was made testified that the cast fitted indentations in a knife sheath owned by the defendant.

Professor Wood was on the stand for four hours and a half, explaining in detail the microscopic examination he had made.

Dr. John W. Pomfret, a dentist of West Newton, taking the stand, was questioned by Attorney General Parker. This is the first time during the trial that the attorney general has taken an active part in questioning any witness.

Dr. Pomfret stated that at the request of the state police he had taken an impression of Tucker's teeth. He found the impressions to conform with tooth marks on the knife sheath alleged by the government to have been held between the teeth by the murderer while he was stabbing Miss Page.

Dr. Pomfret, on cross examination, said that the impressions on the knife sheath might have been made two years ago.

Professor Wood will be recalled by the defense.

It is quite probable that the prosecution will rest today, although the defense may not open until Monday.

KNEW WHERE KELLY WAS.

Crank Arrested — Had Dynamite Wrapped In Newspaper.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—A man who gave his name as Gersler Resseau was arrested at the home of John Kelly, brother of the missing Owen Kelly, and a telescope bag he carried was found to contain an infernal machine, wrapped in a Washington newspaper. The man is believed to be demented. He was committed to prison.

Kelly told the police that Resseau had offered for $500 to take him to his missing brother Owen in New York. The man's peculiar actions aroused Kelly's suspicions, and he telephoned for the police. When Resseau's handbag was examined the infernal machine, consisting of clock works, dry cells, wires and about fifty dynamite caps, was discovered.

Polygamy Dying Out In Utah.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Three witnesses for the defense in the Smoot case have testified that polygamy is dying out in Utah so rapidly that there is no need of prosecutions. It was declared that the younger Mormons are all opposed to polygamy and that if they thought it was being taught there would be a revolution in the church. It was admitted that Senator Smoot had to get the consent of the church to become a candidate for senator, but only in the form of a leave of absence from his church duties, and it was declared that he could have been nominated and elected without it.

Vessel Owners For Open Shop.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 14.—The annual convention of the Lake Carriers' association adjourned without any action having been taken directly upon the all absorbing question of union labor, but immediately after adjourning the executive committee held a meeting, after which a formal statement was issued declaring that the gathering of vessel men, which had just closed, had developed a universal preference on the part of owners and masters for what is known as the open shop idea.

Wrecked Indus Abandoned.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The life savers of Fire Island and Point o' Woods in surfboats took off last night the thirty-five members of the crew of the British steamer Indus, stranded opposite Fire Island. The journey of the life savers was prompted by an urgent appeal from the revenue cutter Mohawk, which was lying offshore close to the stranded sugar freighter. The vessel has been abandoned to her doom.

Edward Would Aid Unemployed.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—King Edward asked the Rev. Wilson Carlile, honorable chief secretary of the church army, to Buckingham palace yesterday and talked sympathetically with him on the work of the church army in behalf of the needy and regarding the condition of the unemployed in London. The king afterward sent $500 to the church army fund.

Prominent Physician a Suicide.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Jan. 14.—Dr. Albert G. Carr, one of the most prominent physicians in the state, committed suicide at Durham by shooting himself through the head. Dr. Carr had been in failing health for several months.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co. Report Activity In All Lines.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Erratic weather produces irregularity in retail distribution of merchandise at many points, and southern business is quiet because of the depression in cotton, but the general outlook is considered very bright. Manufacturers report that confidence is warranted by the number of new orders, while deliveries on old contracts are of satisfactory volume. The best news comes from the iron and steel industry, while footwear factories are busy, woolen mills in exceptionally good condition, and activity is assured among cotton spinners as soon as the raw material market becomes settled.

Failures for January thus far compare very favorably with last year's returns, railway earnings increased 5.8 per cent over those of 1904, and foreign commerce at this port for the last week shows a gain of $6,151,867 in imports and a loss of only $981,933 in exports. Commodity markets are quiet, and Dun's index number was $100.318 on Jan. 1 against $100.554 a month previous.

Aside from the abnormal position of breadstuffs, owing to the short wheat crop, the general position of commodity prices is unusually free from inflation or other unhealthy factors. Securities are fairly steady, with little speculative activity, and money remains abundant and easy despite large exports of gold to nations that need temporary assistance.

Withdrawals of government deposits and increased demand for accommodation in mercantile channels should prevent any further decline in rates for money. Bank exchanges at New York for the last week were 39.2 per cent larger than a year ago, and at other leading cities the gain amounted to 13.3 per cent.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for January amounted to $2,498,956, of which $1,251,543 were in manufacturing, $1,323,796 in trading and $13,617 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 324 in the United States against 324 last year and 28 in Canada compared with 24 a year ago.

STARCH PLANT DESTROYED.

Corn Products Company's Three Large Buildings Burned at Oswego.

OSWEGO, N. Y., Jan. 14.—The Corn Products company's big starch plant here caught fire, and a group of three large buildings were destroyed. At 3 o'clock the main factory building was enveloped in flames, and the fire soon spread to other buildings.

There was a large number of employees in the main factory when the fire started, and the flames spread so rapidly that many of them escaped only with the greatest difficulty. Several men and girls were burned about the head and arms in rushing from the burning building.

When it was seen that the fire was too great to be handled with success by the local department assistance was asked from several nearby cities.

The three buildings destroyed included the packing department, kiln room, scraping room and a portion of the granary. The oil plant was not damaged to any great extent. The fire was caused by the explosion of a boiler near the packing room.

There was no loss of life, but several persons were injured, one seriously. Jeremiah Sweeney jumped from the fourth floor of the building and suffered a fracture of the hip. Others injured were William Caton, Michael Hennan, Archie Bailey, John Horr, Anna Arnold and Bertha Buskey, who were slightly burned.

The loss is estimated at $150,000.

CLAIM DUKE IS SANE.

Three Doctors Testified to Sanity of Wealthy Tobacco Man.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Struggling in the hands of half a dozen attendants and making vain efforts to call for his counsel, Brodie L. Duke, a wealthy tobacco manufacturer, whose wife claims he is a prisoner as the result of a conspiracy, was dragged out of the county courthouse in Brooklyn at the conclusion of habeas corpus proceedings instituted in his behalf and placed in a carriage, which whisked him away to a private insane asylum in Amityville, N. Y.

"Let me go! Let me go!" he shouted when he realized that he was going to be taken away without having a chance to talk to his lawyer or secretary.

"I want to see my lawyer! I want to see my wife!" he exclaimed. Just then one of the attendants clapped his hand over Duke's mouth, preventing him from saying another word. Three physicians had testified that Duke was only physically weak, but not insane.

The man of millions was hustled into the vehicle, while three attendants of the asylum followed him inside and pulled down the blinds. Then the driver of the carriage whipped his horses to their utmost speed and soon disappeared from the sight of those who had witnessed the exciting scene.

TALBOT CHARGES DROPPED.

No Investigation For the Present Owing to Lack of Authority.

READING, Pa., Jan. 14.—There will be no investigation for the present at least of the charges preferred by Rev. Dr. I. N. W. Irvine against Bishop Ethelbert Talbot of the central Pennsylvania diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church.

"A lack of canonical authority" is the conclusion of the eleven members who attended the meeting of the board of inquiry. The full membership consists of sixteen. Those present were: Clerical members, from central Pennsylvania diocese, Rev. Henry L. Jones and Rev. Rogers Israel; diocese of New York, Rev. Dr. Harry P. Nichols; diocese of Albany, Rev. E. A. Enos and Rev. Joseph Carey; diocese of Philadelphia, Rev. W. B. Bodine and Rev. John E. Hardin.

By many it is said that other charges will be preferred against Bishop Talbot under canons now in force.

ULTIMATUM TO HAITI

United States Will Not Accept Sentence on Huber.

DEMANDS JUSTICE FOR AMERICAN.

Trouble Arose Out of Accusation Against Former President Sam and Others For Alleged False Issue of Haitian Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Mr. Powell, the American minister to Haiti, has informed the government of Haiti that the United States government refuses to recognize the validity of the sentence in contumacy to fifteen years at hard labor pronounced by the Haitian court against Jaeger Huber, an American citizen, for alleged complicity in bond frauds charged against the administration of former President Simon Sam and officers of the Bank of Haiti. The United States demands the annulment of the sentence under pain of energetic intervention. The demand has caused much excitement at Port au Prince.

Former dispatches from Port au Prince have reported that in accordance with the verdict of the jury in the trial of former President Simon Sam and others, accused of fraudulent issue of bonds of the republic of Haiti, sentence had been passed on several of the defendants in contumacy, those defendants having left the country and not appearing for trial. The alleged fraud was in connection with a plan of the Sam administration for consolidating the debt of the republic, for which purpose it was proposed to issue bonds to the amount of $6,000,000, with an additional $213,282 to be paid to the Bank of Haiti for financing the operation. Before the refunding scheme was consummated the administration of President Sam was overthrown and President Nord caused the arrest of thirty-three persons, including members of the Sam cabinet, officers of the Bank of Haiti and others, on charges of conspiracy and fraudulent issue of from $200,000 to $850,000 of bonds. When the trial was held there were only thirteen of the defendants present, the others having fled the country.

WILL SEEK NEW FIELDS.

Hundreds of Card Sharks Being Chased Out of New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Frightened by the activity of District Attorney Jerome, who has announced that he intends if possible to suppress gambling in this city, hundreds of card sharps are making active preparations to depart from New York and seek new fields. Many of them plan to go to Hot Springs, Ark., and others will visit the leading winter resorts of the south and west.

The gamblers were given a staggering blow by Mr. Jerome when he announced that every keeper of a gambling house in New York will be summoned to appear before him to tell what he knows about the business. To add to their fright Police Commissioner McAdoo has joined in the crusade to eradicate the gambling evil and sent his secretary with police officials to raid an alleged poolroom and gambling house in lower Sixth avenue. The police made five prisoners and took the names of nearly a hundred persons found in the place. The police say that, in addition to betting on the races, klondike, stuss, poker and other games of chance were played there.

Impeachment of Swayne In House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Further consideration was given in the house of representatives to the impeachment charges against Judge Charles Swayne of the northern district of Florida. There was a noticeable lack of interest in the case, except among a few members. Mr. Littlefield (Me.) claimed that there had been "no hunting or hounding" of Judge Swayne until, as a result of the O'Neal contempt case, O'Neal sought to get his revenge on Judge Swayne and charged that since O'Neal died his funds were to an extent carrying on the prosecution.

He was terribly burned and died soon after the accident.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 14, 1905.

It will strike the average thinking man that Henry Phipps's plan for helping humanity is a decided improvement over that adopted by Andrew Carnegie. Mr. Phipps proposes to build model tenements in New York which will be leased to the poor at nominal rentals. Mr. Carnegie is spending his vast fortune in advertising himself. His scheme is to donate a sum for a public library on condition that the building be named for him. Libraries are all very well, but the people living from hand to mouth have no time to pore over books.

IN THE SHOPS.

Lendrum Jennings, of North avenue, has taken a position with the Pedrick & Ayer shop in the pattern department.

The Tayleg Iron and Steel Company, of High Bridge, shipped forty manganese steel safes to the plant of the Manganese Steel Safe Company, this week.

The Aeolian Company, of Garwood, is advertising in the New York papers for additional factory space. It can be nicely accommodated by applying to Plainfield.

The C. and C. Company at Garwood has laid off three employes in the pattern department and five in the machine shop, several of the latter being Plainfielders.

Harry Rutski, who recently received severe injuries to his foot while at work in the Pond Machine Tool Works, is staying at his home in Roycefield, Somerset county, for the present.

The new addition to the Manganese Steel Safe Company's plant will be ready for machinery in about three weeks. It will be devoted almost entirely to the work of making small fire-proof safes, which the company has heretofore not made a specialty of.

What is supposed to be the largest locomotive in the world is now running on the B. and O. Railroad helping trains over the grades from Sand Patch to Rockwood on the Connellsville (Pa.) division. The engine weighs 334,500 pounds and the weight of the tender filled with 7,000 gallons of water and thirteen tons of coal is 143,000 pounds. The engine has a heating surface of 5,586 square feet.

The Singer Company, of Elizabethport, which already occupies a great deal of ground along the water front, has asked the Elizabeth Council to aid it in condemnation proceedings to secure additional space for enlargements to its shops. It recently purchased the plant of the Worthington Pump Company which moved to Harrison and will undoubtedly convert it to its uses. The Singer Company is heavily rushed with orders and is now shipping thousands of machines to Europe and foreign ports.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINTIY.

In the borough court this morning, Irving Runyan, of West Dunellen, was fined $3 by Justice VonMinden for stealing coal. George Washee, an Italian laborer, was also fined $3 for being drunk. This is Washee's fourth appearance in court for drunkenness and Justice VonMinden threatened to fine him $10 if arrested on the same charge again. Both men paid their fines and were released.

The week of prayer in the Methodist and Presbyterian churches will end this evening. The meetings have all been very successful and the pastors of both churches are very much pleased with the results. The week of prayer in the First and Seventh-Day Baptist churches also ends tonight and the pastors are equally pleased with the results.

The dance which was held in Apgar's Hall last evening, was probably the most successful one of the season. A large number of persons were present from Plainfield, New Market and Bound Brook, as well as the borough. The music by Coriell and Wotton was the latest popular music and pleased everybody.

The Underwood hockey team, of Plainfield, will meet the New Market team this afternoon at 3:15 on New Market pond. The New Markets were to have played the Clinton Avenue's this afternoon, but the game was cancelled last evening.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The local bowling team and Dunellen roll a return match Tuesday night, on Lee's alleys. The locals defeated this team three straight games Thursday night on Taylor's alleys and they are coming with the intention of wiping out this defeat. The home team at present is bowling a strong game and is holding its own with the best teams.

Services tomorrow at the Baptist church will be as usual: Sunday-school, 9:30 p. m.; morning preaching service, sermon by the pastor, Rev. T. Moore Smith, at 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7:15; evening sermon, 7:45.

Fishing through the ice is beginning to be a regular sport among the local fishermen. During the past week several parties have tried their luck at the "Back Pond" with varying success.

Miss Addie Johnston, who is taking a course at Bucknell College, is spending several weeks at her home, being obliged to give up her studies for a time on account of a serious eye trouble.

The Suburban Club's bowling tournament closes tonight. August Sheelen still leads by a few pins and if in form tonight, should win out.

The annual meeting of the Suburban Club, of the borough, will be held Monday night in the club parlors.

Constable Robert Walpole is doing duty at the January term of court being held at Elizabeth.

The annual meeting of the township officials at the poor farm will probably be held next Thursday, when they will be the guests of the steward.

The dinner to be given in honor of Judge Strong has been postponed on account of his illness.

BOOK NEWS.

Public Library Notes. Plainfield History.

Even the most superficial student of history now recognizes the value of the contemporary sources of history, and the material which is so unthinkingly destroyed by one generation may for a later, prove of great value. Especially is there to be noted a tendency to emphasize the importance of matter relating to the social life of a period. Under this head would come old letters or diaries showing to a greater or less degree, the life of the time in which they were written. With how much interest does the general reader pore over Mrs. Earle's books which are largely compilations of interesting bits culled from the sources of American history, and under what a debt of gratitude is the student of early New England history laid to that painstaking diarist, Chief Justice Sewall.

In our own State, the value of the collection of such material is officially recognized as several volumes of "newspaper extracts," which have been gathered by the New Jersey Historical Society, are published by the State. Here is an extract, an advertisement of 1778 of one Robert Hurt, of Elizabeth-Town: "Robert Hurt has for sale at his store, in Elizabeth-Town, good spirits, rum, and whiskey, by the gallon, tea, sugar, chocolate, alspice, pepper, indigo, redwood, log-wood, and allum, brimstone, tobacco, snuff; salt by the bushel or less quantity, coatings and velvet, worsted stockings, plated shoe buckles, and brass ditto, best needles and pins, jack knives; also writing paper and ink powder." One hopes for the credit of our neighboring city that the advertiser was mistaken in his estimate of what most interested the good people of Elizabeth at that time, for we note that good spirits heads the list in all the importance of capitals, while at the very end, like an after thought we read "also writing paper and ink powder." But such collections besides being very entertaining one can readily see are storehouses for the future historian.

In looking up the history of our own city, one is struck with the poverty of material. Surely it is most desirable that all matter relating to the history of Plainfield should be preserved, and it is equally sure that there is no more fitting place for this than the Public Library, which has the facilities for preserving it and making it accessible. Moreover the library already has the nucleus of such a collection. But a collection of this kind cannot be made without the co-operation of city officials, of officers of all societies, educational, religious, philanthropic, social, political and industrial, and also of all others who may have in their possession matter, printed or manuscript, which bears in any way upon the varied life of the community. Without doubt, there is constantly being destroyed much of what might be called the "raw material" of history, because its owners fail to appreciate its historical value, and it is to the end that all this may be preserved, that the Library invites the attention and co-operation of all citizens.

For the assistance of those who are willing to co-operate, the following are noted as being especially desirable:

1. Complete files of all Plainfield papers and directories.

2. All official publications of the city, ordinances and official reports of each department of the city government. City officials are especially invited to see that files of their respective departments are in the Library, and that they are kept to date.

3. All election notices, registration of voters and all matter pertaining to political meetings or local politics.

4. Pamphlets bearing the Plainfield imprint, such as orations, sermons, or other discourses delivered in Plainfield, also about Plainfield though they may not have the Plainfield imprint.

5. Reports of all local societies, philanthropic, educational, industrial, religious or social. Secretaries of all such are especially requested to place with the Library files, as nearly complete as possible, and to send others as issued.

6. Papers or other serial publications of schools, churches, or other organizations, also yearbooks, constitutions, etc., of all lodges.

7. Maps of the city, or of any of its parts, and photographs or other pictures, especially those of places or buildings which are fast changing or disappearing.

8. Manuscript bearing in any way upon the history or part social life in the community, such as unprinted papers, old diaries or letters.

9. Programmes of entertainments or lectures given in Plainfield at any time.

10. Clippings from any newspaper or other periodical about Plainfield. The value of clippings is greatly increased by the name of the periodical and date of issue, though all will be acceptable.

11. Genealogies, printed or manuscript, of local families.

12. Finally everything that has been written or printed about Plainfield, whether by Plainfielders or others, and everything that has been printed in Plainfield.

All local matter which the Library already has is being classified, and will soon be accessible to all who may wish to refer to it.

Any matter sent to the Library should be marked with the sender's name and address. The Library will send for any matter on notification.

Next week's issue will contain a list of the Library's material on Plainfield, exclusive of clippings.

The Librarian will be glad to confer with anyone having matter covering the above points.

Ira Sanderson, of this city, is ill at his former home in German Valley, Hunterdon county.

Mrs. David J. Yerkes, of West Seventh street, who has been quite ill, continues to improve.

CHARITY IN GOTHAM

IT IS BEING REDUCED TO A SCIENTIFIC BASIS.

MORGAN'S ART GALLERY

It Will Contain His Great Wealth of Books and Pictures Now Stored in London—Other New York Gossip.

NEW YORK.—Is not New York the only city that has an endowed school of philanthropy? The gift of $250,000 by John S. Kennedy has placed upon a firm footing the school which has now been running for seven years. Its object is to acquaint people who have leisure for charitable work, and those whose paid business it is, to do it intelligently. It brings together the wealthy women of leisure who are everywhere the mainstay of charity and young men and women who as trained nurses or board of health physicians or almshouse attendants serve the very poor.

Kennedy has given money for such purposes before. He erected the Charity Organization building for the society so named, to provide a clearing-house for societies that might otherwise duplicate their work.

A school of doing good to your fellow man—it sounds like a "fake." But it is not even what a college student would call "an easy elective." The course includes lectures by men and women of world-wide repute in their specialties, and personal visits to almshouses, consumption hospitals and prisons. And while the students are cautioned against prying visits to tenements they are encouraged to make real friends among the very poor. How slow a task this is against the prejudices of recently arrived immigrants only the oldest workers know. But even a beginner might get a hint of it; for instance, at one of the banquets of the East Side Civic club. These dinners cost 75 cents. They are held in Clinton hall, the gift of a generous woman to the social needs of the East side, and one of the most beautiful buildings in the city. As speakers the most eloquent men in the city are sandwiched between ruder but earnest voices from the neighborhood.

Twenty Years in the Slums.

THE last gathering that I attended 400 men and women were at the long tables. Some of them by wealth and pedigree might qualify for that other "400" had they time for frivolities. There were famous writers, then modestly silent. There were possibly 50 "settlement workers." The main body were the members of the club, who must be residents of the lower East side. The president was a prosperous pawnbroker, whose plump appearance gave little hint of his idealism. A socialist candidate for governor of a great state made a speech wild with denunciation of the rich; no one minded even among the few millionaires present. Two of the speeches were as fine as any I ever heard. Both were technical discussions of public improvements. What other audience would listen as patiently to such utterances?

The favorite of the evening was one of the poorest speakers, but a man of the highest type. Almost 20 years have passed since I first knew him in the old Neighborhood guild, the forerunner of so many "settlements." This man has lived in the East side longer than the East siders themselves; they do not feel toward him as toward others of his class. When he blundered out his denunciations of the "miserable millionaires" who had so bungled the Subway everybody laughed sympathetically. For what he said is true. The Chamber of Commerce crowd have bungled it.

The commissioners have lumped the construction and operating contracts so that ordinary contractors could not bid. They gave a lease of the Subway for 75 years. They built the road with public money, yielding a profit of nine millions on the construction alone, and permitted the Belmont syndicate to pay back the money one per cent. a year, with three per cent. for interest. This is equivalent to the company getting money at four per cent. and never having to pay the principal. What a golden bargain is the Subway! The lessors have undertaken to build the Brooklyn extension for $2,000,000, though it will cost fully six times as much, rather than let some one else get the contract.

The Morgan Gallery.

THESE letters gave early notice of the intention of Mr. J. P. Morgan's intention to build beside his residence on Madison avenue and Thirty-sixth street a great museum for the books and pictures that he now stores in London. Even the New York papers—papers that are so provincial that they did not print Mr. John Morley's great Pittsburg speech because it was "too far from the Bowery"—have now heard of Mr. Morgan's plans. There are three houses on the block of 200 feet facing the avenue. Morgan paid $450,000 for the middle one, the Phelps Dodge mansion; for the one at the upper corner, the Stokes place, he has just paid over a million. The land behind them he already owns. Here a part of the museum is already being built, but anyone can see that it is only a wing of the building as it will be completed.

Wonder is often expressed that Mr. Morgan continues to live so far downtown and to the eastward when he might follow his neighbors to Fifth avenue opposite the park. The museum plan would explain it. That to be useful should not be too far from that great hive of people where for considerable distances they huddle together more than 1,000 to the acre, while Bombay alone of all the other cities of the world shelters 750 to the acre. The late William H. Vanderbilt once opened his art gallery. But the "intelligent" public of upper Fifth avenue so misused the privilege that he revoked it. It was small loss to art lovers, for the Vanderbilt collections were but a fraction of those which Mr. Morgan has assembled; and the best of the lot are now in the Metropolitan museum—whose president, by the way, Mr. Morgan has just become. As president of the Metropolitan—and everybody expects him to be a good president—and as the owner of a big museum of his own, Mr. Morgan will be a commanding figure in the art life of New York.

"Presented" at Court.

PEOPLE here get along without a king and court. When a young girl in society reaches the age when she would in England make her bow to king and queen she is "presented" to the little republican court which apes as many manners of royalty as it can. It used to be called "coming out." The briefer formula is now "to present Miss So-and-So." The earlier days of the winter are reserved for this species of social proclamation that a new star has arisen in the galaxy of society belles; for the good human reason that it leaves so much more of the gayeties of her first winter for the debutante to enjoy.

It is a curious performance. In theory the girl has never had on a long gown before, or spoken to grown-ups as a grown-up. She has been a child among children, eating bread and butter and cocoa with plenty of milk, going to bed early and studying useful things. All at once she is a lady, versed in the arts and manners of the world. How is it managed? Truth to tell, much of the last two years of study have been directed to this point. The first impression is so important. Probably the poor child has spent half her years in Europe. The chances are a hundred to one that she is better grounded in the accomplishments than the sciences. She has not been to college; she does know French and enough about music to talk opera intelligently. She is apt to be 18, though exceptional circumstances may hasten or delay a year or so a prominent debut.

There are two dozen society debutantes of the great families this year. Easily foremost in interest are two. President Roosevelt's niece, the child of his sister and of the hustling real estate operator, Douglas Robinson, stands first in general though not in society interest. The Douglas Robinsons have plenty of money and are getting more—the real estate business is pretty good, thank you; Mr. Robinson is the agent of one Astor estate besides; and they are well connected. But the great society debutante of the year is Miss Anita Stewart, daughter of the William Rhinelander Stewarts and relative of a dozen great New York families, such as the Lispenards and the Rhinelanders, besides the Drexels, of Philadelphia. Her mother was an Armstrong, of Baltimore.

The Highbinder Troubles.

THE "Highbinder" fights are serious enough to those engaged in them, but they have an ancient oriental flavor that smacks of the ridiculous.

The trouble in New York's Chinese village of 2,000 souls is perennial warfare between the dominant "Lee" faction or Tong of business men and gamblers and the Mock Duck faction of so-called reformers called variously by Duck's name or by that of Hip Sing or On Leong. No native can understand what it is about, but a good guess is that the Mock Ducks, or outsiders, try to blackmail the other fellows into yielding up part of the profits of gambling, even going to the length of calling on the 'melican man's dreaded and mysterious justice at times—which is very naughty, according to Mott street ideas.

But the battles! Imagine the men drawn up on opposite sides of a very narrow street, some wearing ancient armor of wadded silk under their loose robes, others relying upon charms to keep away the bullets. Every man shuts his eyes tight and blazes away as fast as he can. When the police come pounding down upon their heavy boots all is over. A few of the heroes are whacked judiciously. Does anyone ever get aurt? Oh, yes, occasionally. Mock Duck himself was wounded a month ago, and in one recent fight a white man was killed, coming out of a saloon some distance away. He had nothing to do with it. Such are the playful ways of the "heathen Chinee" when away from home.

SARTORIAL FANCIES.

Hand Spun Handkerchiefs Are an Expensive Novelty.

Among the dainty swagger dress accessories are to be found handkerchiefs of hand spun linen. These mouchoirs are the very latest fad, and an expensive one at that, costing $10 or more apiece, and my lady must own at least a dozen of them. The handkerchiefs are quite plain and simple looking, finished about the edge with hand embroidery. In one corner the full name is worked in embroidery cotton. If a little skill in art needlework is possessed these Parisian handkerchiefs may be made for a quarter of the price asked for them in the shops.

The little lace "tucker" is a novelty in the realm of evening attire. It is used to outline the decolletage and is almost a sine qua non with the evening gown of today. It is among the accessories that may be bought ready made in a variety of styles. Some of these "tuckers" are made of rows of lace threaded with black velvet ribbon.

The Parisian dress authorities say that the figure must be worn higher and show more outline than has been thought necessary for several years. The new French corsets are built along these lines. They are made of the finest coutil, satin or silk and are quite devoid of trimming except for a binding of satin ribbon at the top and a chic bow at the top of the stays in front.

The theater blouse illustrated is of spotted black tulle. It is adorned with applications of white silk, lozenges of black velvet and motifs of cream embroidery. Bows of black velvet ribbon fasten the belt and nestle among the puffs on the sleeves.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Green In Different Tones a Favorite Color—Ermine Boleros.

Of the many shades of green that are already being used which will probably not reach their zenith before next spring there is a tone called "cresson," which is very effective.

"Cosaque" is another new shade of green, which is deeper in tone than the "cresson," while an extremely dark color is "amazone." Hunter's green is still very popular.

Boleros of broadtail and ermine are much used for skating gowns this season. A very pretty example of an ermine bolero is bordered with black velvet crossed in front and finished with a row of white fur buttons with jet rims and a corresponding number of ermine tails. The sleeves, which are very short and wide, represent a combination of ermine and Irish lace. The bolero itself has also a square neck of the lace.

The ermine bolero is worn with a white cloth skirt incrusted with Irish lace. A large white hat trimmed with roses in different tones of white shading into a pale yellow is worn with the costume.

Very dainty is the evening frock of spotted white net herewith illustrated. The full skirt is shirred at the waist and in three places down its length, the last shirring heading the deep lace flounce. The full gathered waist has a puffing of the net outlining the corsage, which crosses at one side to the waist line. The puffed sleeves finish with a ruffle at the elbow.

By Irving Bacheller

Author of "Eben Holden," "Darrel of the Blessed Isles," Etc.

Copyright, 1901, by Lothrop Publishing Co.)

I opened the coach door. M. de Lambert, hissing with anger, leaped to the road. I knew he would shoot me, and was making ready to close with him, when I heard a rustle of silk, and saw Louise between us, her tall form erect, her eyes forceful and commanding. She stepped quickly to her father.

"Let me have it!" said she taking the pistol from his hand. She flung it above the heads of some village folk who had gathered near us.

"Why do you stop us?" she whispered, turning to me.

"So you may choose between him and me," I answered.

"Then I leave all for you," said she, coming quickly to my side.

The villagers began to cheer, and old D'ri flung his hat in the air, shouting, "Hurrah fer love an' freedom!"

"An' the United States of Amerikу," some one added.

"She is my daughter," said M. de Lambert, with anger, as he came up to me. "I may command her, and I shall seek the aid of the law as soon as I find a magistrate."

"But see that you find him before we find a minister," I said.

"The dominie! Here he is," said some one near us.

"Marry them," said another. "It is Capt. Bell of the army, a brave and honorable man."

Does not true love, wherever seen, spread its own quality and prosper by the sympathy it commands? Louise turned to the good man, taking his hand.

"Come," said she, "there is no time to lose."

The minister came to our help. He could not resist her appeal, so sweetly spoken. There, under an elm by the wayside, with some score of witnesses, including Louison and the young Comte de Brovel, who came out of the coach and stood near, he made us man and wife. We were never so happy as when we stood there hand in hand, that sunny morning, and heard the prayer for God's blessing, and felt a mighty uplift in our hearts. As to my sweetheart, there was never such a glow in her cheeks, such a light in her large eyes, such a grace in her figure.

"Dear sister," said Louison, kissing her, " I wish I were as happy."

"And you shall be as soon as you get to Paris," said the young count.

"Oh, dear, I can hardly wait!" said the merry-hearted girl, looking proudly at her new lover.

"I admire your pluck, my young man," said M. de Lambert, as we shook hands. "You Americans are a great people. I surrender; I am not going to be foolish. Turn your horses," said he, motioning to the driver. "We shall go back at once."

I helped Louise into the coach with her sister and the Comte de Brovel. D'ri and I rode on behind them, the village folk cheering and waving their hats.

"Ye done it skillful," said D'ri, smiling. "Whut 'd I tell ye?"

I made no answer, being too full of happiness at the moment.

"Tell ye one thing, Ray," he went on soberly: "ef a boy an' a gal loves one 'nother, an' he has any grit in 'im, can't nuthin' keep 'em apart long."

He straightened the mane of his horse, and then added:

"Ner they can't nuthin' conquer 'em."

Soon after two o'clock we turned in at the chateau.

We were a merry company at luncheon, the doctor drinking our health and happiness with sublime resignation. But I had to hurry back—that was the worst of it all. Louise walked with me to the big gate, where were D'ri and the horses. We stopped a moment on the way.

"Again?" she whispered, her sweet face on my shoulder. "Yes, and as often as you like. No more now—there is D'ri. Remember, sweetheart, I shall look and pray for you day and night."

CHAPTER XXVII.

Sooner or later all things come to an end, including wars and histories—a God's mercy!—and even the lives of such lucky men as I. All things, did I say? Well, what wonder, for am I not writing of youth and far delights with a hand trembling of infirmity? All things save one, I meant to say, and that is love, the immortal vine, with its root in the green earth, that weathers every storm, and "groweth not old," and climbs to paradise; and who eats of its fruit has in him ever a thought of Heaven—a hope immortal as itself.

This book of my life ends on a bright morning in the summer of '17, at the new home of James Donatianus Le Ray, Comte de Chaumont, the chateau having burned the year before.

President Monroe is coming on the woods-pike, and veterans are drawn up in line to meet him. Here are men who fought at Chippewa and Lundy's Lane and Lake Erie and Chrysler's Farm, and here are some old chaps who fought long before at Plattsburg and Ticonderoga. Joseph Bonaparte, the ex-king of Spain, so like his mighty brother at St. Helena, is passing the line. He steps proudly, in ruffles and green velvet. Gondolas with liveried gondoliers, and filled with fair women, are floating on the still lake, now rich with shadow-pictures of wood and sky and rocky shore.

A burst of melody rings in the great harp of the woodland. In that trumpet peal, it seems a million voices sing:

Hail, Columbia, happy land!

Slowly the line begins to limp along. There are wooden legs and crutches and empty sleeves in that column. D'ri goes limping in front, his right leg gone at the knee since our last charge. Draped around him is that old battle-flag of the Lawrence. I march beside him, with only this long seam across my cheek to show that I had been with him that bloody day at Chrysler's. We move slowly over a green field to the edge of the forest. There, in the cool shadow, are ladies in white, and long tables set for a feast. My dear wife, loved of all and more beautiful than ever, comes to meet us.

"Sweetheart," she whispers, "I was never so proud to be your wife."

"And an American," I suggest, kissing her.

"And an American," she answers.

A bugle sounds; the cavalcade is coming.

"The President!" they cry, and we all begin cheering.

He leads the escort on a black horse, a fine figure in military coat and white trousers, his cocked hat in hand, a smile lighting his face. The count receives him and speaks our welcome. President Monroe looks down the war-scarred line a moment. His eyes fill with tears, and then he speaks to us.

"Sons of the woodsmen," says he, concluding his remarks, "you shall live in the history of a greater land than that we now behold or dream of, and in the gratitude of generations yet unborn, long, long after we are turned to dust."

And then we all sing loudly with full hearts:

O land I love!—thy acres sown
With sweat and blood and shattered bone—
God's grain, that ever doth increase
The goodly harvest of his peace.

[THE END.]

The "LIGHTNING" WHITE WASH Sprayer and Force Pump, No. 28.

Patented June 24, 1902.

Will Fit any Pail or Bucket.

This is the only Spray Pump that will properly spray White Wash without clogging. It will do much better work than can be done with a brush, especially on rough surface, as the force with which the material is applied causes it to penetrate the small crevices and openings, thus making a complete and perfect job. It is constructed of heavy galvanized iron, with brass tops and valves, a material that is effected by the poisonous arsenites used in different formulas for spraying fruit trees, vines and shrubbery. It is made with large air chamber and has ball valves, the pressure being held in the air chamber and on the hose, so that the nozzle throws a continuous spray and is not affected by the upward stroke. The operator is enabled to keep a constant pressure on the nozzle with little exertion: will throw a continuous stream 60 feet high and one of usual value for washing buggies, windows, extinguishing fires, sprinkling lawns, flowers, spraying trees, etc. The stirrup is made of steel and the pump is provided with the best hose and two nozzles. It is very neat in appearance, being nicely painted.

An Ideal Location

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

WASHINGTON LETTER

SOME CURRENT GOSSIP FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

THE COMING INAUGURATION

It Is Always a Big Quadrennial Jubilee — Two Hundred Thousand Strangers Are Expected—Possible Cabinet Changes.

WASHINGTON.—Washington is preparing for its quadrennial jubilee. The rest of the country elect the presidents, but the citizens of the capital city claim the privilege of inaugurating him in great style. From now until after the 4th of March the inauguration committee will be one of the most important bodies in the United States. There is great rivalry to secure the place of chairman of this committee, and also conspicuous positions upon it. Denied the right of franchise, the citizens of the District of Columbia can only look on during an election, but they when the people of the country send their president here to be inaugurated.

Mr. Charles C. Glover, a prominent real estate man and banker of the district, will head the inauguration committee, and his corps of assistants will number most of the prominent business men and public-spirited citizens of the capital city. The expenses of the inaugural ceremonies and pageant are guaranteed by a public subscription, and it is calculated that $60,000 will be required to induct President Roosevelt into office on the 4th of March, with all the honors and glory befitting a man who has received the greatest popular indorsement of any presidential candidate in a century. This large amount of money is likely to be refunded, as there are several sources of revenue connected with the inauguration.

In the first place, the inaugural ball, if everything is favorable, can be counted on for $50,000 or $60,000. There are usually sold some 10,000 or 12,000 tickets to this function at the rate of five dollars per ticket. If the weather is propitious and a proper hall is secured, the ball will itself approximately reimburse the contributors to the inauguration fund.

The Inauguration Ball.

JUST now there is some uncertainty as to where this great ball is to be held. Ever since the erection of the big brick barn, known as the pension office, that structure has been utilized for inaugural balls. It is a huge quadrangle, with a court in the center, which can be converted into an immense ballroom, and which lends itself to a very handsome scheme of decoration. Congress has prohibited the use of the hall for public functions, however, and unless that action is reversed some other place will have to be secured. The holding of the ball in the pension office has hitherto resulted in stopping work in that important bureau virtually for a week. This was thought to be unfair to the thousands of old soldiers who have claims awaiting adjustment, and it is also regarded as unfair to the clerical force of the bureau, who have been compelled to take an enforced vacation during the inauguration season.

There has been some talk of building a huge temporary structure or wigwam for the purpose of holding this ball. One thing that militates against this proposition is the memory of the inaugural ball held at the time of Gen. Grant's second inauguration, in 1873, when an immense temporary wooden building was erected and used. The temperature dropped to five or six degrees below zero on inauguration night, and it was impossible to heat the building sufficiently to make it either healthful or comfortable. Numerous cases of pneumonia resulted from exposure in that building, and not a few deaths occurred. It is impossible to forecast the kind of weather that will prevail on the night of the 4th of March long enough before to insure the safety and comfort of a temporary structure.

Big Crowd Expected.

WASHINGTON is counting on at least 200,000 strangers to be here on inauguration day. The crowds on this occasion have been constantly increasing in late years, and the above estimate is not at all extravagant. It is the one great national show day in four years. The parade is one of the greatest features, and it is a sight worth witnessing. The journey of the president from the white house to the capitol, seated in a handsome open carriage drawn by four magnificent horses, and an escort of cavalry, opens this fine sight, and then comes the trip back, when the president, after having taken the oath, leads the column from the capitol up Pennsylvania avenue to the white house, where he enters a reviewing stand and reviews the parade, which sometimes lasts five or six hours. Every branch of the army and navy is represented, usually with a full regiment each of infantry, cavalry and artillery from the army; several companies of United States marines, and battalion after battalion of blue jackets from the war vessels from within reach of Washington. Then come the various national guards to the number of 15,000 or 20,000, followed by political and civic organizations in fancy uniform.

The post of honor in this pageant is that of escort to the president. It is about settled that Black Cavalry, troop A, of Cleveland, will again have this honor. It acted as escort to President McKinley at both of his inaugurations, and performed similar service for Presidents Hayes and Garfield. It is a fine body of horsemen, each member owning his own mount, and each animal being a splendid black. In addition to this, the president has indicated a desire to have a troop or at least a section of his old rough riders, most of whom are now in the Fifth United States cavalry, to act as part of his escort. He would like to have the boys appear in the uniforms they wore when they served under him in the Spanish war.

Cabinet Making.

HERE will be some good jobs distributed by President Roosevelt after the 4th of next March, as there are sure to be some changes in high positions in the government service at home and abroad. The majority of the present cabinet are likely to remain and receive their portfolios anew on the 4th of next March, but it is known that there will be some changes in that body. Secretary of State Hay has been invited to remain, and has accepted the invitation. This fact has created much satisfaction, not only in this country, but among the important foreign powers, who all admit that John Hay is now the greatest living diplomat of the world. Secretary of War Taft will continue, but there is some doubt about Paul Morton retaining the secretaryship of the navy. His old railroad ties are very strong and the Santa Fe management wants him back to help run that system. Attorney General Moody may hold over until the new administration, but there are strong inducements for him to retire and accept a partnership in a law firm in Boston that has been held open for him for several months. Secretary Shaw, of the treasury, is to be invited to continue as the financier of the administration, and he will accept.

Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock may give up his seat in the cabinet, in which case it is believed that Secretary Metcalf, of the department of commerce and labor, will take the portfolio of the interior. National Chairman Cortelyou is to be made postmaster general, while Secretary of Agriculture Wilson can stay where he is as long as he likes. Mr. Wilson is regarded as the best head of the department of agriculture the government has ever had, and the great work that he has inaugurated, especially in the west, in the way of introducing new crops, new methods of cultivation, and, above all, his advocacy of irrigation, make him the farmers' friend, and a great howl would go up if President Roosevelt should leave him out of his next cabinet. There is no danger, however, that the president will let such a valuable man go.

Diplomatic Changes.

IN THE diplomatic field there promises to be quite a little revolution. Ambassador Choate will retire from St. James, and Hon. Whitelaw Reid will succeed him. Gen. Horace Porter will likely come back from France, and he will be succeeded by Ambassador George V. L. Meyer, now at Rome. Ambassador McCormick is expected to retire from St. Petersburg on account of ill health. Ambassador Powell Clayton will retire from Mexico and Minister Conger will leave Peking. Other retirements and transfers of equal importance will occur very early in President Roosevelt's next term.

There are some consular positions attracting attention from those desirous of sacrificing themselves for the good of their country. The patriots think that John K. Gowdy, of Indiana, has enjoyed his $15,000 a year at Paris as consul general long enough. They also believe that H. Clay Evans has had his share of public office, and there are several hankering after his $20,000-a-year job. Consul General Boyle, at Liverpool, has enjoyed an income of something like $13,000 a year since the first month of the first McKinley administration. There is no dearth of patriots willing to undertake his duties. The president has indicated by his appointments so far that he is going to rely as much on his own knowledge of men and their fitness for the public service as he is upon the advice of the politicians.

SPORTING NEWS.

BASKET BALL.

The next game of basketball in the Juvenile League will be between the Whittier and Leal's School teams. It will be played Wednesday.

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team will play a game with the Business Men of the association on Monday night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. There will also be a match between the Plainfield High School team and a five representing the alumni of the P. H. S.

This is the standing in the two leagues which are conducted under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.:

INTERSCHOLASTIC.

	Games Won.	Games Lost
Leal's School	2	0
Plainfield High School	2	1
North Plainfield H. S.	0	3

JUEVNILE.

	Games Won.	Games Lost.
Plainfield High School	3	1
Whittier School	3	1
Leal's School	2	2
Leal's School	0	4

Leal's School team showed a decided improvement in their game yesterday afternoon over the other games which they have played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. They will give the Plainfield High School a hard rub in the coming game Wednesday afternoon. This will be the second contest between the two teams in the Interscholastic League, and will be the only chance for the P. H. S. five to win the cup. Even if the High School wins this game, another game will have to be played, and February 8 is the date which has been reserved for a tie.

DIAMOND DUST.

Stephen Nelson Stryker, the crack baseball pitcher, who had many friends here, died at his uncle's home in Phillipsburg a few days ago. He was twenty-two years old and was a student at Lafayette College.

The new Lackawanna Baseball League will open the season Saturday, May 13, and continue until September 16. There will be no league games on holidays and the teams will not play on Sunday. Four umpires will be engaged.

"Dick" Smith, manager of the Trenton Y. M. C. A. baseball team, has arranged a series of five games with the Aeolian team, of Cranford, and will open the season at Trenton on April 29 with the Aeolians. Doescher will pitch for the organ grinders.

Warren Badgley, who will be remembered as having pitched for the Plainfield A. C., last season, and who has also been a member of the Washington, Warren county, team, has registered as a student at Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., and will begin his studies there the first of February. He will pitch for Washington the coming season.

Howard G. Lapsley, of the Senior Class, of the Plainfield High School, was elected manager of the school baseball team at a recent meeting of the board of directors for the season of 1905. Already letters from teams with whom the school has played in former years, have been received and without doubt the management will offer one of the best schedules next season which the team has ever played. As far as a capable business manager is concerned, no better selection could have been made. Lapsley has had a great deal of experience in that line in various school organizations, and has proved himself an able financier. Under his direction the team will undoubtedly be well handled and should have for its outlook as bright a prospect as ever greeted the opening of a baseball season.

Y. M. C. A. SPORTS.

The results of the first contest in the Y. M. C. A. boys' group contests, which was held last week, have been averaged, and are as follows: Hemans, 498; Spartans, 335; Olympians, 100; Gladiators, 0. The match so far have been two relay races, and a standing and running broad jump. Individual points among the three highest scores are as follows: Caldwell, 79; Alpaugh, 75; Fountain, 75. The second contest has not yet been totalled.

GOLF.

Julius E. Erickson, a member of the Plainfield Country Club, was among the contestants in the golf tournament recently held at Pinehurst, N. C., under the auspices of the American Association of Advertising Men. In the semi-finals he was defeated by C. H. Eddy, of New York, by 2 up and 1 to go.

HOCKEY.

If possible a game of hockey will be played between the teams representing the Plainfield High and Leal's School tomorrow on Hyde's pond. This is the lineup of the P. H. S. team: Forwards, Craig, Smith, Douglass and Conway; coverpoint, Brakeley; point, Reid; goal, Briggs and Lapsley.

CLOSED PORTALS.

H. S. Barnes, formerly of this city, but now engaged in the newspaper business at Rahway, has been elected commander of Barry Post, G. A. R., of that place.

Captain William O. Smith attended a big meeting held by George H. Thomas Post, of Jersey City, last night, and incidently took part in the installation of new officers.

The Great Council of New Jersey, Improved Order of Red Men, will meet in Trenton on Monday and Tuesday, February 27 and 28. An important matter to be considered will be that of establishing a uniform degree in the State.

Wedding Anniversary.

In the presence of a number of friends and relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Aitken, of West Second street, celebrated the second anniversary of their marriage last night, the occasion being a delightful one in every respect. The evening was spent playing games, music and phonograph selections adding to the pleasure of the occasion. The phonograph was operated by Peter Perrine. Many presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Aitken, among them being a cut glass and silver berry dish.

First Presbyterian Endeavorers Hold a Passe-Partout Party.

Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Presbyterian church, a passe-partout social was held in the chapel, last night. The young people first devoted their time to covering one of the class-rooms with burlap, after which there was placed on the walls passe-partout pictures comprising views from the Holy Land. One room was completed and next week another room will be similarly decorated and so on until all of the rooms are completed.

During the evening there were violin and piano selections by Martin A. Kerff and Miss Clara VanFleet, and later refreshments were served. The social committee of the society had charge of the affair.

CITY'S FINANCES.

Mayor Buckle's Recommendation to be Heeded in Various Departments.

Heeding the recommendation of Mayor James F. Buckle, it is the purpose of every department in the city to keep within its appropriation during the coming year. In a few instances this has not been done heretofore, especially in the fire department. Last year this department used its appropriation of $2,350 and there was a deficit at the end of the year, due principally to several debts that had been allowed to accumulate during the past three or four years for new horses and new hose and other things.

For the purpose of wiping out this entire indebtedness, the finance committee of the 1904 Common Council, introduced a resolution before the end of the year, transferring $4,000 from the general fund to the fire fund. It did not require all of this money to liquidate the debt, but it was the desire of the committee to meet the deficit and let the department start the new year with a clean slate. In the future, it is proposed not to allow these debts to accumulate. This rule is to apply to every department. There is every indication that the present administration intends to be an economical one and thus assist in keeping the city tax rate as low as possible.

Object to Assessment.

Alleging that the amount is excessive when compared with others placed on adjoining property, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Rogers, of Myrtle avenue, appeared before the State Board of Taxation yesterday, and asked for a reduction in their assessment. It has been placed at $6,000, an increase of $700. Mr. Rogers produced John P. Emmons, Charles Lyman and John T. Case as witnesses while Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed appeared for the borough. Decision was reserved.

"Not on your life," responded the other, "I won this ribbon at the County Fair for growing the biggest pumpkin, and as soon as I meet Jim Crosby we're going out to get the souse of the season."

DAVID DREIER A GROOM

Popular Plainfielder Weds a Brooklyn Young Woman.

MANY GUESTS PRESENT

Marriage of the Couple the Culmination of An Interesting Romance That Began Two Years Ago.

Miss Rose Freudenthal, daughter of Simon Freudenthal, of Broadway, Brooklyn, and David Dreier, son of Samuel Dreier, of this city, were married yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Willoughby Mansion, Willoughby avenue, Brooklyn, in the presence of a large number of guests from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, New York, Newark, Brooklyn and this city, five hundred invitations being issued to the wedding and reception. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Eisman, of the Jewish Temple, Seventy-second street and Lexington avenue, New York. According to the custom, the bride was given in marriage by her father and the groom by his father.

The decorations were especially attractive, American Beauty roses being used chiefly. In the room where the marriage service was performed the bridal party stood beneath a large canopy of these roses, surrounded by palms and ferns.

The bride, gowned in white chiffon cloth, trimmed with lace, also wore a veil and carried a Bible trimmed with white satin streamers and flowers. She was attended by her sister, Miss Pauline Freudenthal, as maid-of-honor. She wore a white lace robe and carried white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The best man was Dr. Isadore Goldstone, of New York, an intimate friend of the groom.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the mansion. Charles Suhr's Imperial orchestra, of this city, which played the wedding march, also furnished music for the reception. An elaborate supper was served during the evening. Later the couple left on a southern wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside on West Front street, this city.

Associated with the marriage of the couple there is an interesting romance. It was two years ago that the mothers of the bride and groom were at Sharon Springs, N. Y., both being ill. During their stay they often talked about their respective son and daughter. Later when both mothers died it was their last wish that the couple should marry. At the time the couple had never seen each other, but through a strange circumstance they met some months afterward. The friendship then formed resulted in their engagement last June and their marriage yesterday.

The bride is a native of Brooklyn, a graduate of the High School there and an elocutionist of exceptional ability. She has been prominent in social circles in the City of Churches. Her father is president of the School Street Temple, Brooklyn.

The groom is a prosperous young merchant here. He is a member of Crystal Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Summit; Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., Noah Dove Encampment, I. O. O. F., and Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

The couple received a great many costly gifts, including diamonds, furniture, gold and silverware. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond crescent and necklace and her gift to the groom was a diamond ring and stud.

In addition to the relatives from this city who attended the wedding a large number of local friends were at the reception.

Miss Adams' Compilation.

WIFE'S DEATH SOON FOLLLOWED BY HUSBAND'S

WILLIAM S. RANDOLPH LIVES BUT A DAY LONGER THAN SHE.

In a little more than a day after his devoted wife had collapsed and died from the worriment and constant attendance upon him during his illness, William S. Randolph, the veteran miller, passed away at his home on West Second street, Saturday evening. Stricken with paralysis a short time ago he was sinking rapidly when Mrs. Randolph expired suddenly and the shock hastened his end. A double funeral will be held from the home this evening and husband and wife will be buried together in Hillside cemetery.

Mr. Randolph was the son of the late Phineas Randolph and was in his sixty-ninth year. The greater part of his life was spent in this vicinity as a miller, principally at South Plainfield, where he operated the mill for many years. At other times he was in charge of mills in this city on Washington avenue, where the glove factory now stands, at Quiet Dell, Va., and Sunnyside, Hunterdon county. At one time he was dav engineer at the Potter Press Works and for the past five years has been in the carpenter department at the same plant.

Surviving Mr. and Mrs. Randolph is one daughter, Mrs. Ella Phillips, of West Virginia. The former was a brother to Charles Randolph, of West Front street, and Mrs. David Pope and Mrs. Simeon Pope, also of this city.

REV. DR. GULICK TELLS CAUSES OF JAPAN'S WAR

PROTECTION AGAINST GROWING INFRINGMENTS WAS PRIMARY REASON.

Japan, in its relation to Russia, and to the civilized world, was the subject of an instructive address by Rev. Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, a missionary in the Island Empire, at the Congregational church last night. The address dealt more with the cause and results of the struggle between the large and the small powers, than with the missionary work of Japan.

As the speaker said, Japan is thought of primarily at the present time in connection with its trouble with Russia, and he therefore confined his remarks to a vivid detail of the causes which brought on the war. "Protection against the growing infringements of a large and powerful enemy," said Dr. Gulick, "was the real reason for Japan's going to war. Not so much for the recovery of certain tracts of land for the value of the land alone, was the war started. But with Russia gaining in strength and daily approaching nearer to the domains of the Japanese, the latter's national interests were at stake, and with the seizure of Manchuria, and other important points, the expectations of the plucky fighters were realized, and what they had for years prepared for, came to a crisis, when the war was declared."

That the Japanese people had been expecting and preparing for the war, the speaker said, there was no doubt. It was obvious to one who had lived in the country. The Japanese were as much in dread of an over-running by the white powers, as the Eastern empires dreaded a yellow peril.

Rev. Dr. Gulick spoke also of the dominating characteristics of the Japanese, their love of country, their endurance and their unequalled courage. During the seventeen years, which Rev. Dr. Gulick has lived in Japan, he has made a complete study of the nation, and as he said last night, has with them foreseen the coming of the struggle, which it is now hoped is to be short lived.

CHURCH GAIN 590,000

Dr. H. K. Carroll Compiles Statistics of Religious Bodies.

ALL DENOMINATIONS

Methodists and Baptists Make a Big Showing—Arranged in Numerical Order.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, of this city, now one of the secretaries of the Methodist Episcopal Missionary Society, but who was in charge of the government census of churches in 1890, has annually compiled the statistics of the religious bodies in this country for a number of years past, and his conclusions for this year have just been made public. He finds that the net gain of all religious bodies in this country during 1904 aggregated 582,878 communicants, 2,310 churches and 1,674 ministers.

In the matter of communicants, this gain is 10,000 more than Dr. Carroll reported for the previous year, but the gain in churches is a little more than 300 less than for 1903, while the gain in ministers has fallen off by nearly 700. Dr. Carroll, in compiling his figures, had deducted from the totals of all bodies the members held by them in foreign mission lands, so that his figures are for members in the United States only. The grand total of communicants of all churches at the close of 1904 was 30,313,311. In all bodies there were 197,348 churches and 149,439 ministers.

Arranged in orders of number of communicants, according to Dr. Carroll's figures, the leading religious bodies of the country today stand as follows: Roman Catholic, 10,104,219 members; Methodist Episcopal, 2,847,932; Regular Baptist (colored), 1,929,199; Regular Baptist (South), 1,850,899; Methodist Episcopal (South), 1,556,728; Disciples of Christ, 1,233,866; Regular Baptist (North), 1,070,276; Presbyterian (North), 1,069,170; Protestant Episcopal, 798,642; African Methodist Episcopal, 786,125; Congregationalists, 667,951; Lutheran Synodical Conference, 574,000; African Methodist Episcopal Zion, 560,790; Lutheran General Council, 370,668; Latter Day Saints, 300,000; Reformed German, 268,954; United Brethren, 251,812; Presbyterian (Southern) 239,988; Lutheran General Synod, 223,473, and German Evangelical Synod, 209,791.

In denominational families, Catholics (eight bodies) rank first, with 10,233,824 communicants; Methodists (seventeen bodies), second, with 6,256,788; Baptists (thirteen bodies), third, with 5,150,815; Lutherans (twenty-two bodies), fourth, with 1,789,766; Presbyterian (twelve bodies), fifth, with 1,697,697; Disciples of Christ, sixth, with 12,33,866 All others rank below 1,000,000 in membership. The religious bodies showing large gains in the year just past are Roman Catholic, 241,955; Baptists, 85,040; Disciples of Christ, 26,489; Lutherans, 73,856; Methodists, 69,244; Presbyterians, 36,175; Episcopal, 25,881, and Reformed, 10,433.

NO FIGHT, SAYS MAYOR.

Dunellen's Executive Will Not Permit the Bout Scheduled for This Week.

"There will be no prize-fight in this town," declared Mayor Wyckoff, of Dunellen, when interviewed by a reporter Saturday night regarding the proposed bout which a social club there intended to pull off one night this week. The Mayor said he had warned the parties interested in the enterprise, and if he heard any more discussion of the fight he would have the agitators arrested as disorderly persons.

Some weeks ago a rumor was started that the Dunellen Social Club had been formed, and that a fight would be pulled off at the clubhouse during the week of January 15. The community has been in a high state of agitation.

Holding Special Services.

The special services commenced at the Monroe Avenue church last week and held every night except Monday and Saturday, have increased so in interest that they will be continued every night this week except tonight and Saturday night. Rev. George Mooney is in charge of the services. On Wednesday night Walter M. McGee will conduct the meeting.

—The daily display of vegetables at Neuman Brothers' still remains one of the largest to be seen in the city. Tomorrow it will include fancy tomatoes, cauliflower, green beans, cucumbers, radishes, celery, lettuce, egg plant, spinach and beets.

Steward R. Williams, of Washington, is the guest of Miss Lulu Randolph, of West Eighth street.

WATCHUNG HUNT CLUB GALLOPS OVER FIELDS

MEMBERS ENJOY ONE OF TEE LARGEST RUNS OF THE SEASON.

The Watchung Hunt Club members galloped over the frozen fields Saturday afternoon, on one of the longest if not the most largely attended hunts of the season. The feature of the event was the breaking in of the six puppies, who were bred at the kennels. Crossed between an English and an American hound, yet truly American, being born on July 4, the six hounds behaved remarkably well and gave tongue in following the drag like old veterans after a fox.

The start was made from the meadows bordering on Evergreen avenue, and the course was taken over the hard ground to the Mellick bungalow. A check was made at that point, and from there the hunters galloped off in the vicinity of Oak Tree, and thence to Metuchen. Next week the start will be made from the kennels on the residence of Dr. M. O'M. Knott.

BLACK HAND LETTERS THREATEN HIM WITH DEATH

BOUND BROOK ITALIAN IN MORTAL TERROR OF COUNTRYMEN.

Donato Nordizzi, a well-to-do Italian, of Bound Brook, is now being terrorized by a number of communications, which threaten his life unless he turns over his savings to agents of the "Black Hand."

The matter, which has been kept secret by the authorities, with the hope of capturing the author of the letters, leaked out Saturday. Nordizzi received the first "Black Hand" letter on December 23. It was written in Italian.

Nordizzi, who was terrorized by the letter, went to Somerville and placed the matter in the hands of County Detective Totten. The detective gave Nordizzi a roll of paper with a marked banknote on the outside, and sent him to meet the boy at the place named in the letter on New Year's eve. The detective was in waiting near the Somerville bridge to follow the boy, if he appeared. Nordizzi failed to find the boy at the bridge, but on the following day he received another "Black Hand" letter threatening him with death for revealing the secret to the authorities.

He has since received other letters from the "Black Hand," instructing him to leave the money in different places under the pain of death. After receiving the first letter from the "Black Hand," Nordizzi confined the fact that the authorities were after the "Black Hand," to a number of his fellow-countrymen at Bound Brook, and he now believes that they betrayed the movements of the authorities to members of the "Black Hand."

A desperate gang of outlaws is known to exist among the big Italian colony at Bound Brook.

Old John Driff, who visited a number of Italian dives and showed a big roll of money on Christmas eve, two years ago, was found dead on the sidewalk, later in the night, with his skull crushed and his money gone. His murderer has never been discovered.

The Italian quarters at Bound Brook are now being closely watched by the county authorities. The respectable Italians of the settlement are willing to help the authorities to run down the "Black Hand."

Evangelistic Services.

Special evangelistic services marked the evening session at Christian church last night, which was of an impressive character. The service was in charge of G. E. Smith, who conducted the meeting in an able manner. Special music was a feature of the service. In the morning the regular church service was in charge of the pastor, Rev. Phil A. Parsons, who preached the sermon.

New Bathing Facilities.

New bathing showers, a much needed addition to the Y. M. C. A. physical department, will shortly be installed as a gift of the Business Men's class of the association. The showers which are used at the present time are inadequate, inasmuch as it is practically impossible to regulate the temperature of the water.

For a Day of Prayer.

Thursday has been set apart as a day of prayer among the M. E. churches for colleges and it will be generally observed by local Methodist churches.

STEPHEN A. GINNA DEAD

A Philanthropic and Public Spirited Citizen Passes Away.

HIS SUCCESS IN LIFE

Early Engaged in Wool Trade and Then in Flour Business and Later Manufacturing Tin Cans.

Stephen A. Ginna, a representative citizen of Plainfield and in his own quiet way one of its most philanthropic, died in the Astor House, New York, yesterday afternoon, where he had been taken after suffering a paralytic stroke in his offices Friday. At first thought to be an attack that might pass off, he steadily grew worse and toward the end was barely able to recognize the members of his family who had been at his bedside from the first. Two years ago he suffered a similar stroke but in a much lighter form and quickly rallied though its effects never left him entirely.

Born on the eastern shore of Maryland in 1836, Mr. Ginna succeeded his father in the woolen trade at Baltimore and from a small beginning before the war established a business that had a wide reputation and made him one of the successful merchants in the days before the war. Later on he organized the flour firm of Ginna, Keims & Co., in New York, and directed it for many years. More recently he entered the tin can manufacturing industry and his concern prospered with great rapidity, four years ago becoming part of the tin can trust. At the time of his death he was president of the Vulcan Metal Detinning Company, which has offices in New York, and factories at Sewaren, N. J., and Streator, Ill. He was one of the first members of the New York Produce Exchange, a member of the Chamber of Commerce and the Wool Club. As a business man he had few equals, being a man of clear instinct and quick judgment, always in command of any situation and ready for all emergencies.

Mr. Ginna came to Plainfield twenty-eight years ago and from the beginning of his local residence, took an active interest in the religious and municipal affairs of the city. He was elected to the Common Council in 1894 and was one of the members who advocated the installation of Plainfield's present sewage system. As a member of the finance committee, his keen perception made his services invaluable and helped rid the city of indebtedness. His record in the council is one of activity throughout and the municipality's affairs were looked after as carefully as if they had been part of his own business.

He became a member of the Crescent Avenue church at his coming to Plainfield and was always prominent in its affairs and eager to aid any of its causes. With Mrs. Ginna he became interested in the spiritual welfare of Plainfield's colored people and for a long time held meetings with them at his own home. Twenty years ago Bethel chapel, now a mission of Crescent Avenue church, was organized by him and from that time until his death he was its faithful superintendent, rarely missing a Sunday-school session. The congregation now has a substantial home on East Fifth street, which was built seventeen years ago through Mr. Ginna's efforts.

He was a great lover of flowers and the conservatories at the rear of his residential grounds on Watchung avenue have always been replete with rare specimens of chrysanthemums, carnations and orchids. The public was invited by him each year to see the displays and nothing pleased him better than to escort visitors about and point out which of the bewildering profusion of floral beauties he considered the best. Scores of sick rooms in the homes of Plainfield's poor have been brightened by gifts of flowers from these conservatories and no one called but what went away with a rose, a carnation or a chrysanthemum.

Mr. Ginna married Miss Elizabeth Tompkins, of Tompkins Cove, N. Y., who with two children, Mrs. Erickson Perkins, of Rochester, N. Y., and Daniel F. Ginna, of Watchung avenue, survive him. Funeral services over the body will be held from his late home Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

LONG TERMS OF OFFICE RECORD OF TWO BROTHERS

JOSEPH A. AND J. FRANK HUBBARD HAVE BOTH SERVED 35 YEARS.

Joseph A. Hubbard, who has just been reappointed assessor by Mayor Buckle, of Plainfield, has served continuously in that office for thirty-five years. He was named for the position in 1869 by Plainfield's first Mayor, Job Male. Mr. Hubbard has seen the city grow from a hamlet when his duties were comparatively easy, up to the time when it became necessary a few years ago, to appoint four assessors to fix valuations. Mr. Hubbard was then assigned to the Third ward, in which he has lived for many years, where his work today is more extensive than it was in the earlier years of his assessorship over the whole city. It is a coincidence of no usual nature that his brother, J. Frank Hubbard, has been a member of the Union County Board of Freeholders continuously for the same length of time, thirty-five years, and for eighteen years director of that body. When he began his latest term this year, Director Hubbard spoke of the changes which had taken place in the Board during his long term there. In these thirty-five years he has met over 200 different members of the Board. Some day he is going to make a tabulation of them and then he will have a kind of "People I have met in the Board of Freeholders" book. Of those who were with him no first year he served not one is now alive. There were then fourteen members. Now there are twenty.

TALKED BASEBALL LEAGUE

Union County Magnates Hold Meeting in This City.

PLAN NOT FAVORED

Representatives of Plainfield, North Plainfield, Westfield and Rahway in Attendance.

The proposition to form a baseball league among teams from Union county was introduced at a meeting of interested managers held in this city Saturday night. Those present were Charles S. Woolston and Lines Groo, of the Plainfield Baseball Club; Charles H. Denman and Frank Sattlemayer, of the Westfield Baseball Association; Leon Potter and J. P. Keefe, of the Rahway Baseball Association, and George E. Firstbrook, representing the North Plainfield Amusement Company, comprising himself, Mayor N. B. Smalley and William Mac Laughlin. Mr. Denman was made chairman of the meeting and Charles Dixon secretary.

The question of forming a league was discussed at some length, but the majority of those did not favor the plan. Mr. Firstbrook stated that North Plainfield proposed to have a first-class team and would like to join the league, believing that a strong series of games could be arranged between Plainfield, North Plainfield, Westfield and Rahway. The fact that there would be a team in the city and one in the borough, he said, would give the local fans a game every Saturday at home. This proposition was not well received by Westfield and Rahway, who realized that Plainfield would be getting more than its share of patronage. Mr. Denman said that the plan looked good on paper, but would not be practical. Others thought the same. The Plainfield Baseball Club offered to withdraw from the league in favor of North Plainfield and play independent ball. Mr. Firstbrook said that his company proposed to give band concerts through the summer in connection with the baseball and that fine grounds would be enclosed within one block of the trolley. The application for membership was laid on the table until Monday night, January 23, to which time an adjournment was taken.

It was the sense of the meeting that a Union county baseball association be formed for a series of games, and that the managers of the respective teams arrange such series, also the guarantees to be paid, and that one representative from each team be empowered to select umpires. This was adopted in the form of a resolution offered by Mr. Denman.

There is little likelihood of a league being formed, but no doubt a series of games will be arranged between the teams represented. Aeolian, Elizabeth Y. M. C. A., Somerville and Raritan were invited to attend the meeting, but no responses were received.

During the general discussion last season's results were referred to and Mr. Denman related his own experience, while others did the same. Mr. Groo said that Plainfield fans want Saturday games here and he proposed to give them a first class article of ball and have a team that will defeat Westfield. He said that here is more glory in that than in defeating the New York Nationals

Mr. Firstbrook said that North Plainfield could be kept out of the association, but there would be a team in the borough just the same, one that would be able to play the best kind of ball.

The meeting then adjourned to meet on January 23 to perfect an organization, if such a thing is deemed advisable.

LITERARY.

In the course of his article on "American Politics" in the January-March Forum, Henry Litchfield West considers probable developments in the Democratic party in the light of the Presidential election. He anticipates that the result of the present situation will be the permanent separation of one element of the party from the other and regards it as possible that the campaign of 1908 will be a repetition of that of 1896 upon a much more anxious scale.

OLD MAIDS' CLUB IS A THING OF THE PAST.

Young Swains, Full of Determination, Cause Telephone Operators to Quit Organization.

Cleveland, O.—After a life of only four weeks the "Old Maids' Club," composed of several young women operators in one of the telephone exchanges, was broken up one evening last week.

The cause of the dissolution was the young men who call on the young women each night. These young men, after the inception of the girls' club, banded together under the title of the Bachelors' club.

When the young women began their club four weeks ago they resolved not to speak about any young man or entertain one on any Thursday evening during the winter. Word to this effect was soon imparted to the swains and plans were laid by them to break up the girls'

A HASTY EXIT WAS MADE BY THE YOUNG WOMAN.

organization. Bets were made by the young men with others that they would succeed. They even went so far as to wager boxes of bonbons with the girls. The latter were determined that the boys should not interfere with their plans.

All went well each Thursday evening for a month. Theaters were visited by the girls and they went home unescorted. But last Thursday evening the young men were determined that the girls' club should last no longer.

Each member of the Bachelors' club went to a place near one of the young women's homes. When the latter left home she was shadowed until she met the other girls. The latter, thinking they were throwing the young men off their trail, started for one of the theaters. When they entered the lobby they were confronted by members of the Bachelors' club. Consternation reigned. A hasty exit was made by the young women, who were followed by the young men.

The girls started walking around town, but finally acknowledged the defeat of their plans and the club was at an end.

There was much chagrin the next day among the girls at the telephone exchange. After work hours the girls hastened to the cigar stores and haberdasheries, where they spent part of their salaries to pay off the wagers they had made.

CAUGHT IN A SWAMP MAN NEARLY DIED.

Several Persons Have Previously Met Death in the Same Bottomless Hole.

New York.—Peter Johnson, a resident of Hoboken, has narrowly escaped a living death in a swamp near his home. He had sunk to his chin in the quicksand when rescued.

Johnson had started out in the darkness to investigate a fire. Not far from home he walked unwittingly into a place known as the bottomless swamp, where several persons have met death. Before realizing his peril, he was caught and continued to sink rapidly. By screaming wildly for help, he aroused several persons living nearby and they procured a rope. A noose was formed and repeated attempts were made to cast it over the victim. Johnson continued to disappear at a great rate and soon only one arm remained free. A lucky throw by the rescuers finally noosed the upraised arm and after Johnson got the rope around his shoulders he was drawn out. It required the united efforts of six men to do this, however, and they worked nearly an hour.

Johnson collapsed from fright when he reached dry ground and was taken to a hospital.

Plays Spook; Is Killed.

Galveston.—While trying to play a practical joke upon his roommate Dr. J. W. Carter, of Emma, Tex., was shot and instantly killed.

Dr. Carter entered about one o'clock in the morning the apartments occupied by himself and C. L. Lockwood, a druggist, also of Emma. Dr. Carter approached the window enveloped in a white sheet and having the shell of a watermelon on his head. Inside the shell was a burning taper. Lockwood was awakened by a sepulchral voice, and seeing the apparition at the window, fired with a pistol.
